OUR NEXT PRESIDENT.

He will be Whom the Democracy Nominates.

The Keynote of the Coming Campaign was Sounded in the Republican National Convention Yesterday by Cohens, of Wisconsin.

Special to the ARGUS.

No truer analysis of the economic conditions of the time; no bolder diagnosis of the case from a political standpoint of responsibility; no more effective slogan for Democracy in the coming campaign could be presented to the country than the speech of Henry F. Cohens, of Wisconsin, yesterday before the Republican National convention, in Chicago, nominating Rob't. M. La Follette for the presidency.

We make the following pertinent extracts from that speech:

The paramount problem pressing for solution today has no parallel in the economic or industrial history of man. It is an issue, not of the creation of new wealth, it is an issue of the assimilation and distribution of wealth now being normally created; the shipping and consuming classes are awake and they demand relief.

"At the close of the Civil War the business of the nation was conducted essentially by private individuals. In the commercial expansion caused by the telegraph, the telephone, the railroad, and the extension of banking credits, the necessity for larger aggregate units of capital arose and the corporate idea grew. Added to this the established policy of the country in order to urge the strenuous advance of railroad building and other public service utilities, granted away without compensation to the State, not only public franchise rights of measureless value, but with them offered huge bonuses to drive them yet more rapidly forward. With characteristic impatience we sought to develop the full resources of the nation in a single generation.

"The evolution wrought by these new forces alone changed the whole face of national economics and industry. Then came the merger, the trust, the centralization of competitive forces, until today a comparatively few individuals dominate the field of transportation and franchise corporations, and in the field of industrial corporations nearly every commodity, in market and in price, is controlled by a single unit of capital. Individualism is dead. Competition has ceased to be a vital force. The orbit of a single business often now reaches to the uttermost limits of the civilized world.

"In plain English, business in this republic is in the hands of the few. A close community of interest, an alliance for offense and defense, has been established which recognizes spheres of special territory and influence. This alliance is made a real and living thing by means of bank control and the stock market. The necessity for a market for corporate securities finds its expression in the stock exchange where the ignorant and the innocent are washed back and fourth through the market by these few kings of industry, who govern the price of securities at will.

"Our failure to revise the tariff has contributed to these conditions. Seven years ago McKinley appealed to the party to revise. For seven years we have marched through the waters of the Red Sea and the waters have been withheld by the hands of the patient sufferer. In the wonderful change thus wrought we have leaped from the field of individualism and competition into the new era of corporate monopoly and government regulation. The epoch and the problem are new. The responsibility is overwhelming. Today the kings of industry and finance stand like sentinels upon every highway of the nation's commerce, industry, and wealth distribution, appropriating to themselves what they will and yielding to the ninety-nine per cent what they want. In a time of profound peace and prosperity we find ourselves in the throes of a panic, an army of the idle still march with the empty dinner pails. Whether a man or a set of men precipitated that panic, I do not know, but whether they did or did not, I declare that no sane man will rise to challenge the statement that at their whim or caprice they could precipitate a panic while we are here in the midst of our deliberations, a panic which would bring the sting of suffering to every home in this republic of eighty million free men. I know, moreover that when the panic was upon us the country looked not to the president and the Congress for relief, but raised its hands in abject appeal to Mr. Morgan and Mr. Rockefeller.

"The end is not yet. The forces which have produced this brutal perversion of industry are more actively potential today than in the past. The government must regulate, and regulate with an iron hand. In this and this alone can we make successful stand against the advent of Socialism. The shipper and consumer are justly suspicious. They are shocked. They will know the reason why. They are sensitive, quick to feel and understand, and, unless we meet our responsibilities, sure to strike.

"They will have no more of this stand-patism and stagnation. To meet that temper of the people, which, once aroused, will sweep away majorities like the mists of morning, the party must give to them here today, not only in its platform but in its candidate, a guarantee of relief, if we are to have the joy of another deliverance. o o o

"A government founded on a theory of equality of opportunity cannot survive when social and economic opportunity have been extinguished. We have here a problem of industrial history which looks beyond the selfish purpose of the hour and sees with sure perspective and clear vision the rights of generations to come and the future destiny of our common country."

THREE DEAD.

Terrible Experience of Negro Workmen at Raleigh Mills Near Raleigh.

Raleigh, June 18.—Three negroes are already dead and nine are critically or fatally ill, as the result of inhaling sulphuric acid gas at the Raleigh mills here yesterday. The dead: Frank Spikes, Lee Stephenson and Dan Jones.

Those ill are Phill Guess, Lewis Cotton, Handy Burt, Mack Williams, Galloway Tucker, Arthur Hamlet, Herbert Thomas, Arthur Upchurch, Simon Jones and Simon Clifton.

The negroes were working in shifts of two in the tower of the big plant and were taken very ill.

None of the mill authorities when seen today could account for the escape of the deadly gas.

Those ill, whether they recover or not, are suffering terrible and the list of dead may be increased before night.

All possible is being done for the unfortunate sick men.

GONE FOREVER.

Ten years ago an Allen county, Kans., farmer put his initials on a dollar bill. The next day he went to the nearest town and spent it with a merchant. Before the year was out he got the dollar back. Four times in six years the dollar came back to him for produce, and three times he heard of it in the pockets of his neighbors. The last time he got it back was four years ago. He sent it to a mail-order house. He has never seen that dollar since, and never will. That dollar bill will never pay any more school or road tax for him, will never build or brighten any of the homes of the community. He sent it entirely out of the realm of usefulness to himself and to his neighbors when he sent it to the mail-order house. The moral is plain.

My Hair Ran Away

Don't have a falling out with your hair. It might leave you! Then what? That would mean thin, scraggly, uneven, rough hair. Keep your hair at home! Fasten it tightly to your scalp! You can easily do it with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is something more than a simple hair dressing. It is a hair medicine, a hair tonic, a hair food.

TAFT AND SHERMAN.

That is the Republican Presidential Ticket.

Funny! But Few Ever heard of This Sherman Down This Way. The Name Don't Sit Well With the South.

(Special to THE ARGUS.)

Chicago, June 19.—Following adjournment after the nomination of Taft on the first ballot for President last night Chairman Lodge called the convention to order at ten o'clock this morning and briefly told the delegates to make the balance of the business as short as possible, to forget unpleasantness, shake hands, and go home and work for the success of the ticket.

An all night conference was held by the New York delegation in an effort to get together on a candidate from that State for the second place on the ticket, and it is reported this morning to have resulted in an agreement to present Mayor James S. Sherman, of Utica, for the place, particularly as it has been understood from the outset that the President wanted a strong New Yorker to carry the little end of the Taft ticket; and in the event of New York's inability to get together on Cortelyou, whom Roosevelt unquestionably favored, the White House would be pretty well suited with Sherman for Taft's running mate.

Timothy C. Woodruff, of New York, named James S. Sherman, of Utica, for Vice President, saying that New York can be carried by the republicans if a New York man gets on the ticket. New York has failed to get first place in Gov. Hughes, but the Empire State will be found in the republican column if it can have second place on the ticket; otherwise New York stands a good chance to hand her 39 electoral votes to a democrat.

Never but once when New York had a man on the national ticket has that State been lost to the republicans and that time New York was carried by a strong New York democrat, (Loud cheers from all eastern delegations.)

Uncle Joe Cannon warmed the crowd to the highest pitch of enthusiasm by saying that Sherman is as well qualified as any man on earth to take the place of the President if the President should be called away.

The coliseum crowd went wild as Cannon concluded, and it was plainly seen that the man for whom Woodruff and "Uncle Joe" had let out their lungs would be nominated, barring miracles.

Senator Lodge took the floor and nominated Gov. Curtis Guild, of Massachusetts, Chas. E. Osborn, of Michigan, seconded. Thomas N. McCarter, of New Jersey, named former Gov. Franklin Murphy.

Gov. Sheldon, of Nebraska, was also nominated.

Somebody shouted the name of vice president Fairbanks.

Chairman Lodge called for the roll, and the result was $16 for Sherman, 77 for Murphy, 75 for Guild, 10 for Sheldon, one for Fairbanks.

The Massachusetts delegation moved the nomination of Sherman be made unanimous and this was carried.

Senator Warner, of Missouri, was made chairman of the special committee to notify the vice presidential candidate as Mr. Lodge sails for Europe next week and cannot serve.

The convention at eleven forty-five adjourned sine die.

Col. Horne in the Lead.

Charlotte Observer.

The Mecklenburg primaries resulted in a great victory for Col. Ashley Horne, the total vote being 4,280 of which Col. Horne received 1,933, Kitchin, 1,203, Craig 1,143. There was a landslide to the Johnson county man during the last 24 hours of the campaign, the Kitchin-Craig debate driving many votes to him. The situation in the county is most interesting. Hundreds of citizens who are tired of "speaking governors", voted for Mr. Horne knowing that speech-making is not one of his accomplishments. Many of his supporters declare that they would have been more enthusiastic for him had he been dumb.

JUNE DAYS.

No other days are like the days of June;
They stand upon the summit of the year,
Filled up with sweet remembrance of the tune
That wooed the fresh spring fields; they have a tear
For violets dead they will engird full soon
The sweet, full breasts of summer drawing near.

Each matchless Morning marches from the East
In tints inimitable and divine;
Each perfect Noon sustains the endless feast
In which the wedded charms of life combine;
Sweet Evening waits till golden Day, released,
Shall lead her, blushing, down the world's decline.

MR. ED PORTER DEAD.

End Came at 8 O'clock This Morning. Funeral Tomorrow Afternoon.

From Friday's Daily.

After many weeks of heroic battle for recovery, but with a cheerful countenance for his fell adversary, Mr. Ed. G. Porter, in the 50th year of his age, "fell on sleep" this morning at 8 o'clock, at his home on North James street, and, indeed, the white-pinioned messenger came as an angel of relief, bringing healing in his wings—the alchemy of immortality.

Mr. Porter has been a resident of Goldsboro for fully 30 years, coming here with his brother-in-law, Mr. Milton Harding, now of Asheville, in the architect and building business, when he was barely 21, and he has resided here ever since, holding the cordial esteem of all who knew him and a wealth of abiding love from his personal friends, and these mourn today his untimely death with a sorrow that is the sincere tribute of their affection.

Marrying the sweetheart of his youth in his Virginia home, at Portsmouth, he brought her here, where she readily won the hearts of all our people, and to their happy wedlock three children were born, two sons, Messrs. Erwin and Grit, and one daughter, Miss Clara, and these with their devoted mother survive him, and in their great bereavement have the tenderest sympathy of the loyal-hearted people of Goldsboro.

Mr. Porter is also survived by a brother, Mr. Frank Porter, of Wilmington, and by another—not a brother, but who loved him as such—his business partner, Mr. W. H. Gedwin, whose devotion to him through all his illness—and through all the years of their business association—was beautiful.

Mr. Porter was a highly esteemed member of the Odd Fellows, the Knights of Pythias and the Elks, and under the auspices of these fraternal orders conjointly, the funeral will be held from the home tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock.

PROHIBITION DECLARED

Governor Glenn Today Signed an Historic Proclamation.

The "Unheard Melody" of the Spirit World Surely Made the "Welkin to Ring" With Hozannahs for the Old North State.

(Special to THE ARGUS.)

Raleigh, June 19.—This morning in the governor's office, without ceremony, in the presence of the Chairman of the State Prohibition Executive Committee and many other active prohibitionists, Governor Glenn placed his signature on the proclamation that makes North Carolina a prohibition State.

Months ago, in a public speech, Gov. Glenn declared that his highest ambition was to see North Carolina a prohibition State during his term. Under his leadership, his ambition has been gratified. By a majority of 44,196, the people have decreed that on the first of January North Carolina will close every saloon and every still and give a fair trial to prohibition.

Present at this ceremony was one R. S. Hershey, of Rochester, N. Y., who stated that he wants Gov. Glenn to take the lecture platform and go all over the United States telling the people what had been accomplished in North Carolina, with the view of making Gov. Glenn the head of the National prohibition ticket four years hence.

Mr. Hershey's announcement was received with applause by those present.

FOR EIGHT YEARS.

"For eight years," says Chief Statistician Clark of the agricultural department, "the American farmer has enjoyed unprecedented prosperity, and now the ninth huge harvest is practically assured; never have there been nine such years, years of big yields and high prices." These are the words, not of a democratic stumper, but of an officer of a federal department, and they explain the prosperity that preceded the panic of last October, although they do not explain away that particular event in the history of the republican party.

The value of the great crops of the country in the last five years are thus summed up.

Year	Total value
1907	$7,412,000,000
1906	9,755,000,000
1905	6,309,000,000
1904	6,159,000,000
1903	5,907,000,000

The value of the growing crops is put at $8,000,000,000—eight billions of dollars. The mind cannot grasp so huge a sum, and yet the chances are that the crops now in the fields will be worth the immense aggregate named. Unless some great weather changes occur soon this year will outdo even last year in farm products. In a country that produces marketable products at the rate of $8,000,000,000 a year no long spell of depression can be maintained. The crops will beat hard times down and out, and this is what will take place this fall unless all signs fail.

Pou Re-nominated.

(Special to the ARGUS.)

Raleigh, June 18.—Amid considerable enthusiasm, the Democratic Congressional convention here today indorsed and instructed for W. J. Bryan and renominated Edw. W. Pou, of Johnston county, for Congress.

W. J. Peels, of Wake, received 11 votes on the first ballot, after which the nomination of Pou was made unanimous.

R. S. McCain, of Vance, was chosen for presidential elector.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

Ambitions and Prospects of Men Strutting and Fretting Their Hour on the Stage.

(Special to the ARGUS.)

Washington, D. C., June 18. On account of the recent floods in Montana the Democratic convention in that State has been postponed to July 1, when it will assemble at Bozeman to select the delegates to the National convention at Denver.

Secretary of War Taft has accepted an invitation to attend the commencement exercises at Yale University next week, which will be the thirtieth anniversary of his graduation from that institution.

The Secretary of State of Missouri has refused to file the names of candidates for the People's party, and as a result that party probably will have no ticket in the Missouri State primary next August.

Isaac T. Mann, a millionaire coal land owner and banker, whose home is at Brainwell, W. Va., has issued an announcement that in 1911 he will oppose Senator Scott for the position of United States Senator from West Virginia.

Governor Haskell has given his friends to understand that he will not oppose the re-election of Senator Gore, of Oklahoma. The governor, it is said, entertains hopes of a cabinet position in the event that Bryan is elected President.

Eugene V. Debs, candidate of the Socialist party for President, frankly states that he does not expect to be elected, though he believes his party will poll an unusually large vote in November. He will open his campaign in Chicago on September 1, and wind it up there also after a tour of the leading cities of the country. He says the campaign plans of the Socialist party provide for 5,000 open-air speakers.

FOUND CUTICURA INDISPENSABLE

For Her Children—Little Girls Suffered with Itching Eczema Which Simply Covered Back of Heads—Baby Had a Tender Skin, Too.

ALL PROMPTLY CURED BY "WONDERFUL OINTMENT"

"Some years ago my three little girls had a very bad form of eczema. Itching eruptions formed on the backs of their heads which were simply covered. Before I heard of Cuticura, I used to try almost everything, but could never recommend Cuticura sufficiently; it is indispensable in every home. I cannot find its equal. Mme. Napoleon Duceppe, 41 Duluth St., Montreal, Que., May 21, 1907."

washed my children's heads with Cuticura Soap and then applied the wonderful ointment, Cuticura. I did this four or five times and I can say that they have been entirely cured. I have another baby who is so plump that the folds of skin on his neck were broken and even bled. I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and the next morning the trouble had disappeared. I am using the Cuticura Remedies yet whenever any of my family have any sores, I can never recommend Cuticura sufficiently; it is indispensable in every home. I cannot find its equal. Mme. Napoleon Duceppe, 41 Duluth St., Montreal, Que., May 21, 1907."

PAINFUL ULCER

On Foot for a Year. Healed by Two Sets of Cuticura

"I had an ulcer on my foot for a year or more and it was very painful as it was a running sore. I had a doctor, but his treatment did not heal it. About eight months ago I commenced to use Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Pills. I used two sets and it is now all healed up. Mrs. E. F. Ryder, West Brewster, Mass., April 29, 1907."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children, and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.), to Cleanse the Skin; Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Itching and Cuticura Pills (50c.) for the Blood.
