The question of moving Trinity College to Raleigh, Durham, Greensboro, or some other town that will offer an inducement equal to the loss that would be sustained by quitting the present property and location—estimated to be worth $25,000, is receiving considerable attention.

We have acquired some little fame as an opponent to college moving, which, however it is unnecessary to relate to those who have been constant readers of the GLEANER for the past six or eight months. But the subject under discussion now is the removal of Trinity College, and it being our alma mater we feel privileged to say a word about it. We are opposed to the removal of this institution; because, in the first place, no adequate inducement has been named either by the committee making the proposition or the towns desiring its location in their midst. Again, it is a monument of the life-work and to the unflagging energy and indomitable will of the late Rev. Dr. Braxton Craven, one of the very best equipped and most learned educators North Carolina ever had, and it would be nothing short of desecration and a lasting shame to the Methodists of North Carolina to permit its removal. Trinity is a landmark at its present location to every alumnus and old student of the institution and possesses a charm for them that no other institution, however elegantly appointed, bearing the same name could have. To the old student, old Trinity would be the only Trinity, and the same would ever be associated with the present location of the College. The Methodists of North Carolina ought never again to mention the removal of Trinity but rally to the support of the College that has done everything for that church in this State.

The action of the County Commissioners and Justices of the Peace, on the 1st Monday, in refusing to relieve Treasurer Fonville of the loss he sustained by the failure of the State National Bank, met the approval of some and the disapproval of others. However, their action does not bear the stamp of being tempered with mercy. To have forgiven him would have been merciful, and especially so, we believe, in as much as he had taken every precaution to keep safely from loss the funds committed to his keeping. The crash came and the money placed there by the Sheriff of Chatham and the Sheriff and Treasurer of Wake was there; most of it was lost; and as no mortal outside the thieves who stole the money, so far as known, foresaw the calamity. It is a grievous hardship to compel Mr. Fonville to pay the $1,500, which he asked to be relieved and for which tax-payers representing four-fifths of the taxes paid in the county petitioned. Mr. Fonville is a one-armed Confederate soldier, and if he shall be compelled to pay the money stolen, he will have nothing left—will be left homeless upon the cold charity of the world.

We accord every man the credit of having acted and voted honestly and conscientiously; but some may have not thought upon this matter prior to the first Monday as they have done, and we venture to suggest that the Commissioners and Justices of the Peace sit upon the matter again.

The executive committee of the N. C. Press Association has fixed upon July 17th as the time for the next annual meeting, but the place has not been named. We hope the committee will select a place where the brethren of the press can get pleasant and suitable accommodations, with at least sufficient attractions to make the sojourn enjoyable. And when our work is done here the members can do their junketing; but we should not mix the business of the Association up with pleasure seeking, for the one would be poorly done and the other little enjoyed.

In the past, for at least nine years, the meetings of the Association have been given largely to pleasure, with a slight sprinkling of business, provided it was convenient.

We suggest that hereafter the business of the Association be given precedence, and when that is done, then give to the members a few days of rest and recreation. It should also be remembered that it should always be held in a place where the members can get pleasant and suitable accommodations, with at least sufficient attractions to make the sojourn enjoyable.

"Chap John" Wannamaker is trending on dangerous ground. He wants to abolish Sunday work in the post-offices, and in order to get some foundation to work on he has sent a circular letter to the postmasters of one hundred of the largest cities asking for suggestions as to how Sunday work may be stopped, etc. Of course all good men believe that the Sabbath should be observed in as general a manner as possible, but at the same time all sensible men know that a certain amount of work must be performed by somebody on that day, and the carrying and rapid handling of the mails is a work too important to be stopped at any time, for any cause. In fact the efficiency of the post office department is more in need of being increased than decreased in this very matter of Sunday handling of mails and if Wannamaker isn't very careful he will raise a tempest in the business world that will be strong enough to sweep him out of the office that cost him so much money. And there is another view of the matter that should not be lost sight of. In the more than one hundred years of its existence no attempt has ever been made to have this government officially recognize any religious denomination or sect, and the precedent would be a dangerous one to establish. Suppose for instance that Wannamaker, who is a Freyherian, should succeed in having all work stopped in the post offices on Sunday during his administration of the post office department. So far, all right, but now suppose that in the unexpected upheaval of politics he should be succeeded by a Hebrew, or a Seventh Day Adventist, both of which sect regard Saturday as the Sabbath day, and that he should insist on having all postoffice work stopped on his Sabbath. Then what a row we should have. Church and State both have some important functions to perform in this as well as every other country, but let us keep them separate and distinct, for if history teaches anything it is the utter futility of successfully uniting the two.

Politics have this week been pushed to the wall by that "one touch of nature that makes the whole world kin." Democrats and republicans have vied with each other to provide succor for the thousands of people made homeless by the great floods in Pennsylvania. Washington has shown the world that however heartless she seems to be in her dealings with political and social doings, she is really a great big human heart, throbbing just now in sympathetic accord with her suffering brothers and sisters of the Conemaugh Valley, upon whom such a terrible calamity has fallen. A public meeting was held to provide organized methods of collecting money and clothing; it was attended by an immense crowd and was presided over by the President who made a strong appeal for subscriptions. About $30,000 in cash has been raised besides an enormous quantity of blankets clothing disinfectants etc. Every body seemed disposed to give something; poor people who were unable to give money gave a blanket or a cast off garment; their nickles and news boys handed in their nickles along side the millionaire's thousand dollar checks, and the children emptied the pennies out of their little banks in order to turn them over to the Committee. For the first half of the week nothing was talked about or seemingly thought about but the awful news from Johnstown. Washington's food had done a damage to property public and private of several millions of dollars but that was entirely forgotten in the face of the great loss of life by the Pennsylvania horror.

Already the republican acting Commissioner of the General Land office has begun to undo the good work of the democratic administration. He has given notice that he intends abolishing the Board of Review and the Division of Contests, both established under Mr. Cleveland's administration and both recognized as being in the interests of the homesteaders and against the land-grabber. But as the last named class have for many years, with the exception of from '85 to '89, controlled that office the change can hardly be surprising.

The Civil Service Commission is heavily engaged in discovering "marvels" it has just reported a large one in the New York custom house, and is now in Troy, N. Y., hoping to find one in the post office. Next week it is to start west on a grand tour of discovery which will embrace a dozen cities.

Apparently for the purpose of encouraging matrimony Durham county commissioners have levied no county tax on marriage licenses.

To the Medical Profession.—The various medical associations and the medical profession will be glad to learn that Dr. John S. Billings, Surgeon U. S. Army, has consented to take charge of the report on the Mortality and Vital Statistics of the United States as returned by the Eleventh Census.

As the United States has no system of registration of vital statistics, such as is relied upon by other civilized nations for the purpose of ascertaining the actual movement of population, our census affords the only opportunity of obtaining near an approximate estimate of the birth and death rates of the much larger part of the country, which is entirely unprovided with any satisfactory system of State and municipal registration.

In view of this, the Census Office, during the month of May this year, has issued to the medical profession throughout the country "Physician's Registers" for the purpose of obtaining more accurate returns of deaths than it is possible for the enumerators to make. It is earnestly hoped that physicians in every part of the country will co-operate with the Census Office in this important work. The record should be kept from June 1, 1889, to May 31, 1890. Nearly 28,000 of these registration books were filled up and returned to the office in 1889, and nearly all of them used for statistical purposes. It is hoped that double this number will be obtained for the Eleventh Census.

Physicians not receiving Registers can obtain them by sending their names and addresses to the census office, and, with the Register an official envelope which requires no stamp will be provided for their return to Washington.

If medical and surgical practitioners throughout the country will lend their aid, the mortality and vital statistics of the eleventh census will be more comprehensive and complete than they have ever been. Every physician should take a personal pride in having this report as full and accurate as it is possible to make it.

It is hereby promised that all information obtained through this source shall be held strictly confidential. ROBT. P. PORTER, Superintendent of Census.

The Pennsylvania Deluge. The Estimation of the Loss.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 6.—The following is an accurate estimate of the loss of life and property by the floods in Pennsylvania as can now be given: Mineral point—Lives lost 16; property $100,000.

East Conemaugh and Franklin (the town borough), lives 38; property $1,300,000. Woodvale, lives 300; property 3,500,000. Johnstown and Millville, lives 7,000; property $18,000,000. Kernville, lives 600; property $300,000. Cumbrina, lives 1,100; property $750,000.

Inverness, lives 8; property $15,000. Morrellville, lives 1; property $10,000. Sheridan and Cooperdale, no lives, property $75,000. Pennsylvania railroad $15,000,000. Total lives 9,063; property $34,075,000.

Debit of Southern States. [New York Sun.] The figures relating to the State indebtedness which are presented in the last Statistical Abstract issued by the Treasury Department have drawn the attention of our esteemed contemporary, the New Orleans Democrat, to a very remarkable fact. The thirteen Southern States, including Kentucky and Missouri, have funded debts aggregating $95,535,613, besides an unfunded debt amounting to $30,000,000 more.

Table with columns: State, Debt in Millions. Virginia, 23,500,000; North Carolina, 4,300,000; South Carolina, 7,015,741; Georgia, 8,752,305; Alabama, 9,214,300; Florida, 1,275,000; Mississippi, 1,105,150; Louisiana, 11,982,621; Texas, 4,237,730; Arkansas, 19,029,100; Kentucky, 674,000; Tennessee, 2,500,000; Missouri, 9,525,000; Total, $96,158,643. Average in State tax in mills .4/7.

Of these Southern States Kentucky alone has a sinking fund, and in her case it nearly covers the small indebtedness. Three-quarters of the debt of Texas and about the whole of Mississippi are due to the school funds of those States, so that the net debt is insignificant in each case. In round figures, $110,000,000 is the Southern aggregate, including the unfunded debt. The remaining twenty-one States, comprising all those of the North, the Northwest and the Pacific slope, owe less than $400,000,000 funded and unfunded, if the amounts in the several sinking funds are subtracted from the nominal aggregate.

It appears, therefore, that the Southern States are loaded with more than two-thirds of all the State debts of the Union. This heavy and enormously disproportionate burden is mainly due to the years of misgovernment and plunder which the South endured under Republican carpet-bag rule. That was broken up by the Sun and some other newspapers; and the melancholy period ended forever with the election of Samuel J. Tilden as President of the United States.

It is well to remember these things once in a while. The figures of the Southern State debts even at the present time remain as a reminder. The wonderful energy and new prosperity of the South is steadily decreasing the mountain of State debts piled up during eight evil years of Grant and carpet-bag rule.

In general make-up it resembles the preceding numbers of the series. We also include the same skill in the selection and treatment of topics and the same careful editing which has characterized the work from the beginning. In fact, as it progresses its great merits become still more conspicuous. The combination of a dictionary and an encyclopedia in an excellent idea and is being well carried out. The judicious use of illustrations is a helpful feature, and the treatment of subjects is clear, direct, and practical. Thus, while it is of great value to professional men, it is also a thoroughly serviceable and helpful work for the masses of the people.

Among the subjects treated in this Volume are: Excommunication, 3 pages; Exorcism, 2 pages; Extreme Unction, 1 page; Eye, 20 pages; Factory, 3 pages; Factory Acts, 6 pages; Faith and Faith Cure, each over 1 page; Fallacy, over 3 pages; Falling Bodies, 3 pages; Faraday, 2 pages; Fashion, over 9 pages; Fast, 8 pages; Federal Government, over 1 page; Fertilizers, 1 page; Fevers, 6 pages; Fidelity System, over 4 pages; Fir, 5 pages; Firearms, 6 pages; Fishery, 7 pages; Fishery Treaties, 2 pages; Fishes, 8 pages; Flax, about 6 pages; Flint Implements, over 2 pages; Florence, 5 pages; Floriculture, 2 pages; Florida, 6 pages; Flowers, over 4 pages. Covering the various fields of agriculture, manufactures, commerce, science, art, invention, history, religion, law, biography, and politics, the work is truly manifold in character as well as name. It costs only 60 cents a volume in excellent cloth binding, and 75 cents in half morocco, sent post-paid, or, if ordered before July 1, the 10 vols. now ready may be had, sent prepaid, for $6.80 for the cloth binding, $8.90 for half morocco. JOHN B. ALDRICK, Publisher, New York, Chicago, and Atlanta.

Policeman in Jail. ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 5.—To-day policeman Bradley and Special Policeman Donovan were arrested on the charge of murder. Some days ago they attempted to arrest a negro, Winco Duffey for a misdemeanor. Duffey resisted the officers, the defendants say, and several negroes assaulted the policemen. Bradley fled, wounding the negro Duffey in the chin. He escaped, but died this morning. Bradley and Donovan have been committed to jail. Threats of lynching are heard by negroes to-night. Additional special policemen have been sworn in.

The Remarkable Cure. Which have been effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla are sufficient proof that this medicine does possess peculiar curative power. In the severest cases of scrofula or salt rheum, when other preparations had been powerless, the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla has brought about the happiest results. The case of Miss Sarah C. Whittier, of Lowell, Mass., who suffered terribly from scrofulous sores; that Charles A. Roberts, of Wilson, N. Y., who had thirteen abscesses on his face and neck; that of Willie Duff, of Walpole, Mass., who had hip disease and scrofula, so that his physicians said he could not recover, are a few of the many instances in which wonderful cures were effected by this medicine.

A dispatch from Pomeroy, Ohio, says: Monday night while services were being held in the Free Methodist church, near this city, an attempt was made to blow up the building. A lot of powder had been placed under the church, to which a fuse was attached. It was good but it missed fire.

Convincing Proof. In many instances it has been proved that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm), made by Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga., will cure blood poison in its worst phases, even when all other treatment fails.

A. P. Brunson, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I had 34 running sores on one leg and 6 on the other, and felt greatly distressed. I believe I actually swallowed a barrel of medicine, in vain efforts to cure the disease. With little hope I finally acted on the urgent advice of a friend, and got a bottle of B. B. B. I experienced a change, and my dependency was somewhat dispelled. I kept using it until I had taken sixteen bottles, and all the sores, rheumatism and all other horrors of blood poison have disappeared, and at last I am sound and well again, after an experience of twenty years of torture."

Robt. Ward, Mazer, Ga., writes: "My disease was pronounced a tertiary form of blood poison. My face, head and shoulders were a mass of corruption, and finally the disease began eating my skull bones. My bones ached; my kidneys were deranged; I lost flesh and strength, and life became a burden. At last I must surely die, but an arthritic, when I had used ten bottles of B. B. B. I was pronounced well. Hundreds of scars can be seen on my face. I have now been well over twelve months."

Another child killed by the use of opiates given in the form of Sotching syrup. Why mothers give their children such deadly poison is surprising when they can relieve the child of its peculiar troubles by using Acker's Baby Soother. It contains no Opium or Morphine. Sold by Ed. R. Hardin, Druggist.

You may have business in town when it does not suit you to bring tobacco, or when you may not get it ready for market. Remember the FARMERS' WAREHOUSE is open to all planters and at all times.

Come to our house whether you know us personally or not, we will be glad to see you and give you a hearty welcome. But by all means go to the FARMERS' WAREHOUSE when you have tobacco to sell. The proprietors are among the largest buyers on the market and prefer to buy all their stock on their own floor. Hoping to see all the readers of the GLEANER who raise tobacco, we remain, with best wishes, Your Friends, W. E. BEVILL & CO.
