GOLDSBORO, N. C., THURSDAY, JULY 31, 1902.

NO 140

GOLDSBORO'S POST OFFICE.

Building Sites Offered Galore.

Raleigh Post.

Washington July 25.—The public building projects in North Carolina are now receiving the attention of the supervising architect of the treasury who has dispatched a special agent to the State to report on sites. Bids for sites at Durham and Goldsboro have been opened and Special Agent G. B. Ellsworth has visited both points for the purpose of making an investigation. On his return to Washington, which is expected to-morrow, he will make a report recommending sites for the two public buildings at Durham and Goldsboro respectively. Until acted upon by the secretary of the treasury the reports of the special agent will not be made public.

The bids for the Goldsboro public building are as follows:

Stephen W. Isler, 100x120, corner Walnut and William streets, $5,250.

L. B. Fonvielle, 105x123, corner Chestnut and Centre streets, $10,000.

H. Weil & Bros, 100x109, Mulberry and Centre streets, $10,000.

Humphrey-Gibson Company, 120 x140, Center and Oak, $4,500.

Humphrey-Gibson Company, 150 x100, Chestnut and John, $5,250.

Humphrey-Gibson Company, 130 x140, Center and Spruce, $8,750.

Humphrey-Gibson Company, 130 x140, Centre and Oak, $8,000.

H. Weil & Bros, 130x150, N. W. corner Centre and Mulberry, $16,500.

Mrs. Mary G. Kirby, 130x150, corner John and Mulberry, $11,000.

POSTMASTER ARRESTED.

He is $1,000 Short in His Money Order Account—The Office is in Onslow County.

Newbern, July 23.—F. N. Davis, postoffice inspector, had the postmaster at Belgrade, Onslow county, arrested and brought before Charles B. Hill, United States Commissioner here, this morning. Mr. Davis found the postmaster, F. C. Henderson, short in his money order account over $1,000. This is a very small office and was only made a money order office last January. Besides being the postmaster, Henderson is president of the Belgrade High School and Business College, president of the Belgrade Stock Company and editor of the Belgrade Courier. It seems that most of the money orders issued were for the postmaster himself.

Commissioner Hill bound Henderson over for his appearance for trial at the next term of the district court. He gave bond for $1,000.

NEW ENTERPRISE.

Steamship Line Between Norfolk and Cuba to be Established.

Norfolk, Va., July 24.—A steamship line between Norfolk and the Island of Cuba is the latest enterprise for this city and on August 1 a regular service will be established.

The first schedule will be a monthly one and this will be made shorter after the business increases and warrants the doubling or even the tripling of the service. A movement has been on foot for some time past to establish trade relations between the Southern and Southeastern States and the Islands of Cuba and Porto Rico. Colonel William Lamb, of Norfolk, is one of the promoters of the enterprise.

KING'S WOUND HEALING.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, July 28.—An official bulletin issued today says: "The king's health continues excellent and the wound is healing rapidly. His majesty was able to be moved from his couch to his wheeled chairs for a few hours yesterday."

DENIES THE CHARGE.

Jewels Pawned by Strong at May Yohe's Request For Her Own Benefit.

London, July 24.—Putnam Bradley Strong, of New York, arrived in London this afternoon with the St. Paul's passengers and went to a private West End Hotel. Former Captain Strong, in conversation with a representative of the Associated Press this evening, said he had pawned about $8,400 worth of May Yohe's jewelry at her request and for her benefit after they returned from Japan and that she had received the entire proceeds from him at the time the jewels were pawned.

"I have never had one dollar of May Yohe's money and no person knows it better than she," he continued. "The money on which I am now travelling was received from the sale of my library and of this fact May Yohe is also aware. I have done many foolish and most unwise things, but I have not been a criminal.

"As to my future movements, I do not think they should interest any one greatly, but I will say that I propose living quietly and endeavoring to redeem my good name.

"As to the story that I rifled her safety deposit box, that is absurd on its face. May Yohe never had any safety deposit box that I know of, and if she had one any banker could tell you that without her authority I could never have had access to it. I had one in my own name at the Knickerbocker Trust Company, and I suppose my family has opened it, as I gave them full authority to do so."

SUFFRAGE DECISION.

A Louisiana Court Sustains the New Constitution.

New Orleans, July 28.—The Louisiana district court today decided the case of David L. Rynes, the negro who brought suit to be registered in order to test the suffrage provisions of the new Louisiana constitution. The money for the suit was provided by negroes by popular subscription, in the hope of having declared null and unconstitutional the new suffrage system which disfranchises most of them.

Rynes' case was taken as a test. The judge decided against the negro, holding that even if the "grandfather" clause, which admits illiterate whites without property to suffrage, is unconstitutional, it does not affect the case of Rynes, as one of the sections of a constitution may be invalid without destroying the whole constitution. Rynes' right to vote he said, was affected in no way by the "grandfather" clause, and therefore the court could not pass on that question, which is the only doubtful provision in the suffrage law.

The negroes will carry the case to the United States supreme court.

DIVORCE WAS A BAR.

The Presbyterian Preacher Would Not Tie the Knot.

Charlotte, N. C., July 28.—N. G. Salla, a prominent merchant of Anderson, S. C., accompanied by a young woman, arrived in Charlotte on an early train this morning and went immediately to the Manse of the First Presbyterian church and asked to be married.

When Dr. J. R. Howerton, the pastor, learned that Salla was a divorced man he declined to marry the couple, and they then applied to Rev. T. F. Marr, pastor of Tryon street Methodist church, who performed the ceremony. The couple left today for Boston on a wedding trip.

The woman gave the name of Miss Carrie Sharpe. Accompanying the couple were Miss Kate Sharpe and Mrs. P. A. Hill, of Greenville, who acted as witnesses. They returned to their homes on the next train.

FINE RECORDS.

Bingham School, of Mebane, Scores High at the University.

Prof. Walter S. Crawford, of the faculty of Bingham School at Mebane, N. C., is in the city in the interest of this fine preparatory and training school for boys.

In talking with the ARGUS man this morning Prof. Crawford said:

"The stand in scholarship and every department of the student life taken by the boys of our school at the State University is very gratifying. Besides good scholarship and deportment, the boys are among the first in athletics and have been highly honored by their fellows with offices of trust. Bingham boys have also filled the offices of Chief Marshal, Society Debater, Manager of Foot-ball team, Class Secretary and Second Vice-President of Class.

"In athletics, the school has also contributed much to North Carolina's brilliant record in the South. Several of the foot-ball team of 1900 and of the base-ball team of 1901 and also of 1902, were old Binghamites."

EARTH AGAIN HEAVES.

A Tidal Wave Sweeps One Side of the Island. The Government Still Feeding Six Thousand People.

Kingstown, St. Vincent, July 28.—The Soufriere volcano has been slightly in eruption twice since last Monday. A severe earthquake shock accompanied by a large tidal wave affected the north point of the island, washing a fire-swept estate. No further damage was done.

Many of the people, both of the wealthier classes and laborers, are leaving the island, fearing disaster. The government is still feeding 6,000 persons. The settlement of refugees in huts on acquired lands in safe localities is progressing.

The Panama Canal repair ship Newington which is engaged in work eighteen miles north of St. Vincent, reports that the depth of the sea there has increased to a mile and a quarter. Attempts to pick up the cable have been futile, owing to unfavorable weather.

RESOLUTIONS

Life has its burdens, and to many weary ones these burdens grow heavier and heavier, and harder and harder to bear, until at last the silver cord is loosed, the golden bowl is broken, the pitcher is broken at the fountain, and the tempest-tossed voyager over life's stormy sea crosses to meet his pilot face to face.

There is no standard of measurement for the mercy of God; for He Himself says unto us, "When thy father and mother forsake thee then I will take thee up."

And so our brother John D. Taylor has left us, and has passed through the portals, and marched away with that never-ending procession which never returns.

Brother Taylor was a son of brother John Taylor, deceased, member of Neuse Lodge, and a brother of our deceased brother, William Taylor, for many years secretary of Neuse Lodge.

In the days of his strength, brother John D. Taylor was a dutiful son, a loving husband, a devoted father, and a good Odd Fellow. Now, therefore be it

Resolved, That Neuse Lodge, Number 6, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, extends its deepest sympathy to the bereaved widow and fatherless children of our deceased brother.

Resolved, further, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, and be published in the Goldsboro ARGUS, Kinston Free Press, and Orphan Home.

WOMEN AND THE SCHOOLS.

Youth's Companion July 24.

Associations of women in towns and cities for the improvement of the schools are common, and they have done much to make school life more attractive. It has remained for the women of North Carolina to organize a State association for the betterment of the schoolhouses, and to plan a campaign in which the importance of attractive school buildings is to be set forth to the parents in every county in the State and in every school district in every county.

A committee of women has been appointed to distribute literature bearing on the subject, and to exhibit pictures showing that unattractive school grounds may be made pleasant and picturesque by planting trees, flowers and shrubbery, and how the barren walls of the school room may be adorned with inexpensive pictures.

Southern women are noted for their ability to bring things to pass, as, indeed, all women are,—so North Carolina ought to be noted in a few years for the charm of the rural school grounds and schoolhouses.

It is in the South that one would expect the movement for more attractive schoolhouses to be popular, for the percentage of native-born Americans there is larger than in any other section of the country. But interest in the subject is not confined to the South; in the North and West and East also there are thousands of pleasant schools, the pride of the neighborhood which supports them.

The interest which the mothers have taken in the matter is largely responsible for the adornment of the barren structures that were thought good enough a generation or two ago, or for their displacement by commodious buildings tastefully decorated and fitted with modern sanitary appliances.

WHITE HOUSE CHILDREN

Facts About Mrs. Roosevelt and Her Little Ones.

GIVES THEM PERSONAL ATTENTION

First Woman of the Land Did Not Hesitate to Scrub Necks of Two Who Did Not Suit—Not Above Darning Stockings of the Youngsters Children Full of High Spirits.

Already Mrs. Roosevelt is an object of the most earnest attention, writes the Washington correspondent of the New York Press. It is agreed she has self poise and a gracious adaptation to her surroundings, and she is meeting the demands of her exalted station with a gentle suavity and the peculiarly graceful consideration afforded by a woman of tact and breeding.

An intimate friend says Mrs. Roosevelt would delight the good old Dutch housewives of New Amsterdam. Homely tasks and maternal duties which would revolt the modern society woman are as natural to her as the quiet manner of greeting a guest or disposing of a duty.

She is said to look after the wardrobes of the members of her family, finds time to superintend the education of her children and withal never omits a social obligation, although she does not seek pre-eminence as a society woman. It is said she is not above darning the stockings of the youngsters, and, with a healthy and boisterous family of little ones such as hers, this would be no infrequent task.

The Roosevelt children are full of life and high spirits. No prank is too daring and no youthful game or exercise beneath their dignity. Their mother is with them as much as possible, and therefore she is often called upon to repair damages to clothing or else to incur abnormal bills for their youthful apparel.

The same friend says that to speak of Mrs. Roosevelt is to tell about her children. There are five of them—Theodore junior, fourteen, a sturdy lad, as much like his father as a little elephant resembles a big one. He has the same manners, a like taste for outdoor exercises and sports and looks the world in the face from an equally healthy and florid countenance. He wears glasses, like his father, and he sails in the same ready, frank way. Theodore junior accompanied his mother to Washington in the present journey. The other children were left under the care of their uncle, James Roosevelt, in Oyster Bay.

When Mrs. Roosevelt and her family came to Washington last March to attend the inaugural ceremonies, there was not room in the Cowles home to accommodate Vice President Roosevelt, his wife, five children and their nurses. Consequently friends took some of the youngsters as guests. On the morning of March 4, when all were marshaled to attend the official proceedings at the capitol, a mishap delayed the arrival of two of the children. The carriages were held at the Cowles residence for several minutes awaiting their appearance.

Upon their arrival Mrs. Roosevelt took the precaution to look them over and was not satisfied with the work of their temporary nurses. She made a sign to their regular nurse, who shortly appeared with a well soaped towel. Mrs. Roosevelt herself took this and, already having opened their collars, gave each a good scrubbing and adjusted their neckwear again in a very few minutes.

Observers say the little fellows did not appreciate this programme more kindly than children are wont, and they sputtered and made faces at the ordeal, but stood up to it like little men and did not betray the slightest inclination to cry or resist. Their behavior was old fashioned in its docility to maternal discipline. When her rapid labors were completed, Mrs. Roosevelt quietly gave her orders for the disposition of the family and resumed her position as the guest of honor in the party as calmly as if babies and hoiden boys were no part of her cares in this world.

This little incident is characteristic of Mrs. Roosevelt. When necessary, she brings the youthful statesman to order without fuss or bother and does not ruffle herself or her guests. The Roosevelt children were vivacious and far from being curled darlings or little Lord Fauntleroy's. Only one nurse and a governess are provided for them. Their mother, however, is a host in herself as a maternal manager, and her commands are never disputed.

It is said that before meeting Mr. Roosevelt this home loving woman was rather inclined to shun courtly attentions, but her conduct and example as a wife and mother are the admiration of her friends.
