LOCAL BRIEFS

Misses Roxie Garris and Lillie Blaylock, of the Nabunta section, are visiting the family of Sheriff B. F. Scott.

Miss Mamie Syllivant, of Greene county, is in the city visiting her cousins Misses Jennie and Maggie Wells.

The names of prominent Populists and Republicans in this city are being secured to a paper that endorses Mr. E. J. Martin for the postmastership at Mt. Olive.

HANDSOME invitations have been issued to the marriage of Mr. Isaac Cohn and Miss Jennie Edwards, the happy event to take place at the home of the popular young lady in this city on the 3rd of June.

Mr. E. W. Edwards has opened a stock of fancy groceries, fruits and confections in the new store on Walnut street, opposite the Mayor's office, and would be pleased to have his friends call on him. He has a soda fountain and serves cold drinks of all kinds.

Miss Pearl E. Thompson, daughter of Mr. Jas. W. Thompson, of the Greenleaf section, returned Thursday for vacation from attendance upon Greensboro Female College, and her many friends will be glad to have her among them again.

The death of Mr. J. A. Frazier occurred Wednesday at his home in Greene county, near the postoffice of Shine. He was a successful farmer and was one of the most prominent and highly respected citizen of the community. His death will be mourned by a host of friends and his family have the sympathy of his entire acquaintance in their sad affliction.

The District Conference for this (the Newbern) District of the M. E. Church, South, will convene at Griffin, N. C., on Thursday, July 1st. The following are the delegates from St. Paul M. E. Church: Messrs. T. R. Robinson, M. J. Best, J. W. Bryan, and C. G. Smith. Alternates: Messrs. W. H. Borden, Chas. Dewey, G. S. Pritchard, and J. J. Street. The first day of the Conference will be devoted to the District Sunday School.

It is said that the differences of opinion lately existing between Mr. Z. L. M. Jeffreys, the A. & N. C. R. E. agent at this place, and his assistant Mr. C. E. Holland, have been bridged over and affairs at the office have once more resumed an even tenor. Capt. Charley Hancock came up the other day, so it is rumored, with a message from his brother, the president of the road, to the effect that Mr. Holland was considered competent by the management to transact the business of his position and that he must be retained or the resignation of the agent, Mr. Jeffreys, would be asked for.

EX-SHERIFF Grantham has made arrangements with the railroad authorities and with Superintendent Smith, of the Penitentiary, to keep the bloodhounds belonging to himself, Sheriff Scott and Hon. B. F. Aycock, at Castle Haynes, the Weldon State farms and at Raleigh. The dogs are to be permanently located at these three places for use whenever the occasion requires their services. The dogs are still the property of their owners, but their services are to be paid for by the State and the railroads when used by either. Mr. Sam. C. Smith left this morning with two of the dogs for Raleigh.

It is with exceeding and abiding regret that THE ARGUS chronicles the removal from Goldsboro of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Hardison, who left this afternoon for Elizabeth City, where they will make their home for the future. Mr. Hardison having purchased an interest in and been elected general manager of the Elizabeth Manufacturing Company, one of the largest lumber plants in the South. Since his advent to Goldsboro, seven years ago, Mr. Hardison has won and held the esteem of all with whom he has come in contact in this community and section, and when he subsequently, six years ago, married and brought Mrs. Hardison here, and our people came to know her and appreciate them both, they congratulated themselves on the acquisition to our community. Their departure therefore will be a real and lasting source of regret to their many friends here, whose good wishes will accompany them to their new home for happiness and prosperity always.

WHERE JEFF DAVIS STOOD. Silver Star to Mark the Place Where He Was Made President of the Confederacy.

Montgomery, Ala., May 21.—The spot on the balcony of the State Capitol on which Jefferson Davis stood when inaugurated, thirty-six years ago, as President of the Confederacy of Southern States was marked this afternoon by the Society of Daughters of the Confederacy, who placed a 12-inch silver star there. A procession consisting of a large body of veterans, the State military, State executive officers, the city officers, and officers of the society marched to the capitol at six o'clock to the music of bands.

Gen. J. W. Sanford, of Montgomery, an intimate friend of Mr. Davis, and who stood near him at his inauguration, presided, and showed the spot on which Mr. Davis stood. Gen. Sanford said the Southern people had nothing to apologize for in their action and paid a tribute to Mr. Davis, and said: "If we were rebels, then to rebel is right. If Jefferson Davis was a traitor, then treason is the higher virtue."

Miss Mattie Henry Tompkins, of Montgomery, delivered the star to Gov. Johnson, who received it for the State in a speech extolling Mr. Davis and the Confederate cause. When the star was set it was covered with piles of roses.

WORK FOR UNEMPLOYED. San Francisco Talks of Putting Them to Work Raising Sugar Beets.

San Francisco May 21.—The Salvation Army and the Citizens' Committee are working hard for the unemployed of this city. It looks now as though several hundred persons would be settled in a colony at Salinas and raise sugar beets for Claus Spreckels's big beet-sugar factory. The scheme is to get Government land and the use of other farming land and settle colonies of unemployed, furnishing them with tools and food till they can raise a crop.

Claus Spreckels offered to-day to take all the sugar beets raised in the Salinas Valley at $4 a ton. He cited the case of a couple of Danes in the Salinas region who last year netted $7,000 from a crop of beets. They got fifteen tons of beets from each acre. At the same time a man on the next ranch raised only six tons of beets to the acre. The difference was due to the activity and industry of the Danes. The two pieces of land were entirely the same in character. Shreckels said the market for beets could not be overstocked.

RED HAIR IN ALL AGES.

Helen of Troy, Ninon De L'Enclos, Beatrice Cenci and Mary Stuart Had It.

Since time immemorial red hair has been the object of ill-humor and jokes—just why no one seems to know, unless it be that Judas Iscariot was thus endowed. And yet, despite the popular prejudice against auburn locks, there are few things more beautiful than a woman with such hair.

Red-headed women have played prominent parts in the world's history and have caused many a kingdom to tremble and even fall. Helen of Troy was red-headed, and she certainly caused trouble enough for one woman. Catherine I, of Russia, Joan of Arc, Elizabeth of England, Mary Stuart, Anne of Austria, Ex-Empress Eugenie, Ninon de L'Enclos, Lucretia Borgia and Beatrice Cenci had red hair and all are famous.

Nevertheless, it is a curious fact that in all ages there has been aversion to hair of this hue. Red has always been considered the color of war and bloodshed, and the cruellest gods of savage races have always been adorned with red topknots.

The ancient Egyptians were violently opposed to red hair, and once a year burned a maiden of this description in the hope of exterminating or lessening what they considered a curse. In Spain red hair is abhorred on the ground that it is "Judas hair." Among some savage races red hair is held in great esteem, especially among some of the Alaskan tribes.

In New Zealand a red-headed woman is considered as on the right road to paradise. Students of red hairology say that a woman thus adorned is more cruel, brighter, more deceptive and more ambitious than a woman having other color hair. Whatever truth there may be in this, it is a fact that red-haired women have a strange fascination for most men, and red-headed old maids are almost unknown.

Mother and Two Children Killed by a Snake. Pikeville, Ky., May 21.—Two children of Edward Driscoll, who lives on a little branch of State Creek, were bitten by a copper-head snake on Tuesday morning. Their cries attracted their mother, who tried to kill the snake, but was bitten herself. All three died within an hour.

Hood's Pills. Restore full, regular action of the bowels, do not irritate or inflame, but leave all the delicate digestive organism in perfect condition.

CUBAN RESOLUTION. Speaker Reed Will Confer with the President Before Action is Taken by the House.

Washington, May 21.—No official information could be obtained as to what action the House will take on the Cuban resolution passed by the Senate yesterday, but it was understood that Speaker Reed would have a conference with the President on the subject at an early day and no action would be taken until after that conference. The inference was that the action of the House managers would be guided to a large extent by the result of the conference. It is probable that some attempt will be made on the part of the Democrats to have the resolution considered as soon as it reaches the House, but this can not be done except by unanimous consent, which will not be given, or by a special order from the committee on rules. This special order will not be brought in until the Republican leaders are ready for some action to be taken.

Fifty Years Ago. President Polk in the White House chair. While in Lowell was Doctor Ayer. Both were busy for human weal.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills were designed to supply a model purgative to people who had so long injured themselves with griping medicines. Being carefully prepared and their ingredients adjusted to the exact necessities of the bowels and liver, their popularity was instantaneous. That this popularity has been maintained is well marked in the medal awarded these pills at the World's Fair 1893.

50 Years of Cures. The total bank clearings in the United States for the week were $975,103, 122 per cent. increase.

Cascarets stimulate liver kidneys and bowels. Never, sicken, weaken or grip.

Henry Love, colored, under arrest at Winston, N. C., has confessed that he is Lewis Mason, who killed Polk at Atlanta on Christmas day, 1895.

Elijah Morton, colored, was hanged at McKees, Pa., yesterday for murdering Charles and Ella Cromarty, also colored. Morton's victims were the parents of his wife.

Relief in Six Hours. Distressing Kidney and Bladder diseases relieved by the "New Great South American Kidney Cures."

A Congressional party, numbering about sixty persons, made a pilgrimage yesterday from Washington to Monticello, Va., the home of Thomas Jefferson. The trip was planned by Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, at the invitation of Mr. Jefferson M. Levy, the present owner of Monticello.

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills. Secret of Beauty is health. The secret of health is the power to digest and assimilate a proper quantity of food.

Loaning Money to Farmers. Kansas City, Mo., May 21.—The Armours of Kansas City and Chicago and several other large stockholders in the Interstate National Bank, including J. J. Squire, J. D. Robinson, the President, and Lee Clark, Vice-President, have organized a company to be known as the Kansas City Cattle Loan Company, which will lend millions of dollars to farmers and stock raisers through local live stock commission merchants, taking as security chattel mortgages on stock and corn. The company will deal in "cattle paper," buying from commission men and selling to Eastern brokers. The new corporation will have a capital stock of $500,000.

A HOT FIGHT WITH BANDITS.

Millionaire Callahan Alive—He Saw His Partner Butchered By Mexican Outlaws.

St. Louis, May 21.—Mr. Edward Callahan, owner of the Baranca silver mine, yielding 100 tons of $20 ore per day, and a millionaire, is at the Terminal Hotel. He is en route to New York, where he expects to have the best treatment for injuries he received in a fight with bandits. It was widely reported at the time that he had been killed.

On April 29 Mr. Callahan and his partner, James E. Kaline, were held up near Ameca, Mexico, by Mexican bandits while on their way to their mine with the weekly pay roll. After receiving twelve knife wounds, Mr. Callahan fell across the wagon seat, weak from the loss of blood. Lying there, helpless, he witnessed a terrible sight.

"The team had travelled perhaps 100 yards after we were attacked," said Mr. Callahan, "and about twenty feet back, lying in the middle of the road, I saw Jim. He was on his face, but I could see he was not dead, although the blood was pouring from a wound in his back and dyeing the dust about him. As I lay there, helpless, I saw his hand reach back to his gun, and a sudden glow sprang up within me. But the Mexicans, too, had seen the move, and it cost poor Jim his life."

"With a yell, one of the fellows sprang on him and wrenched his gun from his belt. I had raised my head to see, and pointing the six-shooter, he fired every chamber at me, but without effect, although I dropped down again. Then, raising his dirk, which was at least eighteen inches long, he plunged it into poor Jim's body repeatedly, nearly every blow, as examination afterward showed, going through him. Then he raised his dirk once more, and shouting to his companions the bull-fighter's 'fin!' plunged the dirk into the body between the shoulders with all his might. Then they came toward me.

"I thought they were going to finish me in the same way, and I sprang up at their approach. One of them shot at me, but did not hit me, and three sprang on the wagon. I seized one and threw him off bodily, then jumped myself. I backed up against the edge of the road and faced them, and they did not come nearer, but contented themselves with throwing stones at me. One struck me on the head, while another broke my nose. I fell, and the last I remember was one of them saying: 'Let's finish him.'

"The others replied that I would not live anyway, and, jumping into the wagon, they drove off, taking the silver with them.

"When I recovered consciousness I was at the house of Dr. Selosia. He bandaged me up and sent me to Guadalajara. There I was again doctored, and last week was out of bed. Now I'm going to New York to get fixed up as well as the best surgical aid can do it."

Mr. Callahan left Philadelphia eight years ago and went to Mexico. He prospected for a while and met Kaline, who had formerly lived in Ottawa, Ia. They formed a partnership, and in 1893 struck the lode which made them rich, ten miles from Ameca, State of Jalisco.

EPISCOPAL COUNCIL.

Third Day's Proceedings of the Session in This City. Daily Argus last Saturday.

The Council of the East Carolina Diocese re-assembled in St. Stephen's Episcopal church in this city at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and after the reading of the minutes of the morning session by the secretary Rev. F. U. Skinner, the Bishop announced the report of the trustees of St. Mary's School, Raleigh, as the special order for that hour. The report was read by Dr. Strange, and shewed the school to be in a thriving condition. Dr. Strange reported that the Diocese of North Carolina had bargained for the property of St. Mary's School for which they had promised to pay $50,000, and that the board of trustees had been incorporated under the laws of the State. There are to be sixteen trustees in all; eight from the Diocese of North Carolina, four from the Diocese of East Carolina, and four from the missionary jurisdiction of Asheville. A payment of $10,000 must be made on the school property in the near future, and it was proposed by members of the Council to devote the $3,000 which they now have on hand for educational purposes toward this payment. This move met with right much opposition, and a lengthy discussion ensued. The matter was finally made a special order for 10:30 o'clock this morning, when it will be disposed of.

Rev. Stewart McQueen, the clerical trustee from this Diocese of the University of the South, made his annual report, which showed the University to be in a prosperous condition. It opened this year with a larger number of students than for many years. The University is situated at Seawane, Tenn., and most of the Southern Dioceses are banded together for its support, which explains why there is a trustee from this Diocese. The Council adjourned to meet at 9:30 this morning.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY. The delegates from the parish branches of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions of the East Carolinas Diocese held a meeting yesterday afternoon in the Vestry of St. Stephen's Episcopal church in this city.

Mrs. Nathaniel Harding, of Washington, is the Diocesan secretary, and besides her the following delegates were present: Miss James and Miss Mary Mearns, of Wilmington; Mrs. Daggert, from St. James, Wilmington; Miss Fillyaw, of St. John's, Wilmington; Mrs. T. N. Hughes and Miss Jennie Hughes, of Christ Church, Newbern; Miss L. L. Williams, of Christ church, Elizabeth City; Mrs. Miller and Miss Israel Harding, of St. Mary's, Kingston.

Reports from the various branches were read and vigorously discussed. The reports show that the work is being carried on successfully and initiatory steps were taken for the continuance of the laudable work in which they are so nobly engaged.

After adjournment Mrs. E. B. Dewey entertained the delegates at luncheon at her hospitable home.

SATURDAY. The council met at 9:30 o'clock this morning and after the minutes had been read the regular order of business was taken up, which was the hearing of reports of committees. The many that had to report occupied the most of to-day's session and the Council will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock to wind up the affairs of the session of 1897.

Munyon Tells What Not To Do.

Take No Medicine Unless You Are Sick.

Munyon decries dosing and doping. Why should the glorious springtime be the signal for a deluge of physic, and the golden harvest be associated with the excessive drinking of rum and whiskey disguised as bit-ter? Medicine should only be given to the sick, and should always be administered with gentleness and discretion. Medicine should be to Nature only a delicate rebuke of error and a kind encouragement of the physical forces for good. The hard work of recovery is done by Nature itself.

It is a specific for some particular disease, and for nothing else. Each one of Munyon's cures is a climax of scientific experiment, the exact fit in each case. Munyon's Remedies for sale at all druggists. Mostly 25 cents a bottle. If in doubt write to Prof. Munyon, 1505 Arch Street, Philadelphia, for free medical advice.
