

THE FLOODING OF THE TOWN OF BRESSBROOK.

Mr. Morgan in his lecture on the "Floodings of the Town of Bressbrook," gave the following account of Billy Dawson:

On one occasion he was preaching about Noah's ark. He was boxed in a pulpit, and as he warned to his subject, he found he had no room to suit him to his words and feelings so he said, "This won't do!" so he opened the door and came down to the foot of the building, and as if he had been actually at work on the building of the ark, he began to lay about him, cutting down trees, and sawing up planks, and then began hammering away until he had made the ark, and then warning the people that the flood was coming, he entreated them to come into the ark. He next lighted a fire, took an imaginary audience of pitch, and to complete his work, pitched it thoroughly all over, and then ascended the pulpit, banged the door to, and then looking at his audience said, in a solemn voice, "And the Lord shut him in!" Mr. Paxton Hood, who told him the story, said the people seemed positively alarmed, whilst Billy Dawson went on shouting, "It's too late, now! It's too late, now! The flood's come, and you are lost." And then he set to, and basing his discourse on this scene, he preached Jesus Christ and Him crucified, with an earnestness which brought many a penitent sinner to the footstool of divine grace. God had given him the burden of dramatizing, and he could not help using it to a good purpose. On another occasion he was preaching about David's encounter with Goliath, and after picturing vividly the challenge of the Philistines and the defiance of David, he took out a pocket-handkerchief, and having made a sling of it, he put in an imaginary stone, and flung it with such apparent reality and force, that just as the stone left the sling, Sammy Hick, the village blacksmith, fairly carried away by his feelings, shouted, "That's right, Billy, now huff with 'em!"

BRESSBROOK.

[New York World.]

Mr. John G. Richardson is the owner of six thousand acres of land at Newry, Ireland, on which are blue granite quarries and farming lands. There he has laid out the town of Bressbrook as a manufacturing village. He has made a beautiful park, and built rows of neat cottages for his workmen, so that every laborer has a door yard decorated with flowers, and the village streets are kept scrupulously clean. Whilst there are shops for the sale of every necessary article to supply the wants of the villagers, not a drop of beer or spirits of any kind is permitted to be sold in Bressbrook. Consequently there are no pawn shops, police officers, or police judges. No police station has ever been established. The four thousand operatives all live together in harmony and support five churches, which stand in close proximity on Divinity Hill. All of the children in the villages are sent to school, or work in the great mill, where 19,000 yards of linen are made every day; and the yarn spun in one day, if stretched out, would measure 55,000 miles. Mr. Richardson is a prominent member of the Society of Friends and has recently come to America to attend one of the yearly meetings in Indiana. He deserves a welcome from all true friends of temperance for the great exertions he has made in Ireland, but in the expenditure of his large means and by his personal influence. He has acted as the presiding officer at a number of meetings held to ruther that cause, which aims at the alleviation of the misery and poverty that has weakened for Ireland the sympathy of so many hearts.

DON'T UNDERSTAND IT.—Perhaps it that box had been in the way he would have come by without tumbling down into the basement. When they separated him from what was once a rather respectable beaver, he rally said:

"I suppose if I was Commodore Vanderbilt there would be half-a-dozen carriages at the door ready to convey me home, and a score of newspaper reporters asking me how I felt. But because my name is Joe Morgan, I have to go unnumbered and unwept."

He slowly went out and as he did so a battle draped out of his pocket and broke on the steps. He regarded it a few moments in silence, and then tragically uttered:

"And thou, too the sole remaining link of all that bound me to myself art thou also gone! Oh, heavens! have I deserved all this?"

He expects an answer by the next mail.

"Do you like novels?" asked Miss Fitzgerald of her backwoods lover. "I can't say," he replied, "I never ste any; but I tell you what—you just bet I'm dead on possum."

How small a portion of our lives is it that we truly enjoy. In youth we are looking forward for things that are to come. In old age we look backward to things that are past.

THE TROPIC-HOOKING STOVE

MANUFACTURED BY MR. G. GREENSBORO, N. C.

These Stoves are vastly superior to the great majority of Stoves bought of Northern Manufacturers. The best of material is used in the manufacture, and they have never failed to give entire satisfaction. In addition to the great excellence of these Stoves, there is great advantage to those who buy in living near the factory, from whence to replace any vessel at short notice that should be accidentally broken.
