

THE ARGUS.

DAILY AND WEEKLY.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Items of Interest in and Around the City.

Have you listed your taxes? The season for colored excursions is at hand, and the average "Cullud" individual is getting ready to "ride."

Hon. C. B. Aycock, who has been absent from the city for several weeks, attending various courts, is at home again.

The former residence of Mr. Jos. Edwards is being moved to the opposite corner and soon his proposed handsome new residence will be in course of construction. We go forward.

Mr. W. J. Hicks, a recent graduate in Pharmacy from Wake Forest College, has taken a position with the Palace Drug Store in this city, and will be glad to have his friends call to see him.

These hot nights are fine on cotton, and the King is beginning to hold his head up, and before many weeks, the fields, instead of being white with blooms, will be white with fleecy locks.

Why should the farmer place so much importance on cotton when young chickens sell at 25 to 30 cents a piece and eggs average from 12 to 20 cents a dozen, all the year round and lambs are hardly to be had at all?

The spacious corner establishment of Messrs. Andrews & Waddell, the furniture dealers, formerly the post office, that recently received a handsome new front, is now being further beautified by the painter artist Mr. Jno. E. Epps.

Mrs. Charity Atkinson, the venerable mother of our good friend Mr. E. T. Atkinson, County Superintendent of Education, was painfully injured by a fall last week, we are sorry to chronicle, and is now quite feeble, at their home in this city.

Mr. F. A. Daniels left today for Danville, N. C., where he will spend some time at Jackson Sanitarium, to recuperate. His hosts of friends everywhere will hope that his sojourn at that superb health resort may prove entirely beneficial.

The ARGUS predicted a low price for Irish potatoes. Forty-two millions of bushels of old crop carried over made the new crop of little value. It does not pay the trucker to dig potatoes at the present price. It is ever thus, the old, old story of supply and demand.

The Old Veterans who attended the great Confederate gathering at Louisville, are fond in their praise of the beautiful scenery along the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway from Richmond to Louisville, and the splendid cars, equipment and polite attention of the officials.

At the green grocers, in Goldsboro, you will find peaches, apples, plums, huckleberries, blackberries, nearly every kind of vegetable, fresh from our orchards and fields. Great is Eastern Carolina, and Goldsboro, more prosperous today than ever before, is the best town in the State.

Mr. Jas. W. Baker, who was so seriously broken up by a tree falling on him while guarding convicts in Duplin county some months ago, and who has since been in the hospital at Wilmington, has sufficiently recuperated to be brought home Saturday, we are glad to chronicle.

The funeral of little Henrietta May, the 4 months old daughter of Mr. J. M. Britt, was held from the home Thursday morning and the interment was made in the Edgerton burying ground, in Fork township beside his mother, who preceded it to the grave about three months ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam P. Lane and daughter, Miss Laura, of Montreal, Canada, are in the city, visiting relatives, and Mr. Lane's many old friends here, his boyhood home, will be sorry to know that his health is very much impaired, and we all wish him a speedy recovery, now that he breathes the sweet and invigorating atmosphere of his "native heath."

Let's have a Hospital for Goldsboro in keeping with the importance of our city and the abilities and skill of our physicians, who, as Mr. Farries truly says, "are the peers of any." Goldsboro has long enough discredited herself by inactivity and listlessness in this regard. Let the reproach be removed. Let us have an up-to-date hospital.

Miss Mary Best Jones, of the faculty of the Goldsboro Graded School, has resigned her position, and will be succeeded by Miss Clara Spicer, a recent graduate from the State Normal, who was elected yesterday. Miss Jones has made a most excellent teacher and her resignation is a positive loss to the school. Miss Spicer brings to the work all the essentials for the making of a good teacher and we are sure she will prove a worthy successor to Miss Jones.

Politics are quiet these days of good old summer time, but this time next year even William B. Barker will be mightily busy in his deep anxiety how to serve the folks. Thus has it ever been. But, after all, is there more vanity in anything than in politics? Some time ago we heard one of the most prominent politicians in the State that he regrets that his political ambition ever got hold of him. But when this political ambition does get its grip on the heartstrings of a man, that man is in the grip of a merciless master, who whips and goads and spurs the victim who worships at the altar of inordinate political ambition, an altar built out of the ashes of blasted hopes.

Mr. Will Tew, the night electrician, who a few nights ago, reported the two negroes, Sauer Fulford and William Aris, for breaking into a box car, which led to their arrest and confinement in jail, had an attempt made on his life Thursday night at the electric light station. He had stepped to the door to cool, when a half brick was hurled at his head from the dark; he saw the brick in time to dodge, and before he could see from whence the missile came a large piece of iron came flying from the same direction and struck him inside and above his head. He went inside and procured a gun and went in search of the party or parties but they escaped in the dark. It is sad that some of the negroes in this locality are mad over the arrest of the two negroes above mentioned, and two negroes above mentioned, and have sworn vengeance.

FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

Messrs. H. Weil & Bros. Celebrate This Event in Their Business Career.

From Wednesday's Daily.

To-day forty years ago, on June 21, 1865, the firm of H. Weil & Bros. opened business in Goldsboro, in a small wooden structure on the site of the clothing department of their present imposing and commodious triple front establishment, and to-day they are celebrating their fortieth anniversary, and the event, throughout the day, has been rendered an occasion of deep gratification to the firm by reason of the steady tide of callers that have frequented the store to express in person their congratulations and register their good wishes for the future career of a firm that has not only accomplished such eminent success in business, but has ever been foremost in public spirit for the upbuilding of the community and unflinching in private charities for the amelioration of needy humanity—not done ostentatiously, and only known through the ever swelling tide of popular good will the firm so universally enjoys, the surst barometer by which to measure the merits of a mercantile establishment of such long standing.

The firm at its organization was composed of Messrs. Herman, Henry and Solomon Weil, and took its name from the senior brother, the late Mr. Herman Weil, who came to Goldsboro in 1855, as a clerk; joined the Confederate Army, endured bravely the fortunes of war, and so soon after the surrender at Appomattox showed his faith in Goldsboro and his love for the people of his adopted home by casting his fortunes with us for life and bringing his younger brothers, Henry and Solomon, here and launching the firm of H. Weil & Bros. upon the venture-sea of commerce.

Subsequent to the death of Mr. Herman Weil, whose memory is held in affectionate regard by all who knew him, the late Mr. E. Rosenthal, father-in-law of Mr. Henry Weil, acquired an interest in the firm and moved his family here from Wilson. He brought to the firm that ripeness of experience, business sagacity and broad public spirit that had characterized his signally successful career in Wilson, and his lamented death was a distinct loss to our city, in every phase of our community life. He was a man who did good for the love of good, aided charity for love of charity. He did not do good by stealth that he might blush to find it fame; he was generous because he conceived it his duty to give, and from it derived a pleasure unknown to the world, unheralded by the types, but chronicled in the eternities of God—the Jehovah of his fathers. His interest was assumed by his elder son Mr. Jos. Rosenthal, who with his venerable mother resides in the family home here.

So fleet does time fly that it seems but a brief while ago that the ARGUS chronicled the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of H. Weil & Bros; on which occasion, in keeping with their characteristic public spirit, they presented to Goldsboro the twenty-five acres of land that now constitutes beautiful Herman Park, and which they have not failed to generously foster, and that was the chief incentive that secured for Goldsboro the State Orphan Home of the Odd Fellows, whose spacious grounds and magnificent buildings adjoin Herman Park and overlook so many handsome homes, where, erstwhile, the hoodlum owl held forth at night unmolested and the day brought no pleasure in the prospect. But we might go on 'till we filled a volume and yet not have told the half of the interesting history of this great firm, coeval with all our progressive citizens and leaders for the accomplishment of what our city is and for the achievement of Greater Goldsboro.

Their store-to-day was the mecca of social enjoyment—as it has ever been of trade—and all who called (and they were legion) were greeted with cordial pleasure and royal hospitality. The middle store of the three was converted, for the day, into a reception hall. The decorations were green and white, artistic in design, elaborate in execution and beautiful to behold. Cut flowers and spotted linen adorned the numerous refreshment tables, and here the most delicious refreshments were served in generous bounty to all who called, the visitors being seated and made comfortable and waited upon with despatch.

The ARGUS joins with the firm's army of friends in cordial congratulations and sincere good wishes—and may we be here to chronicle their golden anniversary.

Education in New Hope Township.

The People of Casey Chapel Community met June 21 at the new school house for the purpose of outlining some course of action by which they can secure to the children of the district a higher grade school than they have had heretofore and a longer term. After discussion it was decided to supplement the public school term of four months with a four months private school, open to all the children of the district, thus guaranteeing an eight months school.

Benj. Casey, D. B. Thompson, W. O. Herring, D. A. Daniel, S. R. Herring, I. Grant, W. C. Grant and W. P. Whitley entered into an agreement as a Board of Trustees to guarantee an eight months term of school for said district.

It was decided to employ a teacher at once for eight months, term to begin July 10 and end about May 1, with an intersession of two months during September and October.

The prevailing idea among those present was that from this small beginning a permanent high school for New Hope Township will be established at this point in the course of two or three years.

Judging from what we saw and heard, we believe that the people of Casey's Chapel district are in earnest about having a good school. They have the houses, they have the children, and judging from the interest shown, we believe that they are anxious about the education of their children.

A VISITOR.

HIGHLY HONORED.

Mr. Albert Kornegay Elected Vice-President Southern Vehicle Association.

The ARGUS is glad to chronicle the high honor that has so deservedly come to another Goldsboro boy—and one who is spending his time and his energies at home in building up a big business and giving profitable employment to many skilled laborers.

At the annual meeting of the Southern Vehicle Association held at Old Point yesterday, Mr. Albert U. Kornegay, general manager of the Goldsboro Buggy Company, of this city, was elected vice president of the association.

The honor comes as the recognition of merit among men of parts and business acumen, and is, therefore, the more flattering.

The ARGUS extends its hearty congratulations and wishes the Goldsboro Buggy Company and Mr. Kornegay alike continued success.

Johnston County Now the Driest County in the State.

The last two places in Johnston county to vote on the question of the sale of liquor acted yesterday and both by large majorities went for prohibition.

These places are Kenly and Clayton. Under the bill of Hon. E. L. S. Abell, of Johnston, passed two years ago, the manufacture of liquor was forbidden in the county. Now there is no town in the county in which liquor is allowed to be sold. Besides this, Johnston county has the anti-liquor law, and it is claimed that now it will be the driest county in the State, as it is already one of the most prosperous and progressive.

Clayton, June 26.—The vote today was 124 to 36 in favor of prohibition in Clayton. At noon the vote was 90 for prohibition to 17 for dispensary. At 3 o'clock it was 121 for prohibition to 24 for dispensary.

Kenly, June 26.—After a very hotly contested election for prohibition or dispensary to-day, prohibition won by ten majority. This now makes Johnston a prohibition county.

PRICE TOO DEAR.

Phenomenal speed on passenger trains is too dearly purchased at the cost of human life. The recent disastrous wreck of the new Lako Shore flyer seems to have been the result of an attempt to slip a couple of hours on the run between Chicago and New York. An eighteen-hour schedule was in effect which means that the train traveled at a rate considerably in excess of a minute the mile way. A speed of nearly two miles a minute was attained at several times. When the accident occurred the rate of speed was about seventy-five miles an hour.

Such speed maintained by any one train is bound to lay an unusual strain upon the whole railway system. Especially is this so on the initial runs and before the whole system is so to speak, keyed up to the new order of things.

The railroad management which goes out after a marvelous record should feel perfectly assured that the demands put upon human nerves and brains throughout the entire system are not too great for ready response under the changed conditions. Unless every man, as well as every bolt and every screw on the whole line is up to the work accidents may be expected. The institution of such tremendous speed is to be condemned, unless it goes hand and with a quick sense of responsibility.

Unless the management of a road is absolutely sure that the system is wound up to run like clock work it had better forego the eighty miles-per-hour attempt. To lose a few hours is less than to lose a life.

Accused Men Released.

Tampa, Fla., June 26.—Samuel and Irvin Hopkins Wilder, accused of assassinating O-car Brannen, at Plant City, were released by Judge Wall today on $5,000 bail each. The grand jury meets to-morrow to investigate the case.

FOR WOMEN AND WOMEN ONLY

Much That Every Woman Desires to Know About Sanative, Antiseptic Cleansing and the Care of the Skin, Scalp, Hair, and Hands.

WHAT CUTICURA DOES FOR WOMEN

Too much stress cannot be placed on the great value of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills in the antiseptic cleansing of the mucous surfaces, and of the blood and circulating fluids, thus affording pure, clear, and economical local and constant treatment for weakening ulcerations, inflammations, itching, irritation, eruptions, rashes, pimples, spots, and irregularities peculiar to females. Hence the Cuticura remedies have wonderful influence in restoring health, strength, and beauty to women, who have been prematurely aged and invalidated by these distressing ailments, as well as such sympathetic conditions as anæmia, chlorosis, hysteria, and nervousness.

Women from the very first have fully appreciated the purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy which have made Cuticura the standard humor remedy of the civilized world.

TORTURING HUMOR

Cured by Cuticura. "I suffered five years with a terrible itching eczema, my body and face being covered with sores. Never in my life did I experience such awful suffering, and I longed for death, which I felt was near. I had tried doctors and medicines without success, but my mother insisted that I try Cuticura. I felt better after the first application of Cuticura Ointment, and was soon entirely well. Mrs. A. Risson, Bellevue, Mich.

TORNADOES NOT INCREASING.

Prof. Willis L. Moore, chief of the United States Weather Bureau, discusses in the Geographical Magazine the weather and weather eccentricities. He says that the most careful study of the records does not show that tornadoes are increasing. Neither are they decreasing.

The truth is, nothing that mere man can do on the earth's surface, whether it relate to the clearing away of forests, or the cultivation of land, or artificial drainage, or the stringing of electrically charged wires, or the laying of thousands of miles of rails—none or all of these things restrict or materially modify those tremendous forces of nature that surround our earth and control our storms and climate." The attempts to disperse clouds by cannonading was simply ridiculous, and all the scratching of the earth's surface by puny man have no perceptible effect upon the dread d tornadoes.

Mr. Moore does not, it is plain, expect any better remedy against tornadoes than the cyclone cellar, and it cannot be carried in one's pocket ready for an emergency. We may be sure, however, that the danger is not increasing except as the towns that may be hit by them are increased in number. The climate conditions stand apparently unchanged and unchangeable.

A Deserved Promotion.

And still Goldsboro talent goes forward in every avenue inviting to the feet of aspiring energy and competent ability. The ARGUS, in common with his hosts of friends everywhere, is glad to note the deserved promotion of Mr. Jas. S. Hartsell, who has for a number of years been associated with the passenger department of the Atlantic Coast Line, first as conductor and then as traveling passenger agent. His latest promotion makes him Division Passenger Agent with headquarters at Tampa, Fla., for which place he leaves tonight.

We will all miss his genial association, and he takes with him the abiding good wishes of all our people.

How many hours out of each week would be saved by yourself, your family and your teams, by the telephone?
Have you ever calculated how many minutes can be saved in case of business, sickness, or emergency?
Have you ever thought of the dollars you might gain, if you were only in close connection with the market?
Can you conceive of the pleasure to be derived from having in your home immediate communication with the homes of neighbors and friends though situated miles away?
The telephone will pay for itself by getting better market prices.
It will save several dollars every month by avoiding needless trips to town.
It will take and deliver telegraph messages immediately without extra expense.

It will order repairs instantly when machines break down.
It will do the visiting and make social calls without the trouble of "dressing up" and taking a long, dusty, heated or freezing ride.
It will get a doctor on a moment's notice and maybe save a loved one's life.
It will get election returns as soon as they are in.
It will keep away insolent tramps and prowling burglars.
It will keep the boys on the farm.
It will make homes happier, brighter, better and more delightful in a thousand different ways.
Progressive farmers living in the country are installing telephones in their homes, and in the near future every cultivator will have a direct means of communication with the outside world.
