Crowning Day of Richmond Confederate Reunion.

The Jefferson Davis Statue Occupies a Commanding Site Within View of the Monument to the Great General of the Confederacy, Robert E. Lee.

(By special wire to THE ARGUS.)

Richmond, Va., June 3.—This was the closing and crowning day of the most successful reunion ever held by the Confederate Veterans—the day of the big parade, followed by the unveiling of the Jefferson Davis monument. The day was a holiday in Richmond—public buildings and streets closing at noon for the remainder of the day. Thousands of visitors, coming for the sole purpose of seeing the old soldiers, were added to the multitude already on the streets.

The start of the parade was made shortly before noon. General Stith Boling, marshal of the day, and staff, preceded by mounted police to clear the way, led the procession. The route led through Ninth, Grace, Fifth and Franklin streets, passing in review at the Davis monument. The line of march was a packed mass of humanity. The crowd was far and away the largest that the ancient capital of the Confederacy has ever entertained. Windows were bright with the faces of women and girls, with waving handkerchiefs and flags, the sidewalks were almost impassable by reason of the congestion.

With their blood stirring to the same old airs which bade them do and die for their cause in the '60s, the veterans marched through the streets, the object of a wildly cheering throng's enthusiasm. At the head of the procession rode Gen. Stephen D. Lee and his staff. The erect figure, the alert eyes, and the short white beard of the commander-in-chief were well known to most of the spectators and he was greeted with cheers all along the line. The distinguished guests rode in carriages and then came the veterans, arranged according to departments, including Texas, Tennessee, trans-Mississippi, Missouri, Arkansas, Indian Territory, Oklahoma, Pacific division, Northwest division and Virginia.

The Jefferson Davis statue occupies a commanding site within view of the monument of the great general of the Confederacy, Robert E. Lee. About the statue was assembled a vast concourse of people anxious to pay honor to the memory of the President of the Confederate States on this, the ninety-ninth anniversary of his birth. Gen. Stephen D. Lee presided on the speaker's stand and the order of exercises was as follows: Invocation by the Rev. Dr. J. William Jones, chaplain-general; addresses by Governor Claude A. Swanson, Mayor Carlton McCarthy, and General Clement A. Evans, of Atlanta, Ga., the orator of the day; unveiling of statue by Mrs. J. A. Hays, of California, daughter of President Davis, assisted by her sons; placing of garlands by Mrs. Webb and Miss Hays, granddaughters of President Davis; placing of tributes by Misses Hodgson, Moore and White; addresses of welcome by Mrs. Norman V. Randolph, chairman of the central committee of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association; response by Mrs. William J. Behan, president of the Southern Confederate Memorial Association; Report of Jefferson Davis Monument Association by Mrs. George S. Holmes, president; response by Mrs. Lizzie George Henderson, president-general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. The exercises closed with music and the placing of garlands about the bronze figure. These wreaths and other floral tributes, many of them of the most expensive and elaborate character, were sent by the various States of the South, by chapters of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and by individuals.

Tonight Richmond will bid good-bye to thousands of her visitors. The percentage of veterans leaving today was comparatively small. For the most part they desired to remain till taps had been sounded in the camp, and they wished particularly to have a part in today's memorial tribute to the memory of the only President of the Confederacy. Tonight and early tomorrow morning will see a general exodus of the fatigued but satisfied veterans and their friends. Hundreds of them have arranged to go to Jamestown to put in a few days viewing the sights of the Exposition before scattering to their homes throughout the South.

The children of St. Stephen's Episcopal Sunday school will be given a picnic on Thursday of this week. It was at first decided to hold the picnic on Wednesday, but later the change was made as above, and all the children are urged to be at the church promptly by 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

NINETY-FOUR YEARS OLD.

We were shown a photograph today of aunt Eliza Dyer, aged 94 years. Eliza belongs to the aristocratic circle of ante-bellum darkies and is universally liked by all classes of our people. She is "too old to work and too proud to beg." Mr. L. H. Castex has interested himself in behalf of aunt Eliza and to help make her declining days more joyous, he thought of the idea of having her sit for a picture which she was to offer for sale. This she did and has already sold one hundred of them at 25 cents each. When the picture was made she held a package of Uneda Biscuit, a popular product of the National Biscuit Co., in her lap, and when Mr. Castex wrote them and sent one of the photographs, explaining the situation, they at once sent a check for $5.00 to be applied as a contribution to her comfort. Mr. A. O. Clement made the pictures at actual cost and they are a perfect likeness. Aunt Eliza will be glad to receive a quarter from any kind person in exchange for a picture. She is worthy of your charity. Her post-office address is Goldsboro, N. C., and she says the Lord is going to let her live six years longer, when she will be 100 years old.

SHOCKING HOMICIDE.

Ebb Talton Kills Major Jones In This City Saturday Evening.

In consequence of a difficulty over 20 cents, Saturday evening about 6 o'clock, in the north end of the city, Ebb Talton, a white man, who came here some years ago from Princeton, where he had been a bar-keeper and all-round desperado, and whose wife and daughter supported him by their work in the cotton mill, deliberately shot to death Major Jones, another white man, who leaves a wife and several small children.

The dispute arose over Talton and another fellow each betting Jones 10 cents that he (Jones) would not "set up" to pep at a stand near by. Jones took the bet and ordered three bottles of soda pop. Talton refused to drink his and in consequence claimed the 20 cents. Jones and he got to disputing and Talton got very angry, and leaving the place, walked over to his house, near by, got his revolver and returning deliberately opened fire on Jones, putting four balls in rapid succession into his body. Jones fell on the spot, and died instantly.

Talton was immediately arrested by officer Tew, and yesterday was given a hearing before corner Carl Stanley, who committed him to jail without bail, the jury having returned a verdict in keeping with the above facts.

The death of Mrs. Ferdinand Tyson, 45 years of age, a most estimable woman, occurred this morning, on the plantation of Mr. A. T. Uzzell, in New Hope township, where her husband is a tenant. Besides her husband she leaves one daughter. She had been sick for two months with typhoid fever.

A fire in New Hope township on Monday of this week completely destroyed the home and all its contents of Mrs. Chelly James, including $175 in cash, and her grandson, Mr. Summerlin, who lived with her was badly burned in his efforts to save the property.

A Hair Dressing

Nearly every one likes a fine hair dressing. Something to make the hair more manageable; to keep it from being too rough, or from splitting at the ends. Something, too, that will feed the hair at the same time, a regular hair-food. Well-fed hair will be strong, and will remain where it belongs—on the head, not on the comb!

Danderine

GREW MISS LEWIS' HAIR

AND WE CAN

PROVE IT

The Great Danderine Never Fails to Produce the Desired Results

MISS Lewis' hair was very thin and it was less than two feet in length when she began using Danderine. She says her hair and scalp are now fairly teeming with new life and vigor. That's the main secret of this great remedy's success as a hair grower. It enlivens, invigorates and fairly electrifies the hair glands and tissues of the scalp, causing unusual and unheard-of activity on the part of these two most important organs, resulting in a strenuous and continuous growth of the hair.

The following is a reproduction of Miss Lewis' last letter:

January 3, 1905.

Dear Doctor Knowlton:—

You know I told you in my first letter that my hair would not reach much below my shoulders, and that all of it together only made one tiny braid.

I am sending you my photograph, which I had taken at Stevens Bros. It tells the whole story better than I can tell it.

Everybody I know is using Danderine, so you see I am doing something to show my appreciation.

Sincerely yours, (Miss) EVA LEWIS.

Danderine makes the scalp healthy and fertile and keeps it so. It is the greatest scalp fertilizer and therefore the greatest hair-producing remedy the world has ever known. It is a natural food and a wholesome medicine for both the hair and scalp. Even a 25c bottle of it will put more genuine life in your hair than a gallon of any other hair tonic ever made. It shows results from the very start.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1. per bottle

FREE. To show how quickly Danderine acts we will send a large sample free by return mail to any one who sends this advertisement to the Knowlton Danderine Co., Chicago, with their name and address and 10 cents in silver or stamps to pay postage.

You Waste Money

If you don't paint the strongest paint, the least-gallons paint, Devoe.

You waste from a tenth to all your money. The worst is worse than no paint at all; you may have been painting that.

An average paint isn't worth putting-on if you get it free—you may have been painting that.

"Good paint" isn't worth putting-on; for the best costs less—there are seven other paints, besides Devoe, not adulterated and full-measure; honest and good, but not best—you may have been painting that.

There is only one best: Devoe. It takes best care of a building, wears longest, and costs least money.

There are several paints, that make a good deal of fuss in the world. You may think we can't mean them; but we do. They are not the worst; some are worse but not worst; about middling.

You waste from a quarter to half your money if you paint them. You can do worse; you can waste it all; more too; you can damage your building.

What's the use of a paint that costs twice as much and wears half as long?

Paint half your job Devoe; paint the other half whatever you like. If Devoe doesn't take less-gallons and cost less money, no pay.
