Some Timely Suggestions that Should Be Headed.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch in its leading editorial yesterday talks with time'y sagacity on the duty of the party at this time. It says:

Elsewhere will be found a correspondent at Clifton Forge, in which he nominates Cleveland and Bailey for 1908 Our correspondent thinks that to nominate Bryan to head off Hearst would be to employ our blunder as a substitute for another.

The Times-Dispatch thinks that it would be a blunder for the Democratic organizations of the country to commit themselves to any c ndi late or to any issues at this time, save those fundamentals for which Damocracy has always stood. The Times-Dispatch was an advocate of Mr. Cleveland's nomination in 1904 and believes now that he would have polled more votes than any candidate within the convention's reach. But it is not in favor of committing the party yet awhile to Cleveland, Bryan or any other man. What such precipitate action? Who knows what the conditions will be and what years hence?

That is another factor favor of Democratic success. But whether the country be prosp rouor not in that year, all indications The country was prosperous in 1892, personally and as a body for the Comand President Harrison made strong appeals to the voters not to disturb business, but a majority of them were tired of Republican rule, and the Democratic ticket was elected with a hurrah. There is fine promisthat a similar opportunity will come to the party in 1908, and party managers should be very careful not to spoil it in advance. All booms at this time are premature. Let the opportunity select the candidate. when it arrives.
