Mr. Parnell's novel is entitled "Lady Drusilla."

If banished from Paris Prince Jerome Bonaparte, it is said, will come to the United States.

Henry Ward Beecher, instead of dying as reported, has planned to deliver forty lectures during his European tour.

Parnell employs two corps of private Secretaries—one to work by day, the other by night. Generally both are busy.

Ex-President Jewett, of the Chicago and Pacific Company has disposed of his Ohio property and will spend the remainder of his days near his boyhood's home in Maryland.

Marcel Deprez, the French engineer, has about perfected his machinery for transmitting electricity over long distances. The Rothschilds, of Paris, have given him over $500,000.

The relief season is fairly opened. A Buffalo enthusiast is said to still have in her possession a piece of the prize pie baked by Miss Folsom and exhibited by a cooking school several years ago.

The entire class of Naval cadets of 1884, numbering thirty-nine, have been successful at its final examination in the Naval Academy. Nearly thirty will be retained in the Navy; the rest will be honorably discharged with one year's pay.

A lengthy argument was made Friday by Judge Fullerton, of New York, before the House Committee on War Claims in favor of the payment of Confederate bonds. He represented the Confederate bondholders, and presented statistics in relation to the subject argued.

William Black, the yachting novelist, has taken a hint from "Rudder Grange" and has fitted up a canal boat for a summer residence, in which he intends to make a tour of England with his family. The adventures of this craft will be more strange even than those of the phetion.

At Reading, Pa., Friday evening, Frank and Charles Zable, brothers, aged 19 and 21 respectively, had a quarrel at their home, when Frank fired three shots into his brother's stomach and lungs, and then shot himself in the head. Both are unconscious and not expected to live.

Professor Albert S. Bolles, of the chair of commercial law and practice at the University of Pennsylvania, has just sailed for Europe, commissioned by Colonel Wright, of the United States Bureau of Statistics, to collect material for a report on the employment of convict labor in England and Belgium.

Isaac Horovaleh left Potlava, Russia, in 1861, with a valuable violin belonging to Solomon Finkenstein. A few days ago Mayor Harrison, of Chicago, received a communication from Finkenstein, saying Horovaleh was in Chicago. The detectives found him, and he surrendered the violin, which he said he had only borrowed.

The monument to be erected over the burial place of the late Lieutenant Commander Goringe, U. S. N., in the Rockland Cemetery, Rockland county, New York, will be a reduced copy of the Egyptian obelisk in Central Park, which was removed to this country through his engineering skill. It will be thirty-two feet high, of Vermont granite.

Harriet Weed, daughter of the late Thurlow Weed, lives in a handsome residence in Twelfth street, New York, just west of Fifth avenue. Her face is full and fresh and her silvery hair is parted smoothly above a brow that bespeaks a superior intellect and judgment. Her manner is of the gracious charm and simple, unaffected dignity of the real lady.

General Master Workman Powderly on Friday visited the amalgamated iron and steel convention in Pittsburg by invitation and made an address. In the course of his remarks he advised the amalgamated association to join the Knights of Labor, and said: "The day is coming when all branches of labor will come into closer relations with one another."

In the impeachment trial of Alderman Rudzinski at Milwaukee, Wis., for participation in the labor riots, Joseph Michalski testified that Rudzinski urged the strikers to proceed to Bay View, where the shooting subsequently took place, and told them that if they were arrested they would know what to do. Witness said the mob would not have gone to Bay View but for Rudzinski's advice.

George W. Vaughan, of Buffalo, has a big Confederate flag that floated over the Richmond Dispatch office until Richmond fell. Some time ago he wrote to the Dispatch office, telling them that he had their old flag, and offering to exchange it for a Union flag. The answer came promptly and politely that they had had all they wanted of the Rebel flag, and that Mr. Vaughan was quite welcome to it.—Y. Sun.

William Emmett, a well-known theatrical manager, and for a long time lessee of the Academy of Music in Chicago, died Friday. Emmett's real name was William Busted, and he was a nephew of Chief Justice Busted of New York. He was originally a minstrel, and as a singer in burnt cork became widely known. He made a trip to England, and sang before the Queen. Later he became a theatre manager. Emmett, at one time was in very comfortable circumstances.

A telegram from Washington says the Secretary of the Navy says that the vessels of the North Atlantic squadron have been under orders for several days to prepare for sea. They will go easterly, as usual, and report for further orders at Portland, Me. They will visit the fisheries under instructions from the department, and it is hoped will help to allay rather than increase the existing antagonisms. The Secretary conferred with Admiral Joutet upon the subject when in New York recently.

The Van Wert, Ohio National Bank on Thursday received by United States express from the Union National Bank of Cincinnati a package purporting to contain $10,000, but which, when opened, was found to be filled with cotton, pasteboard and railroad advertising bills. The package should have reached Van Wert on Wednesday. The money clerk who received it in Cincinnati says it was sealed with green wax. The way-bill for the run of Tuesday night had the package marked "short." When received the package was sealed with red wax.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

Position of the Catholic Church stated by Cardinal Gibbons.

Baltimore American.

Cardinal Gibbons has made a statement regarding the position of the Catholic Church to the Knights of Labor and the standard taken by Archbishop Tschereau, of Canada. The Cardinal said: "Archbishop Tschereau's condemnation of the Knights of Labor should not be taken as the sentiment of the Church toward the organization. I am not familiar with the labor organization in Quebec, but it is certain that the Archbishop's hostility grew out of some local laws or conduct of the Knights which are contrary to the doctrine of the Church. As to the Knights of Labor organization in the United States, I have not thoroughly examined their constitution or studied their purposes; yet, from reading the newspapers and Mr. Powderly's public statements, I infer that the objects of the Knights are praiseworthy and in no way opposed to the views of the Church. The Catholic prelates will, to a man, declare in favor of the organization of labor. There can be no wrong in such a course as that. Organization is the basis of all progress—political, social and religious. Only when it is abused does the Church raise her voice and call out her children."

"Vicar General Conway, of Chicago, who examined the constitution of the Knights of Labor carefully, assures me that it bears no resemblance to that of the Freemasons, Odd Fellows and other organizations which the Church had always antagonized. A distinction must be made, too, as to the nature of the secret pledges. As the Church has been greatly misrepresented on this point, I would like you to state clearly its position. We hold that if a man joins a society, swearing never to reveal any of its workings, no matter how criminal, and to obey the dictates of its officers blindly, he surrenders his personal liberty, becomes a slave to his fellow men, and cannot partake of the sacraments of the Church. Such an oath is taken by the prevalent secret societies, hence their condemnation by the clergy. On the other hand, if a man joins an organization, swearing to keep secret its workings, with the proviso that nothing therein shall be contrary to the laws of the land, to his conscience and religious tenets, we hold that his action is perfectly justifiable."

DR. MILBURN ON THE DEVIL.

Dr. Milburn, the blind chaplain of the House of Representatives, is quite successful in shocking Washington society. A few nights ago his description of the loves of Goethe caused cold chills to run down the décolleté backs of the married belles and maidens. This was bad enough, but the doctor was not satisfied. He got his battery in readiness for another shock, and last Sunday he devoted a portion of his sermon to a description of the devil.

According to Dr. Milburn it is barbarous nonsense to represent the devil as a personage with hoofs, horns, tail and pitchfork. That was the medieval devil. The devil of to-day is a polished gentleman in appearance. He has been in London, Paris, New York, Washington and San Francisco. He knows the world, and knows human nature. He moves in the best society and is much admired. He dresses in faultless taste. So much for his general description. But the doctor goes into particulars. He says:

"His cold gray eye looks steadily at you and fascinates you perhaps. He has thin, delicate lips and fine nostrils that are easily curved in scorn. One great feature of the modern devil is that he never becomes enthusiastic over anything. You may show him the most beautiful sunset or natural view, the most rare and valuable painting or piece of statuary, and with his cold gray eye he will look steadily at it and make some disparaging remark. You cannot point out a man or woman that he will not disagree with. He is a cynic, a Mephistopheles. He enters your drawing-rooms and your churches. He causes trouble and dissension everywhere. He disparages the brethren."

Now this is pretty hard on men with cold gray eyes, thin delicate lips and fine nostrils. It is rough, too, on the critics and men who know human nature. We are not surprised to learn that some very estimable society people seriously object to Dr. Milburn's portraiture of the devil. Perhaps such fancy sketches are in doubtful taste. Fortunately people who desire fuller information on the subject are not compelled to go to Dr. Milburn nor to the devil.

MAN AND WIFE MURDERED.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 5.—At Tarboro, near Lexington last night, a farmer named A. J. McBride and his wife were murdered, the house robbed of two hundred dollars and then burned with their bodies. Two negroes, Alfred Long and Walter Womack, have been arrested on suspicion.

"Now, General, you're posted; come! give us in a brush at the front, what's the powder to use?" He winked at a star as he puffed his cigar. And slowly replied, "In a brush at the front I never use powder, but—SOZODONT."

Go Where You Will

you'll find SOZODONT in vogue. People have thrown away their tooth-powders and washes, and placed this odoriferous preservative of the teeth on the toilet table in their place. It keeps the teeth in splendid order, and spices the breath.

"SPALDING'S GLUE," always up to the sticking point.

A BEAUTIFUL ENGRAVING REPRESENTING 20 TWENTY 20 PORTRAITS 20 OF THE MOST FAMOUS

Confederate Commanders.

Magnificently Executed and Tastefully Wrought in 6 Colors.

The portraits of the commanders are clear and striking, accurate and life-like. They were produced by eminent artists from photographs furnished by the surviving heroes, and by the relatives and friends of those deceased. The engraving is superb in the display of art, clear and vivid in outline, and the grouping of the portraits at once convince the mind that the artist possessed an originality of conception never before equalled.

The Historic Gray Uniform, the Gold Buttons, Stars and Braid on Collar, (denoting rank), stand out in bold relief from the beautiful background, each portrait is made in imitation of a large Imperial Cabinet Photograph (4 x 6 inches,) distinct in every respect from the portraits surrounding it, yet so superior in conception, execution and harmony of colors that it defies criticism.

The Commanders represented on the engraving are:

- Robert E. Lee, T. J. (Stonewall) Jackson, G. T. Beauregard, Fitzhugh Lee, Joseph E. Johnston, A. S. Johnston, Stirling Price, J. A. Early, J. B. Hood, R. S. Ewell, James Longstreet, Wade Hampton, W. J. Hardie, A. P. Hill, J. E. B. Stuart, Braxton Bragg, E. Kirby Smith, J. C. Breckinridge, Leonidas Polk and Admiral Raphael Semmes.

Only a few of these great heroes are now living, and all of them were great, as Commanders of the Armies of the Confederacy, and they thus became endeared to the hearts of the people of the South. Every Confederate Veteran served under one or more of these Gallant Leaders, and they and every true Southern Patriot should possess one of these elegant souvenirs. The engraving is appropriate for the parlor, library, hall or office, and will compare favorably with the finest paintings.

The Portraits are Printed on one sheet of Heavy Plate Paper, beautifully tinted (ready for framing), size, 22 x 29 inches, and will be sent to any address on receipt of Price, $2.00.

READ THE FOLLOWING TESTIMONIALS.

- The portraits represented on your engraving, are regarded as the best, of the Confederate Generals, which have been issued. Very respectfully, WADE HAMPTON. The likenesses are good.—G. T. BEAUREGARD. The portraits of the Confederate Leaders represented on your engraving are good.—JAMES LONGSTREET. The likenesses are excellent.—FITZHUGH LEE.
