ENTERTAINMENT

Moontlight nights.
Mr. Joseph Tate is very sick.
Railroad meeting Thursday, 17th.
Mr. David Bell is in town on a visit.
Fife weather for garden and farm operations.

Mrs. Dr. Hanks was in town last week visiting Mrs. J. E. Boyd.
Mr. Tho. E. White, who went west recently, has turned up in St. Louis.

Rev. Mr. Summey will preach in the Presbyterian church here next Sunday.
C. D. Klapp and W. E. Tatum were up from Durham on a visit Sunday last.

Dr. J. L. Williamson left town a few days ago for Arkansas to look after some estate.

Letters of administration were granted last week, to K. M. Mcbane on the estate of D. A. Mcbane, deceased.

Mr. John Hutchison has taken charge of the hotel, recently run by Mr. J. W. Egan.

Mr. Max J. Gorman, of Raleigh, has accepted the situation as local and news writer on the daily Greensboro Patriot.

It is with pleasure that we announce that the health of our esteemed citizen Mr. Geo. W. White, is improved.

M. Straus, under the Benbow House sells the cheapest clothing, shoes and hats in Greensboro.

It is said that they are to have a steam cotton factory at Mebaneville. That is right; get up steam all over the county, and let's have a big boom!

Rev. O. N. Mason was quite sick yesterday, so that he could not reach Hawfields to fill his regular appointment.

The Board of Commissioners have ordered that a new lightning rod be put on the court house. This is not the only repair that our court house needs.

More work is being done on the streets. It is to be hoped that the town authorities will put them in good condition while it is.

An editor, for a month or more to come should be prepared to take back what he has said concerning the weather one day, the next.

Dr. B. F. Mebane, the popular, hardworking Senator from this county, is at home again among his patients where he is greatly needed.

Mr. J. J. Long has just received a new lot of gaiter shoes, umbrellas and very fine notions. He has thirty bushels of good seed oats for sale. Everything cheap.

Mr. Bennett Hazell, of McCray's Store near Haysville, was in town last Friday. He is one of our oldest citizens and moves about quite actively for an old man. He is of 1812 war fame.

When you go to Greensboro do not fail to examine M. Straus' big stock of clothing, dry goods, shoes and hats. It is a pleasure to him to show you his stock.

NORTH CAROLINA FARMER—The copy for March is before us. This excellent farm paper is published at Raleigh by J. H. Emuis, at the low price of 1.00 per year. It is a credit to North Carolina to have such a paper to enlighten and elucidate to one of our greatest interests.

At Mr. Sam'l Crawford's on Wednesday evening last Mr. J. D. Gunter, of Jonesboro, was married to Miss Jennie L. Donny. We wish them a most happy journey through their married life. Mr. Gunter has subscribed for THE GLEANER since marrying. We wish many more would marry and do likewise.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST—This splendid farm journal for March is before us. We only wish we had space to give an account of the splendid hints for things pertaining to the farmers contained in it. An out-line is sketched for the months work, which alone is worth the subscription price. No practical farmer can afford to be without such a journal. Published by Orange Judd Co., 751 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $1.50 per year.

On last Thursday, we met Mr. J. E. Scott in Greensboro. He was on his way home from an extensive trip to the North and South. He has been gone about six weeks, during which time he has bought a large stock of spring goods and sold a great deal of tobacco. He is in good spirits and expects to sell tons of goods during the present season. Everybody who wants goods go to see him. He will buy all the tobacco you have to sell.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY—On last Friday, as Mr. B. O. Guthrie, a young man from Chatham, was on his way from Susquehanna to Graham, he observed a suspicious looking negro soon after he crossed the bridge. The man followed him at a short distance near to Graham, and when about a mile from town, it then being dark, he took a short cut through the woods, and coming into the road ahead of Guthrie, seized his horse by the bridle. To the demand of Guthrie as to his reason for stopping his horse, he said that it was none of his business, whereupon Guthrie fired three times upon him with a pistol. The negro fell, but being threatened with more serious injury if he should remain in the vicinity he got up and ran to the woods, and that was the last that was seen of him.

SOUTH ATLANTIC—We have received the splendid magazine for February. The contents of this number are worth the attention of anyone who reads. Thomas Carlyle—A short sketch of the life of that learned old man, giving some account of the opinions entertained by him. All Hall—A sonnet in memory of the late Bishop Atkinson. And Robin Gray—a very artistic lover's scene. The old Southern Regime, and Coolidge, are quite interesting and are but the continuation of the same from previous numbers. Alexander Stephens—a review, in a measure, of a biography of the Georgia statesman. What does protection protect?—is concerned chiefly in giving statistics relating to our internal interests, and of Manufacturing both for and domestic. Published at Baltimore, Md. Subscription $3.00.

MISS BETSY SWEET.

There is scarce a life feature of a local newspaper that attracts more interested attention than the black bordered space devoted to the announcement of deaths; and when in the solemn list the name appears of one whose life current flowed out of the ordinary channels in its way to the great sea of eternity, a brief mention of its meanderings may be interesting to all, and cannot fail to be to the acquaintances and friends of the departed.

Miss Elizabeth Jones Sweet was born in the State of New York, in what county the writer cannot recall, but up the Hudson river from the great city, on the 25th of November 1790. Her father was a surgeon in the revolutionary war, and died when she was quite young. Her mother married a second husband, and she was taken and raised by a maternal aunt, a Mrs. Newkirk of the same State, and perhaps the same county. About the year 1820 Miss Harriet Rely, afterwards Mrs. William Tucker, of Raleigh, mother in the city of New York, where she was engaged in some department of female industry, military as is recolected. Miss Rely sought her services in the same or some kindred line in Raleigh and with her she came to North Carolina. Dr. Alexander Wilson was at that time just starting upon his long and useful career as teacher and preacher, and had charge of a school in Williamsborough, Granville county, this State. He very soon formed the acquaintance of Miss Betsy, as she was generally called, and invited her to pay a visit to his family, at Williamsborough. She accepted the invitation, and the visit, at first prolonged by sickness in the Dr.'s family, eventually became one of life duration. With the family she remained as of the household, till one by one most of them passed the mysterious boundary, leaving her behind. The wife she first met on this extended visit, the husband who invited her, and four of the seven children whom she saw in infancy, childhood and full growth, had all been called before her summons came. After the death of the old Dr., she remained in the family of the young Dr. Sandy as she fondly called him, who succeeded to the homestead. Him she followed to the grave last, and returned to the home she had seen twice draped in mourning for its honored head, where she remained with the widow whose dead husband she had watched from infancy, to wait the inevitable hour. At last it came, as to all it must. She died on the 16th of February, 1881, after a short prostration, rather than illness, in her ninety first year.

She possessed strong individuality, and as such people usually are, was by some called eccentric. She never visited her native State after leaving it sixty years before her death. Among her relatives were some of the oldst and best families of New York. Of the many distinguished men, scattered over this and other States, who were once school boys of Dr. Wilson's, at Melville, or at other places where he had taught, there is perhaps not one who does not remember "Miss Betsy" with kindly feelings, if not genuine affection. She often spoke of the length of her visit as she called it, extending to nearly three score years, and none regretted either its beginning or long duration. Not a day or hour perhaps in all those long years when visitor or visited regretted the relation or desired its termination. While she was devotedly pious, yet she connected herself with no church.

By some who knew her well this is attributed to her having been raised under the influences of the Dutch Reformed church, of which in after life she had no opportunity of becoming a member.
In person she was small, but healthful and active.

Her candor was a marked trait of her character, as many a man can testify, who, when a pupil of Dr. Wilson's, came under her censorship, especially for what she deemed improper conduct at church. She often remarked in her latter days that her life had been divided into three periods, nearly equal as to time, of about thirty years each—the first spent in her native State, the second with the family of Dr. Wilson, before he settled at Melville in this country, and the last at Melville, in the grand old house, now nearly or quite a century old, where her somewhat remarkable career closed with her death. She was a great reader and with the opportunity of Dr. Wilson's extensive library, she had acquired quite a fund of general information.

Few live to her advanced age, and few pass lives more out of the ordinary channel. With no family ties to sever by her death, yet those that bound her to affectionate friends were scarcely less tender. She sleeps in Hawfields church yard with those who had gone before of the family with which she was for so long a time identified as one of its members.

YELLOW FEVER.—To ameliorate the dreadful effects of Yellow Fever, take Simmons Liver Regulator. Let it be given in large doses, that it may have immediate effect upon the liver, and remove the accumulating bile. It so acts upon the liver, stomach and blood as to prevent the attack of this terrible disease.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—William Paris presented his bond as constable for Thompson Township, it being approved, he was qualified by taking the required oath. S. H. Webb and others filed a petition to have a public road opened, commencing at T. A. Morrow's on the Saxapahaw and Hillsboro road and running in a north westerly direction by Wm. G. Turentine's. In this matter, it was ordered that notice of filing the petition be posted at the court house door, and that W. G. Turentine be notified that the matter will be heard and acted upon on the first Monday in April next, at the town of Graham.

It was ordered that the report of the jury laying off the Public Road from the Graham and Pittsboro road near Mrs. Mary Ray's, to the Catham county line at Allen's mill, be approved.

The committee appointed to repair the bridge on Haw River at Galbreath's were allowed a sum of money not to exceed $50.00 to have the work done.

It was resolved by the board that the committee appointed to build a bridge across Stinking Quarter at Easterson's Mills, not being able to contract to have the bridge built for the sum previously allowed, the further sum of $29.50 be appropriated.

There were a number of claims audited, allowed, and the County Treasurer ordered to pay them. Nothing further of importance was done.

THE ILLUSTRATED SCIENTIFIC NEWS.

One of the handsomest of publications is the Illustrated Scientific News, published by Munn & Co., New York. Every number contains thirty-two pages, full of engraving in novelties, in science and the useful arts. Ornamental wood work, pottery, vases and objects of modern and ancient art are neatly shown.
The March number contains among various other subjects illustrated, a full description of the manufacture of paper; hangings with engravings; how the deceptive curve is produced in casting the ball by the baseball pitcher; his attitude, how he holds and handles the ball; fully illustrated. The number before us contains engravings of Capt. Eads' proposed ship railway across the Isthmus, and a novel railway connection.

In addition to all this it contains many valuable recipes for artists and bookbinders.
This publication will be found instructive and entertaining to all classes, but will be best appreciated by the most intelligent. Published by Munn & Co., 37 Park Row, New York, at $1.50 a year, and sold by all newsdealers.
