AUCKLAND AWAITS THE FLEET

It Is an Unbroken Stretch of
3,850 Miles From Honolulu.

The 175,000 Inhabitants of the Provincial District are on the Tiptoe of Expectation.

(Special to THE ARGUS.)

Auckland, N. Z., Aug. 7.—The 175,000 inhabitants of the provincial district of Auckland are on the tiptoe of expectation in anticipation of the arrival of the fleet of American battleships. Auckland is the first port in the New Dominion at which the fleet will touch, after an unbroken stretch of 3,850 miles from Honolulu. The reception of the battleships will provide a notable spectacle, and one to which the people of New Zealand have been looking forward with keen interest for weeks past.

The fleet is due to reach port Sunday, but the official landing will not be made until the following day according to the programme as arranged. The landing will be an imposing affair, the visitors marching in procession to the Government House, under triumphal arches and past beautifully decorated buildings. The New Zealand Volunteers will act as escort, and the Federal officials, the mayors and municipal authorities of the chief cities of New Zealand will form the reception party, which will be headed by the governor-general, Lord Plunket.

A municipal welcome will be given Tuesday and will include a reception by the mayor of Auckland. In the evening there will be a state ball at Government House, the men being entertained in various halls.

The entertainment committee has prepared a large number of excursions to places of interest, and Wednesday will be devoted chiefly to this part of the programme. Perhaps the most interesting of these trips will be that to Rotorua Lake, where there will be tournaments by the Maoris.

The bluejackets will be entertained at a municipal luncheon Thursday. In their honor there will be special matinees at the theatres and athletic sports and other forms of outdoor entertainment. All the places of entertainment will be thrown open free to the visitors.

Friday, the concluding day of the visit, will be given over to races and football and lacrosse matches, and a special entertainment for the surgeons of the fleet by the British Medical Association of New Zealand.

There will be scores of dinners, athletic events and theatre parties, at which the sailors will be guests of honor. During the entire period of their stay the use of the street cars will be free to the men wearing the American naval uniform.

Despite the opposition of the socialists and radicals the New Zealand Government adheres to its original determination to spend the sum of $25,000 for the entertainment of the fleet. The government will bear the entire expense of the trip to Retarus and a considerable part of the cost of the decoration of the city. Costly souvenirs have been prepared for presentation to admirals Sjerry and the commanders of the battleships, together with a special gift to be conveyed to President Roosevelt. Handsome souvenir books, giving views of the principal places of interest throughout New Zealand have been printed at government expense and copies will be presented to every officer and man of the fleet. The cost of the souvenirs, which are of unusually handsome design and workmanship, it is stated to be in excess of $5,000.

WENT UP THE WRONG WAY

Four Persons Injured by the Explosion of Count Zeppelin's Airship. It Had Just Completed the Most Remarkable Trip in the History of Aerial Navigation.

Stuttgart, Aug. 5.—Count Zeppelin's airship, which descended on a plateau near the village of Echterdingen, five miles south of this city, shortly before 8 o'clock this morning, owing to a defect in one of the motors, broke away from its moorings during a storm at 3 o'clock this afternoon, bursting into flames and exploding. Four persons were injured by the flying debris. Count Zeppelin escaped unharmed. The airship was completely wrecked.

The storm came upon unexpectedly. A fierce gust of wind tore the balloon from its anchorage and drove it in a southwesterly direction for some fifty yards. Here the rear end of the great fabric dropped and smoke and flames were seen to burst out from one end to the other.

Then in a few seconds came the explosion and a great column of flame shot upward into the air. This was followed by the crashing down to the earth of the motors and flames that had been attached to the under side of the airship. Several bystanders were knocked down. It was necessary to land the airship at Echterdingen, due to the overheating of the piston box of the forward motor and the escape of considerable gas, owing to the fact that the Count took the airship to a height of about 6,900 feet.

The Zeppelin airship had just completed the most remarkable voyage in the history of aerial navigation. It left the Lake of Constance yesterday morning for a trip to Magence and returned. The flight was successful in a great many ways. The machine responded absolutely to the control of the pilots and was navigated over the Lake of Constance, down the valley of the Rhine, over Strassburg and several other cities, and was expected at Friedrichshafen, its starting point today.

Count Zeppelin has devoted his life time and personal fortunes to the development of his airships. The vessel that was lost today was the fourth he has constructed. When his own money had become exhausted the German Reichstag voted him $125,000 to conduct further experiments and number 4 was the result. The German government agreed to purchase this ship on condition that it fulfilled certain requirements, the principal one being that it remain in the air 24 hours and land on terra firma. This stipulation has not yet been fulfilled.

The airship was 443 feet long, with a diameter of about 45 feet. It tapered to a blunt point at the bow, while at the stern were various rudders and frames used in steering. It was fitted underneath with two independent compartments, each carrying a motor capable of developing 140 horse-power. As many as 16 passengers had been taken aloft at one time. Sleeping accommodations were provided for the crew and an apparatus was installed for the dispatching and receipt of wireless messages. The inflating gas was distributed among 16 separate inter-compartments, which were contained within the outer rigid envelope of aluminum.

The accident to the Zeppelin airship recalls the end of the French military airship Patrie in December, 1907, which was then considered the finest dirigible balloon in existence. The Patrie was undergoing repairs to her machinery at Verdun. A sudden gust of wind struck the airship and the 200 men who were holding the guide ropes were dropped along for several hundred yards before they let go. The balloon then shot up to a great height and disappeared, and never was heard from.

WAS DISFIGURED AND TORMENTED

By Dry, Scaly Eczema on Most of His Body—At Times Flesh Seemed on Fire—Rim of Crusts Around Scalp—Suffered 3 Years

CURED IN TWO MONTHS BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I first became affected with a dry, scaly humor which was pronounced by three leading physicians. It commenced on my legs and arms, and finally covered the greater part of my body. I suffered for about three years. My scalp around the edges of my hair was a complete ring of scales and crusts. The disease was more disfiguring than can be imagined, and heat and perspiration caused my flesh to be as if on fire and I could not keep my hands away from it at times. I was given salves and medicine repeatedly by each physician, and advised to wash frequently in soda and water, but nothing cured me. Then I read of the wonderful Cuticura Remedies and decided I would try them, and I am glad to state openly that by constant use as directed for two months I am entirely cured. I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap, three boxes of Cuticura Ointment, and the same number of bottles of Cuticura Pills. I will gladly tell about Cuticura to those whom I see in need of a skin cure. Maurice I. Greesey, R. F. D. 54, Windsorville, Me., May 2 and July 12, 1907."
