SHAKESPEARE'S MEMORY KEPT GREEN

Festival was Held at Stratford-on-Avon in London

The Old-World Town was the Mecca for Hundreds of Admirers and Devotees of the Immortal Bard.

London, April 23.—The customary dramatic festival was held at Stratford-on-Avon today in celebration of Shakespeare's birthday anniversary. The old-world town was the Mecca for hundreds of admirers and devotees of the immortal bard, among the number being many celebrated literary and dramatic lights.

At present the various Shakespearean societies throughout the country are engaged in plans for the erection of a memorial which it is proposed to set up to commemorate the tercentenary of his death, which will occur in 1916. It is proposed to raise one million dollars, of which half is to be spent on the monument. A fine site in London has been selected for the monument in Park Crescent, adjoining Regent's Park and looking down the imposing vista of Portland Place.

SHAKESPEARE DAY AT FOREST HOME.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 23.—The three hundred and forty-fourth anniversary of the birth of William Shakespeare, the world's greatest playwright, was observed with appropriate ceremonies today at the Edwin Forrest Home for retired players, at Holmesburg. Not only did the dozen veterans of the stage, who are now inmates of the home, take part in the celebration, but many of the actresses and actors who are playing at the Philadelphia playhouses journeyed to Holmesburg to help out the programme, which included the presentation of scenes from several of Shakespeare's plays.

CARDINAL LOGUE COMING.

He Will Be the Central Figure of a Notable Assembly.

(Special to THE ARGUS.)

New York, April 23.—Catholics of New York and vicinity, and especially the Irish element of that faith, are preparing a great reception in honor of Cardinal Logue, the head of the Catholic church in Ireland, who is due to arrive here tomorrow. Cardinal Logue is coming to attend the great celebration to be held next week in honor of the centennial of the archdiocese of New York. He will be the central figure of a notable assembly of prelates that will include archbishops, bishops and priests from many parts of the United States and Canada.

His Eminence Cardinal Michael Logue, Archbishop of Armagh, has been Primate of all Ireland since 1887, prior to which time he had been coadjutor to the late Primate. Cardinal Logue is a man of great learning and is renowned for his piety. He does not mix in Irish politics, but takes an interest in the country's welfare and knows how to make his influence felt when he deems it necessary for the public good. His almost boundless influence among the Irish people was recently illustrated in a striking manner. He objected to the policy of one of the Sinn Fein party organs which editorially spoke in favor of forcing the priests out of politics. Cardinal Logue denounced the paper, and his mere denunciation was sufficient to drive the paper's readers away to such an extent that it was found no longer profitable to run it.

Since announcement was made that Cardinal Logue was to come to this country he has received many invitations to visit Philadelphia, Chicago, Baltimore and other cities. His Eminence, however, is a man of much work and little play, and cares little for traveling or holiday making. It is therefore very doubtful if he will extend his American visit beyond this city, especially as he will have an opportunity of meeting here Cardinal Gibbons, Mgr. Falconio and other eminent churchmen whom he might desire to visit.

BISHOP CAPERS DEAD.

Health Had Been Feeble for Many Months.

His Long Life Largely Identified With his State and the Confederacy.

Columbia, S. C., April 22.—Bishop Ellison Capers, of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of South Carolina, died at his home in this city at 2:30 p. m. today.

Bishop Capers had been in feeble health for many months, and for several days had been sinking gradually. This morning his physicians announced that he could not survive the day.

Bishop Capers was seventy years of age, and had presided over the diocese for the past fifteen years. He had been Secretary of State of South Carolina, brigadier-general in the Confederate army and held other positions of rank and influence that had made him one of the best known men in the South. He was the father of John G. Capers, commissioner of internal revenue, and national Republican committeeman for South Carolina.

The funeral will be held from Trinity church, this city, Friday at noon. Confederate veterans, visiting bishops and many clergy will act as escort of honor. Telegrams of condolence have come from all parts of the South.

Bishop Capers literally fell asleep. His expiring hours were free from pain.

SOME BASEBALL CHANGES.

Several Have Been Made in the Personnel of the Raleigh Team.

(Special to THE ARGUS.)

Raleigh, April 13.—Manager "King" Kelley today signed Ben Streiberg, of Montonsville, Pa., to take the place of Will Wynne, who has been awarded to the Sumter team, of the Carolina League by the National Association.

The new man will play second base. He has a splendid record.

The Carolina alumni are making efforts to get a third game between Virginia and Carolina, to be played at Raleigh. The railways will run special trains in case the game is arranged, and it is certain a tremendous crowd will be in attendance.

FOOLS AND AUTOS.

Both Are Having a Big Inning in New York Today,

And Before the Race Is Run, the Number of Both May Be Somewhat, Though Not Materially, Reduced.

(Special to THE ARGUS.)

New York, April 23.—The great Briar Cliff auto race, over a 32-mile course, started at 5:07 this morning, and the course is lined with a quarter of a million of people.

Sartoris, the Italian car, was the first starter, and at intervals of one minute other cars shot like greyhounds out into the course amid deafening cheers.

Barney Oldfield, the famous runner and victim of many auto mishaps, grinned as he got away at 5:15 in car No. 13.

Starter Wagner got all of the twenty-two cars away in good shape, with no mishaps at the start, but very soon there was such a one on the curve, which is at the turn of the east view, when car No. 22, a Simplex, driven by William Watson, skidded the mound and turned somersault, throwing Watson and Thomas Cotter, his mechanic, headlong from the machine. Both are badly cut about the head and body and the car is a complete wreck. The turn is the most dangerous one on the track.

Strong won the race, with Cedrico second.

SHOCKING TRAGEDY.

Howard Bain Makes a Murderous Assault Upon His Wife and Baby With a Pistol, Last Night.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Last night about 10 o'clock, Howard Bain, who had been drinking during the afternoon, and who with his wife and baby made their home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. McCullen at their boarding house on East Mulberry street, near Centre, went in after being about the streets till that hour, and no sooner had he gotten to his room than he opened fire on his wife with a big army revolver, the balls piercing her body through and through, and from which she now lies in a most distressingly pitiable condition, with no hope for her recovery.

No sooner had the firing begun than her father rushed to the scene; but so rapidly was the pistol discharged that three shots had been fired before he reached the room and the pistol was leveled for a fourth shot when he grabbed the weapon just as the hammer was coming down, lacerating his hand terribly. He grappled Bain, and disarmed him, and without waiting for assistance hurried him to the city hall, near by, round the corner, and delivered him to the police and he is now in jail.

Mrs. Bain, who had retired, with their infant son in bed with her, was summoned to open the door by Bain, on his coming up to the room, and as soon as she unlocked the door, he began the firing.

These are the bare facts, without comment. It is a tragedy of such harrowing atrocity and so appalling that the whole community is standing aghast, and we are unable to do just to the situation in passing comment.

Does Your Heart Beat

Yes, 100,000 times each day. Does it send out good blood or bad blood? You know, for good blood is good health; bad blood, bad health. And you know precisely what to take for bad blood—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Doctors have endorsed it for 60 years.

One frequent cause of bad blood is a sluggish liver. This produces constipation. Eucalyptus substances are then absorbed into the blood. Keep the bowels open with Ayer's Pills.

AWAITING THE FLEET.

Another Round of Festivities For the Officers and Men.

Santa Barbara Already Is Filling With Visitors and Sightseers and Never Before Have Its Streets and Buildings Been So Profusely and Gaily Decorated.

(By special wire to THE ARGUS.)

Santa Barbara, Cal., April 24.—Another round of festivities for the officers and men of the American fleet will begin tomorrow afternoon, when the sixteen battleships of the Atlantic squadron will cast anchor in the harbor of Santa Barbara for a five days' stay. The city already is filling with visitors and sightseers and never before have its streets and buildings been so profusely decorated. Triumphant arches have been erected at many street intersections, and immense signs that burn with the word "Welcome" are among the decorations.

The Civic League has completed elaborate preparations for the reception and entertainment of the naval men. A fund of thousands of dollars raised by popular subscriptions has been placed at the disposal of the league. Citizens of Ventura and San Luis Obispo counties joined with the business men of Santa Barbara in providing the money necessary to carry out the elaborate entertainment programme. The crowning feature of the week will be the floral parade and battle of flowers on the boulevard as the procession is reviewed by the naval officers. The programme for the five days follows:

Saturday, four p. m.—Arrival of the fleet, to be followed by official calls by the Mayor and the officers of the Civic League.

Sunday—Entire day devoted to visiting the ships.

Monday Morning—Baseball and football tournament. Afternoon—Floral parade.

Tuesday Morning—Tennis and basketball tournament. Afternoon—Garden party tendered to the officers of the fleet by Rear Admiral McCall, retired, of this city. Evening—Ball tendered to the officers of the fleet by Mr. and Mrs. William Miller Graham at a cost of $10,000.

Wednesday Morning—Semi-finals, tennis and baseball. Afternoon—Finals, tennis and baseball. Evening—Dance of the flowers and bluejackets' ball at the Plaza del Mar.

A PURE FABRICATION.

Governor Glenn Makes Positive Denial of a Republican Canard.

Special to THE ARGUS.

Raleigh, April 24.—Referring to a Washington special in the Greensboro Industrial News, Governor Glenn, on his return to the city today, said that there is not a word of truth in the article, which charges that he would renounce his declaration not to be a candidate for the United States senate.

"I do not believe Mr. Simmons said anything of the kind," declares the governor, in his positive denial of the story.

The special in question is as follows: "Washington, D. C., April 23.—Governor Glenn threatens to renounce his 'renunciation of the senatorship, which his friends likened to Washington's Farewell Address.'"

"This news, it is stated today, was brought here by Senator Simmons, who talked with the governor while in the State. It seems that the governor is mad because papers friendly to Senator Overman refused to accept at par his modest statement that the senatorship was within his grasp, and that he cast it aside for reasons purely patriotic.

"The governor indicated that he might get back in the race and show these papers a thing or two. The chief magistrate of the State is also asserting that in eliminating himself from the senatorship he made all kinds of enemies.

"He says nearly all of his friends are mad with him, and that he may surprise the people of the State after the prohibition election is over."

HE IS THE MAN.

The Kind of Democrat That the Party Needs and The Emergency Demands.

Senator Simmons Speaks Boldly and Truly as to The Kind of Democrat We Should Nominate This Year For President.

In the recent New York banquet of Democrats Senator F. M. Simmons of this State—he who has done so much for the Democracy of the State and is reflecting credit upon the statesmanship of the South in the United States Senate, was one of the speakers, and he was appointed to reply to the toast, "The White House and the Democracy," and he said in part:

"If you ask what sort of a democrat we should nominate for President, my answer would be, we should nominate a democrat who can say in truth and fact 'I am a democrat; a democrat and nothing more; a democrat without qualification, explanation or apologies.' It boots not what his name, nor from what state or section he hails, so he can restore harmony in the democratic party, reunite its divided elements and with its forces marshaled in solid phalanx confront the cohorts of republicanism.

"The situation calls for a bold and unequivocal enunciation of the principles and policies for which the party stands and invokes the support of the people.

"The tariff question, the financial question, the trust question and the railroad questions are all questions of high importance and will doubtless play a conspicuous part in the campaign, but no one of them, nor all of them combined, outrank in importance as a vital issue the question of the centralization of power which has been thrust to the forefront by the startling aggressiveness of recent legislation and executive usurpations. When the President of the United States demands an enlargement of federal powers, not by way of constitutional amendment but through executive action through legislation, and through judicial interpretation and

FOUND CUTICURA INDISPENSABLE

For Her Children—Little Girls Suffered with Itching Eczema Which Simply Covered Back of Head—Baby Had a Tender Skin, Too.

ALL PROMPTLY CURED BY "WONDERFUL OINTMENT"

"Some years ago my three little girls had a very bad form of eczema. Itching eruptions formed on the backs of their heads which were simply covered. Before I heard of Cuticura, I used to try almost everything, but they failed. Then my mother recommended the Cuticura Remedies. I washed my children's heads with Cuticura Soap and then applied the wonderful ointment, Cuticura. I did this four or five times and I can say that they have been entirely cured. I have another baby who is so plump that the folds of skin on his neck were broken and even bled. I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and the next morning the trouble had disappeared. I am using the Cuticura Remedies yet whenever any of my family have any sores, I can never recommend Cuticura sufficiently; it is indispensable in every home. I cannot find its equal. Mme. Napoleon Duquesne, 41 Duluth St., Montreal, Que., May 21, 1907."

PAINFUL ULCER

On Foot for a Year. Healed by Two Sets of Cuticura

"I had an ulcer on my foot for a year or more and it was very painful as it was a running sore. I had a doctor, but his treatment did not heal it. About eight months ago I commenced to use Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Pills. I used two sets and it is now all healed up. Mrs. E. F. Ryder, West Brewster, Mass., April 29, 1907."

construction of the law, he projects into the political arena the most portentous question which has confronted the American people since the unparalleled usurpations of the reconstruction era. The right of the states to manage their domestic affairs without the interference of the national government is boldly challenged. The states are confronted with the question whether they are to remain states or become provinces. The citizen is confronted with the question of whether he is to remain a citizen or become a subject.

"The constitution makers of 1787 lived in mortal fear of kings. They created the office of President because they had to lodge executive power somewhere, but they hedged him about with limitations and restraints and vainly thought they built around him a fence which was 'mule high, pig tight and bull strong.' But the staid old constitution builders had never heard of 'Teddy, the Terrible.' They did not anticipate his coming into the white house, else they would have known that no such pent-up utopia would restrain his boundless strenuousness.

"The President is a mighty man. Politically speaking he has become an allmighty man. Bigger than anybody, bigger than everybody. He says to this one, 'go' and he goeth, and to that one, 'do' and he doeth it. He says to the house, pass this law and pass that law and they say 'all right Mr. Roosevelt' and they pass it. He says to the senate 'pass this law and pass that law' and they say 'All right, Mr. Roosevelt' and they pass it. He says: 'I don't want to be President a third time, but I want Taft to be President' and they say: 'All right, Mr. Roosevelt, we'll nominate Mr. Taft.' And we all know, it he shall, at any time before the convention change his mind and decide to take this nomination himself they will say: 'All right, Mr. Roosevelt, to hell with precedents and third-term traditions,' and Mr. Taft will be Dicked and Forakerized.

"Just let this thing go on as it is going on; as it has been going on—with ever accelerating momentum—during the last forty years of republican government and some fine morning we will wake up to find state boundaries obliterated, to find state sovereignty extinguished, to find congress and the courts subjugated and magna charter, the bill of rights, and all our boasted privileges and immunities of American citizenship gone, with the spectre of old King George stalking abroad in the land and his incarnated spirit seated in power in the white house."
