GOLDSBORO, N. C., THURSDAY JANUARY 28, 1897.

NO 122

LOCAL BRIEFS.

JOHN Wesley Roberts, who was convicted of cutting John Bonner, was sentenced to eight months solitary confinement in the county jail.

MR. John A. King has purchased the interest of his brother, M. D. A. King in the restaurant adjoining the Law Building and will conduct the business in his own name.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty against Jesse Cox, who was charged with an assault upon the person of Maggie Lauer, and the Judge sentenced him to 10 years hard labor in the State prison.

MESSRS. H. A. Tucker & Bro., marble dealers of this city, have just erected a modest monument of handsome design over the site in which the late Benajah Herring was interred at Thompson's chapel, about three miles east of this city.

A BURNED cork artist, who claims to have escaped from a stranded company somewhere in the South, gave an outdoor exhibition of his talent from a wagon body on Walnut street this afternoon and took up a collection to help him homeward.

A small negro boy about 14 years old from the Eureka section of this county who was convicted of breaking the jail windows, was taken into the jail yard by his half brother to-day and given a good whipping in compliance with an order by Judge Adams.

The Grand Jury did not find a true bill in the case of James Henry Leggett, the negro who has been lodged in jail accused of the cutting to death of John Bonner on Christmas eve night, and he was released from custody to-day. Wesley Kates, another negro who is accused of taking part in the cutting, is still held for trial.

MR. E. C. EXUM, of the Eureka section of this county, was in the city to-day and brought the sad intelligence of the burning to death yesterday of the 3 years and six months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. P. McD. Child, who reside in the same neighborhood. The burning was caused by the little one playing in the fire while his mother was attending to household duties.

Last week while Mr. William Ham, who lives near Stony Creek, was on his way home from the city, the mule he was driving became frightened and made a sudden lurch forward, which threw Mr. Ham from his cart, and he was dragged some distance on the ground before the mule was stopped. He is now in a bruised condition, and it will be several days before he can leave his home.

The death of Dr. Stephen Woodard, who is well known in this city, where he had relatives residing, occurred at his home in Black Creek last week. He was about 70 years old and had spent his long life in a manner worthy of imitation. He was known far and wide for his amiable disposition, and his friends embraced the number of his acquaintances. He was the father of Mrs. Dr. R. A. Smith and Mrs. Capt. J. J. Robinson of this city, and of Hon. F. A. Woodard, of Wilson, all of whom have the sympathy of hosts of friends in this city in their sad bereavement.

MESSRS. George C. Royall, and Jno. L. Borden, the two popular proprietors of the furniture house of ROYALL & BORDEN, of this city, have returned from the Furniture Exposition in New York and from a trip through the New England States, where they have been to make extensive purchases of the latest styles to supply their headquarters in this city and branch houses in Raleigh and Durham. The trip has been an instructive one for them and the trade in this section may expect a revelation in modern furniture when their purchases arrive.

Oh, How They Hurt.

Neuralgic pains are often so acute, that the poor sufferer becomes, almost, frenzied with the intensity of the pain. Salvation-Oil will instantly relieve and effectually cure neuralgia, so there is no reason why a moment's pain should be endured. Mr. Jacob Klein, 1036 Main St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "My wife suffered from neuralgia for seven years and since she used Salvation-Oil, she has not had a spell. I think it is the best medicine I have ever tried, and I would not be without a bottle of it in the house. I had the rheumatism for five years and had tried a great many liniments, and must say that Salvation-Oil did me more good than any other remedy." Salvation-Oil is sold everywhere for 25 cents.

BUTLER "BUCKING"

The Center of the Populist Bolders to no Purpose - He Loses His Temper and He and Skinner Ready to Act "Fitzsimmons and Sharkey."

Raleigh, N. C., January 19.—There came very near being a personal collision last night between Senator Butler and Congressman Skinner, growing out of the latter's statements that Cy. Thompson had released the populists from any obligation to vote for him and wanted them to vote for Pritchard. Another statement which came near raising a row was one that Governor Russell would only recognize the bolting populists. Butler went to see Russell last Saturday. The Republicans started a story last night that the democratic caucus had nominated Julian S. Carr for senator; this was untrue. They also started the story that Butler and Cy. Thompson had quarrelled. Butler was angry last night. His eyes blazed. Cy. Thompson denied all these reports.

Days after day the populist majority has tried to "buck the center" of the bolters. It was slow work. Republicans swore they had the bolters safe. They also swore Pritchard's election was sure. The populist leaders declared Pritchard could not win. The first sign of weakening observed was at 10 o'clock this morning when Congressman Stoward said he feared the bolters; that attempts to change them had failed.

Every republican of prominence and every populist who cuts any figure in his party was here to-day to see the senatorial election. It was agreed by all to be the most exciting in the state's history, far surpassing in human interest and political finesse the famous Vance-Merrimon contest in 1872.

To-day was a holiday as Lee's birthday. The state flags were displayed on the capitol. All the offices were open, however, and business seemed to go on as usual.

"A GENERATION OF THIEVES"

That is - What Maj. H. L. Grant, of this City Calls, the Democracy of North Carolina, Standing in the Senate Chamber of the State's Capitol and Speaking to Pritchard's Nomination

"DAMON" BUTLER AND "PYTHIAS" GRANT HAVE PARTED.

In the speech-making that prevailed in the State Senate Chamber Tuesday, when nominations for U. S. Senator were in vogue, Maj. H. L. Grant, Senator from this district, opened the vials of his long pent-up wrath and hatred against the reputable white people of the State, and vomited his spleen and slander upon them, which he would like to have done thirty years ago, when he first came among us at the head of his negro regiment, but dared not. Our people were not in the temper for it then. But he has been biding his time for all these years, and creeping in and out among us, receiving generous patronage from our people, making his home here, and "rearing up children in the midst of this fraud," until he has at length, by the help of Marion Butler and Populism, been advanced to a seat in the State Senate, and there he stands and, in the face of the State and the world, gives utterance in hate to the vilest slander that has yet been voiced against our people, and at the same time shows up the old night scheming for personal office that prompted him and Marion Butler and Pritchard to concoct, form and force fusion two years ago in this State. But let's hear his speech, just as it fell from his lips.

Mr. Grant came to the front to close the speaking for Pritchard. He said: "I believe that those who made history know the truth of it. In 1894, Pritchard was the first man in North Carolina that I penned a letter to join in a co-operative movement in North Carolina. From him I received the first favorable response. He gave the best and strongest reasons for its existence. An humble instrument in his hands, and through my instrumentality, the first meeting was held to organize this great movement. The democratic party was raising a generation of thieves. I was rearing up children in the midst of this fraud. Mr. Butler was the man to whom I went. Night after night with him, we made plans, and it was based upon the understanding that Butler should succeed Ransom, and Pritchard should succeed Vance. If there was ever an understanding, it was made between us. Western Republicans demanded the long term. Mr. Butler and myself had stood shoulder to shoulder. If there ever was a confidence established between two men, those men were Marion Butler and myself.

"We came up here and a combination was made. It was at the solicitation of Senator Butler, who appealed to our Republican friends to give him the long term on his solemn pledge that he would be for Pritchard in 1896 and 1897.

"If there is a God in heaven, what I state about that is the truth. I live in the East. I am the friend of silver - as much so as I had no ambition to go to the National convention, but I did want to go to represent my people. I voted with other North Carolinians (14 votes) for the Teller amendment. We kept faith.

"The judgment of that convention was that we were wrong. Were we to bolt? Where were we to go? Into the Democratic party - to get only a Democratic promise Senator Pritchard and his friends decided to remain in the party and to fight for international agreement - if the party proves faithless, we will take it independent.

"Senator Pritchard has had occasion because of the foul slanders against him, to make many statements. Take his record; it is true to silver.

"I would rather North Carolina should go anti-Democratic by co-operation than by a straight ticket. Living in the East, and knowing what it meant to be a Republican five years ago and now, I thank the Populists for striking from my limbs political slavery.

HEROIC.

An epidemic prevailed in Plymouth, Pa., and was violent that the town was almost desolated - every one that could get away, excepting those who heroically determined that duty required their presence to nurse their families and combat the disease.

Heroes who fight battles and destroy armies, desolate homes and crush nations are lauded to the skies, but there is another heroism that should never be forgotten, that which stands at the bedside defying danger and death, soothing the sufferer. Such devotion was shown in Plymouth, and the fell destroyer was soon driven back, and health smiled upon the doomed town once more.

Members of the Plymouth Hospital Committee were asked to test and prove the effectiveness of many different remedies to be used as disinfectants in sick rooms and as preventives in the streets. It was found that Darby's Prophylactic Fluid has been thoroughly tested during the epidemic in this place. It proved most efficacious in staying the spread of the fever.

Several of the leading merchants of Plymouth, who had cases of the fever in their families, were generous enough to use Darby's Prophylactic Fluid, to their entire satisfaction and have given the best testimonials to that effect. It is a most effective preparation. It should be used in every house as a preventive from Typhoid Fever, and in every case of infectious disease. I would recommend it to all who have any such opportunity to use its excellent qualities.

We trusted the Populists implicitly without pledges as they had trusted us. "We are at the parting of the ways. The Populist party must determine whether they will keep their honor, or sacrifice it at the behest of any man."

It will be remembered that in the campaign of two years ago, so close were Butler and Grant together, the ARGUS styled them "Damon" Butler and "Pythias" Grant.

The old adage "when thieves fall out honest men get their dues" comes in with force here. Grant and Butler have fallen out, and now Grant is telling all about it. He shows the truth of what THE ARGUS urged at the time, and has not ceased to maintain - that there was no principle in fusion and no patriotism in Butler. The plum Butler was after was Ransom's seat; the plum Pritchard was after was Vance's seat. They got them. The plum Grant wanted and still thirsts for is Sergeant-at-Arms of the U. S. Senate.

And this is fusion - and "Jeffersonian Democracy." And the real Democracy, that rescued North Carolina from the rotten rascality, pillage and riot of the carpet bag rule of '68, redeemed her credit, repelled her robber treasury, built and opened school houses for both races, built asylums for both races and established peace and prosperity throughout all her borders - this Democracy is "a generation of thieves." So says Maj. Grant. Shall our people calmly submit to this contumely?

THE LEGISLATURE.

The Members now Getting Down to Their Work.

SENATE. Raleigh, N. C., January 21.—The senate met at noon, with prayer by Rev. Dr. Pitinger. Bills were introduced as follows: By Senator Mitchell to provide for a dispensary in Louisville town and township. By Senator W. H. Hodson to incorporate Greengville bank. By Senator Ashburn, a resolution to investigate the use of several histories in North Carolina schools.

By Senator Alexander, to prevent forfeiture of goods sold on installment plan. The resolution instructing our senators and representatives to vote for free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, was, on motion of Senator Grant, made a special order for Tuesday next at noon.

Senator Grant, by unanimous consent, introduced a joint resolution that the president of the senate appoint five senators and the speaker of the house appoint eight members to consider the election law and the subject of county government, and it was adopted.

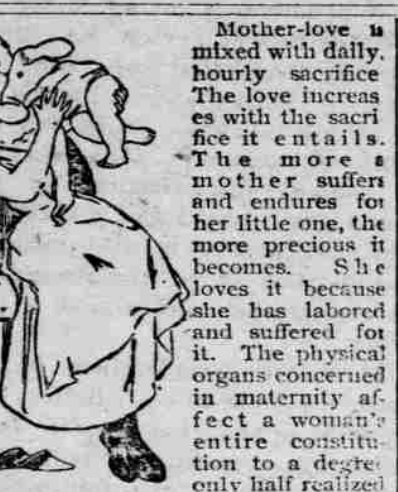

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. At 11 o'clock the house met. The attendance of members was light. The principal bills introduced were: By Mr. Harris, of Halifax, to repeal the act allowing additional county commissioners.

By Mr. Hancock, to amend the charter of Newbern by giving it six wards and to elect the mayor by the people. By Mr. Hare, to make it felony to steal any election book or other official record of election.

By Mr. Hart, a resolution instructing our senators and representatives in congress to work for the repeal of the tax on fruit bray. By Mr. Hauser, to incorporate the Bank of Kingston.

By Mr. Ferguson, to amend the divorce law so if a man is in jail his wife can remarry. The bill to regulate appeals was taken up and passed, providing that in appeals to a high court the evidence shall be set up at the request of either party to the action. It does not apply to magistrates' courts, city courts, or mayors' courts.

The bill to provide that guardians, administrators and executors who misappropriate their funds shall be liable to indictment for embezzlement, passed. The bill passed to allow Robeson county's commissioners to hire or farm out the chain gang, no females to be employed on the roads.

Mother-love is mixed with daily hourly sacrifice. The love increases with the sacrifice. The more a mother suffers and endures for her little one, the more precious it becomes. She loves it because she has labored and suffered for it. The physical organs concerned in maternity affect a woman's entire constitution to a degree which few realize. Women are often treated specially for sick headaches, dyspepsia, melancholy, or what is supposed to be a liver or kidney affection or heart disease, when in reality the whole trouble is with the reproductive organs. This delicate and intricate organism and the rational treatment for its peculiar ailments is a life study for the wisest physician. Probably no practitioner living has a higher reputation in this special direction, than Dr. R. V. Pierce, Chief Consulting Physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. His "Favorite Prescription," is the most perfect remedy ever known for all "female complaints." It gets at the source of the trouble from the inside. It is not merely temporary, external, local, blistering or palliative. It is a cure. It directly tones and strengthens the internal organs, restores them to health and regularity, and completely banishes the continual weakness, dizziness and which wear out body and mind. It side effects the combined sales of all other medicines for women.

In every American household, there should be a copy of Dr. Pierce's Great Peppermint Cure. It is a most valuable remedy for all ailments of the throat, lungs, and chest. It is a most effective preparation. It should be used in every house as a preventive from Typhoid Fever, and in every case of infectious disease. I would recommend it to all who have any such opportunity to use its excellent qualities.

Dr. Schuklen moved to table - lost. Mr. McKenzie, Democrat, said he thanked God he belonged to a party which within thirty years had never used a gag law and thought the purpose of the bill was to muzzle the Democrats.

Mr. Ransom offered an amendment making it a misdemeanor for a political speaker to use vulgar or profane language while speaking in. Mr. Schuklen said that with this amendment he favored the bill. The amendment was adopted.

Mr. Cooke, of Warren, offered an amendment that the bill should apply to all public speakers and stage actors - adopted. The bill and amendment were referred to the judiciary committee.

Mr. Jule and William Bivins, who provoked a personal encounter with Mr. Swift Pate, at his store in Greenleaf some weeks ago, were sentenced to three months in the county jail with privilege to hire out by the County Commissioners.

The defendants in the Langston "white cap" case were sentenced to one month solitary confinement in the county jail with privilege to be hired out five months by the commissioner. The first sentence was three months solitary confinement, but through the eloquent pleading for the mercy of the court by Dr. Meysberg, the sentence was reduced to one month.

LUTHER'S REFORMATION.

LIFE AND TIMES OF THE GREAT REFORMER

Set Forth by Local Talent. The Young People of Goldsboro will be Attired in the Garbs of the Old German, Under the Auspices of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

The story of Luther's Life will be detailed in the Opera House Monday and Tuesday evenings, February 1st and 2nd, with the assistance of every accessory of the lecturer's art and spectacular emphasis calculated to render it pleasing, interesting and instructive.

As a historical production it impresses the more important incidents of that notable epoch upon the minds of the auditors than can be accomplished through weeks of study.

Mrs. H. E. Monroe, the distinguished lecturer, who is the originator of the production and under whose management it is presented, delivers a most interesting discourse upon Luther, his life and deeds.

It is of the most pleasing nature, clear-cut and concise, and embellished with a number of anecdotes, historically founded, which add greatly to its attractiveness.

Mrs. Monroe's lecture is illustrated with 85 superb stereoscopic views, which afford charming illustrations of objects of art, pictures of renown and situations of interest. Mrs. Monroe has traveled extensively where these views can alone be taken.

The lecture and views are given an added interest by the allegory which acts like a rich frame for the truths taken from the history of Luther and his time. The entertainment is opened and closed with two beautiful triumphal processions, in which the participants, with their richly-colored costumes, present a picture of grandeur difficult to describe. In these processions, there marches upon the stage a dazzling array of young people decked in fancy costumes, resplendent with sparkling finery, forming fantastic figures. Besides, there will be represented Luther's famous trial at Worms, Erfurth Monk and choir men, nuns and novices, etc.

There will be about 150 participants, who are representatives from the various churches of the town, and who will wear Sixteenth Century costumes. Mrs. Monroe connects the representations by lecture and views, at intervals. The arrangement of the story affords much action, lightened at intervals by humor, which heightens the effect of the narrative.

Blood Poison.

Contagious Blood Poison has been appropriately called the curse of mankind. It is the one disease that physicians cannot cure; their mercury and potash remedies only bottle up the poison in the system, to surely break forth in a more virulent form, resulting in a total wreck of the system.

Mr. Frank B. Martin, a prominent jeweler at 926 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D. C., says: "I was for a long time under treatment of two of the best physicians of this city, for a severe case of blood poisoning, but my condition grew worse all the while, notwithstanding the fact that they charged me three hundred dollars. My mouth was filled with eating sores; my tongue was almost eaten away, so that for three months I was unable to taste any food. My hair was coming out rapidly, and I was in a horrible fix. I had tried various treatments, and was nearly discouraged, when a friend recommended S.S.S. After I had taken four bottles, I began to get better, and when I had finished eighteen bottles, I was cured sound and well, my skin without a blemish, and I have had no return of the disease. S.S.S. saved me from a life of misery." S.S.S. (Guaranteed Purely Vegetable) will cure any case of blood poisoning. Books on this disease and its treatment mailed free by Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.
