EX-PRESIDENT ARTHUR'S condition gloomy. His cheerfulness is said to be forced.

GERONIMO, the wild Apache murderer, is caught at last. He ought not to be turned loose to resume his devilry.

The scientists state that there will be revisitations of earthquake shocks every day for some time, possibly for weeks yet.

IT APPEARS as if Bismarck and the Austrians were trying to isolate England. She appears not to be willing to be isolated.

The great want in Charleston has been shelter. But Gen. Foraker's five hundred tents will go a long way to supply the want.

The country has generally responded to stricken Charleston's piteous appeal. But the time for real aid is later when building is begun.

INDIANA is now believed to be perfectly safe for the Democrats, and ex-Senator McDonald is believed to have a sure thing of the Senatorship.

LAST MONDAY was a great day for the labor organizations in New York, Boston, Chicago, Baltimore and other cities. They turned out in great numbers.

A SPECIAL dispatch from Cornwallis, Oregon, says: "Prof. E. P. Hammond foretells terrific cyclones, earthquakes and tornadoes for September 26, 27 and 28. Cyclonic disturbances may be expected September 14 and 15."

THE course of the Tory government is evidently more pacific. Policy would dictate that it should be. Sir Redvers Buller reports that he has found county Kerry and the western portion of county Cork, Ireland, in a much less serious state of lawlessness than he expected to find them. He adds that satisfactory progress is being made in the work of arresting the spread of demoralization.

THE course of the Knights of Labor of Charleston, in raising the rates of wages of local mechanics and laborers an average of twenty per centum, just at the present moment, is impolitic, to say the least. It would be hard enough for the city to recover its footing under ordinary conditions, but to require a community already so badly injured in purse to pay more than ever for the commonest necessities, does not encourage the hope of a speedy restoration.

URGED by Bismarck, not restrained by Austria or England, Prince Alexander abdicated the petty throne of Bulgaria. The people wished him to stay. The English papers take curious comfort. The London Standard says: "It is not for England to seek to uphold any arrangement in Bulgaria opposed to three military empires, all of whom are practically contiguous to the field of controversy. Anything that increases Russia's interest and absorbs her attention in Europe diverts it in some measure from Asia. Thus we shall acquire more time to make our own arrangements to render Russian machinations in Asia more harmless." The Daily News, while of opinion that Bulgaria will practically become a Russian dependency, remarks: "The event of course is a great triumph for Russia. At one stroke it restores the prestige of the czar in the Balkan peninsula, and is a warning that the nascent nations of the east must look to St. Petersburg if they would be safe."

THE CAMPAIGN BOOK.

The Messenger has printed long extracts and a condensation of many points from the Democratic Campaign Book. The book is now offered to the public at the reasonable price of $1 a copy, or $5 for eight copies. It contains 300 pages of highly interesting reading, and should be in the hands of all Democrats.

The book gives a list of "English landlords who own 20,747,000 acres of America's free soil," devotes a chapter to "absenteeism," and claims that Mr. Cleveland's civil service reform policy has been advocated by the Democratic party since the days of Jefferson. It devotes nineteen closely printed pages to the civil service reform subject. The coast survey "maladministration" furnishes material for a long chapter. The former administration of the pension office is severely scored. A chapter is devoted to the Democratic international policy, claiming that the Democratic party is to "inaugurate a new international era in the second century of the republic, and open up new foreign markets." Administrative reform, tariff and public matters occupy a greater part of the book with a variety of details. A chapter is devoted to President Cleveland's fight with the Senate. Another treats of "railroad attorneys in the Senate." A paragraph is devoted to the fishery question, and another to the case of Cutting, who was "liberated by moral force."

The committee sells the book this year because it wishes to secure funds without violating the law as to "voluntary contributions," and finds that this is the most straightforward way to obtain the sinews of war and at the same time scatter information. A book that people pay for they read and take an interest in.

THE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

The general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, which will meet in Chicago, the first Wednesday in October, is just now the subject of much interest among the clergy and laity of that denomination, and the church papers are handling vigorously the questions that are likely to come before the body. The convention meets every three years. Its last meeting was held in Philadelphia. It is composed of all the Bishops of the United States and eight delegates from each diocese. Bishop Lee, of Delaware, presides over the house of bishops, which sits with closed doors, and the delegates of the lower house elect their own presiding officer. The diocesan delegates are half clergymen and half laymen. The diocese of Virginia will be represented in the house of bishops by Bishop Whittle and Randolph. The two most important matters to come up before the convention are the revision of the prayer book and the creation of a clerical code of appeals. Both of them will excite a great deal of discussion. The revision of the prayer book is in the hands of a committee, and while it was not allowed them to infringe upon the doctrine in any change they might make, they have added a number of prayers for special cases, shortened the service in some places, and have altogether made quite an extensive change. This was done at the suggestion of many of the adherents of the church who contended that the liturgy was not full of elastic enough for all purposes, and who wanted to make the book conform to the special needs and exigencies of the times. On the other hand there is a very large class, which might be termed the conservative party, who revere the old book as it is, and contend that there is no need of change. They claim the general petitions are ample enough to cover all special cases without the introduction of new prayers.

RUSSIA'S GAME.

Evidently the Moscowite is as usual playing a deep game in the Eastern question. He has managed to impress the German and Austrian cabinets with the policy of serving his ends, at least for the present. England will probably refuse to be isolated from European councils. If, as was believed two or three days since, the Bulgarians re-elect Alexander their sovereign, all England has to do is to back him vigorously, with the aid of Turkey. Certainly Bismarck will not join Austria, and these powers, the latter a rival of Russia in the Danubian provinces, will not join Russia in a war against England, Bulgaria and Turkey which they all concurred in setting up.

Look at the matter any way we please, we do not see how Bismarck can very long sustain his attitude of hostility to everybody else.

THE Democratic nominating convention of the seventh Indiana district was held in May and resulted in a split and the nomination of two candidates, Bynum and Bailey. The new convention was ordered, which met Saturday, and after a tumultuous session Bynum was nominated by a decisive majority.

EDMUNDS has made himself solid for re-election, but Davies is hard pushed by ex-Gov. Long. Tom Reed's calling and election are by no means sure in Maine, for it all depends on the Knights of Labor, who ought to know what a lever of monopolies the Republican leader in the House has been all along.

THE ROOM IS GENERAL.

Advices from our commercial centers, north, south, east and west, show that business is booming everywhere. The Atlanta convention calls attention to the fact that the tonnage of Atlanta's outgoing freight had increased during the past three months from twenty to one hundred per cent. on the various railway lines leading out of the city, compared with the corresponding period of the last year.

This local exhibit, the Constitution says, was peculiarly gratifying, but our confidence in the future is heightened when we survey the general situation. One by one the prophets of evil in our business communities have been silenced. Every obstacle to the prosperity of the country has disappeared. There has been no war to disturb our commerce and no failure of crops. The labor troubles have quieted down. New industries have been established and all lines of traffic have felt a steady impetus. About a year ago we were told that we were threatened with financial disaster because the New York associated bankers carried a surplus reserve of over $60,000,000. The healthy commercial needs of the times have caused this vast surplus to be judiciously fed to various business ventures and enterprises until it has been reduced to only $6,000,000. The anti-silver alarmists have been completely answered by the tremendous influx of gold from Europe. The increase in the business of the railroads is in itself sufficient proof of a general boom. Sixteen roads gained in the last week of August, nearly $600,000, and only one in sixteen shows a decrease.

To sum up: Business is active in all directions, and all the railroads are pressed to handle the traffic. The outlook for investments is better than it has been in years. Last week was the biggest in railroad circles this year, and the prospect is still better. There is nothing local, nothing spasmodic, nothing speculative about this boom. It is felt alike by the cotton-picker in the black belt and the millionaire in Wall street. In other words, we are entered upon an era of good times, one of the brightest and best in the history of the country's progress.

THE SUPREME COURT.

The Acceptances of the Nominations.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 26, 1886. To the Hon. W. N. H. Smith, Raleigh, N. C.: As a committee appointed for that purpose, we have the honor to inform you that at the convention of the Democratic party of North Carolina, held at Raleigh on the 25th inst., you were unanimously re-nominated for the office of chief justice of the supreme court of North Carolina, and we were appointed to notify you of the same. We congratulate the people of the State upon this result, and trust you will accept the nomination. With assurances of high regard, etc. J. J. DAVIS, T. C. FULLER, CLEMENT MANLY.

Similar letters were addressed to the nominees for associate justices.

THE REPLIES.

RALEIGH, August 27, 1886. Messrs. J. J. Davis, T. C. Fuller, Clement Manly, Committee:

GENTLEMEN:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your official communication of the action of the recent Democratic State convention, in which you say that I was "unanimously re-nominated for the office of chief justice of the supreme court," the place I have occupied for several years past.

In accepting this renewed proof of popular confidence after long public service in matters so deeply affecting the well-being of the people—a reward next after an approving conscience most to be desired, and assenting to accept the trust, if the nomination shall be ratified by the vote of the people, I can offer no higher assurance of future fidelity to its requirements than is found in the record of the past. For your kind words in the communication, accept my thanks.

Yours truly, W. N. H. SMITH.

WADESBORO, Aug. 27, 1886. DEAR SIRS:—Your letter of the 26th instant, informing me of the action of the convention held in Raleigh on the 25th of August, putting me in nomination for the office of associate justice of the supreme court, has been received.

With heartfelt gratitude to that body I accept the nomination, and do so with the greater pleasure because it is enhanced by the consideration that it gives me the assurance that my official conduct and labors have met the approval of my fellow-citizens. And I trust that I shall never be found to be unworthy of this renewed mark of their confidence.

Through you, as the committee of the convention, I tender my grateful acknowledgments to that body and at the same time I beg that you will accept my sincere thanks for the personal interest each of you has taken in my behalf. I have the honor to be most sincerely your obedient servant, THOS. S. ASHE.

To Messrs. Davis, Fuller and Manly, Committee.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 30, 1886.

GENTLEMEN:—I have received and thank you for your polite letter of the 26th inst., informing me that the State Democratic convention had nominated me on the 25th inst. for the office of associate justice of the supreme court. I thank the just convention for this high manifestation of their respect and confidence, and accept the nomination tendered to me in their through you. If elected, I shall endeavor to discharge the duties of the office of judge faithfully.

With great respect for you, officially and personally, I am, etc. Yours truly, A. S. MERRIMON.

Messrs. J. J. Davis, Thos. C. Fuller, Clement Manly, committee, Raleigh, N. C.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

THE NEW CERTIFICATES TO BE OUT IN OCTOBER.

A Long List of Presidential Appointments.

(SPECIAL Correspondence of the Messenger.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The summarized news of the week is no news—that is, no news that the reader needs to hurry to discuss. A few paragraphs constitute my half-weekly budget. The twelfth annual convention of the United States Railway Mail Service Mutual Benefit Association, whose object is clearly explained in its title, met here to-day at the National Hotel. Col. Stevenson, First Ass't P. M. Gen'l, was present and was introduced to the convention. There are, in all belonging to the railway mail service, 300 members, out of 4600 railway postal clerks.

Some of the national banks are behind in making their reports. The comptroller decided to-day he would impose hereafter the penalty of $100 per day for all negligence in the matter. The penalty was enforced as to some of the most flagrant cases, with the view to make a precedent. The one and two dollar silver certificates will not appear before October, although it is said at the Treasury Department that every effort is making to get them ready. The policy of withholding the small treasury notes has put into circulation a vast quantity of silver, but there is still a great demand for small notes, as they are more convenient.

Chief Clerk Benedict, brother of the new public printer, who has not yet arrived, says that all the reports of his brother's unity to the typographical union and other labor organizations are utterly without foundation. He denies the charge, too, that his brother is not a practical printer.

The special agent sent to Biloxi, Mississippi, by the Marine Hospital service to ascertain whether the disease there reported to be yellow fever was genuine, telegraphed yesterday that it was something else. The officials here are greatly relieved. The President has made the following appointments: To be registers of land offices—Jos. B. Kinney, of Booneville, Mo., at Tucson, Arizona; Samuel C. Tucker, of Gainesville, Fla., at Gainesville, Fla.; Sterling P. Hart, of Ainsworth, Neb., at McCook, Neb. To be receivers of public moneys—Zachary T. Crawford, of Pine Level, Fla., at Gainesville, Fla.; Frederick W. Smith, of Yuma, Ariz., at Tucson, Ariz.; Jacob Steinmetz, of Sutton, Neb., at McCook, Neb.; To be Agent for the Indians—Chas. H. Yates, of Ukiah, Cal., of the Round Valley agency in California. To be recorder of the general land office—Robert W. Ross, of Vandalia, Ill. There were a few other appointments yesterday, including that of the late chief of police, Dye, of Iowa, to be a chief of division in the Pension Office. He filled this position before he was placed in charge of the police office of this city. There have been many promotions of clerks in the Patent Office. To-day the President appointed the subjoined: Thos. F. Tobin, of Tennessee, to be surveyor of customs for the port of Memphis, Tenn.; Thomas C. Manning, of Louisiana, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Mexico. John Drayton, of South Carolina, be consul of the United States at Turpan, China. H. Simonton, of Charleston, S. C., to be United States district judge for the district of South Carolina.

Mr. E. M. Lawton, disbursing clerk of the war department, died Sunday night. He was a native of England and a free mason.

Numerous telegrams from leading citizens of Nashville, Tenn., request the widow of the late Gen. P. F. Cheatham be appointed to succeed her husband as postmaster. No action can be taken until the President and Postmaster General return. A warrant for $2,000 was issued to-day at the treasury department for the repair of government buildings at Charleston.

There is general rejoicing at Gen. Miles' capture of Geronimo and other Apache marauders. Some difference of opinion exists as to what will be done with the Indians, especially the chief Geronimo. News received here to-day from Mr. Randall indicates his rapid recovery. The contributions sent from this city to Charleston have been scattering and irregular, but considerable in amount. The Star collection sent yesterday was $796.55. A hundred dollars additional was collected to-day. This sent a small collection. Altogether the treasury department clerks have raised $1,450.50. The concert at Herzog's Sunday night produced $843.75. These are only a part. The largest contribution by any Washingtonian or by any individual, was sent direct by Mr. W. W. Corcoran. It was a check for $5,000.

Among recent visitors have been M. C. Williams, Statesville, and C. D. Sandoz and Percy and E. G. Albright, Greensboro.

Mr. R. D. Graham has several photographs of his father, Gov. Graham. One of these he permitted Miss Meech, of New York, an artist who was recently in this city, to color. None of the photographs do the distinguished subject justice.

Miss Lasselles Grandy, a clerk in the pension office, recently made a visit to her home, Elizabeth City, also to Warrenton, Va.

New post offices have been established at the following places: Lips, Rowan county, Laura A. Lips, p. m.; Oine, Warren county, Chas. L. Walker; Algood, Yadkin county, Emily C. Reynolds; Lamont, Guilford county, Sarah R. Walker; Postook, Davidson county, Joseph C. Sneed; Western, Haywood county, Jonathan M. West. Besides the above, postmaster's commissions have been sent to Herbert L. Jones, Big Rock and Herbert P. Carpenter, Oane River.

The following Star route mail changes have been made: Sains, embraced between Henry and Hull's Cross Roads, enroute between the latter and Happy Home, increasing distance four miles; Polenta, supplied at its present location from Smithfield, increasing the distance one mile; Shaeckford, in the next Star route, from Jacksonville and Swansboro route, increasing distance three miles; from Smyrna route to Ocaoke omit Rte. formerly change of distance; route formerly from Whitaker's to St. Elmo, changed so as to begin at Battleground, omitting Whitakers, and decreasing distance two and a half miles.

LATER.—September 8th.—The campaign book was issued yesterday.

Among the few official changes today was the resignation of principal examiner Daniel W. Atwood, of Ohio, in the pension office.

Public Printer Benedict will arrive here next Monday, so his brother, the chief clerk in the government printing office, says. The latter speaks of his having received hundreds of applications for office, few of which can be gratified.

The Charleston contributions continue to-day. Prominent Democrats telegraphed the President that the vessels of the North Atlantic squadron should be sent to the stricken city with orders to strip the vessels of canvas to make shelter for the people. Some of the South Carolinians here complain that the President does not take more interest in the condition of affairs at Charleston. The reason is that he is so far away from the papers he does not know how much is required. It is said he will return here next week.

Elizabeth A. Sprightly, well known in Wilmington and Fayetteville, died here of heart disease on the 6th inst., aged sixty-seven years.

R. M. Albright, of Greensboro, was in the city yesterday. C. W. H.

We regret that our brief comments upon the action of the Board of Aldermen in refusing a donation of $75 to the graded school has badly upset the urbanity and temper of those of the Aldermen who voted to table the application. We reiterate that we think the cause was of such a laudable nature that the board of Aldermen could readily have stretched their construction of the city charter, as they, and their predecessors in office have frequently done, sufficiently at least that the school might have received the benefit of whatever doubt might exist as to their power to vote the pitiful donation. Our citizens, with but few exceptions, would have approved their action in the matter. As it is, the vote to table shows but little friendship for the school; and common courtesy, due by one official board to another, should have prompted the board of Aldermen to have disposed of the school Board's application in a more courteous and respectful manner than is generally implied by a motion "to table." However public-spirited the gentlemen may have been in other matters, they missed it badly in their action to table the application for help to the school.
