GROVER CLEVELAND'S SECRETARY.

John Morris in Talking of Thurber Chats of Joe Jefferson and Babes - Thurber a Man of Nature - How He Makes a Fellow Feel at Home.

Under the above heading the Charlotte Observer of Thursday publishes the following happily constructed and very readable and pleasing comment from our esteemed townsmen Mr. Jno. R. Morris, and we are sure Mr. Thurber deserves every word of it, otherwise John would not have been heard from. He writes to the Observer as follows:

"I think Mr. Thurber, private Secretary to Mr. Cleveland, has rare fitness for his position, if possible he's more Democratic in his manners than his politics. He's as plain as an old shoe that hasn't been half-soled in six months...

"When a fellow starts from the capitol and every step toward the Executive Mansion gets him tangled worse and worse into a mass of official red tape, it's a relief to get to the White House and meet Thurber."

"I don't remember much about being a baby, but I imagine that it's a great relief to a baby - after it has been on exhibition among the neighbors, in the arms of a prudish nurse - to be brought home and placed in its mother's lap. For, then, sighs of relief go out of the little one's heart as the mother throws off its great satin robe, pulls off the tightish gait shoes, and unfolds the ribbons to the wee cap binding against the baby-throat."

"Well, Thurber can take an ambassador, a Senator, a private citizen, even a common, every day drummer and twist him dextrously and delightfully out of the meshes, tangles and hard knots of official red tape. And when he's thus unengaged and sits in a chair in front of Thurber, he feels that he's met an old playmate who went away a long time ago - one who, he heard was dead, and for whom he wept, and thought, through the years, that he was surely dead, until one evening in the twilight the door flew open and a voice cried, 'Henry!' 'Henry!' and standing there in the room, is the old friend whom he thought had crossed over the mystic river."

SENATOR RANSOM.

His Great Parliamentary Triumph - Let Wilming'g Keep Cool - Just at the time when Senator Ransom, the superb, has won the greatest parliamentary triumph of his life, and one unparalleled in the history of any other Senator, he seems to be regarded with disfavor by certain of our Wilmington friends...

MR. DAVIS' REMAINS.

A Request For Them to Lie in State in Raleigh. Raleigh News and Observer. Governor Carr yesterday addressed the following letter to the Mayor of Richmond, Va. STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, RALEIGH, March 30, 1893.

IN MEMORIAM.

She Was Kind Gentle and Loving Faithful to God. From the happy days of fading youth, from childhood's dream of the days gone by, I faintly would pluck bright garlands of memory, bring them here and with deep devotion lay them as a loving tribute upon the newly made grave of a dear loved one.

CLARKSVILLE SWEEP AWAY.

A Whole Town Lies in Ashes and Chaos. OXFORD, N. C., April 1.—The entire town of Clarksville, Va., is in ashes. At 2 o'clock this p. m. fire was discovered in a house adjoining Pettigill's store. It was thought to have been extinguished, but later it was again found that the store building of Pettigill was on fire. A strong gale was blowing at the time, and despite the most strenuous efforts of the citizens the fire spread rapidly from building to building, sweeping everything before it on both sides of Main street down to the river, and within two hours the flames had done their work.

GREEN HANDS FOR CONSULS.

The consular appointments that being distributed just now are given out upon the same plan that has been always pursued, as personal favors or in recognition of political services. With the exception of a few prominent poets, candidates have never been much sought for by professional politicians; it has been rather the amateurs, the gentlemen in politics, literary men, journalists, or young men of influential connections and with a taste for travel, for whom these places have been reserved. Considering the absolute inexperience of most of them, it is strange that our consular service has never been conspicuously efficient.

THE RICHMOND TIMES OF YESTERDAY SAYS:

Mayor Ellyson, chairman of the Jefferson Davis Monument Committee, who went to New Orleans last week to arrange for the removal of the remains of Mr. Davis from the Crescent City to the square set apart for that purpose in Hollywood, returned home Tuesday morning. His trip was a very satisfactory one, and every attention possible in keeping with the sacred mission of his visit was extended him by the hospitable citizens of New Orleans.

THE BRAZILIAN MINISTER DEAD.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Baron De Aguiar D'Andrade, Brazilian Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary in Washington on a special mission, was stricken with apoplexy and paralysis last night and lies at his rooms in the Arlington hotel in a critical condition. The Baron attended the National theatre and fell as he was descending the steps at the entrance on his exit from the building. He was placed in a carriage and taken to his apartments and a physician and watchman summoned. The physician found apoplexy had been followed by a stroke of paralysis and at noon to-day he regarded his condition as very serious. Baron Andrade is the oldest diplomat in the Brazilian service.

CITY BONDS.

The Full Text of the Bill to be Voted Upon at the May Municipal Election. We give to our readers this morning the full text of the bill providing for the issuance of bonds upon the city for internal improvements. The bill is very explicit and speaks for itself.

THREE BANKS FAIL.

NASHVILLE, March 27.—The Bank of Commerce made an assignment this morning, naming John T. Lelylett as assignee. This action was precipitated by a general apprehension of a run on the bank, which the officers believed would be made. The deposits were not large, aggregating only $50,000, of which was small deposits, ranging from $5 upward in the savings department. The President of the bank, J. H. Yarbrough, is not in the city. Mr. J. N. Brooks, cashier, said the suspension was due mainly to the failure of certain parties who are largely indebted to the bank to meet their obligations. Brooks declined to state who the parties were.

THE PANAMA INVESTIGATION.

PARIS, March 25.—The committee of investigation of the Chamber of Deputies regarding the Panama affairs to-day decided against the motion of M. Maujan, Socialist Deputy for the Seine, in favor of extending the powers of the commission. Maujan, upon hearing the decision, forthwith resigned his place on the committee on the ground that the rejection of his motion crippled the inquiry.

NEW ORLEANS, MARCH 25.—

Judge Billings, in the United States court to-day, rendered an opinion in the suit of the Government against the Amalgamated council and the officers of the various labor organizations which ordered the general strike in November last. An injunction against the organizations was asked for under the act of Congress prohibiting combinations in restraint of trade. In an elaborate opinion the court sets aside every claim of the defendants and declares that the acts of the Amalgamated council and officers of the union were unlawful in ordering a general strike, and that the merchants are entitled to the injunction and other relief. The decision discusses fully the rights of labor unions and is far reaching in its effects. As a result of the decision criminal prosecutions against the defendants would probably lie, but it is not yet known whether the United States authorities will proceed against the alleged labor leaders.

GREENVILLE REFLECTOR.

We heard a farmer complaining the other day that corn was high. That takes the cake. Corn is one thing that every farmer ought to have plenty of and should feel good when it will bring a big price. That is just the trouble with so many farmers to-day, instead of raising such supplies as they need on their farms they have to go elsewhere for them.

BURLINGTON HERALD.

After being confined to the Alamance county jail for five months and twenty days J. S. Sewell was released last Saturday, the grand jury having failed to find a true bill against him. The jury was in session four days and examined about thirty witnesses. The negro Ish Daily was also released the other two men to whom the hand of suspicion pointed and it is probable that the mystery that surrounded the murder of J. Frank Matthis will never be solved.

NEWBORN JOURNAL.

The grading for the railroad is getting well down into the city. A force of hands were engaged yesterday in cutting down the hill on Queen street beyond the frog pond and carts were hauling surplus dirt to the lower place. The filling in commenced at macadamized road and is going backward toward the diggers.

A COURT DECISION AGAINST STRIKERS.

NEW ORLEANS, March 25.—Judge Billings, in the United States court to-day, rendered an opinion in the suit of the Government against the Amalgamated council and the officers of the various labor organizations which ordered the general strike in November last. An injunction against the organizations was asked for under the act of Congress prohibiting combinations in restraint of trade. In an elaborate opinion the court sets aside every claim of the defendants and declares that the acts of the Amalgamated council and officers of the union were unlawful in ordering a general strike, and that the merchants are entitled to the injunction and other relief. The decision discusses fully the rights of labor unions and is far reaching in its effects. As a result of the decision criminal prosecutions against the defendants would probably lie, but it is not yet known whether the United States authorities will proceed against the alleged labor leaders.

Glynn and staff, of the Louisiana division of the Confederate Veterans, concerning the removal of the remains of Jefferson Davis to Richmond. WASHINGTON, March 27.—Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Maxwell to-day appointed one hundred fourth class postmasters, and of this number 67 were to fill vacancies caused by the removal of the incumbents. CRITICAL STATE OF AFFAIRS.

PARIS, Tex., March 27.—The situation in the affairs of Antlers of the Chectaw nation is regarded critical and it is feared nothing can prevent a conflict to-day. A militia force of thirty men are in camp near by waiting for reinforcements which are hurrying to them and will raise their force to 200 men. They claim to have process for V. M. Locke and Albert Jackson, citizens of Antlers, who were leaders of the Jackson party in a recent gubernatorial fight, but were defeated by Jones Locke and Jackson say to surrender to Jones' so-called militia means their lives are ended. So they have rallied, and their friends and followers will make stubborn resistance.

OUR ROOMS WILL BE REPRESENTED BY PRESIDENT C. M. LEVISTER, GEN'L SECY H. D. CONOVER AND ACTIVE MEMBERS L. B. HAMPHREY, L. D. GIDDENS, JR., AND A. U. KORNOGAY.

The modern movement to bring the church into closer touch with the world does not meet with approval at Bridgeport, Conn. The Rev. R. G. S. McNeill, pastor of the Second Congregational Church of that town, had the modern idea well developed, and when he came out to preach on Sunday evening in a dress suit, with a shining shirt front and patent leather shoes, the young ladies thought him just too sweet. But the elders and deacons did not share their enthusiasm. Mr. McNeill's theological liberalism they might stand, but the outward and visible sign of it was too much for them. They drew the line at evening dress and Mr. McNeill has had a hall, suggested that he hire a hall,
