A German baby, says a writer in THE VICTORY OF THE SOUTH.

The truth is the entire South is growing rapidly in population. There has been no great rush of immigration. There has been no great rush of immigration, but a constant trickling into various healthy and fertile sections of our fair southland, of Northern and Western families who seek refuge from the inclemency of their colder climate. In South Carolina, Florida, and Arkansas and North Lousiana, this influx of population has been very marked, while in Texas there has be n a absolute tide of new people from all quarters of the world, Here in Alabama we have witnessed a current of immigration of no insi . nifcant kind. Along the Tennesses throughout the valleys of North Alabama, we find everywhere strange names and faces. A dozen villages have sprung up around iron furnacea which are owned by men lately from the North.

There it no question that the South asserting her birtb-right. The gentle light of the Southern cross is attracting the gaze of millions and when the census of 1880 is taken, it will be found that the confederate struggle which forced the emancipation of the slaves has resulted, under the myste rious workings of Providence, in nscribing ultimate victory upon the banner of the South.
