T. B. Eldridge, Capt. Parker, and Jas. E. Boyd attended court at Greensboro last week.

Joe and John Neell will swap positions next week. Joe will become agent, and John foreman in the office again.

From specimens of drawing by J. L. Scott, Jr., he undoubtedly possesses some skill as a cartoonist.

There will be services every night this week in the Episcopal church at Company Shops, and on the 3rd Sunday St. Athanasius will preach and dedicate St. Athanasius Church.

We would call the attention of those wishing a good quality of chewing tobacco, to communicate with Mr. C. White, Mebaneville, N. C. He also manufactures the "Legal Tender" smoking tobacco, which is of splendid quality and flavor.

The candidates and many who were not, including the editor, enjoyed a splendid dinner at Mr. Mebane's, at Mebaneville, last Saturday. Mrs. Dr. Mebane presided at the table with great dignity.

Read the ad. of J. W. Kernodle for curing tobacco by the Steam Sap Process. Buy a farm right cure your tobacco so it will be worth something to you, and save what you have worked all the summer to make.

"Old" John Robinson's great show will be at C. M. Company's next Friday. Now is your opportunity for seeing this world renowned exhibition of rarest animals and gymnastic performances.

NEW BIOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY.—Prominent among the valuable features of the new edition of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, just issued is the "New Biographical Dictionary," comprising about 10,000 names of ancient and modern persons of renown, including many now living. It gives us the pronunciation of these names, the nationality, profession or occupation, date of birth, and if known the date of death of each person. From its conciseness and accuracy it supplies a want long felt in this direction, and adds very greatly to the value of this always valuable work.

We have repeatedly urged the importance of Graham as a tobacco market. Our merchants are prepared to purchase tobacco in almost any quantity and pay the highest market prices, in cash or first class dry goods and groceries.

Also very distant day we will have warehouses in our midst for the sale of this the greatest staple of our county. Farmers of Amunee show your appreciation of our efforts by bringing your tobacco to Graham.

MEETING OF THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, MONDAY 6TH INST.—All present except J. A. Thurruino. J. R. Garrett was made chairman pro tem. It was ordered that no allowance be made to any overseer or hand for opening the ford at Alamance creek. Several petitions for opening new public roads were continued until next first Monday.

Registrars and judges of elections were appointed for each township in the county, for the November election. In our next issue we will give the names of those appointed, not having space this issue. The order for establishing a voting place at Joseph Barker's in Melville was revoked. A voting place ordered at Haw River at the store of Col. T. M. Holt. A great number of claims were notified and ordered to be paid which we will not name.

'Look here my fine fellow,' said the lecturer to the boy who was disturbing the orator by constantly coughing, 'there is a quarter to get a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.'

We have received the September number of the Southern Planter and Farmer, the oldest Agricultural Journal in the south, and we may say it is not only the oldest but the best. It is always filled with the latest and best information for the farmer. Subscription, $2 a year in advance, to clubs of five $1.50, and to clubs of ten $1. Published by Southern Planter and Farmer Company, Richmond, Va.

JOHN ROBINSON'S CIRCUS.—It seemed from the appearance of our streets Saturday that 'all the world and the rest of mankind' had come to town to see the world-renowned exhibition known as John Robinson's circus. The weather was certainly hot but did not prevent the throng from following up the procession all along our streets and to the very entrance of the circus tent on Craghead street near the depot. The procession as it passed along made a splendid display, as fine as we ever saw in any show. The elephants in a herd, the camels in a caravan, the lions, tigers, hyenas, zebras and a lot of other zoological curiosities were highly attractive. Inside the canvass was the largest crowd we ever saw at any show in Danville, and all seemed to enjoy themselves. The whole performance was pronounced excellent by everybody and it is high praise to say of it, that it fully came up to the promise of the big posters and the advertisements in the newspapers. The wondrous electric light was of itself a curiosity well worth going to see, being the first of the kind ever seen in this region of country. This with the rare and remarkable collection of animals, birds and reptiles from every land on earth and from the waters under the earth made the show really a model monster entertainment. The various performances of bare-back riding by men and women and of athletic and trapeze performances showed wonderful skill and astonishing courage. Altogether we believe the general opinion of our people is that this is the best exhibition of the kind ever seen in our town.—Danville Register.

PUBLIC SPEAKING AT MEBANEVILLE, SEPT. 11th.

On last Saturday we were at Mebaneville and heard the speaking.

Dr. Worth, the present Treasurer and candidate for re-election spoke first. His speech was not lengthy nor was it clothed in lofty language, but it was such a one as all could readily understand, speaking from actual data and transactions under his immediate observation. He told in plain and convincing terms of the finances of the state; how he had paid claims against the state; how under democratic rule our credit had been redeemed from insolvency; how equal appropriations had been given for the benefit of the colored race; and how one hug from a republican telling him when the democrats get in power they will put him back in slavery, the negro forgets all the benefits received at the hands of Democratic rule.

Col. Kenan, Attorney General came next, introduced by Ed. Scott in a fitting manner. He is quite an orator and spoke with clearness. He showed how it was incumbent upon all, white and black, old and young, to look well to the election of good, honest and true men. He told of the increased thrift of our people and that 85 out of the 94 counties of the state had grown wealthier than ever before. His speech was received with occasional applause.

Gen. Scales, the last speaker was introduced by Col. Kenan with applause from the audience. The General was in fine trim for speaking and appeared to great advantage. He announced that again he was a candidate for Congress from this district and solicited the suffrages of his people. He spoke of the services he had rendered his people, and he would not deceive any one. And would not deceive any one. And would not deceive any one. And would not deceive any one. And would not deceive any one.

The Trial of J. T. DeJarnette.

On last Monday morning the subject of the late tragedy, in Danville, Va., for killing his sister was brought to trial in the corporation court.

The defense was represented by Withers & Barksdale and Capt. R. W. Peatross, the Commonwealth was represented by Capt. John D. Blackwell.

Monday and Tuesday were consumed in taking evidence in the case. Numerous witnesses were examined on the part of both the Commonwealth and the defense. Wednesday morning the counsel on either side argued the case with great ability, and at great length. At 6 o'clock the case was given to the jury, which occupied several hours in making up their verdict, it was as follows:

"We the jury, find James Thomas DeJarnette, guilty of murder in the first degree, but under the circumstances of the case, recommend mercy." A motion for a new trial was heard Saturday morning and overruled. The prisoner was sentenced to be hanged October 29th next. The case will go to the Court of Appeals on a lengthy bill of exceptions.

The prisoner retained the utmost composure throughout the trial and received the verdict with perfect indifference. Large crowds attended during the whole of the trial.
