LATEST FROM MAINE.-From yesterdays telegrams it seems the Fusion Legislature of Maine has about petered ont. Only seven of the Senate met. The Republican governor is waiting the action of the Supreme Court, upon questions submitted by the Fusionists, before issuing his proclamation, commanding all not Republicans to disperse. It is thought to-day will be the end of the Fusionists.

We see it stated that of the 150 census Supervisors only thirty-eight are Democrats. The Wilmington Star says North Carolina is the only State where all the Supervisors are Democrats. We had seen it stated in some of our exchanges that Patterson is a Republican. The Republicans wanted all the Supervisors, and the Democrats wanted half and so neither party is satisfied.

CONGRESS.

The debate on Bayards financial resolution has begun in the Senate, Beck of Kentneky having spoken in opposition to it last Friday, after which the Scuate adjourned to Monday, when the discussion was to have been renewed. There is scarcely a probability that it will pass. The prevailing sentiment seems to be not to disturb the Suancial condition as it now exists. The House has already indicated its determination to let the law as it now stands remain. There will be much talk over it, and that will be all. Nothing of importance has been done, and the present session bids fair to be a very dull one. Each party appears a little timid in view of the near approach of the Presidential election.

The Exodus continues to go on, and to spread, not very rapidly, but yet pretty steadily. In sections it will likely be felt in a scarcity of labor. That those who go will be the great sufferers there is searcely a doubt, but then, they are free, and if they wish to go, the only duty for those who would prevent it to perform, is to give them, truly, such information and advice as they believe would serve their interest. In the examination before Voorhees' committee, it has come out that the railroads pay the agents a dollar a head for all who buy tickets over their lines. So far as the investigation has gone, it shows that gross misrepresentations have been made respecting the opportunities offered for bettering their condition in Indiana, and Kansas, and perhaps other Northwestern States. Of some of those who have reached Indiana pitifal stories of suffering and distress come, back. A number have already died, and others are in great destitution. The more intelligent negross are opposing this exedus move, but they are suspected by the negroes, it appears, or at least not heeded.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature of New York to change the mode of electing Presidential Electors in that State. It is proposed that each congressional district in the State shall congressional district in the state and Richmond Light Intantry, who at 1 o'clock a. m. were there. The Auburn tion as unwise, because many independent of the point of attacking Grant's nomination as unwise, because many independent Republicans will yote against him. islature of New York to change the elect one, and that two shall be elected from the State at large. If this bill becomes a law it will render that great State less important in the coming election. The Legislature is largely Republis can, and the proposition of so radical a change indicates the grave doubt Republicans themselves have of being able to elect the next President. Should the mode be changed, as the bill provides, the vote of the State will be divided in the electoral college, giving the majority of the thirty-five votes to the Republican candidate. Newspaper opinion is divided as to the probability of the bill's passing. Anything to gain or regain political power is too much the policy now, and arouble of great seriousness will yet grow the laudlord, that "Where I am there they can come." At the speech The North State appears greatly moved, and coupling it with his retusal to see Dennis Kearney, discovers therein great nobleness of soul and independence of character. Grant said "Let us have peace" and for eight years he kept half the country in turmoil and strife; he said "Let no guilty man escape" while he kept near ously guilty, and, when they were forced to vacate their high places, parted with them regretfully; he said no man could afford to be President about whose title to the office there was doubt, or words to that effect, and straightway went about Idiers at Washington to seat llayes. That is about all we remember his saying until this last grand utter, ance, to the effect that the negroes can come wherever he may be. Mayba he has grown more sincere, as he has grown older, and seen more of the world.

North State: It is reported that ex- der yet made by the Republicans. Gov. Garcelon, of Maine, is about to vis-it Washington. If he has a fit regard for decency, ex-Gov. Garcelon will keep secluded for some time to come.

If it is true that the Governor carnestly tried his hand at giving place to defeated candidates to the exclusion of their elected opponents, and it he desires congenial company, and, above all, to be with those who cannot twit him with a lack of sound morals, there is no fitter place for him than Washington, and no better society than Sherman and Hayes. They may get the laugh on him for his want of success, and crow a little over their own superiority in that regard, but then the presence of such company could not fail, even with these little drawbacks, in being soothing to one who had been engaged in the counting out business. It all that is charged against Garcelon is true, he will, by comparison, be quite respectable with the President and the Secretary of the Treasury of the coun-

MAINE.

The anhappy condition of affairs in Maine continues to attract public attention. That an armed conflict is imminent is thought by many. We shall really be surprised if anything like a fight occurs, but then there does appear to be a fine opening for a very deplorable State of affairs; and, indeed, such a condition already exists, only a little less to be regretted than a collision of armed men. It is a sad commentary upon the political morals of the State. Soldiers are dangerous. They may defend liberty. and drive back an invader, but they are equally as effetive in destroying liberty and becoming the invaders of civil rights themselves. No well ordered government should ever stand in need of the service of a soldier in civil matters, and especially in a contest for power between bodies of men, each claiming to exercise the functions of government. We cannot perhaps give our readers a better idea of the condition of the two contending parties than by publishing the telegraph in Sunday mornings papers:

Appusta, Mr., Jan. 23.—The general impression is that matters are in a more cruical condition than they have been for some time. Crowds are collecting at various points in secret clans, armed men are drilling, and other circumstances tend to create alarm. The Chronicle various points in secret clans, armed men are drilling, and other circumstances tend to create alarm. The Chronicle Greenback Labor organ, of Auburn, says that the State House must be taken though it costs a thousand lives, The government is not alarmed, and will make the State House perfectly impregnable. The first military company that ever entered the State House, marched in at midnight. Pilisbury, Blood, Channing and others are known to be enrolling in every county in the State, and men are collected in the county towns for J. L. Smith's call. Capt. Black, of Augusta is drilling men nightly.

Mayor Nash addressed the following to Gov. Davis to-night: "In view of the threatening attitude, of persons hostile to the present government of the State, I feel constrained to say to your excellency that I tear my civil police force will be mable to sufficiently protect the public property at the capitol, or even hold presents on of the building itself against

From consultation with the military authorities, Davis became thoroughly convinced of the seriousness of the situao'clock a. in. were there. The Auburn Light Infantry will leave this place for the capitol at 2 o'clock this morning, and other military forces will be brought if necessary. Information of the operations of the Fusionists comes from reliable men in each county. The design is to take the House—Pillsbury's last hope It is hoped that the prompt action of Governor Davis will avert trouble. Men are known to be ready at the call of the functional process. But the call of the county is the ready at the call of the are known to be ready at the call of Smith, in Lincoln and Somerset counties, who are to take sleighs across the coun-try. The prompt action of Colonel Peaks try. The prompt action of Colonel Peaks prevented movements in Piscataquis county. All the armories in the State are under guard. The Republicaus mean to hold possession, and if the State troops are inadequate, the President will be called upon for aid.

Boston, Jan. 23.—The Herald's Australe Austra

gusta special says: Three companies of troops and a Gatling gun garrison the State House. When the Republicans meet this forenoon there will be as little souble of great seriousness will yet grow out of it, we fear.

Down in Florida, Grant is said to have remarked, respecting a crowd of negroes that were throughing the passages and entrances to the hotel where he was stopping, and were about to be put out by the laudlord, that "Where I am there is no the programme is to dispersate the laudlord, that "Where I am there is no the programme is to dispersate the laudlord, that "Where I am there is no the programme is to dispersate the laudlord, that "Where I am there is no the programme is to dispersate the laudlord, that "Where I am there is no the programme is to dispersate the laudlord, that "Where I am there is no the programme is to dispersate the laudlord in cle on the programme is to disperse by force the Legislature convened in Union Hall. Are you, as freemen, wiling to submit to this outrage? See to it that your representatives are protected. This submit to this outrage? See to it that your representatives are protected. This is the culmination of the outrage inflicted upon the Democrats and Greenbackers by the stalwart pimps of the Republican party. Who is the man who will now step out of our ranks and side with the cowardly men intremched in the State House, who will tremble at the sound of their own voices and do not feel safe unless backed up by the heyonets of the their own voices and do not feel safe un-less backed up by the bayonets of the State militia? Let it be what it may, history will read that Corporal Davis was the first man in the State of Maine to authorize an array of bayonets at the State House to keep from its portals citi-zens of the common wealth."

Every military company in Maine is under arms. Capt. Black of the Fusion staff, says all he asks is to be arrested. A. r. Gould, legal adviser to the Fusion government, characterizes the moving of troops as a desperate act and sure to redound to the political advantage of the government, characterizes the moving of troops as a desperate act and wree to redound to the political advantage of the Fusionists. Should the Fusion Legislature go to Biddeford it will likely find the doors of any hall it may engage guarded by soldiers. "No fooling any longer" is the Republican talk londay. The State house is converted nto a sort of barracks; stoves have been set up in the cellar to cook rations of beef,&c., for the soldiers. The Governor is strongly urged to at once disperse the Union Hall Legislature and Fusion government, but whether he will act until the first of next is doubtful. Sunday night the State troops will be under arms. Republican authorities assert that if there

Not without some difference of opinion, however was this conclusion reached. It was freely acknowledged that in the event of his resigning a Democrat would be eslected in his place, and that would make the New Jersey delegation Democratic instead of Republican, and, in the event of carrying the presidential election this year into the House, might decide the result.

As a token of the revived Unionism of the South, and a political curiosity, the movement is worth this much of a notice. Cherry Pectoral

The reputation it has attained, in consequence of the marvellous cures it has produced during the last half century, is a sufficient assurance to the public that it will continue to realize the happiest results that can be desired. In almost every section of country there are persons, publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs, by its use. All who have tried it, acknowledge its superiority; and where its virtues are known, no one hesitates as to what medicine to employ to relieve the distress and suffering peculiar to pulmonary affections. CHERRY PECTORAL always affords instant relief, and performs rapid cures of the milder varieties of bronchial disorder, as well as
