

THE GLEANER.

ISSUED EVERY THURSDAY. GRAHAM, N. C., Nov. 10, 1898.

ADVERTISING RATES: One square (1 in.) 1 time $1.00, for each subsequent insertion 50 cents.

ADVERTISING RATES: One square (1 in.) 1 time $1.00, for each subsequent insertion 50 cents.

The State not less than 25,000 Democratic. Over four-fifths of Senate and House Democratic.

This girl won in Alamance.

Let the good people rejoice.

Fusionists quit the field.

DEMOCRACY VICTORIOUS.

Tuesday was a great day for Democracy in nation, state and county. The State is redeemed from negro domination.

Alamance covered herself with glory and reversed a majority of two years ago ranging from 400 to 700 and turned it into a victory of from 200 to 400 last Tuesday.

It was a grand and glorious victory for the honor of the State and the protection of the white womanhood of North Carolina.

Gen. Greely, Chief Signal officer of the army, is very particular in all his public utterances to speak in high terms of Secretary Alger, and other officials who had anything to do with the direction of the war.

Nothing tends so much to pervert the healthful development of the moral sense as the infliction of punishment which the child feels to be unjust, and nothing retards the acquisitions of the power of directing the intellectual processes so much as the emotional disturbance which the feeling of injustice provokes.

Alamance Redeemed!

OFFICIAL RETURNS

Of the Vote of Alamance Co. GIVEN NOV. 8, 1898.

Table with columns for candidates and their respective vote counts. Includes names like G. H. Brown, J. D. Kernodle, and various judges and clerks.

In the vote tabulated above only the names of the first Judge on the Democratic ticket and the first Judge on the Republican fusion ticket are given.

The votes for the candidates for solicitors and clerks of the Superior Court marked thus * were not filled out in the returns from Mebane, but are estimated from the votes of the other candidates and verbal information.

For broken surfaces, sores, insect bites, burns, skin diseases, and especially piles, there is one reliable remedy, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve.

Gen. Greely, Chief Signal officer of the army, is very particular in all his public utterances to speak in high terms of Secretary Alger, and other officials who had anything to do with the direction of the war.

A Sketch of Miss Frances Willard.

From her Memorial Volume with a few Original Observations by Miss Willard's Son.

"When McAulay was shown the vast clustering vines in Hampton court with trunk like unto a tree he expressed a wish to see the mother root in Spain from which the scion was cut, and we confess to a desire to trace the ancestral forces of the sons and daughters of genius.

Back of Harriet Beecher Stowe was a father who was at once a moral hero and an intellectual giant; and a mother who gave to the strong Beecher type its rich, warm, glowing tones.

Ralph Waldo Emerson had back of him seven generations of scholars. In every soul, however, there is an unexplored remainder that must be referred to God alone.

It was a richly endowed home into which Frances Elizabeth was born Sept. 28, 1839, in Churchville, New York. A richly nurtured child-garden where the sturdy small plants struck deep root and spread wide leafage to the air.

While living at Oberlin the father's health gave way and in the spring of 1846 we find them at Forest Home, the simple dwelling near Jamesville, Wisconsin, where for twelve happy years these three children lived an idyllic life of love and labor, play and study and prayer.

Frances once said that "a boy whose sister knows everything he does will be far more modest, genial and pleasant to have about."

At fourteen Frances went to the little brown school-house about a mile from her home. It was a simple structure, but a real, live graduate from Yale was teacher and in this school the children had ten months of bright, inspiring work.

In 1857 Frances was a student in the Milwaukee Female College. On examination day she read an essay on "Originality of thought and action" to the applause of the audience.

Miss Willard's school life was brave and merry, winsome and gentle, generous and good, gracious in dignity, dainty in attire, superb in friendliness and remarkable in scholarship.

The new President threw herself with great zest into this endeavor. At this place her theories of self-government were proven and met with wonderful success.

"The New Chivalry"

Who could have prophesied in 1874 that Frances Willard was to lead the Temperance movement in America? God had larger purposes for her than she knew.

As an organizer Miss Willard possessed rare powers of discernment and magnetism. The larger members of state unions in the South call her mother. She was a harmonizer, loving peace and sacrificing everything but principle to maintain it.

Some of her well-known work at this time was the Home Protection Petition, the "Home Protection Address" and other valuable petitions.

More than any other organization the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is the exponent of all that is best in this latter-day civilization.

More than one million men signed the petition, many personally. Shortly after this Miss Willard lost her mother "Saint Courageous" as she called her and the great heart which knew no limitation of creed class or nation, beating only with the pulsations of humanity, was torn with the severance of an earthly tie.

Frances once said that "a boy whose sister knows everything he does will be far more modest, genial and pleasant to have about."

"All her life long this woman's heart and mind were going out toward the labors, the thoughts, the aims of others, with hearty sympathy, quick intelligence and large helpfulness.

At fourteen Frances went to the little brown school-house about a mile from her home. It was a simple structure, but a real, live graduate from Yale was teacher and in this school the children had ten months of bright, inspiring work.

In 1857 Frances was a student in the Milwaukee Female College. On examination day she read an essay on "Originality of thought and action" to the applause of the audience.

Miss Willard's school life was brave and merry, winsome and gentle, generous and good, gracious in dignity, dainty in attire, superb in friendliness and remarkable in scholarship.

her public address which she closed thus—"Goodby, dear friends of my loved childhood's home, good-bye perhaps forever—and if forever may we meet in that Home in Heaven."

On returning to New York the light of life seemed burning dimly and she felt that the end was not far away. For three weeks she grew steadily weaker and on Feb. 17, "the dew of Heaven was falling on her brow."

"Frances Willard had love without selfishness—justice without perversion, beauty which was beyond superficialness, virtue which was no mere outward negation nor artificial merit. Temperance which was the equilibrium of the soul.

Things should not be done by halves. If it be right, do it boldly—if it be wrong leave it undone.

We have lost trade by being out of Ramon's Liver Pills and Tonic Pellets. We can seldom over-estimate a customer to take any other as a substitute for them when they have once tried Ramon's.—Justice & Fletcher, Crossville, Ala. For sale by J. C. Simmons.

The General Convention of the Episcopal Church, which has been in session in Washington, adjourned last week. The next meeting will be held in San Francisco.

No Cure—No Pay. That is the only drug that sells GROWN PASTELINE CHILL TONIC for Chills and Malaria. It is simply Iron and Quinine in a palatable form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter nauseating tonics. Price 50c.

But with Spring's coming she drooped tho' she afterward made an address in Brooklyn Tabernacle, also at Cambridge. Then a visit to Churchville, her birth place, afterward to Jamesville, Wis.—the woman of ripe years, grand achievements and gentle, perfected womanhood, as it had seen her forth a mere maiden long ago. Here she made

Don't forget. Come to see our store. We have what you want. Our prices will interest you. Why tell the tale. Yours to serve.

100 Men's and Boys' Mackintoshes at $1.50—worth $2.50. A great line of boys' clothing at bargain prices.

$10,000 STOCK

Buggies, wagons, harness, plows, harrows, drills, etc., to select from. My stock is now larger than ever before. My sales are increasing each year.

Every farmer who will bring his tobacco to the Farmers' Warehouse, Greensboro, shall have the very highest market price for each and every pile on the floor of our house.

We also promise that we will not neglect anything that will enable us in getting the highest prices at each and every sale. We expect to buy tobacco more largely this year than ever.

To those who have never sold with us, we will say: If you will bring us or ship us some of your crop this season, we will prove to you that it will be to your interest to patronize us in the future as our efforts to obtain for you the very highest prices shall not be surpassed by any one on this or any other market.

A FEW WORDS FOR Your Careful Consideration!

We want to tell you that our buyer has been on the Northern markets twice this season and has exercised his skill, experience and ability to its utmost capacity in buying our fall stock. All of our departments are complete and full. Filled with the biggest values ever offered on this market before.

Don't forget. Come to see our store. We have what you want. Our prices will interest you. Why tell the tale. Yours to serve.

J. A. ISLEY & BRO., BURLINGTON, N. C.

Our Fall and Winter Suits and Overcoats

Take any of our suits and overcoats at $10.00 and they have the set and style of merchant tailors' work. They have what is lacking in ordinary ready-made clothing—the workmanship that keeps the garment shapely, the proper set to the collar; every part right.

100 Men's and Boys' Mackintoshes at $1.50—worth $2.50. A great line of boys' clothing at bargain prices.

B. A. SELLARS & SON'S BURLINGTON, N. C.

Advertisement for RAMON'S LIVER PILLS AND TONIC PELLETS. Cure all forms of disease caused by a sluggish liver and biliousness.