COGDILL & BARNES. Goldsboro, N. C., Sep. 6, 1886-1f

DRIFTING FOR TWO YEARS.

A "Baby Bunting" that could very readily be wrapped in a rabbit-skin of nursery lore has been born to a farmer's wife in the little settlement of Bell Bunk, Chester county, Pa., which is about eight miles from Oxford. The infant is a most wonderful freak of nature. When ushered into existence, two weeks ago, it was barely ten inches in length, and it failed to get the better of a four-pound weight when placed in the other end of an ordinary pair of scales in the village grocery store. The father is a fine heavy farmer, rather above than below medium height, named Nelson Bunting. He is 45 years old, and his wife, Julia, who is not over two or three years his junior, is quite a large woman. They are the parents of half a dozen girls and boys fully as large as children of their respective ages usually are, and they can offer no explanation of this apparent phenomenon. Since her birth "Baby" Bunting has not grown in any perceptible degree, but she is by no means weak or puny, despite her diminutive size, and her voice is as powerful as that of the largest infant ever born. She is well proportioned and pretty and is generally considered a perfect specimen of a midget. Her father's Sunday silk hat is plenty large enough to hide her completely, and when put in a half-gallon measure her head does not come within several inches from the top.

The Bunting farm-house has been overrun ever since the birth with throngs of visitors from the surrounding country anxious to see the little one, and a number of people from Philadelphia have also had sufficient curiosity to make a pilgrimage to get a glimpse of the young woman. Father Bunting is thinking seriously of exhibiting the child next winter in one of the dime museums here, and it is said that he has already entered into correspondence with the managers of the Ninth and Arch streets show.

The baby has not yet been named, but the suggestion that it should be called Frank Folsom Cleveand Bunting in honor of the president's bride, on whose wedding day it was born, has met with some favor, and it is probable that it will be so christened.—Philadelphia Cor. New York World.

LEMON ELIXIR Cures indigestion, headache, malaria, kidney disease, fever, chills, loss of appetite, debility and nervous prostration by regulating the Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys and Blood. Lemon Elixir is prepared from the fresh juice of Lemons, combined with other vegetable liver tonics, cathartics, aromatic stimulants and blood purifiers. Fifty cents for one half-pint bottle, $1.00 for Pint and half bottle. Sold by druggists generally, and by all wholesale druggists.

LEMON HOT DROPS Cures all Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Pneumonia and all Throat and Lung diseases except Consumption, which disease it palliates and relieves. Price 25 cents. Lemon Elixir and Lemon Hot Drops sold by druggists. Prepared by Dr. H. MOZLEY, Atlanta, Ga.

LADIES!—Now is your time for cheap Gossmars. Children at 95 cents, worth $1.25. Ladies $1.25, worth $1.75. Call at once on Mrs. E. W. MOORE.

Theodore Von in Paris.

A New York gentleman just arrived from Paris speaks of having met Theodore Tilton in a restaurant there a few evenings ago. He was accompanied by Mrs. Bullard, whose father left her the fortune which he had made from the patent medicine known as Mrs. Winslow's soothing syrup. Mr. Tilton and Mrs. Bullard are often riding out together and are a distinguished looking couple. Tilton's daughter Flora, who married Pelton, is living with her father in Switzerland. Mr. Pelton, who became afflicted soon after his marriage with intermittent attacks of insanity, has not been hopelessly demented and is now in confinement. Tilton's other daughter is living with a husband in Chicago, and Mrs. Tilton is a Protestant convert in Newark.—New York World.

Methods of Everts' Conkling. People have been regular from time to time with samples of the orator of William M. Everts, in which single sentences have been given of more than 300 words each. As a contrast we may mention Everts' Conkling's address to the jury in the case of Farnsworth, receiver of the Bankers and Merchants' Telegraph company, against the Western Union Telegraph company, a pamphlet of forty-eight pages, in which the speaker uttered no paragraph larger than sixteen lines, including 120 words, and this in five sentences. There is a great difference between an orator.—Pittsburg Gazette.

M. Chevreul, the Saint. M. Chevreul, the distinguished savant, whose centenary was celebrated in Paris the other day, was the associate of the celebrated Scries in the writing of the anti-drama attributed to the latter. M. Chevreul's first work was published in 1806, and his last work in 1886. Though known to the world as a great scientist only, he is the author of sixty-five "pieces" and 137 "vaudevilles." M. Chevreul very clearly remembers to have seen the head of the Princess Lamballe caved on the top of a pike after her execution in 1792.—Detroit Free Press.

Mr. Van Evert's Silver-Edged Boat. Mr. Vanderbilt, the American millionaire, is a Sybarite in the matter of rowing craft. He has just had built, by Messrs. Wain, of Richmond, the well known boat named, a large rowing boat, all the fittings of which are of silver. It is an ordinary scull boat, with seats for a couple of people and a sail. Why it should be ornamented with such fittings no one knows.—London Court Journal.

Foreign Mutton in London. The largest cargo of meat ever received in London lately arrived in the Thames from the Falkland Islands on board the steamship Selamaria. This consisted of 30,000 lam carcasses of sheep. This ship possesses an engine for preserving and freezing the meat, and the holds are lined with a non-conducting packing of timber and charcoal.—London Letter.

Mrs. Stove's Health. Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stove writes to a friend in Brooklyn that she does not consider her health "shattered," as has been widely reported, but that it is only nature that, after the illness and death of her husband, she should require the rest which she is now seeking by daily open air exercise. Mrs. Stove is at Hartford.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS. Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send once and get a bottle of Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. It is pleasant to the taste, and the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians, and the best Sold, and for all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. feb5-ly-1
