THE ARGUS seeks to be a reliable paper for the people and the family—Democratic and fearing to discuss no issues wherein the people's rights are at stake.

The Executive Committee Call.

RALEIGH, May 16th, 1894. By order of the Central Executive Committee there will be a meeting of the Democratic State Executive Committee at Raleigh on the 12th day of June, 1894, at 8 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of calling a convention of the party and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

THE SOUTH IN THE SADDLE.

As the Richmond Dispatch says, whenever the Republicans desire to bring a charge against the Democratic party which will damage it in the estimation of the Northern people, they raise the cry that "the South is in the saddle." The Hartford Post heads a recent editorial with these words, and then proceeds to cite facts which that paper assumes prove the heading to be true.

The Post says there are 118 Democrats from the South in the national House of Representatives, and adds, as if it were a crime that paper was exposing, that these Democrats constitute "one third of the members of the whole body." What remedy does the Post propose? The Southern States are represented in proportion to their population. Would our Hartford contemporary so change the laws of the land as to provide that 100,000 population in Connecticut be entitled to a representative in Congress whilst 200,000 population in the South shall have only one representative? If the South is to appear in the House of Representatives upon equal terms with the North the former must be accorded all the rights and privileges which are accorded to the latter.

It follows, of course, that not only must the South be represented in the House of Representatives in proportion to her numerical strength, but she must be permitted to elect as many Democrats to that body as she chooses to elect—that is, as many Democrats as can be elected under the law basing representation upon population. There can be no free government where different rule obtains. "One-third of the whole number" are the words which the Post employs to indicate its abhorrence of the right of the Southern people to elect as many Democrats to the House of Representatives as their population entitles them to.

But Connecticut ought to keep her mouth shut when the subject of representation in the two Houses of Congress is up for discussion. She elects two members on a population of 776,000, whilst New York elects only the same number on a population of 6,212,000. One man has as much influence in the United States Senate as eight men have in that body. Suppose New England had been turned out of the Union in 1861. There would have been no war, and the Union would have been rid of a troublesome sister.

Rotation in Democracy.

SAULSTON, N. C., May 28. Dear "Joe Argus"—It has been claimed that Saulston is "Third Party," but don't you believe it, Saulston is all right. The Third Parties claim most anything; in fact as claimers they are a success—even claim to be the only original Democratic party! What a claim! made up as these claimers are of the disgruntled office-seekers of the Democratic party and designing politicians of the Republican party. "Ye immortal gods and little fishes!" as Cicero used to say, "only in Latin—How, Mr. Editor, how can anything good like Democracy, which has its origin in the purest patriotism—love of country, not love of office—come out of such a motley, rabid conglomeration as the Third Party? I would as soon expect to see the Ethiopian change his skin or the leopard his spots as to expect good government from such a gang.

But, Mr. Editor, the purpose of my addressing this communication to you is to ask the privilege of your columns that I may urge upon the Board of Justices of Wayne county at their meeting next Monday the necessity of observing that old tried and true principle of pristine Democracy—"rotation in office." We want a change of Board of County Commissioners. It is important that there be a change. The people everywhere want a change, and the people are simply asking their rights when they ask that the principles of Democracy guide the Justices next Monday. We can afford to call for this change, Mr. Editor, on this principle of rotation, without discussing the old Board of Commissioners at all. And let us have a Board of Democrats—all Democrats, Mr. Editor, and it behooves the Justices to give us such a Board of Commissioners. Let no uncertain ones—let none but Democrats be elected next Monday.

Interdenominational Sunday School Convention.

I. WHAT IT IS. 1. Christians of all Evangelical Denominations. 2. Associated in Annual Convention. 3. For Encouragement, Counsel and Co-operation. 4. To maintain the Thorough Organization of the State by Counties and Townships. 5. For the Improvement and Extension of Sunday-School Work. 6. To reach the Unsaved Thousands of North Carolina with the Word of God.

II. WHAT IT DOES. 1. CONVENTIONS. Aids in conducting and making efficient the annual convention of every county, and many township conventions. By these conventions the work along all lines is stimulated, neglected portions of each county are revealed, reports of progress are made, and the workers are aroused to greater zeal and activity. 2. NORMAL INSTITUTES. Conducts normal institutes in the various districts in the interest of teacher-training and better Sunday-School work.

III. SOME OBJECTIONS ANSWERED. 1. "My hands are too full" to engage in the work, say some Pastors. It is not only the object, but is the result of the movement to reach the workers in the church and Sunday School, that our busy Pastors may not be so over-burdened. The kindly counsel and approval and direction, rather than work is what the movement looks to the Pastor for.

IV. WHAT IT PROPOSES TO DO. 1. EXECUTIVE OFFICE. Establish an Executive Office to thoroughly systematize and coordinate in the work. 2. MONTHLY PAPER. Publish a monthly Sunday-School paper solely in the interest of the co-operative organized Sunday-School work.

V. HOW IT IS SUPPORTED. 1. Its first and chief support is the time and talent devoted by the voluntary services of all its officers. 2. The means freely given by these same brethren and a number of other Christian business men who are contributors to the SPECIAL SUBSCRIPTION, which aims by a given number of $100, $50, $25, $10 and $5 subscriptions to raise at least $5000 annually.

VI. OBJECT OF ORGANIZATION. The object of interdenominational organized Sunday-School work, as promoted by our State, county and township associations, may be indicated by seven points: 1. EXPLORATION of every school district of every township of every county, by a house-to-house visitation for the purpose of 2. ENLIGHTENMENT as to the actual religious status, number of persons not in any Sunday School and not under the influence of the Bible, the neglected and needy districts or localities, and places where new Sunday Schools can be established, in order that this reliable information may be the basis of intelligent action and result in the 3. ENLISTMENT of the Christians of every name in a co-operative endeavor to gather into the Sunday Schools of our various denominations the thousands in each county now growing up without a knowledge of God and His Word.

VII. CO-OPERATION—NOT UNION. The State Sunday-School Association makes no plea for union of schools or churches or creeds. It desires, particularly in its active ranks, the strongest champions of their respective creeds in the various evangelical denominations. And it simply desires to have these down in council together for a fair look at the field as it actually is; to devise ways to carry the gospel to the neglected districts; to reach the million unsaved souls, particularly the youth of the State; to urge each other to co-operate in holding these councils or conventions in the interest of the great work; and to encourage all to go back to their own denominations, and according to such ways as are approved by their respective churches; to reach out a longer and stronger arm, until the fields actually cultivated shall touch each other, where shall not be between a "man's land" where immortal souls are dying without Christ.

VIII. EMINENT DIVINES. Endorsements by attendance and participation in its conventions have been given the North Carolina State Sunday-School Association by Rev. Dr. H. P. Trichard, Rev. Dr. J. H. Hall, Rev. Dr. C. Durham, Rev. R. T. Vann, and others, of the Baptist Church; Rev. Dr. E. A. Yates, Rev. G. A. Oglesby, Rev. Dr. P. T. Tyler, Rev. R. B. John, and others, of the Methodist Church; Rt. Rev. Bishop Edward Rondthaler, Rev. J. F. McCauley, and others, of the Moravian Church; Rev. W. K. Coppedge, Rev. A. McPate, Rev. Dr. F. H. Johnston, Rev. E. W. Smith, and others, of the Presbyterian Church; Rev. Dr. J. F. Barrett, Rev. J. W. Welton, Rev. I. L. Chestnut, and others, of the Christian Church; Rev. W. Lutz, Rev. F. W. E. Smith, Rev. C. B. King, and others, of the Lutheran Church.

IX. BROAD CHRISTIAN PLATFORM. Upon this broad Christian platform the North Carolina State Sunday-School Association invites every lover of our Lord to stand. Upon the ground of this simple, practical, effective plan of work, and in the name of the Saviour of the world, it asks the prayers and sympathy and co-operation and support of every redeemed soul in this State to win North Carolina for Christ.

individual in a corner does not entice himself; nor can a lone school enjoy the enthusiasm that results in the congregation of those of like mind for a common purpose. Reports of progress, of increased and improved work, and of success and blessing, greatly cheer all, and keeps the enthusiasm aglow which helps to maintain the interest in the work.

6. EDUCATION. By conventions and institutes the work is greatly improved and extended, the workers are trained for service, and the teachers are better fitted to impart a knowledge of the Word of God. By organization the workers are trained for service, and the teachers are better fitted to impart a knowledge of the Word of God.
