

COTTON SEED THIS YEAR.

New crop cotton seed is opening up bravely. In Jackson, Miss., it already commands over $20 a ton, and the tendency is upwards. This makes the seed worth from 30 to 35 cents a bushel, and again illustrates the point that the cotton crop may yet be profitable on account of the seed it yields alone. An acre that yields a bale of lint produces 1000 pounds of seed, or about 33 bushels, which is worth at present prices something over $10. Scarcely any northern wheat field yields a greater return.

It is not clear as yet whether the prevailing high prices are due to a lack of seed, or to the competition of the new mills is considerable, and they must have seed, although present prices of seed products scarcely warrant present seed prices.

Each new oil mill seeks first of all to drive the trust out of its own immediate section, and in order to do this it bids up the price of seed, and the trust's agents readily respond with a higher bid, and in this way the price of seed in Mississippi has been advanced to $10, and even a trifle more. About twenty new oil mills are ready for operation in that State, and in all other parts of the cotton belt the number of mills has been greatly increased. The industry is a big one, and as it has the world as a market there does not seem to be much danger of a serious glut in seed products.

IN THE BUSINESS WORLD.

The Great Crops of the Year and the Bright Prospect That Smiles Upon the Entire Country.

It is remarkable that while trade and industrial depression is as profound as ever in Germany and to some extent throughout the rest of Europe, and to a limited extent in England, yet a high degree of prosperity prevails in this country. The condition on this side of the sea promises to be even augmented by great crops of wheat, corn, oats and cotton, all of which are now well out of the way of serious harm. The wheat and oat crops are harvested, and another week will put the corn crop beyond injury by frost. Despite the percentages reported by the government the impression prevails that the cotton crop will exceed ten million bales.

There are some drawbacks, however, none of which are serious or permanent. The hard coal strike and the car famines are interfering with fuel supplies. The banks in New York are near the legal reserve line, and money is commanding higher rates. Wall street speculators are creeping in, and exports of manufactured goods are decreasing. Not one of these troubles is of a serious nature—not one of them will be known as factors in the market six months hence. The crops will be moved, and money will become easy. The strikes will be adjusted, and the fuel stocks will be replenished. If the exports of manufactured goods continue to fall exports of food products will take their place, and a trade balance of large proportions will again be reported. At present every factory is pushed to the utmost in order to supply home demands. The shoe factories cannot fill orders; the textile mills are satisfied with the outlook, and the iron and steel mills are selling products to be delivered next year. The failures are comparatively few in number, and railroad earnings were never larger. The depression in Europe means nothing here, and business men see no cloud on the horizon.

SHOT HIS LOVER DEAD.

Fatal Ending of Lovers' Quarrel. Victor Roland Dying of Self-Inflicted Wounds at Hospital.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—As a result of a lover's quarrel, Victor Roland O'Shea, a young lawyer just admitted to the bar, shot and killed his betrothed, Emily Hoganson, here to-day, tried to kill the girl's mother and then turned the weapon upon himself and tried to commit suicide. He was removed to the Norwegian Hospital in such serious condition that he will die.

Last night the young couple quarreled. Early this morning O'Shea visited the Hoganson home with a view to a reconciliation. The altercation was resumed and reached such a height that Mrs. Hoganson interfered. O'Shea resented this action and fired at both women. The shot fired at Mrs. Hoganson went wild.

"BOSS" SHEPHERD

Washington, Sept. 12.—A telegram received here this morning from Bapitopolis, Mexico, announced the death there this morning of Alexander R. Shepherd, who was vice-President of the Board of Public Works of the District of Columbia, during the Territorial Government of the district in 1861, and two years later Governor of the district. He was 67 years of age. The cause of his death was peritonitis, brought on by an attack of appendicitis. Governor Shepherd, as the executive officer of the Board of Public Works, in spite of vigorous opposition, began and successfully continued improvements in all parts of the city with the result that Washington became a magnificent capital. To the Governor is given the credit for nipping in the bud a project for the removal of the capital to some western city, which was warmly agitated at one time. He leaves a widow and seven children.

Theo. H. Price On Cotton.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. I again advise southern holders and producers of cotton to hold their production for at least nine cents a pound.

The spinning trade, at first disposed to ignore the very obvious facts in regard to supply and demand this year, are gradually coming to recognize them. The World needs every bale of cotton and more than the South will produce this year. It can and will pay at least nine cents per pound for it if that price be insisted upon. By such insistence the South will make itself a sharer in the prosperity every where else so general.
