

ATTENTION! ATTENTION! ATTENTION!

Opening of a Mammoth Stock Fall and Winter Goods! H. WEILL & BROS.

We are now prepared to offer to the Public one of the Largest and Best Selected Stocks of Merchandise it has ever been our pleasure to offer.

Don't send North for your Goods this Fall. We can use the Money at Home to as good advantage as Northern firms and will give you as good values for your Money as any House you can trade with.

In our Dress Goods and Wrap Department

We are displaying all the Novelties that are out. We have an Elegant Line of Ladies, Misses and Childrens Wraps in the Latest Styles and at very Low Prices.

Our Shoe Department

Is likewise complete. Every pair warranted to be Solid Leather and give entire satisfaction. We sell at the Lowest Possible Price and will save you the Jobbers profit, as we get all our Shoes direct from the Manufacturers.

Our Clothing and Gents Furnishing Department

Is Full and Complete. As heretofore, we keep only the best makes in this line. In addition we were lucky to get hold of large lots of Goods in this line which we bought considerable under regular prices.

In our Merchant Tailoring Department

We are prepared better than ever before to make your Clothing to order on TEN DAYS NOTICE. Our Goods will be made up with the greatest care and skill, at very reasonable prices, and we guarantee satisfaction in every case.

Laundried and Unlaundried Shirts,

Underwear, Hosiery, Gloves, Suspenders, &c., in the greatest profusion, fill this Department. These Goods have been selected with the greatest care. We can suit the most fastidious taste at popular prices.

Carpets, Rugs, Mattings and Oilcloths.

In this Line, as in the rest of our Stock, we are displaying the Newest Designs of every grade and at prices which will be hard to duplicate in Northern Markets.

Do Us The Favor To Examine Our Stock

Thoroughly before purchasing or ordering. It is our determination to get you to buy your Goods in Goldsboro, if sufficient Stock, Variety and Low Prices can accomplish it.

This Is No Idle Talk; We Mean What We Say,

and shall endeavor to do our part to accomplish this end. Therefore we most cordially invite you to call and Examine our Fall Stock. Respectfully,

H. WEILL & BROS.

Our Wholesale Department

Is replete with a Large Stock and Varied Assortment of Desirable and Seasonable Goods. We guarantee to Duplicate any Bill in this Department, no matter where bought, and save you Freight and Expenses.

- 200 Bales North Carolina Plaids. 40 Cases Prints (all Styles). 150 Pieces Dress Goods. 50 Bales of Unbleached Domestic. 15 Cases of Bleaching (all Widths and Grades). 500 Pieces Pants Goods (all Kinds). 300 Pairs of Blankets. 500 Dozen Mens, Boys and Childrens Hats. 200 Dozen Undershirts and Drawers. 400 Cases Shoes, all Styles and Grades (Special Bargains). A Complete Line of Hosiery, Notions and Fancy Goods.

H. WEILL & BROS.

In Our Grocery Department.

- 25000 Pounds of Side Meat are received every week. 1000 Bundles of Arrow Ties. 1000 Rolls of Bagging (different weights). 25 Barrels of Sugar. 100 Cases Soap. 25 Cases Lye. 150 Gross Matches.

H. WEILL & BROS.

WEST-CENTRE STREET, GOLDSBORO, N. C.

He Walked the Plank.

"I was seated in the old hotel now occupied by the Union Pacific railroad. It was the nearest house to the river and had a view of all the ground to the river. I got in one of the windows and watched a drunken Indian on his homeward journey. He staggered along until he came to a deep ravine, filled with water, leading down to the river. It was spanned by a single plank. The Indian came to the ravine and looked over. He folded his blanket about him and looked over again. He looked at the plank.

"He started to go over. The least inclination which he experienced to fall over caused him to come back. Several half-unsuccessful attempts were made and finally he fell over into the water. With great difficulty he climbed up the bank from which he originally started, acting as though it was beneath him to go to the other bank, which he desired to reach. He kept on trying. I went in to dinner, and on coming out saw him complete the task of crossing the plank. Apparently he had walked himself sober. Not once during his many trials did he exhibit any signs of anger or discomfort. He made up his mind to walk that board and he kept on trying until he succeeded."

What Babies May Come To.

No doubt Grover Cleveland forty-nine summers ago was a fat baby in a pink calico sun-bonnet, carried about by admiring female friends, and there is little doubt that the neighbors scoffed at the idea of his being President when a fond grandmother declared that she felt her bones a-tingle with such prophecies. Abraham Lincoln couldn't have been a pretty baby and Beecher was only one of the feeble infants over whom nurses solemnly queried if it was "worth while to try to raise him."

The Eighth Missouri.

"The Eighth Missouri were good fighters," said Theodore R. Davis yesterday, as he stopped making the smoke of war with his brush long enough to whiff the smoke of peace out of an attenuated cigarette. "and what they wouldn't steele, except my colors and pipe, was not down in the articles of war. Why, once at Vicksburg they stole a grave. There was really no good place there to bury a body, except on the levee, and the ground there was so hard that the grave-diggers had a tough time of it. Well, it happened one day that one of the Eighth died a natural death, and while the boys were wondering what they should do with him, a detail from an Ohio regiment filed out to dig a grave for one of their number that had passed over. The Eighth looked on to some purpose, and when the Ohio boys came out next day with their dead they found the grave filled up and a cracker box lid at the head, with 'Sacred to the memory of — of the Eighth Mo.' But they were good fighters."

A Dollar Invested Builds a Church.

The German Evangelical Lutheran Church in the corner of Broadway and Walbridge avenue, Toledo, O., remained unfinished for the lack of funds. Last Saturday Mr. Henry Cary, of Toledo, Ohio, received $5,000 for one-fifth of ticket No. 7,227, which drew the second capital prize of $25,000 in the Louisiana State Lottery on July 23. He is a member of the Church (Rev. A. B. Weber pastor, and will loan at a low rate this $5,000 to the new church, which but for this aid would remain unfinished for lack of funds. He is a father of 20 children, twenty twenty — has supported a large family — is very popular where he lives, and the people there rejoice with him in his good fortune. — Toledo (Ohio) Blade, July 27.

Miscellaneous.

- GRADED SCHOOL BOOKS GRADED SCHOOL BOOKS GRADED SCHOOL BOOKS GRADED SCHOOL BOOKS

Flour, Sugar, Coffee.

- 250 BARRELS FLOUR. (All Grades.) 30 BARRELS REFINED SUGAR. (All Grades.) 25 SACKS COFFEE. (Rio and LaGuayra.) 15 BARRELS MOLASSES. 250 SACKS SALT. (Liverpool and Fine.)

NOTICE!

The undersigned having duly qualified as Administrator of the estate of W. J. Forehand, deceased, hereby notifies all persons having claims against said estate to present them to him on or before the 1st day of October, 1887, or this notice will be of no effect. All persons indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment.

LOOK HERE!

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the age is Dr. Wm. H. PETERSON'S Infallible Cure for Piles or Hemorrhoids. It cures without pain, without the use of knife or Ligatures, and has never failed to cure where the directions have been faithfully followed. As hundreds of testimonials will show. To all persons who are afflicted with this terrible disease, we say, give us a trial. Our motto is:

No Cure! No Pay!

But we GUARANTEE A CURE if our directions are followed.

Address: Wm. H. PETERSON, M. D., AURORA, Beaufort Co., N. C.

SCHOOL BOOKS!

For all kinds of School Books and School Supplies, Paper, Envelopes, Ink, &c., call on the undersigned. H. WEILL & BROS., Goldsboro, N. C.

PRESIDENTIAL LOVES.

Something About the Wives and Sweet-hearts of Our Rulers. President Lincoln's first love was a golden-haired blonde, who had cherry lips, a clear blue eye, a neat figure, and more than ordinary intellectual ability. Her name was Anne Rutledge. She was the daughter of a tavernkeeper in Salem, Ill. Mr. Lincoln met her when he was about 23, and Anne Rutledge, an amiable, companionable, became engaged to her. She died before they could be married; and Lincoln was so much affected by her death that his friends pronounced him crazy for a time. He was watched carefully, and became especially violent during storms, dogs, and during gloomy weather. At such times he would rave, declaring among other wild expressions, "I can never be reconciled to have the snow, rain, and storms to beat upon her grave." At this time he began to quote, it is said, the poem which is so well identified with him, beginning — "O, why should the spirit of mortal be proud? It is supposed that he was thinking of his first love during the times he so often repeated it. Years afterwards, when he had become famous, he was asked by an old friend as to the story of his first love for Anne Rutledge. He said, "I loved her dearly. She was a handsome girl, and would have made a good and loving wife."

A HANDSOME FIEND.

We were at the Air-Line Junction, just out of Toledo, and the four or five of us waiting for the same train became quite friendly, as men will under the circumstances. We were out on the platform when a train came in from the other way and about a dozen passengers got off. All of a sudden a middle-aged man with a bald-head and a professional look about him — he was one of the five of us who were waiting — gave utterance to one of the biggest oaths in the swearing calendar and took a step or two forward. We saw that his attention had been attracted to a good-looking woman who was in the company of a rather oddish and good-looking man. The woman left her husband — for so the man proved to be — and walked right up to our friend and held out her hand and said: "Shake, Charley! You aren't looking exactly well. Divorce and all that doesn't agree with you first-rate. Let me introduce you to my husband."

"No! Never!" gasped the man, whose face was as white as a sheet. "O, well, just as you please. He's a good fellow, and he wouldn't be jealous. Got your second wife picked out, old boy?" "For God's sake go away!" "All right, Charlie, but I supposed you'd be glad to see me. We didn't get along together very well as man and wife, but we shouldn't lay up any grudges. How's the folks at home? How's your business doing? Anybody dead or married since I left? Say, Charlie, what did the papers say about my anyones?" He held up his hands as if to keep her back, and she laughingly said: "Bah! but I ain't going to hurt you! If you are going to stop here for an hour or two come up to our room and we'll talk over old times."

With that she bowed and turned away, while our friend began pacing the long platform. One of the others understood the case and whispered to us: "He was divorced from her two years ago, and it nearly drove him crazy. She was and is a scheming, heartless, faithless woman. Lands! but how dare she talk to him after that fashion!" About fifteen minutes to train time we went in to see about our luggage, leaving the man still walking. We had scarcely left the platform before a special came dashing past. We heard the whistle and the bell and the roaring, and the sounds had not died away when there was a shout of horror from the platform. The divorced husband had flung himself under the train, and when it passed his body was a mangled corpse.

The woman came down from the sitting-room into the crowd and asked what had happened. Some one told her that a man had flung himself under the wheels, and she was given a description of the victim. "Why, that's my old Charley!" she exclaimed as she raised her hands. "Now, what could have possessed him to do such a thing! Why, it's so funny — so very, very funny that he'd let himself be ground up that way!" She ran back to the edge of the crowd to tell her husband, and as she explained the horror to him she tapped him on the shoulder and said: "Now, then, you won't be jealous of me again, will you? — Detroit Free Press.

Paris Counterfeiters.

A correspondent of the New Orleans Picayune writes: Counterfeit and depreciated coins are very common just now in Paris. Every day we read of the arrest of manufacturers and "showers" of the "nauser," and the courts deal with them very severely; but the example does not appear to exercise any deterring influence on other evil-doers. One or two franc pieces of lead, so clumsily imitated that you wonder how any one can be taken in by them, are constantly being offered in change at cafes and restaurants. It is an absolutely necessary precaution to examine every coin received at such places, not only to avoid counterfeits but also to prevent the garçons from passing off on you Peruvian and Chilian dollars, which are exactly the same weight and size as 5 franc pieces, but not being legal tender, are worth 15 to 20 cents less. How this South American money has found its way into France is something I can not explain, but there certainly is a great deal of it floating around and, sure of being able to pass them on others, the waiters at many of the large cafes on the boulevards make no difficulty about accepting them. But it is not only at such places that you are likely to get taken in with these South American dollars. Only the other day, when I was going over to London, I paid for my ticket at the railroad depot with a bank note and then, holding my change in my hand, I went into the luggage-room to get my baggage registered. My trunk was a little over weight, and in payment of the excess I handed the baggage master one of the coins I had just received at the ticket office, but it was pushed back to me with the remark: "Pas bon; and on examining it I found that it was a Peruvian dollar. As I had no time to go back to the ticket office I put the piece in my pocket and went to the train. Since my return I have learned that the railway companies make a regular practice of sending all the bad or uncurrent coins they receive in the course of their business to their ticket offices, and, as the traveling public is usually in too much of a hurry to examine its change, these coins are easily got rid of. It is quite as bad at the postoffice, where it is the rule to pay from one-half to two-thirds of all money orders in silver, and the chances are that if you have to collect an order of any amount you will find one or more depreciated coins in the stack of 5-franc pieces piled up in front of you. If you express your surprise at such a proceeding the clerk will reply that the department is so often cheated by the public that it feels itself at liberty to do a little cheating in its own turn.

In Germany, if false information is given to a newspaper reporter he can collect damages of its author.

NOT SWEARING.

"My boy," the grand old man said, "Your words do oft provoke me: By truth, by folly, by need, I am swearing and should choke thee. Of words that have the prefix 'by' You should be as busy as I. Such words — on this you may rely — Invariably are swearing."

A HANDSOME FIEND.

We were at the Air-Line Junction, just out of Toledo, and the four or five of us waiting for the same train became quite friendly, as men will under the circumstances. We were out on the platform when a train came in from the other way and about a dozen passengers got off. All of a sudden a middle-aged man with a bald-head and a professional look about him — he was one of the five of us who were waiting — gave utterance to one of the biggest oaths in the swearing calendar and took a step or two forward. We saw that his attention had been attracted to a good-looking woman who was in the company of a rather oddish and good-looking man. The woman left her husband — for so the man proved to be — and walked right up to our friend and held out her hand and said: "Shake, Charley! You aren't looking exactly well. Divorce and all that doesn't agree with you first-rate. Let me introduce you to my husband."

"No! Never!" gasped the man, whose face was as white as a sheet. "O, well, just as you please. He's a good fellow, and he wouldn't be jealous. Got your second wife picked out, old boy?" "For God's sake go away!" "All right, Charlie, but I supposed you'd be glad to see me. We didn't get along together very well as man and wife, but we shouldn't lay up any grudges. How's the folks at home? How's your business doing? Anybody dead or married since I left? Say, Charlie, what did the papers say about my anyones?" He held up his hands as if to keep her back, and she laughingly said: "Bah! but I ain't going to hurt you! If you are going to stop here for an hour or two come up to our room and we'll talk over old times."

With that she bowed and turned away, while our friend began pacing the long platform. One of the others understood the case and whispered to us: "He was divorced from her two years ago, and it nearly drove him crazy. She was and is a scheming, heartless, faithless woman. Lands! but how dare she talk to him after that fashion!" About fifteen minutes to train time we went in to see about our luggage, leaving the man still walking. We had scarcely left the platform before a special came dashing past. We heard the whistle and the bell and the roaring, and the sounds had not died away when there was a shout of horror from the platform. The divorced husband had flung himself under the train, and when it passed his body was a mangled corpse.

The woman came down from the sitting-room into the crowd and asked what had happened. Some one told her that a man had flung himself under the wheels, and she was given a description of the victim. "Why, that's my old Charley!" she exclaimed as she raised her hands. "Now, what could have possessed him to do such a thing! Why, it's so funny — so very, very funny that he'd let himself be ground up that way!" She ran back to the edge of the crowd to tell her husband, and as she explained the horror to him she tapped him on the shoulder and said: "Now, then, you won't be jealous of me again, will you? — Detroit Free Press.

Paris Counterfeiters.

A correspondent of the New Orleans Picayune writes: Counterfeit and depreciated coins are very common just now in Paris. Every day we read of the arrest of manufacturers and "showers" of the "nauser," and the courts deal with them very severely; but the example does not appear to exercise any deterring influence on other evil-doers. One or two franc pieces of lead, so clumsily imitated that you wonder how any one can be taken in by them, are constantly being offered in change at cafes and restaurants. It is an absolutely necessary precaution to examine every coin received at such places, not only to avoid counterfeits but also to prevent the garçons from passing off on you Peruvian and Chilian dollars, which are exactly the same weight and size as 5 franc pieces, but not being legal tender, are worth 15 to 20 cents less. How this South American money has found its way into France is something I can not explain, but there certainly is a great deal of it floating around and, sure of being able to pass them on others, the waiters at many of the large cafes on the boulevards make no difficulty about accepting them. But it is not only at such places that you are likely to get taken in with these South American dollars. Only the other day, when I was going over to London, I paid for my ticket at the railroad depot with a bank note and then, holding my change in my hand, I went into the luggage-room to get my baggage registered. My trunk was a little over weight, and in payment of the excess I handed the baggage master one of the coins I had just received at the ticket office, but it was pushed back to me with the remark: "Pas bon; and on examining it I found that it was a Peruvian dollar. As I had no time to go back to the ticket office I put the piece in my pocket and went to the train. Since my return I have learned that the railway companies make a regular practice of sending all the bad or uncurrent coins they receive in the course of their business to their ticket offices, and, as the traveling public is usually in too much of a hurry to examine its change, these coins are easily got rid of. It is quite as bad at the postoffice, where it is the rule to pay from one-half to two-thirds of all money orders in silver, and the chances are that if you have to collect an order of any amount you will find one or more depreciated coins in the stack of 5-franc pieces piled up in front of you. If you express your surprise at such a proceeding the clerk will reply that the department is so often cheated by the public that it feels itself at liberty to do a little cheating in its own turn.

In Germany, if false information is given to a newspaper reporter he can collect damages of its author.

Miscellaneous.

Attend to it Now. Many suffering people drag themselves about with failing strength, feeling that they are really sinking into the grave, when by using Parker's Tonic they would find a cure commencing with the first dose, and vitality and strength surely coming back to them. "I am 63 years old; have been sick nearly all my life, and ought to know something about medicine by this time. I have used Parker's Tonic freely for more than a year, and consider it the best remedy I have ever known. In fact, I now find no other medicine necessary. For weakness, debility, rheumatism, and that distressing ailment known as pain from which I suffered so long, it has no equal. I do not see how any one can afford to do without so valuable a medicine." — Mrs. HATTIE N. GRAVES, East and Front streets, Providence, R. I.

Parker's Tonic

Prepared by Hiseox & Co., N. Y. Sold by all Druggists in large bottles at One Dollar.

Valuable Land For Sale!

We will sell on easy terms the land in Brodgen township, described as follows: It consists of two (2) tracts, adjoining each other, about one (1) mile west of Dudley. The home tract contains two hundred and seventy-two (272) acres, and is situated on the east bank of Brooks' swamp, eight (8) some farm cleared; the remainder is well timbered with oak, pine, ash and cypress; large quantity of good marl; young orchard; good dwelling and out houses, and two (2) tenement houses, all as good as new. The other tract lies just east of and adjoins the above, and extends to within one fourth (1/4) of a mile of Dudley; and contains about a four (4) horse farm cleared; the woodland is well timbered with pine and oak; it has a good dwelling with eight (8) rooms; out houses and one (1) good tenant house; good apple orchard and one of the finest mulberry orchards in the state; a fine opportunity for hog raising and silk culture. No Childs' No Malaria! The above will be sold in a body, or separate, to suit purchasers. For further particulars call on or address R. L. HOLLOWELL, Wilsons Mill, N. C., or J. G. HOLLOWELL, Dudley, N. C.

Edgerton, Finlayson & Co.,

General Commission Merchants, OFFER AT WHOLESALE OR RETAIL! Box Meats, Mess Pork, Flour (all grades), Sugar, Coffee, S. C. Hams, Lard, Meal, Corn, Bran, Oats, Heavy Crackers, Cheese, Butter, Red & White K Oil, Snuff, Tobacco, Molasses, Syrup, &c. Bagging, Arrow and Delta Ties. Dry Goods, Notions, Boots, Shoes, Crockery, Lamps, Glassware, Wood Ware, Baskets, and Canned Goods.

E. F. & CO.

Goldsboro, N. C., sep6-tf

THE DOG DAYS ARE UPON US,

YOU CAN FIND AT SPIER'S FAMILY GROCERY!

West Walnut St., Goldsboro, N. C. A Good Supply of Fine Groceries and Foreign Delicacies, Snuff, Tobacco, Cigars, Tin, Wood and Willow Ware, &c., which he is offering at very Low Prices, FOR CASH!

CHEAP DOORS.

500 O. G. Doors, (Calls) AT 75 CENTS APIECE. These are good strong 4 panel doors, but knotty. For cheap tenent houses just as good as a higher priced door. J. STRAUSS & CO., Goldsboro Rice and Planing Mills, sept9-1m

SUMMER Beverages

Send in Your Orders for Ginger Ale, Sarsaparilla, Soda Water, California Pear Nectar, And the Latest Thing Out, TONIC BEER! You will find all the above Drinks to be Good, or No Charge.

GROCERIES!

I am still leading in Low Prices in Groceries. My Stock is complete. Call and get prices before buying and I know I will sell to you. Respectfully, R. E. PIPKIN, Walnut Street, Goldsboro, N. C., Mar. 22, 1886-tf

Gregory Hotel Barbershop!

STILL IN OPERATION. Shaving and Hair-Cutting quickly and neatly performed by the well-known tonorial artists, James Bates and William Best, in their parlor in the Gregory House, dec24-tf