

Kodol Digests what you Eat

Dyspepsia Cure

You might as well put fuel under a boiler without burning it and expect the engine to run, as to eat food and not digest it and expect to keep up nourishment for your body. You must have nourishment to live and when you cannot digest your food, KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE will do it for you, with no aid whatever from the stomach. It contains exactly the same elements as Nature's digestive fluids and can't help but produce the same results.—David Taylor, Blind Ridge, Pa., writes—"I have been afflicted for a number of years with dyspepsia and have tried various remedies without good results but was cured by one bottle of KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE. I cannot say too much in its favor."

It can't help but do you good
Prepared by E. O. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The 51. bottle contains 2½ times the 50c. size. When you need a soothing and healing application for piles, sores and skin diseases, use DeWitt's Witch Hazel SALVE. Beware of counterfeits. J. H. Hill & Son

Rock-a-Bye Baby

These are sweet words, but how much pain and suffering they used to mean. It's different now. Since Mother's Friend has become known expectant mothers have been spared much of the anguish of child birth. Mother's Friend is a liniment to be applied externally. It is rubbed thoroughly into the muscles of the abdomen. It gives elasticity and strength, and when the final great strain comes they respond quickly and easily without pain. Mother's Friend is never taken internally. Internal remedies at this time do more harm than good. If a woman is supplied with this splendid liniment she need never fear rising or swelling breasts, morning sickness, or any of the discomforts which usually accompany pregnancy.

The proprietor of a large hotel in Tampa, Fla., writes: "My wife had an awful time with her first child. During her second pregnancy, Mother's Friend was used, and the baby was born easily before the doctor arrived. It's certainly great."

NEW SHORT STORIES

Roosevelt's Nerve Guide.

Here is a story told by President Roosevelt of an Indian guide who had a natural power of charming snakes. The party, of which Colonel Roosevelt was one, struck a little frontier town where a strolling show was in progress. "We went in," said the colonel, "and found a performer challenging the audience to handle his snakes. The guide at once accepted the challenge and, having convinced every one of the perfect harmlessness of the reptiles, produced a number of rattlers from a basket he had with him. The performer incontinently fled. The same guide was a most ardent believer in the redskins' tradition that it is an unjustifiable crime to kill a rattlesnake, as it 'plays fair' in giving warning before it strikes. He repeatedly exhibited the immunity of all adherents to this creed by letting a rattler bite his heel." "What became of him?" asked one of the listeners. "Well, he tried to found a similar theory about bears, and it didn't work," Colonel Roosevelt replied significantly. "How so?" "He went in for a couple of tame bears, and then I thought it was time to part from his traveling menagerie, so I got him a job on a ranch we were passing. When I returned, I asked after him, and they told me that when he went to show that he was immune from bears one of his pets called him a liar, and the other fellow proved the truth of his mate's accusation. They kept his moccasins as a memento."

Result of a Steady Diet.

As most people who have encountered him know full well, Senator Hanna has a very expressive way of saying things, relates the Chicago Chronicle. Frequently he is detained at his office at Cleveland, until too late to eat his luncheon at the Union club, where he usually goes after leaving his office in the afternoons. On these occasions he eats his lunch at the restaurant in the Perry-Payne building and is usually accompanied by his private secretary, Elmer Dover.

While at luncheon a few days ago the senator, who usually writes out the lunch orders for himself and his secretary, wrote "cold ham and ice cream" for his secretary without asking what he wanted.

"I know what you want," said the senator after handing the order to the waitress. "You always eat cold pig and ice cream."

"But I'll tell you," he continued quite seriously, "if you continue on that fare you will soon be nothing but a frozen hog."

When He Struck the King.

It is not often that a subject can claim to have struck a king and yet survive and be accounted the most estimable of men. But this record belongs to the veteran Lord Wemyss, who has lately celebrated his eighty-third birthday, says London M. A. P.

IN A BURST OF ELOQUENCE.

It was one night last year in the house of lords. The king, then heir apparent, was seated on the cross benches listening to the debate. Immediately behind him was Lord Wemyss, who in the course of the sitting rose to address the house. The matter under discussion was one near his heart, and his earnestness betrayed him into wild, waving movements of his arms, which the amused spectators observed more than once to menace the prince's shining hat.

The veteran peer, however, did not notice the danger and at last in a burst of eloquence brought his arm around full circle and hit the prince full on the crown of his hat, driving it almost over his eyes. The profuse apologies of the earl were met with a good humored smile from the victim.

How Did He Know?

Dr. F. J. Campbell, a celebrated blind educator of England, once had an amusing experience at a rough and ready hotel in the backwoods of America. Two girls were at the dinner table with the doctor, and one of them was touchingly sympathetic. "Does your blindness make any difference to you when you eat?" she asked. "Why, yes; I know when my food's good just as well as you do," said the doctor. "And when you drink?" "Why, it's just the same." "And can you fall in love?" "Dear me, why, of course I can. I have fallen very much in love." "Well, but how can you say whether a girl's pretty?" "De you mind telling me if I'm pretty?" "Not in the slightest." "Shall I put my hand on your face?" "I know without that," said the man with closed eyes. "You are the prettiest girl on the creek." "My! That's true!" exclaimed the girl as she rushed to her friend and asked, "Now, how did he know that?"

ARE YOU DEAF? ANY HEAD NOISES?

ALL CASES OF DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING ARE NOW CURABLE

by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable.

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

BALTIMORE, Md., March 30, 1901.

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to ring and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement, accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours,

F. A. WERMAN, 730 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md.

Our treatment does not interfere with your usual occupation.
