GOLDSBORO, N. C., THURSDAY JULY 8, 1897.

NO 24

LOCAL BRIEFS

The tobacco warehouses of the city are being put in order for the coming season's sales.

The shipment of huckleberries from these parts to northern markets is still of large proportions daily, and at profitable prices.

His many friends will be sorry to learn that our esteemed friend and townsman Capt. J. B. Edger-ton is confined to his home with fever.

Mr. Jas. W. Baker, who has been filling a position as steward of the convict camp at Castle Haynes, is in the city for a short vacation.

The weather is a little warm, but the bicycle is as popular as ever. Does the wheel make folks warmer in winter and cooler in summer?

HOME-GROWN watermelons have made their appearance on this market, but the price is so high they do not—or rather we do not think they would taste good.

COMPLAINT has been made that the city does not remove garbage as often as it should in some instances. This is a very serious complaint just at this time and the matter should be looked into.

Mr. F. M. Noye, of this city, is the father of a little girl 4 years and 8 months old that weighs only 30 pounds and his brother, who lives near Boston is a daughter only one year old that weighs 30 pounds.

THE farmers are now purchasing their tobacco from the different manufacturers in this city, which is an evidence that preparations are being made for the curing of the weed.

THE news of good crops comes from every section, and good news it is, too. It is her farms that have made the United States rich and powerful. We cannot magnify too much the importance of agriculture.

MR. and Mrs. George A. Norwood, Jr., have moved into their new residence, recently purchased from Mr. H. J. Ham, on John street. The Argus wishes them the fullest measure of happiness and prosperity and long years in our midst.

HOME-GROWN grapes have made their appearance. Pears, too, are ripe, and watermelons, peaches, apples, plums, and many varieties of vegetables are here. Why not let the world know something of our wonderful country. A Chamber of Commerce would do this.

EXCURSIONS are abundant these summer days. They lack only one thing to make them complete—watermelons. Excursions and watermelons seem to go together. Only a few days more and our delicious home-grown melons in all their juiciness and sweetness will be abundant.

The Bicycle Club recently organized in this city, is brim full of progressiveness and has already taken a great stride, not only for the guaranteeing of its own permanency as an organization, but one that means, also, much for the beauty and attractiveness of Goldsboro as a modern and progressive city. The club has secured a permit from the Hermann Park committee, and will at once begin the construction of a bicycle track around the entire Park.

This track will be graded according to the best of engineering skill and will be not only a joy to members of the bicycle club, but will add much to the general appearance and attractiveness of the Park. We go forward.

THE third anniversary of Priceless Jewel Lodge No. 3735, G. U. O. F., will be celebrated at Snow Hill on July the 30th by the rendition of an elaborate programme of music, addresses, etc. There will be a grand street parade at 11 o'clock, and invitations will be extended to lodges at Goldsboro, Greenville, Kinston and LaGrange. At night there will be an entertainment at Odd Fellows' Hall, where will be served all the edibles and delicacies of the season essential to make the inner man rejoice. The annual address will be delivered by Rev. J. H. Hayswood, of that place. The lodge extends an invitation to the public generally and promises that all who avail themselves of his opportunity will never have cause to regret. No doubt quite a number of friends of the Order will be in attendance from this city.

A COTTON BOLE

Exhibited To-day by Mr. F. K. Borden
THE farmers throughout this section for several years past have exhibited with especial pride a cotton bloom as early as the first of July and it has been considered an indication of prolific farming to be able to do that much, but the limb of a stalk of cotton that has been exhibited on our streets to-day by Mr. F. K. Borden from the farm of Mr. L. E. Pridgen does away with the novelty of cotton blooms at this season of the year. The limb in question was about eight inches in length and had borne thus early 1 cotton bole 1/2 grown, 1 cotton bole 1/3 grown, 2 blooms and 4 squares. The largest bole measured 4 inches in diameter and must have been in bloom as early as the 10th of June and by the 20th of this month would have been open, with the fleecy staple peeping out of its burs. Nothing of the kind has ever made its appearance in this section so early. The stalk from which the limb was taken was not a special "hill" that had received especial attention, but it was among those in a field of several acres and was not discovered until to-day. The seed from which the stalk was grown is not of the ordinary kind, however, but is of a very early and prolific variety that Mr. Borden secured from a large cotton farm in South Carolina and is known as "King cotton seed."

FAMILY RE-UNION

The Seventieth Anniversary of the Family of Mr. A. J. K. Rhodes as Reported by our Correspondent. An Enjoyable Event.

DEAR ARGUS:—It is with the greatest pleasure that your correspondent announces an annual reunion of the family of A. J. K. Rhodes, near Mt. Olive, N. C., which took place on the 25th inst., at his residence.
The occasion was one long to be remembered by the many who participated. It was Mr. Rhodes' seventieth anniversary, and it has been a rule for the family to assemble for years on that day, and partake of the festivities prepared by him and his good wife, and as the day arrives each year, as many of the six children, twenty-four grand-children, and four great-grand-children and two adopted daughters, with four children, and others of the immediate family connection, as can meet and enjoy a good old time together.

Among the many invited guests present, were Rev. A. B. Crumpler, and Messrs. James Crumpler, and Henry J. Faison, of Faison, who enjoyed the pleasures of the day with us, and perhaps I will be excused for saying that about seventy-five persons, making a rough estimate, partook of one more "square meal."

Mr. Rhodes and his wife were married over fifty years ago, and celebrated their golden wedding in October last year by having their reunion then, at which time they were the recipients of many valuable and appreciative presents. He has just entered his threescore and tenth year, and his wife is only one year behind him. May they live to enjoy many more reunions, and may each one eclipse all the others as the years roll by, is the wish of all. As David said in the Psalms, "The lines have fallen to them in pleasant places."

After dinner was over and Mr. Crumpler had taken his afternoon nap, he was requested to make a few remarks, which he did in his happy and effective style, and we hope that they will do much good, and that after death, there will be another re-union of us all in glory.

"Every sweet must have its bitter, and every bitter its sweet," the Rev. Mr. Crumpler found after dinner that he had lost his pocket-book, on the way there, but found it on the return trip in the road near by.

The Mount Lebanon Shakers have recently perfected an ingenious cure for dyspepsia. Their Digestive Cordial consists of a food already digested and a digester of foods happily combined. The importance of this invention will be appreciated when we realize what a proportion of the community are victims of some form of stomach troubles. Thousands of pale, thin people have little inclination to eat, and what they do eat causes them pain and distress. This Digestive Cordial of the Shakers corrects any stomach derangement at once. It makes this people plump. Every one will be greatly interested to read the little book which has been placed in the hands of druggists for free distribution.

The London Spectator gives an account of experiments made to determine the sensibility of animals to music. In each experiment the violin would first be played, at first low and soft, then louder and louder. The sharp, high-toned piccolo would then follow and then the flute. The effect was often startling. The tiger, for example, listened intently and with evident pleasure to the violin, but when the piccolo began was filled with the wildest rage, rushed up and down the cage, reared on its hind legs, shook its head and ears and lashed its tail from side to side. The flute, however, calmed it at once, and coming to the bars of the cage, it listened intently. The monkeys were affected in the same way, but were not so violent in expressing their emotions. Violin music was often so agreeable to them that they would drop their food and listen very attentively, while the piccolo almost invariably aroused their anger. The elephant preferred the flute and was enraged at the piccolo, as was also the zebra. The wild ass and the violin began to play, and ran over to hear it. The piccolo, however, soon sent them back again.

FOURTH OF JULY.

WHAT IT SIGNIFIES TO AMERICANS.

The Birthday of Liberty—An Anniversary That Every Land and Clime Should Celebrate:

To-morrow will be the Fourth of July!

Great and historic, too, is the fourth day of the second month of Summer. The fourth day of July is a day that should be celebrated by the people of every land and clime, because the Fourth of July, 1776, is the birthday of liberty.

One hundred and twenty-one years ago, the notes, clear and sweet, which the blessed old Liberty Bell rang out to the listening multitudes along the Schuylkill and the Delaware, echoed and re-echoed over all the world.

Every American citizen has a noble birth-right, and he should teach to his children the history of this wonderful land—the cradle of freedom and liberty. Teach them, too, that these precious privileges were bought with the price of suffering and blood and death. Buncker Hill, Valley Forge, Guilford Battle Ground, The Cowpens and Moore's Creek attest the heroism of the fathers who established for their posterity this wonderful Government. And as the worshippers assemble to-morrow in this land of religious liberty, let pulpit and pew, priest and people unite in thanks to Almighty God for His watchful care and tender mercy to our blessed land.

The Argus would be glad to see this and other public holidays that mark crises in our civic history, more generally and liberally observed, not only for the lessons they teach of patriotism and public service, but for the pause they give in the mad rush for gain, that we may contemplate the glory of our great country and ponder the duties that rest upon us in our day and generation.

SEQUAL TO THE LA GRANGE ROBBERY.

Daily Argus last Saturday.
A YOUNG negro man attempted to pawn a gold watch with Mr. Jos. Isaacs yesterday afternoon. Mr. Isaacs commenced to joke the negro about stealing the watch and the latter made good his escape through the back lot, jumping the fences like a greyhound. Mr. Isaacs still has the watch and will turn it over to the rightful owner when application is made.

Since the above was put in type, Mr. Octavius Taylor has come in from LaGrange and identified the watch as his.

Mr. Isaacs was led to probe the negro from having seen the notice of the burglary in yesterday's Argus.

Do You Use It?

It's the best thing for the hair under all circumstances. Just as no man by taking thought can add an inch to his stature, so no preparation can make hair. The utmost that can be done is to promote conditions favorable to growth. This is done by Ayer's Hair Vigor. It removes dandruff, cleanses the scalp, nourishes the soil in which the hair grows, and, just as a desert will blossom under rain, so bald heads grow hair, when the roots are nourished. But the roots must be there. If you wish your hair to retain its normal color, or if you wish to restore the lost tint of gray or faded hair use Ayer's Hair Vigor.

No Bond Sales in Sight.
New York Sun.

The cheerful forecast which The Sun made on Wednesday of the Government's financial condition at the close of its fiscal year yesterday, has been more than confirmed by results. The deficit in the revenue for the year, instead of being a little less than $25,000,000, as we said it would be, is but a trifle over $22,000,000, showing a gain of nearly $3,000,000 more than we expected. The balance in the Treasury is also $257,000,000, against $230,000,000 on May 1, and $212,800,000 on March 1. In the face of these figures some Mugwump croakers are predicting that a resort to bond sales to meet current expenses, such as were made by President Cleveland, will be rendered necessary by the new tariff before the meeting of Congress next December. The prediction is as silly as it is malicious. The Treasury has in hand, besides its gold reserve of $140,000,000, silver dollars, national bank notes, and Government notes amounting altogether to over $100,000,000, and its net available balance, deducting fractional and minor coin, is $220,000,000.

Should, therefore, the new tariff, in the course of the current fiscal year, produce, as its enemies say it will, $93,000,000 less than the Government requirements, there is plenty of money in the Treasury to meet the appropriations until next winter at least, and to give Congress ample time to correct any shortcomings of this summer.

SPOFFORD'S DECLINATION.

His Letter to the President suggesting the Appointment of a Younger Man

John Russell Young, the new Librarian to Congress, took charge of his office yesterday, and at once commissioned ex-Librarian Spofford as the chief assistant. Further steps in the direction of reorganization will be taken deliberately.

Mr. Spofford's letter to President McKinley, declining to be considered as a candidate for re-nomination, is as follows:

Washington, June 28, '97.
To the President: The office of Librarian of Congress is shortly to be filled by Executive appointment, under provisions of the Legislative act of February 19, 1897. As the name of the present incumbent has been widely suggested for reappointment, and, perhaps, urged by members of Congress, though not by the Librarian, I desire to lay before you some reasons why I should prefer not to be considered a candidate.

My long and laborious service of thirty-five years has now brought me to a somewhat advanced term of life, where the manifold duties of the position already admitted me to increased care in preserving that measure of good health which has attended me hitherto. The duties devolved upon me, onerous as they already are, are to be largely extended upon removal to the new Library Building.

This extension of labor involves the selection and organization of a greatly increased force of library assistants, the removal of the entire collections of the library from their present quarters, their rearrangement and classification in the new building, the undertaking of a new and complete printed catalogue of subjects, the increase of the library by extensive selections of books to repair its deficiencies, the final supervision of the business of the register and copyrights, and the daily conduct and care of the entire library administration. From undertaking these multifarious and pressing labors, especially with the perplexing task of appointment, I am well convinced that a prudent regard for my health and strength should dissuade me.

At the same time I desire to give to the library the full benefit of my knowledge and long experience in installing it in its new home, and to co-operate in all its diversified interests in rendering its administration and advancement completely worthy of the country and of the magnificent home provided for it by Congress.

In furtherance of these ends, and with the sincere endeavor to reconcile the proper care of my health and attendant usefulness with the highest welfare of the library, I should be pleased to relinquish to younger and able organizing hands the enormous and wearing labors, and if consistent with your desires and those of Congress, to assume the duties of Chief Assistant Librarian, at my present salary, with special reference to the wants of Congress for aid and information, to the increasing demands of scholars in their widely extended inquiries, and to the increase of the library along the lines of its highest utility. I remain, with high regard, very respectfully,

A. R. SPOFFORD,
Librarian of Congress

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

WHAT about the Chamber of Commerce? Shall Goldsboro always keep to village way in some things? The Argus has always urged a forward movement for our people. We need an association of the citizens in order that we can get together to discuss ways and means of development.

It is evident that the day is not far distant when the tide is going to turn Southward. The average man will go where he is invited to go. If other places hold out inducements to the home-seekers, if they throw wide open their doors, and give them a cordial welcome, those people who will come with their families to build up homes for themselves and their children, will settle in communities where they believe they are wanted. This is an important matter to every citizen of Wayne county.

The Kind of Children Every Mother Wants to Have.

Every mother should know that when the little heart pumping hard, there is danger to the child. A child who is unable to breathe stops, the hands become cool, the nostrils close, the face becomes cyanotic, the eyes close, the breath ceases, the heart ceases, the child is dead. A mother who knows this, will take precaution to prevent this. A child who is born with a weak heart, will not live to be a mother. A child who is born with a weak heart, will not live to be a mother. A child who is born with a weak heart, will not live to be a mother.

Ohio Platform Pleases Bryan.
Laramie, Wyo., July 2.—While in this city, Mr. Bryan, who had just read the platform of the allied silver forces of Ohio, was asked: "What do you think of the platform?"
Mr. Bryan promptly replied: "The Ohio Democrats took exactly the right course. They endorsed the Chicago platform and decided the money question to be the paramount issue, just as the Chicago platform did in Salt Lake, Utah, July 1.—An immense crowd greeted Hon. William J. Bryan at the Salt Lake Theater tonight. Hon. C. S. Varian called the meeting to order, and Judge C. C. Goodwin presided. Mr. Bryan's address was mainly on the money question. An Heiress Takes the Veil.

San Diego, Cal., July 2.—At 9 o'clock this morning, at St. Joseph's Hospital, in this city, the solemn ceremony whereby Miss Katherine Moser enters her novitiate as a member of the Order of Sisters of Mercy of the Roman Catholic Church was performed. The young lady who thus renounces the world is but twenty-six years of age, and is handsome, accomplished, and traveled, and an heiress. Her father is Mr. Leo Moser, owner of large property interests in St. Louis, and worth $1,000,000.
Katherine is the only child. Her father was strongly opposed to the action of his daughter. She was formerly a society belle of St. Louis and a graduate of Loyola Academy. She has devoted large sums to charity in the past. Bishop Montgomery, of Los Angeles, performed the ceremony.

ONE OF TWO WAYS.

The bladder was created for one purpose, namely, a receptacle for the urine, and as such is liable to any form of disease except by one of two ways. The first way is from impaction of the kidneys. The second way is from careless local treatment of the disease.

CHIEF CAUSE.
Unhappily urine from unhealthy kidneys is the chief cause of bladder troubles. So the womb, like the bladder, was created for one purpose, and if not doctored too much is not liable to weakness or disease except in rare cases. It is situated back of and very near to the bladder, therefore any strain, disease or inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back, bladder or urinary passage is often, by mistake, attributed to female weakness or womb troubles, and so on, and so on, and so on.
