COUNTING THE ELECTORAL VOTES. The New York Express says: "Everybody knows that the electoral votes are to be counted in the presence of both Houses of Congress in February and that those candidetes having the largest number of electoral votes are te be declared President and Vice-President but the question is, if the eight votes of Louisiana or Mississippi, cr the seven votes of South Carolina, sheuld turn the scale in favor of Mr Tilden, and the Senate should refuse, on any pretext, to count those votes, would not the will of the peo-pie be defeated and Hayes be Pres-ident. Recollect, the refusal to count on the part of the Senate, no matter what the House may say or do, is suf-ficient to defeat the will or the people But the Horald says we do not live in Mexico.
