Sensationalism would be harmless; beyond the contempt it invites upon its authors, but for the cowardice that shrivels up common sense with many who have money. The best of dividend paying stocks are now purchasable at the lowest rates for years; but the cowardice that is cherished by thousands makes them hoard their money. They draw it out of banks and lock it up in boxes. They know that the banks are safe, but others are afflicted with cowardice and lock up their money, and they do it without reasoning on the subject. By and by, when the securis ties they could buy to-day at the lowest prices shall have advanced twenty, thirty or forty per cent., they will rush in and make invests ments; and when the banks and business public will have no need for their surplus money, they will unlock their boxes and deposit it

Cowardice is the root of all our financial troubles to-day. There is no reason for distrust and least of all for panic.
