One of the largest mail order houses in the country will soon have to stand trial, it is said, for using the United States mail for fraudulent purposes.

The first count charges that on June 13 the company devised a scheme to obtain money by false pretenses from Dr. C. F. Spring, 231 Utica building, Des Moines.

"All our paints contain white lead made in our great paint factory under the supervision of the finest paint experts.

As a matter of fact, so the indictment sets out, the firm in question did not manufacture paint in its own factory.

R. H. Miles, rural route No. 1, Des Moines, is the victim named in the other two counts of the indictment.

On May 25 Mr. Miles ordered a ring advertised in the firm's catalogue to contain four pearls and four sapphires and was materially inferior in quality to the ones described in the catalogue.

On May 6 Mr. Miles ordered another ring advertised to contain twelve pearls and two rubies. The ring he received contained neither pearls nor rubies.

Both catalogues and the rings were sent through the mails, making the alleged misrepresentation a violation of the federal statutes regarding the use of the mails.

W. S. Pilkington, editor of The Iowa Trade Journal, worked up the case against the firm. He secured the evidence and presented the case to the grand jury.

That the indictments have been found is a matter of record. What the outcome will finally be is, of course, yet to be determined.

The incident, whatever may be the outcome, should be a profitable one.
