The Old Friend

And the best friend, that never fails you, is Simmons' Liver Regulator, (the Red Z)—that's what you hear at the mention of this excellent Liver medicine, and people should not be persuaded that anything else will do.

It is the King of Liver Medicines; is better than pills, and takes the place of Quinine and Calomel. It acts directly on the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels and gives new life to the whole system. This is the medicine you want. Sold by all Druggists in Liquid, or in Powder to be taken dry or made into a tea.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Joint Resolution to Provide Necessary Expenses—Receipts at the White House Discontinued—Memorial Honors to Carnot—N. C. Per-sons in—John C. G. See—Consulate.

Special Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—A joint resolution of both Houses of Congress, providing for the necessary expenditures of the Government has been signed by the President. This was rendered necessary because of the beginning of the fiscal year, July 1st, and the fact that no appropriation bill has yet been passed in the Senate.

The tri-weekly public receptions at the White House have been discontinued. The reason of this is that there are very few strangers in the city during the hot season who desire to see the Chief Executive.

Since the assassination of President Carnot, the President and his friends have become more careful. Yesterday when he went out for his afternoon drive he was followed by two detectives heavily armed, in a buggy.

These officials were dressed as citizens of course but they kept about two hundred yards behind the President's carriage.

Requiem mass will be celebrated at St. Matthews church on Sunday at the time of the burial services of the late President Carnot in Paris. A cable-gram has been received by Ambassador Patenotre authorizing him to notify the French consuls in the different places throughout the United States to arrange for the holding of services.

The embassy in this city will send out cards of invitation to the members of the diplomatic corps to attend the services, and the federal officials of the government will be invited to attend by the State Department, which has been notified by Ambassador Patenotre of the instructions he has received.

Cardinal Gibbons will officiate. The Senate was officially notified of this service and at once decided to attend in a body.

I am very sorry to say that Mrs. Jarvis continues to be quite sick. She has something like heart disease but Dr. Johnson thinks he can restore her to health in a short time, if she is kept quiet and is prudent.

The proposition to tax incomes passed the Senate by a majority of 77. The tariff bill which was reported will pass the Senate next week by Wednesday or Thursday. Then it goes back to the House where it is devotedly to be hoped the discussion will be brief.

Rev. Mr. Bittenger, Rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, was in Washington this week, on his way North to see some wealthy friends in the interest of his parish. He received a number of courtesies at the hands of Gen. Wm. R. Cox, the able Secretary of the Senate and son-in-law of the late Bishop Lyman.

I heard a good joke on Josephus Daniels which no one enjoys more than Hon. Hoke Smith. Some one asked Mr. Daniels, in Mr. Smith's presence, why he did not make a speech also at the recent Chapel Hill Commencement. Mr. Daniels said: "I had a $2700 office a mighty nice thing these hard times and I was afraid of making Mr. Smith jealous. Suppose I had spoken and had made a better speech, I was unwilling to take the risk." Mr. Smith laughed heartily at Mr. Daniels' excuse.

There is much favorable comment on the fact that $25,000,000 in pensions also have been saved during Mr. Smith's administration of the Interior Department. Part of the credit of this I am sure belongs to Mr. Daniels who is Hon. Hoke Smith's right hand man, and who has as much executive ability as any one I have ever met.

Mr. Walter Faison, Chief of Consular Bureau, is quite unwell at his residence here.

Mr. Walter B. Henry has given up all hopes of securing a consular appointment, but I understand the President has promised Senator Ransom to find a place for him in another department.

The appointment of Mr. Wm. Myers Little, of Charlotte, to be consul at Leguicalpa, Honduras, was secured by Senator Jarvis. Mr. Little is the son of Mr. B. F. Little, of Little's Mills, N. C., and has a large family connection throughout the state. Senator Jarvis is a very persistent and determined man, very loyal to his friends, shrewd, able and reliable. Every day here adds to his prestige and influence. His speech on the tariff continues to be complimented. It was short, but pointed and strong.

Charles D. Kay, appointed Consul General to Berlin, is the literary editor and art critic of the New York Times. He is a brother of the artist Dr. Kay. He has been a writer for magazines and known as a literary man. No member of the New York delegation

The Railroad Strike—The Reasoning in the Case.

Charlotte Observer, 11th.

The Louisville Courier-Journal states the whole equity of the case in five lines when it says: "Every man has the right to work, or to quit work, just as he pleases. But no man has the right, natural or acquired, to prevent another man from working if the other man wants to work." That proposition will withstand all argument. We in this country are free people, under the law, and no employer has a lawful claim, beyond the contract agreement upon the services of the employee. The latter may quit work when he chooses, for cause, real or imaginary—that is his own affair, his inalienable right. Many times he does right to do so; his wages may be insufficient—less than his services are worth—and less than the business is able to bear; the employer may be unjust or unkind. None of the foregoing conditions may obtain, and yet the employee may find it to his interest or his pleasure to quit the business. No matter what the reason, his right to do so is a part of himself as a free man, and all of the foregoing are self-evident propositions. This is where individual right in the premises begins and ends. When a man quits the services of a person or a company he has no right to prevent some other man taking the place he has vacated. When he follows this first act by this second one, he passes from the exercise of an undoubted right to the perpetration of a wrong. Herein lies the fatal error of so many strikers—an error against which, even when they have struck for a righteous cause, the sober sense of the country revolts. It has been committed in the present great railroad strike and its result, unfortunately, is to alienate thousands of the natural sympathizers of the strikers. It was a natural result, however, of the strike, as it is not of all. The American Railway Union having committed one error in taking up a fight which did not concern it, it was inevitable that it should follow up with others, and one wrong followed another so rapidly that the strikers have left to themselves no ground upon which to stand before public opinion. Mr. Pullman and the workmen to his shops disagreed about a matter of wages. This was the business of nobody on earth, but then, the hasty and ill-advised order of an irresponsible person that trains should not be allowed to run on any railroad handling Pullman cars until Pullman repaid his shops, took his workmen back and advanced their wages, has drawn the whole country into the contest; has in some sections paralyzed business, advanced the price of it, if it was not entirely cut off, some of the necessities of life to the people, poor and rich alike, and has caused the loss of many dollars worth of perishable freight, to say nothing of the inconvenience to which the public has been subjected. Quoting the Courier-Journal again: "It should be made as unlawful to interfere violently with the delivery of freight and passengers as the mails. The movement of mails is an incident of commerce; the movement of freight is commerce itself."

The inauguration of the strike was an error. It was followed by the perpetration of a moral wrong when the right of men, eager to work, to take the places of those who had quit was denied them. The violent stopping of trains was an offense against the laws of the land, and thus it seen how one wrong has succeeded another, until, if there was ever a vestige of right in the case, it has been obscured. Fortunate will it be if the matter at issue shall be adjusted before there is shedding of much blood.

Specimens Cures.

S. H. Clifford, New Castle, Wis., was troubled with neuralgia and rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklin's Arnica Balm, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Calumet, O., had five large liver sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklin's Arnica Balm cured him entirely. Sold at T. A. Albright's drug store.

It may seem foolish to go and kick the horn door every time the cow kicks you or kicks the milk pail, but it is not so foolish as it would be to kick the cow.

Their Ultimate Figures Agreed.

"Father, I would like to see you in the library on a matter of business." Very well, Viola—come along. Now, then, what is it?"

"Father, you are aware that Harry Noodenhammer has been paying me his attention for the past year."

"Yes, and I've felt like kicking him! The idea of a Noodenhammer daring to aspire to the hand of a Grafon!"

"He has asked me to be his wife."

"The scoundrel! Why, I'll mail the far out of him."

"And I've almost promised," she placidly continued.

"What! what! My daughter marry a Noodenhammer with $25 a week? Never! Go to your room while I seek this base advice—"

"Father, I want to talk straight business with you," she interrupted. "As you are aware, this is the State of Massachusetts."

"Yes."

"Have you seen the vital statistics of the State for the last year?"

"No, of course not! The idea of that Jim Noodenhammer skulking around after me—"

"Wait! According to the statistics this State has 871,240 females more than males. There are 226,890 more marriages than can find husbands, to say nothing of 182,321 widows who are very anxious for a number 2. The number of young men in the State earning over $15 a week and in the market is only 22,107. There are dumped on the trail of these young men exactly 290,000 young women and 150,000 widows. Three out of every five children born are girls. Death removes two young men to one married man or old bachelor."

The old man turned pale and grasped a chair for support. After a pause she continued:

"From June to October over 80,000 fashionable young women visit your fashionable watering places and it is estimated that 31,442 of them catch husbands, thus further reducing the chances of a resident. Father, take this pencil and figure out your Viola's chances of catching another man, if she lets Harry Noodenhammer cater away."

"Great Scott!" he gasped, figuring for a moment. "Why, your chances are only one in 21,375,947."

"Just as I figured it out. What shall I say to him this evening?"

"Say! say! why tell him you'll have him and he might be glad of the chance and don't let him draw a long breath before you add that the ceremony can take place right after breakfast tomorrow morning and that I'm to give you a wedding present of $500 in cash."

Bank Were Veterans.

"It does me good to shake hands with one who wore the blue," said he, as he extended his hand to a man who had just left the Memorial Day parade, "for I am a veteran myself though I am not a member of the Grand Army of the Republic."

"You ought to join, comrade," replied the vet. in, taking the proffered hand and shaking it warmly.

"Yes, I suppose so. You saw a great deal of service, didn't you?"

"I did, comrade. I was in the war four years. Was only 19 when I was enlisted, too. Fought in no less than 54 battles and was with Sherman on his march to the sea."

"That was glorious."

"Yes, it was. You say you were a veteran, didn't you?"

"Yes, sir."

"Sherman's army?"

"No."

"Grant's?"

"No."

"McClellan's?"

"No."

"Perhaps you were in the navy?"

"No."

"You surely weren't fighting on the other side?"

"Oh, no."

"What army did you serve in?"

"Cuzey's."

Variety of Food.

A cow should have as great a variety of food each day as practicable; says the Farmers' Voice. She loves a variety, as do all other animals, man included. Her nature craves it, and she will eat more, digest more, and assimilate it better if she has a variety. Feed her as to keep her appetite good. Don't surfeit her. After she comes in feed her sparingly of concentrated food for a few days increasing gradually for eight or ten days before getting up to full feed. If she is greedy and inclined to eat more than she can digest don't give it to her. Never put before her more than she will eat at once, but be sure and give her enough. Here is where it requires great skill and judgment on the part of the feeder. He must be intimately acquainted with his cow and know her capacity. W. H. Gilbert, New York once said: "There are three things to watch in feeding a cow—watch her when she eats, watch the excrement to see that she digests it, and watch the milk pail to see that she pays for it." This, in a few words, tells the whole story.

My mind to me a kingdom is." To the average society man it is a realm, without either ruler or subjects. Doubt long, go wrong.

A Gentle Hint for Them.

One reason why these times are so hard on the newspapers is that the subscribers are too negligent about paying their dues. Each one thinks that a dollar, or a dollar and a half, is a small amount and would not help much, and consequently defers payment. When several hundred subscribers get the same idea, as they not infrequently do, particularly in times like these, the publisher becomes very much embarrassed, from a financial point of view, and many times must either run heavily into debt or suspend publication. If he can not afford the risk of the former he must do the latter. People who believe that the newspaper is of any benefit to the town should see that their subscriptions are promptly paid. While the individual amounts may be small, in the aggregate they amount to a great deal.—Berkley (Va) Graphic.

The Mackerel Cheese Cat.

London Globe.

The mackerel cheese which was a conspicuous feature of the Canadian section of the Chicago exhibition last year has just been cut in London. It weighed 10 tons and was produced in September, 1892, under government auspices, at Perth, Ont.; 337,250 pounds of milk, obtained from 12,000 cows, was used in making it. When tasted, the cheese was pronounced to be very good.
