It seems that Montana, one of the new States, is Democratic.

Irving Bishop, the mind reader, is dead, and there is considerable excitement about his death. Five hours after he was pronounced dead, parts of his body were dissected. His mother and wife claim that he was not dead but under the influence af a cataleptic fit, and that he was butchered by the dissectors. The latter are under bond. It is a queer case.

We regret to see the announcement that Mr. T. B. Kingsbury has withdrawn from the editorial staff of the Wilmington Star. He was easily the most polished and versatile writer upon the State press. He will be greatly missed by the entire brotherhood. He is succeeded by Maj. P. F. Cuffey, who is a good newspaper writer and will do his part well.

This request is made by the executive committee of the Confederate Veterans' association of North Carolina, which held a meeting on memorial day at Raleigh, and passed a resolution to that effect. We hope that the ex-Confederates of this (Chatham) county will hold such a meeting and organize an Association as requested. What say you, comrades?"

Prominent citizens in and about Pittaboro recently held a meeting looking to inducing thrifty immigrants to settle thereabouts, both in the town and the country contiguous thereto. Why could not this, or any community, by concert of action in face immigrants of means and such as would make good and valuable citizens-farmers and mechanics, to come and cast their lots with us? Surely we have plenty of land, enough and to spare, and then there is enough for the mechanle to keep busy along. With immigrants of these clauses, the avenues for others would naturally open, thus the community would go on growing with ever increasing demands for three of other trades and vocations. In this way communities of thrift and enterprise are built up.

There are those who are ready and waiting for suitable locations for houses and for business to be brought to their solice and just an acce as their ideas are partially presented to their minds, they will be grasped and the immigrant will come. It is worth the while to make the effort.

WASHINGTON LETTER

[From our Regular Cor.]

WASHINGTON, May 17th, 1889.

Hon. Samuel J. Randall who has seen confined to his residence in this city for several weeks past is now much better, although not yet well enough to get out of doors. He contemplates spending the summer at the seashore. Solictitor General Jenks, of the Department of Justice, who tendered his resignation at the beginning of the present administration, has been notified of its acceptance by the President to take effect on the 15th, inst. Mr.

Jenks will continue in the service of the Government as counsel in the telephone cases until they are disposed of. This position was the bone of contention which brought on the recent bitter wrangle between Senators Sherman and Quay. It was privately promised to Sherman's candidate Alphonzo Hart, of Ohio, some weeks ago, but for some unknowucause the appointment has not yet been publicly announced. Ex-Senator Riddleberger, would-be Congressman Laughton and other yer" has the luck of getting left in anti-Mahone republicans come to Wash ington and chin the President all they want to, but so far everything given out in Virginia has gone to a Mahone

The only way to fight the grinding monopoly successfully is to let its warea entirely alone, and ere long the combination will become a wreck from carrying itself.

The following concerning a request made by the Confederate Veterans' Association of North Carolina is from fife Pittaboro Record:

"The ex-Confederate soldiers of every county in North Carolina are requested to meet at their county seat, on the fourth day of next July, and orgalse a Confederate Veterans' Association for their county in North Carolina are requested to meet at their county seat, on the fourth day of next July, and orgalse a Confederate Veterans' Association for their county in North Carolina are requested to meet at their county seat, on the fourth day of next July, and orgalse a Confederate Veterans' Association for their carolina is from the civil Seryice Commissioners have received letters asking how soon examinations are to be held in Oklahoma.

In the division of which Townsend is to be Chief there are 25 white lady clerks and every one of them is trying to get transferred to some other division in order to escape the negro chief. As one of the ladies puts it: "We naturally have to pay a certain amount of court and deference to our Chief, and it will be very disagreeable for me to treat a negro as my superior, I shall get into some other division if I can; if not I suppose I shall have to stand it, as my bread and butter depends upon it.'

Oklahoma does not propose getting left in the scramble for office. Corporal Tanner has appointed a board of pension examiners for Guthrie, and the Civil Seryice Commissioners have received letters asking how soon examinations are to be held in Oklahoma.

It is said that the Sherman and For-received letters asking how soon exeminations are to be held in Oklahoma.

It is said that the Sherman and Foraker factions of Ohio republicans have got up a compromise on the Federal officers in Cincinnati, and that ex-Mayor Amor Smith will be surveyor and Col. D. W. McClung collector. The first is a Sherman man and the latter pins his faith to Foraker.

One man has appeared here as a candidate for office that every respectable man in the country should rejoice to see disappointed. I refer to W. E. Haskell, editor of the Minneapolis Tribune, who wants to be minister to Denmark. Haskell is the man who publicly insulted Mrs. Cleveland by a scandalous editorial in the columns of his paper while she and her husband were the guests of his city. It is surprising that he could get anybody to endorse his application.

The Court of Claims has decided that the celebrated Triggs swords, which have been in the custody of the Treasury department ever since the war, should be turned over to Mr. Myers, the executor of the General Triggs' estate.

Ex-Congressman Ochiltree, who spends his time in New York, but for political purposes claims a residence in Texas, says Harrison has given him control of all the Federal patronage of Texas. It may be just as Mr. Ochiltree says, but you know Mr. Ochiltree is the campaign romaneer of the country.

"The Bridge."

Long way After M. Longfellow. I stood on the bride at midnight as drunk as a son-of-a-gun, two moons rose o'er the city, when there ought to have been but one. I could see their bright reflection, in the waters under me, and I experienced a feeling of wonder and great curiosity. If only one had been but what two moons were doing, I could not well make out. The tide was slowly ebbing, I could hear the waters roll, as I stood in the wavering shadows to hide from the night patrol. How often, oh! how often in the days How often, oh! how often in the days of auld lang syne, I have tried to cross at midnight, and got left every time. But to-night I was hot and reetless, my mind was full of care, and the walk that lay before me, was more than I could hear. I had no latch-key with me, and locked would be the door, and I would have to sit in the door-way as I oft have done before. I'd have to sit in the door-way in agony and fear, till a voice said from the window, "Did the lodge held late, my dear?" So to night I stood there dreaming, and witched the restless tide, till a cop came along with a wagon, and invited me to ride. tide, till a cop came along wagon, and invited me to ride.

& Piuribus Unum.

"Did you know that the legend E Piuribus Unum, which has appeared on different United States coins, was never authorized to be so placed by law?" sold a numimatist. It was first used in that way in 1786. There was no United States mint then, but there was a private one at Newburg, N. Y., and the motto of the United States was first placed on a copper coin struck at that mint, Very few collections have specimens of this coin. They are very valuable. In 1787 a goldsmith named Brasher coined a piece which was known as the sixteen dollar gold piece, and the motto placed in this form "Unum E Piuribus," was stamped on it. The coin is worth to-day $2,000, and only four are known to be in existence. In 1787 the motto also appeared on various copper coins of the State of New Jersey.—Philadelphia Press.

Modest North Carolina.

From "Regimental Losses in the American Civil War," by Col. Wm. F. Fox, and published by the Albany Publishing Co., Albany, N. Y., a writer in the Philadelphia Press has gleaned the following interesting statistics; "This is the book of revelations as to both sides in the civil war. On the Confederate side North Carolina lost more soldiers in killed than any Southern State. The following was the Confederate side North Carolina lost more soldiers in killed than any Southern State. The following was the loss in killed of several of the Confederate States: North Carolina, 14,522; Virginia,5,323; South Carolina, 9,187, Georgia, 5,553; Missi as i p p i, 5,807. North Corolina also led the list in the number that died of wounds, and 20,602 of her sons died of disease to 6,947 Virginians. The sons of other States did more talking, but North Carolina evidently did by far the most fighting. Her military population in 1861 was 115,869, but she furnished 125,000 men to the Confederate cause. The per centage of loss in killed and wounded was twice as great in the Confederate army as in the Union armies. At Gettysburg the 20th North Carolina, of Pettigrew's Brigade, went into battle with over 800 men, and lost 588 in killed and wounded and 120 missing, most of whom were also killed or wounded. Most of this lose occurred in the first day's fight, where the regiment met the 151st Pennsylvania and Cooper's Battery. The Pennsylvania regiment lost 325 in killed, wourded and missing at Gettysbury. The 26th North Carolina had only 216 men left for duty it when went into Longstreet's assult on the third day, and on the following day but 80 men were left. On the first day Captain Tuttle's company went into action with three officers and 84 men. All Tuttle's company went into action with three officers and 84 men. All the officers and 83 of the men were killed wounded. On the same day Company C, of the 11th North Carocompany C, of the 11th North Carolina, lost two officers and thirty-four out of thirty-eight men killed or wounded. Capt.
