Some people appear to live for no other purpose than to manufacture lies and retail them at the President's expense. The case of the late Mr. Neal, of Baltimore, is probably the latest, although these stories follow fast upon one another. The old gentleman was a relative of Mr. Cleveland In his lifetime he received such attentions, including an invitation to visit the White House and attend the President's wedding, as were proper. The enemies of Mr. Cleveland now say that the brother of his mother was treated with entire neglect. The friends of Mr. Neal are indignant, and deny the allegation with a statement of the facts, which are given above.

AT Kaukauna, Wis., workmen were engaged in excavating a sewer upon the ruins of a stone building at a depth of eight feet. The stone first bore traces of fine workmanship and polish. which were removed, when another wall was struck. The stones were finely faced, some being blackened, as if by fire and smoke. Others must have been subjected to great artificial heat, as they had crumbled into lime. The work was found but a foot or two above bed rock, and shows evidence of workmanship that could have been performed only by a highly civilized race. It must have been done centuries ago, as a large elm tree had grown over the ruins. The discovery has led | ing race on the island. These Malato the advancement of many theories.

A strange position this, for a candidate that seeks to disorganize the Democratic party and relies upon his election entirely in the hope that the Court. Doubtless his chief objection Republicans may support him, although he announces that he "makes no sacrifice of former political principles." It is very strange, in the face of this declaration, that Mr. Broadhurst's card announcing him a candidate, should be handed in for publication through the chairman of the Republican county executive committee.

Only a few weeks since he was a candidate before the Democratic county convention for the office of sheriff. Can he prove himself unworthy of the support he then received? We await his course in the matter.
