OUR LOCAL OPTIC.

Goldsboro and Vicinity History in Brief
Epitome of Sayings and Doings, Wise and Otherwise, Run Down and Run in by Omnipresent Ubiquitous, Local "Grand Rounds."

Bean shipping will be next in order, but the crop has been cut greatly short by the long dry spell.

New residences of commodious size and of the latest designs and conveniences are going up in every quarter of the city. We go forwar

"Modes and Fashions" for June have arrived at the dry goods department of Messrs. H. Weil & Bros., mammoth establishment, and can be had for the asking.

Mrs. John Slaughter is in the Virginia Hospital in Richmond, where she will spend some time and her many friends hope that her general health may be benefited.

The negro man Scoville Robinson, who struck a negro woman over the head with a piece of iron in Eastern Goldsboro one day this week, has been captured and placed in jail.

The Republican Congressional convention of the Third district met in Clinton May 17th and after naming delegates to the national convention adjourned without naming a candidate for Congress, which will be done later.

It is very proper that a reward should be offered for the apprehension of the ruthless renegade who destroyed the thriving young trees on Park Avenue, and we are glad to note that the Mayor has done so. We hope it will have the desired effect.

Mr. Jno. E. Epps, the popular house-painter and decorator, says that a veritable house painting fever has struck the town. He has several of the most commodious residences of the city to put in new dresses of paint, and still they come.

Mr. J. L. Baxter has arrived in the city to take charge of the Electric Light Plant. He is a clever, congenial and courteous gentleman that Goldsboro people will welcome with pleasure, and he brings to his position practical experience and a thorough knowledge of the business.

County Chairman N. O'Berry, at whose pleasure the County Executive Committee left the appointment of a Central Committee, announces the following names for the committee: W. R. Allen, D. J. Broadhurst, W. D. Creech, W. B. Bowden and W. B. Fort. Mr. Geo. E. Hood was appointed secretary of the Committee.

Goldsboro talent still continues to be in demand and to advance. Our young friend Mr. J. E. Stevens, of this city, who was called some three years ago to the telegraph office in Kinston, has been promoted in the service to the office at Newport News, Va., and he is to be succeeded at Kinston by another bright and popular Goldsboro boy, Mr. Paul Hood. The change will take place on June 1.

Mr. W. T. Dortch delivered the address at the closing exercises of the Pikeville High School May 16. The address was in keeping with Mr. Dortch's enviable record as a speaker and was listened to with rapt attention by those present. The school has been conducted by Miss Lucy Waters, of La-Grange, and her success the past session is very flattering evidence of her ability as an educator

A telegram was received by Mr. J. J. Street last Wednesday, announcing the death, at 5:30 o'clock, of the wife of Rev. L. P. Clapp, at her home in Eden College. Rev. Mr. Clapp made many warm friends in this city among the large congregations that gathered nightly in the Holiness church to hear his eloquent presentation of the Scriptures, who deeply sympathized with him in the loss of his dear wife. It will be remembered that Mr. Clapp was called home from his labors here to the bedside of his wife Monday

DAUGHTERS CONFEDERACY.

To Build a Monument to Jefferson Davis: Goldsboro's Chapter Enlisted in the Work.

Daily Argus, Saturday May 19.

As the years roll on, and "the thoughts of men are widened," the issues championed by the Southern Statesmen, and leading up to the war of the Southern Confederacy, are coming to be recognized throughout the nation, under the light of widening experience, as the perfection of wisdom and astute statesmanship, and the men who went through the fiery ordeal of war and down to death in their defense, for love of principle and right, are forever enshrined in the Temple of Fame as the most glorious heroes the world has ever known; for success is not essentially the reward of heroism, and truth may sometimes be crushed to earth, but in the eternal years of God, Truth will prevail and the heroes who gave their lives for her defense will receive honor, though centuries roll between.

The women of the South, pure of heart and consecrated of life, pulsing with patriotism and with the courage of their heaven-born convictions, have banded themselves together under an organization known as "Daughters of the Confederacy," whose purpose is to preserve the truth of the history of the Southern Confederacy and transmit it secure to the rising generation—and on through coming generations—that the principles of the Lost Cause may ever prevail in Southern hearts and that its heroes may never be disparaged in the land consecrated by their blood.

Among other undertakings, it is the purpose of the Daughters of the Confederacy to erect a monument to Jefferson Davis, and make it of such imposing character and enduring nature as to perpetuate through all the coming time the Southern people's faith in him and love for him. And let the legends inscribed thereon teach the lesson of his life, and tell to all peoples his gallantry of spirit, his heroism of soul, the righteousness of the cause he loved with his people so well, and his pathetic after-time and passing hence. Let them tell how Fame stopped him at the gates of sunset and, as he passed out beyond earth's sight, placed upon his brave, battle-browed brow the most glorious crown ever won by man, save that of Immortality from God Himself eternal in the Heavens—the distinction of being made the vicarious sufferer for the people and the principles he loved. Without citizenship—disfranchised by federal edict born of partisan passionate hate and resentment, he measured the years of his vicariate without a murmur, and went, at length, to his long home with abiding faith in God and looking to the resurrection of right judgment in the hearts of men for his justification.

The good women of Goldsboro—God bless them!—have organized here a chapter of the "Daughters of the Confederacy," and it is their purpose at an early day to give some kind of an entertainment to contribute to the monument fund, and to this end the chapter will have a meeting next Monday afternoon, at 5:30 o'clock, in the Museum of the Goldsboro Rifles, and it is urged and hoped that every woman belonging to the chapter will be in prompt attendance.

Can't Not Spell.

Chicago News.

Great men are usually poor spellers. The man who can spell perfectly is at sea when he tries to define words and the man with a great flow of language and the power to get the best out of words is apt to be careless about orthography. He has no time for trifles. It is the same as remembering a date and not being able to recollect what happened on it. English spelling is arbitrary and accuracy in it is simply a chance—a gift such as lightning calculation.

Few of the great writers have been good spellers. They have not been concerned themselves with words except to use them as they would tools. The only scraps of writing of Shakespeare's in existence are two signatures, and these are spelled differently. Scott, Byron, Tennyson and Dickens were wretched spellers.

It is said Browning was often in doubt as to the spelling of a word and had to write it down in order to see if it looked right before he was sure. Many ordinary people are addicted to this little trick, and it is needless to say that the eye, instead of memory is responsible for our knowledge of the correct spelling of many puzzling words in our complex language.

GRATITUDE.

Dr. H. Mozley—Dear Sir: Since using your Lemon Elixir I have never had another attack of those fearful sick head aches, and thank God that I have at last found a medicine that will cure those awful spells.

MRS. ETTA W. JONES, Parkersburg, West Virginia.

MOZLEY'S LEMON ELIXIR.
I suffered with indigestion and dysentery for two long years. I heard of Lemon Elixir; got it; taken seven bottles and am now a well man.

MOZLEY'S LEMON ELIXIR
Cured my husband, who was afflicted for years with large ulcers on his leg, and was cured after using two bottles; and cured a friend whom the doctors had given up to die, who had suffered for years with indigestion and nervous prostration.

Nasal Catarrh quickly yields to treatment by Ely's Cream Balm, which is agreeably aromatic. It is received through the nostrils, cleanses and heals the whole surface over which it diffuses itself. A remedy for Nasal Catarrh which is drying or exciting to the diseased membrane should not be used. Cream Balm is recognized as a specific. Price 50 cents at druggists or by mail. A cold in the head immediately disappears when Cream Balm is used. Ely Brothers 56 Warren St., New York.

Be it spring, summer, autumn or winter, someone in the family is "under the weather" from trouble originating in impure blood or irritated condition of the system.

All these, of whatever name, can be cured by the great blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla. It never disappoints.

Abscesses.—I am past 54 and my good health is due to Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills, which purified my blood and healed the ugly abscesses that troubled me." Mrs. BIRTON C. ESTELL, Southard, N.J.

Dyspepsia.—My husband doctored a long time for dyspepsia with only temporary relief. The first bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla helped and the second cured him. It cured my sick headaches." MRS. MARY A. CLARK, Wilmington, Vt.
