

WASHINGTON LETTER WOMAN AND FASHION

(Special Correspondence.)
 Dr. P. M. Rixey continues to visit the White House daily, as he used to do during the administration of President McKinley. President and Mrs. Roosevelt have made no selection of a family physician, and Dr. Rixey occupies that position. Whether he will remain in that capacity when he becomes surgeon general of the navy is not known. The late Dr. Bates, surgeon general of the army, was the first physician to President and Mrs. McKinley. When he died, Dr. Leonard Wood, now General Wood, was designated to the position. He remained until the breaking out of the war with Spain, when he went to the front as colonel of the rough riders. Dr. Sternberg, surgeon general of the army, was next looking after the health of President and Mrs. McKinley, but only for a short time, when he was succeeded by Dr. Rixey. The latter called at the White House daily for three years.

Currency to Send Through Mails.
 The recent robbery of the Chicago postoffice and the possibility that the robbers will dispose of $74,000 worth of stolen stamps has called attention afresh to the need of some kind of subsidiary currency which can be sent through the mails. It was never intended that stamps be used as money, yet the enormous growth of the mail order business has really brought that result about. The mail order concerns accumulate large quantities of stamps, and to convert them into money often have to sell at a discount. Thus a "stamp trade" has sprung up which enables burglars to dispose of stolen stamps with little danger of detection. The next congress will doubtless be called upon to consider plans for relieving this situation.

Miss Roosevelt's Chums.
 Miss Harriet Wadsworth of New York, daughter of Representative Wadsworth, will be a close contemporary of Miss Roosevelt, as will be also Miss Helen Mackay-Smith and Miss Mathilde Townsend.

Miss Mackay-Smith is the eldest daughter of Rev. Dr. Mackay-Smith, who is in charge of the quaint colonial church at Washington, St. John's, which has been the scene of so many historic ceremonies and is one of the principal places of interest to all sight-seers in Washington.

Miss Townsend will make her debut in December, and has just returned from Europe, where, with her mother, she has spent the past six months, having been much admired in Paris and at the German baths.

The District Budget.
 The District commissioners have transmitted to the secretary of the treasury their estimates of the appropriations that will be needed for the support of the government of the District for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903. The sum asked is $10,430,881.87. The sum asked for the preceding year was $9,080,703.94, and the sum appropriated was $7,532,519.31. The secretary of the treasury will forward the estimates to congress.

In making public the estimates Commissioner Macfarland stated that the commissioners had followed this year, as last, the policy of asking for what is really necessary, regardless of the possible deficit due to the diversion of District funds by congress to street extension purposes.

Isthmian Canal Commission.
 The Isthmian canal commission got together here and is now hard at work finishing up its report, which it promises to have in the president's hands long enough in advance of the meeting of congress to enable him to make use of it in preparing his annual message. The president of the Panama Canal company is here trying to get the commission to report in favor of buying his canal. It will be remembered that in its preliminary report made to President McKinley last year the commission declared against such a purchase.

President Garfield's Widow.
 Word comes from the Mentor (O.) farm of the Garfields that the widow of the former president, who is now well on in years, is in a serious condition of ill health. Her only daughter, the little Mollie of the White House years ago, now Mrs. J. Stanley Brown and the mother of several children, has gone with her family and mother to California for the possible benefit of the latter. They have leased for the winter a beautiful cottage on Orange Grove avenue in Pasadena.

The Bonapartes.
 Mrs. Jerome Bonaparte and her son, Mr. Jerome N. Bonaparte, arrived at their Washington home the other day, after a visit of several months to the Count and Countess de Moltke-Huitfeldt, at their estate in Glorup, Denmark. Mr. Bonaparte is the third of that name to be known in this country and is the great-grandson of Jerome Bonaparte, the Corsican, and younger brother of Napoleon I., who, in 1803, married the beautiful Baltimorean, Miss Elizabeth Patterson.

By building some bedchambers in the attic for women servants the presidential family have contrived to settle themselves comfortably in the White House and reserve one commodious chamber for guests. Doubtless there will be times when it would be convenient to have two or more guest chambers, but the Roosevelts may be trusted to get along with such domestic difficulties without complaining.

Tan Boots and Shoes.
 Brown boots and shoes are invariably, let it be remembered, the most correct and convenient footwear when traveling, for obvious reasons, and, when well made, can no longer have the reproach leveled at them of being clumsy or apparently increasing the size of the foot. The American Shoe company—and, indeed, most of the best bootmakers—have now brought the brown shoe and boot to a point of perfection in shape and color which leaves nothing to be desired by the most fastidious, and in this connection it is worth remarking that brown stockings should always match the tone of leather in one's boot or shoe, the union of color in both being one of those details which a well dressed woman will be careful to consider.

Fabrics Must Be Furry.
 Many fabrics known as drap de zibeline are exaggerated in their silky and furry appearance to an exceptional degree, while one or two colors are intermingled on ground colors of grays, mastic, Sevres blues, fraise cerisees and browns. Long white or black hairs appear to float over the whole mixture, and indescribable checks, broken stripes, colored knotted woolen spots, are interwoven on this novelty. A short pile satin faced beaver cloth known as drap de panne is equally favored with a coarse canvas cloth.

A Stylish Gray Hat.
 The illustration shows a large gray and white felt hat made of interlaced folds of felt and velvet and trimmed with two large gray plumes.

A Worth Creation.
 One of Worth's most exquisite creations of this season is an evening gown of vieux rose miroir velvet. Beautiful guipure d'Irlande forms the quaint collar, shaping in a sloping fashion over the shoulders and further embellishes the skirt. The princess front is of a paler shade of vieux rose satin, the corsage being slashed with velvet strings. A large black chapeau de style completes the picturesque toilet.

Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy!
 And He Never Took Hold Again
 Some ten or twelve years ago a lady in this State was suffering from severe hemorrhage of the womb. For years she had been subject to almost constant flow, and at last she got into so low a condition that she was confined to the bed. All efforts of the doctors failed to check it, and finally two of the leading physicians of her locality pronounced the case cancerous. Her prostration was great, and nothing seemed to reach her case. One of her neighbors insisted on her trying my Remedy and Wash. This she would not do until she had consulted her doctor. His reply was: "When Mrs. Person takes my Remedy, we take hold." However, she concluded to try it. Without letting anyone into the secret, she used my Wash copiously. A great improvement soon set in and by its use she was soon well. She has been cured all these years, and says she can never say enough for Mrs. Joe Person's Wash.
 The name of the lady will be given, if desired, upon application to me.
 Respectfully,
 MRS. JOE PERSON,
