Einstein has been at the north for several weeks doing the purchasing for this old and reliable firm, and Mr. Simon Einstein assures us that they have the best selected stocks they have ever offered.

The Wilmington Star has closed its thirty-seventh semi-annual volume and entered its 19th year. We congratulate Bro. Bernard on the general excellence of the Star. The success of the paper, extraordinary as it is, can be highly gratifying to him. The Star is in the full sense of the term a newspaper and North Carolina can feel proud of it.

Our esteemed friend Neill S. Stewart, Esq., of Averasboro, writes us: The Wilson & Fayetteville "Short Cut" Railroad, passes in about 2 1/2 miles of this place. The work is being pushed forward, the grading nearly completed and the crosses thereabout all delivered upon the line. Hope this section of country will be much developed by it.

A petition has been forwarded to Col. W. J. Green asking the consolidation of two mail routes leading from LaGrange and Dudley and supplying Seven Springs and Swope Creek, into one tri-weekly line to start from Goldsboro. They also petition for two new offices to be established on this proposed new route—one at Bizzells Mill and the other at Spring Branch.

The finance committee of the school board has concluded its arduous labors and the report is in hands of the chairman of the board to be submitted and acted on at its April meeting, after which it will be published in full. The committee recommends that the financial matters of the county should be kept in a systematic business like manner and we say "Amen" to this.

Newbern Journal: The trial of Wm. Petteway for the murder of his wife at Beaufort last week, was the most interesting trial in that county for many years. The status of the case was somewhat changed when the defendant acknowledged the killing and put his case upon the ground of self-defense. At 11 p. m. on Thursday the jury took the case and at 1 p. m. on Friday returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter.

Since calling attention to the advantages offered in this section to northern settlers of enterprise and possessed of some capital, we have already received several letters of enquiry from parties anxious to come to North Carolina. One gentleman desires a small farm near Goldsboro and purposes if surroundings are satisfactory to start a stock and dairy farm. We are quite sure he would be welcome and do well here.

We learn that Prof. Mehan's dancing school will give a soiree tomorrow (Friday) evening, at the Armory. Music will be furnished by the Italian Band.

The pink and white party, to be given by the Methodist ladies, will be a very attractive and enjoyable affair, and is already numbered among the pleasant anticipations of the near future by many of our citizens.

We learn that there is much talk at Norfolk about the alleged purchase of the Norfolk Southern Railroad by the Wilmington and Weldon road. It is said in Norfolk that Goldsboro is certainly having another connection with Norfolk.

PREPARATIONS are now being made for the Spring Races to be held in May, on the grounds of the Eastern Carolina Fair and Stock Association. It is probable that an old-fashioned tournament, or some other attraction, will be given in connection with the races.

LET the voters of Goldsboro bear in mind that there will be an entirely new registration for the approaching municipal election. The registration books will be opened on Monday next and will remain open until the 1st day of May. Don't delay attention to this matter until it is too late.

JACK LANGSTON, about eighteen years old, became entangled in the belt at Dewey Bros' machine works, yesterday afternoon, and received a severe shock. The extent of his injuries is not yet known, but it is hoped that they are not of a very serious nature. His escape from death, however, was a narrow one. The young man is a son of Mr. Jack Langston, of this city, engineer on the W. & W. Road.

MR. JEFF. D. FARRIOR, of this city, was married Wednesday morning, March 22nd, to Miss Annie Applewhite, the ceremony taking place at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Jonathan Applewhite, near Stantonburg, in Wilson county. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Farrior will board at the house of Mrs. N. E. Grainger.

These young voyagers upon the matrimonial sea have the sincere wishes of a wide circle of friends for a long and happy life and for a safe entrance at last into the haven of everlasting peace.

The jovial Capt. E. L. Peck, of the 27th Massachusetts, was the cause of much merriment in his response to a toast at the elegant supper given at the New Arlington, last Friday evening. He said that these people were as hospitable twenty years ago as they are to-day. He was a stranger and they took him in; brought him to this city from Kingston on a special train and entertained him in one of the public buildings, the court house he believed. The viands that they furnished him were not as luxurious as those by which he was then surrounded but they were nutritious and that was just what he needed. The captain was jocosely referring to the time when he was here as a prisoner.

ABOUT 12:30 o'clock last Monday night, many of our citizens were aroused by the startling peals of the fire alarm. It was found that the premises of Mr. J. H. Prince, in the North-west part of the city, were in flames, the fire originating, it is thought, from an incubator in one of the out-houses. Destroying everything upon this lot, including a fine cow belonging to Mr. Prince, the fire spread to and consumed an adjacent tenement house, the property of Mr. Gaston W. Britt. Here, by the efforts of the firemen, further destruction was averted. Both the fire companies responded promptly to the alarm, but the steamer could do but little or nothing on account of nearest cistern being beyond reach of the hose. So that the main dependence was the chemical engine, which did good work in preventing the spread of the fire. Mr. Prince has $350 insurance.

"ROUGH on tramps" is the Goldsboro remedy for ridding the community of annoyance by the importunities of professional pedestrians who invariably circulate around the ragged edges of beggary. The remedy, if persevered in, is likely to prove almost, if not quite a panacea, mainly because the medicine called "work" to which this species of pests have a great aversion, is the principal ingredient thereof. The formula, upon which there is no patent, is as follows: Take one or more tramps, mix thoroughly with a liberal quantity of the vagrancy act, then stir the whole in the county work house once a day for thirty days. During the treatment the patient should be allowed plentiful exercise with spade and shovel, in the open air. If careful attention to the details of this remedy fail to produce a cure, "bring back the empty bottle and the outside wrapper and get your money back." The above cure is now being administered to six patients who were taken in charge Monday night by officer Barna Herring.

INSANE CRIMINALS.

Suggestions by Dr. Grissom as to their Proper Disposition.

Dr. Grissom, in his late annual report of the Insane Asylum at Raleigh, makes some very sensible and timely suggestions about the disposition that ought to be made of the criminal insane. He says that the repeated decisions of the Courts sending persons accused of grave crimes to this institution, upon a verdict of insanity, are gradually filling our wards with cases that are unfit to be associated with the virtuous insane, and at the same time the room is occupied to the exclusion of meritorious citizens, who are in no way connected with the calendar of crime and who, if not thus deprived of treatment, might steadily return to the useful and valuable courses of life which now know them no more.

There are not a few men in the Asylum who have thrown around them the cloak of insanity and saved themselves from the Penitentiary, or it may be the gallows. It seems hard that this class of criminals should associate with the insane that come from the best homes in our State. But if such is the case, Dr. Grissom is right in asking that a separation be made, and the advantage and justice of the request is too plain not to be seen by sensible people.

ANOTHER BATTLEFIELD MEMENTO.

Returned by a Federal Massachusetts Soldier.

Following the interesting ceremonies attending the flag presentation, Tuesday's mail brings us the following letter:

MEDFORD, MASS., March 22, '86.

J. A. Bonitz, Esq., Editor Goldsboro Messenger.

DEAR SIR:—In reading an account of the recent return of the flag of the "Goldsboro Rifles" Co. A. 27th North (late of Newbern, March 14, 1862, by the 27th Massachusetts Regiment, I am reminded of a memento that I picked up inside of the Confederate breast works at the time of the battle. It consists of a chase containing an "ambrotyp" of an officer (1st Lieut.) in full uniform with drawn sabre.

I forward this to you thinking that it may possibly be recognized by some of the survivors of the Goldsboro Rifles that were in the fight and by that means returned to the original owner if living, or to his friends if dead.

With many kind wishes for any and all who remain of that little band who met and greeted us so warmly on that memorable foggy morning twenty four years ago, I am,

Very Respectfully,

WINSLOW JOYCE.

(The picture is in our possession and we shall be glad to find the right owner for it. Some of our citizens thought that they recognized it as that of Lieut. Rich. W. Evans, but his sister, Mrs. W. W. Slocumb, says it is not. At any rate we thank Mr. Joyce for taking such excellent care of it and especially for his kind expressions.—ED. MESSENGER.)

We are pleased to chronicle the improved condition of our worthy mayor, Mr. D. A. Sugg.

We would advise the boys not to ask the girls to go with them to church on Wednesday nights in the words of a certain young lady, "Papa says I must study." Charley Levy will explain the situation to any one. So he says.

The Republicans are organizing their forces, from what we see and hear. We expect a hard fight. The battle was easily won in 1884, but we hope the Democrats will not think the victory too easy to win this year.
