

THE GLEANER
WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1882
D. KENNEDY, Editor.

Gov. Davis is spoken of in connection with the presidency of Trinity College.

J. H. Wheeler, the historian and diplomat and native of this State, died in Washington a few days ago.

Senator Ransom has a strong opponent to his re-election to the Senate in the person of Hon. W. T. Dorth, of Wayne county.

It is said that Tom Chittre, a member elect of the next Congress from Texas, will persecute Barron Munchausen, and lay Sunset Cox in the shade.

J. T. Updegraff, a Republican member of the present Congress and member elect of the next Congress, died on the first inst., at Steuerville, Ohio.

The Patriot has received a letter from Gen. Scales in which he says he is not over sanguine about the passage of the Kelly bill abolishing the tax on tobacco.

It is quite likely that we will soon have cheaper postage. The President recommends it in his message and a bill has been introduced in Congress to the same effect. Two cent letter postage is what we want.

The tobacco manufacturers of Winston have been interviewed on the tobacco tax question and the leading manufacturers, with possibly one exception, express themselves as favoring an entire abolition of the tax.

Every one is busy naming his man for the different offices in the legislature which will assemble the first of January. Just to pick up a Raleigh daily one would almost be forced to the conclusion that the State legislature was elected purposely for office seekers. Let us stop this rush for clerkships and return to the good custom of olden times when the office sought the man.

Arabi Pasha was tried by a court martial at Cairo, Egypt, on Saturday the 2nd inst. Arabi pleaded guilty to the charge of rebellion and was sentenced to death, but the Khedive has commuted his sentence to exile for life. It seems to have been a prearranged plan that he should plead guilty and thereby get the English and Egyptian governments out of an embarrassing situation. Arabi was obliging in the extreme to submit himself a rebel since the laws of his country could not be construed so as to make him such. He has become the scapgoat, and the absurdity of a regular trial is covered up. He will go into some part of the British dominion. This is the conclusion of the war in which Wolsey gained his passage.

We have read the President's message to Congress. It is quite a long paper, as such generally are. We cannot print it in the GLEANER for it would take up almost our entire paper. So we will content ourselves by merely alluding to some of the main features of the message. He refers briefly to the Chinese immigration bill, without comment. Favors a peace Congress for the arbitration of international difficulties. The operations of the treasury department are reviewed but we will not speak of them in this connection. A reduction of internal revenue is favored, and entire abolition of internal taxes excepting that on tobacco, spirits and fermented liquors, which he thinks should bear the burden. A further refunding of the national debt is favored. The reduction of postage is recommended. An increase of the army and a curtailment in appropriations are favored, also the improvement of the navy. The President desires to see the Star route cases fully investigated. And lastly the improvement of the civil service claims the President's attention. This he hopes to see improved.

We learn that an important improvement to the power loom has been recently made by Mr. W. B. Alford, of Randleman, in this State. The device is attached to the stripe chain lever, which stops the loom when the stripe chain hangs, (a common occurrence, as all weavers know,) and whenever it does, something has to break. The loom works on, which makes a bad place in the cloth. This device prevents these breaks and balks, saves time and perplexity to the weaver, and adds many yards to each loom daily, with the improvement annexed. This device is now attached to the Bridesburg loom, at North Falls, Randolph county, North State.

Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 10, 1882.
It would not be possible, perhaps, for any President to construct an annual message that would escape criticism among the varied and various political elements here at the Capital. President Arthur certainly has not accomplished the feat this year, though his message bears internal evidences of a labored effort in that direction. There are few who accord it rank as an able state paper, but worst than that a large proportion of the President's own party are positively displeased with many of his utterances. This feeling, slightly apparent at first, has been growing daily ever since the message appeared in print. The State leaders are not only dissatisfied with the message, but with the President's Southern policy, which is entirely controlled by that astute and unscrupulous wire-walker, Secretary Bill Chandler, and has been so managed as to squelch the staunch Republicans of that section in order to further the purposes of such schemers as Mahone. The Half-breds are best pleased with the message, though filled with doubts of its sincerity. An ironical smile played upon the faces of listeners in both houses of Congress when the President's expressions on the subject of political assessments were read. One leading Senator said half aloud: "He should have put those sentiments into practice before the election instead of giving Hubbell and Mahone a carte blanche to rob the poor clerks." It will be remembered that the President went fishing last summer and allowed his position on the assessment question to be interpreted by Jay Hubbell and Mahone and Don Cameron, whose demands were made imperative, and there never was a more general belief that the status of office holders depended upon compliance with these demands. It may safely be said that the message has taken many persons by surprise. One heard it said on the streets and in the hotels that the President has heard the verdict of the people and been guided by it. Some are agreeably surprised by his recommendations and others speak of the message as a "death-bed repentance." Senator Miller of New York, laughing refers to the President's recommendations as those of a convert.

There is a good deal of amusement for us lookers-on to note how the views and purposes of Congressmen change from time to time. For instance, some Republican members are suddenly discovering great necessity for a revision of the tariff this winter. And then Judge Kelley who only a short time ago wanted to wipe out the entire internal revenue system, for the purpose of protecting the tariff, is now conceding that his plan will have to be abandoned and that at least a small amount of tariff revise might be endured. These are questions which very much trouble the Republican mind just now. Then, too, some Republican Congressmen are coming out for civil service reform, among them the very fellows who have heretofore said: "Civil service reform we bow down," with a good deal of emphasis. While this humor is on them, Senator Pendleton proposes to bring forward his little bill for consideration. Senator Beck created something of a breeze in the Senate by moving for an investigation of the Hubbell committee methods. His idea is to have it shown how much money was collected, where and how it was expended, how much was given to Mahone and how much, if any, is still on hand. The right of Congress to make this inquiry arises under the law against assessments. It is also proposed to find out how many clerks have been dismissed or failed to equiguate. They say that Hubbell, who is not now in Washington, intends to keep away as long as he can, and that it is very doubtful in our event whether he comes back to Washington until after the Senatorial election in Michigan.

It is taking considerable time to get started with the new Star route trial and get a jury. Dorsey, too, is said to be playing possum, with a few obtaining a postponement. Now that the Washington atmosphere has been cleared a little, the rogues are badly scared, and Dorsey's late "start" is regarded here in the light of a shriek of distress. There is still a good deal of discussion touching the attitude of the President, and the prevailing opinion is that his apathy of some time ago, a little later, and that his sincerity in it corresponds with his after election civil service and political sentiments. Mr. Arthur has all along known all he knew two weeks ago when he made the move which was intended to give him the credit of being in earnest; yet for a whole year he neglected to do. When Attorney General McVeigh resigned the very conclusive reasons given by him in his letter recently published, the President delayed the appointment of his successor for three weeks after the time he had agreed to appoint him, thus encouraging the abuse of Mr. Veagh in Dorsey's newspaper and adding thereto to create the impression that Mr. Veagh wanted to run away from the case because he believed they were weak. It is since his election that Mr. Appah has felt obliged to do something. He no doubt feels just as grateful to Dorsey now as he did when he toasted him at a banquet in New York, just after the election in 1880, as the savior of the party by the judicious use of "soup" in Indiana. Dorsey now says that Arthur is trying to save himself by going back on those who placed him in office. There is only one newspaper in Washington—the Evening Star, that the Star route thieves cannot buy. Even the Democratic Post fell with the others. Perhaps some day the Democratic party will have an organ here controlled by men of character who will keep away from fish pots. The Post and Republican are now scratching each other back with regularity. One day the former boom Graham for Secretary of the Senate and the next day the latter gives Hutchins a boost for Clerk of the House. It is to be hoped neither of them will "get there."

Leach-Heitman Difficulty.
An unfortunate shooting affair took place in Lexington last week. The parties to the quarrel on Wednesday were Gen. J. M. Leach and C. L. Heitman, Esq. The difficulty grew out of an interference on the part of Leach in a suit in which Heitman was counsel. Leach was about to come Heitman when the latter drew a pistol and induced him to desist, without having to use the weapon. This was thought to be an end of the matter.

The sequel to this transpired last Friday afternoon. Heitman was on the street. He was halted by some one from behind and ordered to throw up his right hand, in outlaw style. On turning he was confronted by J. M. Leach, Jr., who fired on him at a distance of thirty steps with a shot gun. Heitman drew his pistol and emptied it at him without effect. Three shot hit Heitman without any serious consequences. Leach is out on a five hundred dollar bail, which is very small under the circumstances. The sympathy of the community is on the side of Heitman.

A negro naval cadet was tried at the recent term of Caswell court for the murder of his wife, found guilty and sentenced to be hanged on Friday, the 29th of this month (December).

The Duke of New Castle, England was in Greensboro last week.
