

"THE CIRCUS IS COMING."

And the Children of the Odd Fellows' Orphan Home Will See It Free.

The ARGUS had a call from Mr. Sam J. Banks, the courteous and cultured young gentleman who fills the responsible position of Press Agent for Sautelle's Big Railroad Shows, the date of the appearance of which in Goldsboro is Saturday, October 10th.

This is one of the really great shows of the country, and although new to this section it promises as fine a three ring performance, menagerie of rare animals and hippodrome as any circus that ever visited our section.

In this connection the ARGUS is glad to announce that Mr. Banks has generously extended, on behalf of Mr. Sautelle, an invitation to the orphans of the I. O. O. F. State Home here to attend the circus without money and without price. This is indeed a graceful and generous act on the part of Mr. Sautelle, who is himself a prominent Odd Fellow, and will be duly appreciated by every Odd Fellow and by every friend of childhood—and especially orphaned childhood—throughout the State.

GOBBLING THE PEABODY FUND.

The trustees of the Peabody trust are to meet this month, and it is believed by some the effort of Atlanta to collar the entire fund will then be consummated. Edward Ingle discusses the subject in a recent number of the Manufacturers' Record. He shows that Robert C. Winthrop, once a trustee of the fund, who knew Mr. Peabody, never entertained the idea that one state, much less one city, could absorb the fund. He thought all the states in the South should share in any distribution of the fund that might be made. The late J. L. M. Curry said that Mr. Peabody had clearly in his mind "not a preponderant expenditure for one, but a diffusion of benefits among all."

The trustees of the fund should know that the students in the South who propose to become teachers cannot pay railroad fare to and from a distant city, nor are they able to pay living expenses in a large town. In other words, the Atlanta proposition is simply and wholly a proposition to gobble the entire fund for the benefit of Atlanta and Georgia, leaving out of consideration the students of all the other Southern states. This is exactly what it means when the naked facts are considered.

Dr. Curry fought the proposition to concentrate the fund in the Peabody normal college at Nashville, on the ground that one college "could never meet the varied wants of the school, rural and urban, primary and secondary, of such a large territorial area as the Southern states." What he said in 1894 stands good to day, and unless the trustees desire to rob a dozen states for the purpose of benefiting one city, or at the most one state, they will reject the plan that has been formulated by Atlanta for Atlanta.

SOUTHERN PINE FURNITURE.

A dealer in fine furniture in New York advertises bedroom suits of "Georgia pine; bed, bureau and washstand, $95; reduced from $120." These prices are pretty high, and no doubt home makers could turn out three pieces at much lower figures, but perhaps the home articles would lack some of the artistic features of the New York goods.

But the fact that Southern pine is marching on from inside decoration to furniture is encouraging, and possibly it will yet outrank for the latter purposes oak or bird's-eye maple. In very truth curly pine is not equaled by any of the other woods. Its rich beauty is enhanced by the color of age. It is as strong as mahogany, and when it has stood in the interior twenty years it has all the richness of that tropical wood.

Southern pine is still cheap in price, and it is plentiful, and these things perhaps keep it from general adoption for furniture manufacturing purposes. It has all else to commend it—solidity of texture and richness of grain and in the long run of color. Highly polished the grain appears in marvellous beauty. Surely the Southern curly pine will yet displace the hardwoods, and become the favorite material for all high-grade work in the interior of buildings, whether that work relates to the movable pieces.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 30.—Former Governor Hogg to-day delivered a speech to the farmers of Texas, advocating that they organize thoroughly for political purposes. He declared that every other element of the business population of the United States was organized for political purposes except the farmers, and if they bore the largest portion of the government support their only hope of procuring anything like equal benefits was to come out boldly in solid organization and use their influence to the fullest extent in political affairs.

Raleigh, Oct. 2.—Here are the 12 men who will try Ernest Haywood for the killing of Ludlow Skinner: A. R. Hodge, Jr., of St. Matthews; C. T. Hester, of St. Matthews; Henry Davis, of Barton's Creek; T. V. Holt, of Cary; Zol Fonville, of Barton's Creek; W. T. Alston, (colored), of Wake Forest; Kemp Rhodes, of Mark's Creek; E. H. Cooley, of Oak Grove; E. P. Wiggs, of Little River; J. W. Gay, of Little River; R. Walton, of Panther Branch; C. D. Davis, of House Creek.

"There are not words enough in Webster's Unabridged Dictionary to do justice to Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy."

So said Capt. W. W. Clements, engineer Southern Railway, Spencer, N. C., on April 28, 1903. He said that he had been a severe sufferer from eczema for three years, during which time he spent over $800 in medicines that did him no good. He then tried Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, and it cured him. Eight bottles did the work.
