HOME INDUSTRIES WAYS IN WHICH THESE MAY BE FOSTERED.

One sort of sectional patriotism that is well enough, that of patronizing home institutions. Bridgeport (Ala.) News. A great deal is said about conspiracy among Northern capitalists to keep down the price of cotton and the like and various legislation is proposed as a remedy. It is a question whether any legislation, even if it were desirable on other grounds could effect the desired end of preventing manipulation of cotton values...

Race Trouble in Illinois

Spring Valley, Ill., Aug. 8.—Representative John C. Buckner of the Fifth district, Chicago, who has been in consultation with the expelled negroes at Seatonville, sent a telegram to the Governor this morning calling for troops. The Mayor swore in one hundred special policemen at 7 o'clock this morning, and issued a proclamation calling on all persons to abstain from violence and preserve law and order. The negroes will not venture inside the lines unless they are provided with protection in the shape of Winchesters. The Spring Valley Coal Company joins Representative Buckner in the call for troops.

TRUMPET CALLS.

Ram's Horn Sounds a Warning Note to the Unredeemed. Don't pattern after men, when you would please God. God is still calling to some people to do small things. To say "Thy will be done," means to say good bye to self. God's warriors are always chosen from his worshippers. The only things we really know, are those God tell us. When you shut your closet door, lock it with a promise. Whatever is lost in Sodom must be lost with Sodom. The rod never does good unless the hand of love holds it. Let us do right, and God will see to it that we come out right. The devil is most like a lion when he looks most like a sheep. It is the wolf in sheep's clothing that has the sharpest teeth. It is never hard to believe when we get on believing ground. We can only walk with God when we are willing to go his way. Our mission of sorrow in this life is to show us our need of God. To make those around us want religion, we must show them what it is. Give thorns a right to live, and you make a law against killing snakes. Praying is sometimes done, when God wants us to first do something else. Some men whom God calls to preach misunderstand him, and write essays. The devil has to work hard for all he gets in the house of a praying mother. The old serpent hasn't grown an inch since he crept into the garden of Eden. When the devil goes about as a roaring lion, he is careful not to show his teeth. It is a long step toward heaven to be born in a home where the Bible is loved. It is doubtful if the man who makes a long prayer ever expects a quick answer. There is something wrong with the preaching that won't hit a sinner somewhere. The man who enters the straight gate has to leave behind him all that is crooked. Whatever we undertake in the name of the Lord, is sure to have God's help behind it. We must do the thing that God tells us to do, before any other good work will count. The prayer that opens a window in heaven, can only be offered when God is worshipped. The Bible will not long remain a closed book against the one who opens it to look for Christ. Only the wise profit by the experience of others. A fool has to find out by himself that the fire is hot. The world is sadly in need of an invention that will warn people when they have talked enough.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS

ANNUAL REUNION THOS. RUFFIN CAMP. Held at Sasser's School House, Last Thursday: The Largest Crowd Present For Many Years. The annual meeting of Thos. Ruffin Camp Confederate Veterans was held at Sasser's School House last Thursday, Col. J. H. Hill, commander of the Camp, present and presiding. The exercises were opened with prayer by the chaplain and music by the choir, provided by the ladies of Fork township. The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved. Letters from Gen. W. G. Lewis and Capt. Swift Galloway, giving short sketches of the life and character of Col. Thos. Ruffin, in whose honor the camp was named, was read and, on motion, ordered to be published and filed, as were the address of Col. Thos. Kennedy and "Recollections of the First Fight at Fort Fisher," by Dr. Thos. Hill. The adjutant was instructed to enroll the names of all who desired to join the United Confederate Veteran's association, and to receive the fee of 10 cents for each name enrolled. W. H. Smith, a member of the camp, was invited to pay the fee for 100 members who were unable to pay the fee and who desire to join the association. Fifteen new members were enrolled. Books were opened to receive the names of all the sons of veterans who desire to become members of the organization. The adjutant of the camp was instructed to enroll the names of all such. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Colonel—N. H. Gurly. Lt. Colonel—Henry Lee. Major—Mathew Johnson. Surgeon—Dr. J. F. Miller. Quartermaster—J. H. Edwards. Chaplain—Levi Johnson. Adjutant—N. W. Musgrave. A resolution of thanks was tendered the good people, and especially the ladies, of Fork township for the handsome manner in which the camp was entertained. One thousand pounds of barbecue, besides the many other good things that were carried in baskets, literally covering a quarter of a mile long. Having been provided for the occasion, the Goldsboro Rifles, Capt. T. H. Bain, commanding, who, by resolution, some years ago, were invited to be present at all of its annual reunions, were in attendance and showed the old veterans, in the drill of the company, how it is done in these times of peace. They were well handled and excited the admiration of the camp. They were escorted by the Hampton Guards, a corps of young ladies of Goldsboro, who were organized especially for the unveiling of the Bentonville monument, and who are quite proficient in their drill exercises. Dr. W. J. Jones was called upon, and addressed the camp in his usual elegant and forceful manner. He tendered the thanks of the camp to the committee, N. H. Gurly, Thos. Jones and H. H. Parker, and to the ladies and citizens of Fork township for the pleasant entertainment in the music provided by the ladies for the occasion, as well as for the sumptuous dinner, so greatly in contrast to what they were used to in the times that tried men's souls. The camp then adjourned. The membership of the camp is 430. It is desired that all ex-Confederate Veterans in the county become members thereof. The newly elected adjutant, N. W. Musgrave, will enroll the names of all who apply to him for membership. The attendance was larger than for many years.

A Sensational Murder.

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 9.—Hon. J. Dabney Marshall, nominee for Senator from Warren and Hinds counties, shot and killed R. D. Dinkins, of Jackson, at Brandon this morning. Marshall and three friends, S. H. Coleman, R. P. Fox and W. P. Vollen, kinsmen and partners of Marshall, drove to Brandon in a hack and met Dinkins at the depot as he was entering a corner of the building, opening fire on him at once and killed him instantly, shooting fifteen times. Dinkins was unarmed, but grappled Marshall's pistol from him as he fired the first shot. The shooting was caused by a sensational report circulated by Dinkins. Two weeks ago Dinkins and Marshall roomed together, but in two beds, at a hotel at Raymond, this county. Next morning Dinkins spread the report that Marshall had attempted an unmentionable crime upon him. This report was damaging, of course, and there was a clamor that Marshall be taken off the tickets for State Senator. Marshall denounced the report as a lie, and Dinkins stuck to it and everybody looked for a killing sooner or later. Marshall is a little fellow who weighs about seventy-five pounds, is highly educated, a lawyer, and a man of letters, whose family is one of the most prominent in the State and has a host of friends at home and elsewhere. He has served a term in the Legislature and was the nominee for Senator from Warren and Hinds. Dinkins' family is equally as good. He is a brother of W. L. Dinkins, of Madison, Cleveland's United States marshal during his first term and is closely related to many prominent men in the State being a cousin of Bishop Chas. B. Galaway of this city. Marshall and his companions are under arrest at Brandon. The affair is deeply regretted here, where both men are well known and highly respected. The body of Dinkins was brought to Jackson to-day.

"JUST AS I AM."

ORIGIN OF THE BEAUTIFUL INSPIRING HYMN. That has such widespread fame: How Miss Charlotte Elliot became a Christian. Reform Church Record. More than half a century ago, in the year 1836, a young girl, Miss Charlotte Elliot, was preparing for a grand ball, to be given in her native town. Full of gay anticipation, she started out one day to her dressmaker, to have a fine dress fitted for the occasion. On her way she met her pastor, an earnest, faithful man, and in the greeting which passed between them he learned her errand. He reasoned and expostulated, and finally pleaded with her to stay away from the ball. Greatly vexed, she answered, "I wish you would mind your own business," and went on her wayward course. In due time the ball came off, and this young lady was the gayest and carested, but after dancing all night, laying her weary head on her pillow only with returning light, she was far from happy. In all the pleasures there had been a thorn, and now conscience made her wretched. Her pastor had always been a loving, cherished friend, and her rudeness to him rankled in her breast. More than all, the truth of his words came to her heart, and would give her no rest. After three days of misery, during which life became almost insupportable, she went to the minister with her trouble, saying: "For three days I have been the most wretched girl in the world, and now, oh that I were a Christian! What must I do?" "We need not be told that the pastor freely forgave her for her rudeness to himself, nor that he joyfully directed her to the source of peace. "Just give yourself," my child to the Lamb of God just as you are." This was a new gospel to her, she had never comprehended it before. "What! Just as I am?" she asked, "Do you know that I am one of the worst sinners in the world? How can God accept me just as I am." "That is exactly what you must believe," was the answer. "You must come to him just as you are." The young girl left overwhelmed as the simple truth took possession of her mind. She went to her room, knelt down and offered God her heart, guilty and evil as it was, to be cleansed and made fit for his own dwelling. As she knelt, peace—full, overflowing—filled her soul. Inspired by the new and rapturous experience, she then and there wrote the hymn beginning: "Just as I am, without one plea, But that thy blood was shed for me, And that thou hast'nt me come to thee, O Lamb of God, I come." Little did Charlotte Elliot think of fame or of the immortality of the words she had written. It was simply putting her heart on paper; and therefore the hymn, born of a mysterious experience, appeals to other hearts needing the cleansing power of the blood of the Lamb. Charlotte was possessed of literary gifts and when the editor of Literary Remembrances died, she took charge. In making up her first number, she inserted several of her own poems anonymously among them was "Just as I am." It immediately attracted attention, was widely copied, and passed into the hymnology of the Christian Church. This hymn has given consolation to millions of anxious people. Like the author many think they are too vile to come to God, but not wait until they have become better. In the hymn Miss Elliot expresses the true way of come acceptably to God. THE OLD NORTH STATE LEADS THEM ALL.

In this day of push and enterprise, when capital is seeking a place where money can be invested with perfect safety in enterprises where profits are exceedingly large, and where men of moderate means are looking out for a country where they can build them up a home under the most favorable circumstances for acquiring a competency in a comparatively short space of time, and in a country where they can enjoy the blessings of an equable climate, and beautiful scenery, surrounded by all the comforts and conveniences, and in close proximity to the great countries of American civilization, there is no part of America which offers as many inducements as North Carolina. The only reason that this country has not already settled up by live, pushing, industrious business men and had ample capital to develop her wonderful resources is, that while other countries were publishing to the world all their advantages, and to tell the truth of them, North Carolina—like Cinderella—has been sitting in the chimney corner awaiting a fairy godmother to display her charms to the admiring gaze of the world. Now let us briefly recite her varied resources and her great advantages over other portions of our country. In the first place, our situation is unexcelled on the American continent. Our climate for mildness and salubrity is unexcelled. Our autumn is an almost endless succession of bright and balmy days; our winters have but little frost and snow, for weeks at a time being as bright and pleasant as the Indian Summer of the North; our spring are a poem, the land decked with flowers, the trees bursting with greenness, the beautiful song birds of the South singing in their branches, while gentle south winds fan nature to sleep with their flower-scented breath; the summer brings not stifling days that might be expected but the cooling breeze from the mountains and the ocean make them as cool and "Lovely as those which ripened Eden's fruit." The world will soon know what is now known by comparatively few, that North Carolina is one of the richest in mineral deposits, and her favorable location, the great mining industry can be carried on with greater profit and less risk than in almost any other portion of the world. Traversed from north to south, and from east to west, with great business railroads, giving its direct and quick communication with the great coast cities of the North, as well as to all points South and west, while from our various harbors, lines of steamships make communication with all parts of the world. Nature intended and eminently adapted North Carolina to be a great manufacturing State. In no other part of the universe can manufacturing of all descriptions be carried on, with greater certainty of large profit on the investment than in North Carolina, and the time is not far distant when she will manufacture all of her own products as well as working up the raw material of other sections. Our farming interests can be made most profitable in the world. We say this without fear of contradiction, as where else can from $100 to $1,000 per acre be netted annually as is a common profit realized by our tobacco planters, truck farmers and fruit growers? The timber interests of the State are among the most profitable in America and bring annually many millions to the coffers of our people. Our grand coast is the great fishery of the Atlantic shores and can be made to bring in revenues enough to enrich a nation. With all these advantages the State would be a grand one if it had no other resources, but when we state the fact—as we do without fear of contradiction—that she can be made one of the grandest farming portions of the earth, yes, the very garden spot of the world—we present a picture of the beautiful land, waiting but the touch of capital and energy to turn its waste places into thriving farms and its villages into cities. This grand transformations has already begun. To-night has passed away, the dawn has broken and already the sunlight of prosperity is casting its bright rays over the dear old State from the sea to the mountains. So mote it be.

Singular Suicide.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 8.—James W. Jones, aged 30, hailing from Richmond, Va., and a cigar maker by trade, committed suicide in a bar room at Durham in a singular manner. He was on a spree and was refused liquor. He declared nothing but death would satisfy him as he wanted to die with his wife and child who died recently. Pulling off his coat, he crawled out, "Boys, here's a new way to skate," and threw himself head foremost against the corner of a post. He fell back as if dead, but rallied sufficiently to call for a Catholic priest. He died in a short while.

Horrible Suicide.

Zanesville, O., August 9.—Jacob Gigax, a retired banker, who has been suffering for a long time, and was so weak he could hardly walk, tottered to the depot of the Cincinnati & Muskingum Railway this morning. Horrified spectators saw him get down on his knees beside the track before the train started and placed his head on the rail. Before anyone could reach him the wheels had passed over his head, crushing it and severing it from the body. Gigax was seventy-six years old and a native of Switzerland.

Boiler Explosion

Raleigh, N. C., August 9.—By the explosion of a boiler at Dick Parham's saw mill, near Allensville, Person county, George Parham, about 18 years old, was killed. His skull was crushed and both legs were broken. His skull broken. Three other persons were wounded. William Parham, head fractured, seriously hurt; John Parham, seriously wounded, and one man scalded, not seriously. The water in the boiler was allowed to get too low. The fireman attempted to fill it, causing a terrific explosion, blowing the boiler, engine and shed one hundred yards.

The Chinese Outrages.

London, August 9.—Lord Salisbury presided to-day at the meeting at the Foreign Office of all the members of his Cabinet. The Council approved Lord Salisbury's intentions respecting China, which he explained to the Ministers. Washington, August 9.—Minister Denby has been instructed by Acting Secretary Adee to secure protection for American citizens at Panyang, China, a place about forty miles from Foo Chow, where the American mission is reported to have been looted by the natives. No additional outrages have been reported to the State Department to-day.

London, August 9.—An official telegram received here states that imperative orders have been issued from Peking to the Viceroy of Fukien, directing him to instantly dispatch troops to Kucheng to protect the remaining missionary buildings. He was also instructed to inquire into the origin of the outrages there and to arraign the guilty persons as quickly as possible. The Viceroy obeyed the order as soon as it was received and sent 1,800 troops to Kucheng at once.
