BRYAN AND THE PANTHER.
Trick Played on the Nebraska Statesman by Gov. Hogg.
From the Baltimore American.
"Texas hasn't grown so effete and supremely civilized yet as to lose the old-time zest for playing pranks on tender-feet," remarked Judge Frank Sebastian, of Waco.
"In bygone years the newcomer to our State who got off without being carried on a snip hunt or some other equally futile expedition was in luck. The propensity to 'josh' strangers exists to this day. Only a few years ago the late Gov. J. S. Hogg perpetrated a trick along these lines on William Jennings Bryan that probably the Nebraskan has never found out. Bryan was spending some time in Austin, and he and the big governor were close friends.
"One day Bryan remarked that there no doubt was big game in the Colorado hills near the city, and if so he would greatly enjoy a hunt. "Yes, indeed, there is big game," the governor answered, but added that it was not so plentiful as in his younger days. A few mountain lions, panthers, bears, and antelope could still be had by the skillful hunter. Hogg was laughing fit to kill all the while in his sleeve, for there was no game fiercer than a rabbit within 200 miles. Bryan was immensely pleased, and nothing would do but to arrange a hunt. It happened that a local saloon-keeper did have a poor old toothless panther in the rear of his establishment, and the owner being let in on the plot, readily turned the brute over to Gov. Hogg.
"The preparations that were made for the affair would be too long to tell, but almost as much fuss was made over it as of Roosevelt's coming trip to Africa. Of the fifteen or twenty men who rode out of Austin on splendid steeds and armed to the teeth in quest of savage wild animals, Bryan was the only innocent soul. So completely was he duped by the wily Hogg and his band of conspirators that he never knew when he took deliberate aim and brought down from a live oak limb the decrepit old panther that the whole thing was a put up job and that the victim of his Winchester was a 'plant.' The governor had the panther stuffed and presented it to the slayer, and Bryan all the while imagined that he had gained fame among the Texans as a mighty hunter."

Ten Thousand Idle Cars Set in Motion.
From the Philadelphia Press.
The Pennsylvania railroad system in the past fortnight has put 10,000 idle freight cars into active service. There could be no more convincing proof that traffic conditions are headed toward a normal state, after the severe depression.
The Pennsylvania traverses the fat of the land, and it represents more accurately than any other single railroad general trade conditions. It hauls coal and steel, grain and ordinary merchandise, and all in huge proportions. Hence its traffic reflects activity or the lack of it along its 11,000 miles of roadway.
Between April, when the industrial and trade depression reached its climax, and the middle of July there were no large reductions in the number of idle cars which filled hundreds of miles of railroad tracks throughout America. But the Pennsylvania's figures, which now show a sudden demand for 10,000 more cars in a couple of weeks, reflect the general awakening, for cars long idle on other roads are doubtless being oiled up and set in motion.

The September Smart Set.
The first part of Gertrude Atherton's new novel "The Geogeous Isle" is the initial feature of the September number of The Smart Set. In this the author surpasses her well known style and shows her power of telling a love-story in strange settings—the scene is a West Indian isle and in high lights. As a pleasant contrast follows "The Courage of K ittie," by Lillian Bell, revealing how a society girl, full of grit and humor, cures and captures a difficult person as a father-law in "The Better Right" by Johnston Morton is a strong story with a new and fine motif.
Other well-known writers are represented in this issue such as Mrs. Luther Harris whose "Particular Parmalee" with its gentle satire on the Brahmin caste of Beacon street will be highly appreciated, and nowhere more so than in Boston. Joseph C. Clark contributes a delightful poem, "Awakening," which makes one feel at home in the cool forest; John Kendrick Bange, the well-liked humorist, has also a short poem, "Only a Boy."
"Wallace and a Lorelei," by Harry James Smith, deals with a fresh situation in a vein of rare humor and Christian Reid, a favorite writer, is well represented by, "The Woman in the Case."
Other notable stories by Grace Lewis Henley, Marion Hill, Ethel Watts Mumford Grant, Vanderheyden Fyles, Marguerite Tracy, Helen Francis Huntington, Elizabeth Daly and Katharine Metcalf Roof makes this a brilliantly varied fiction number and the other poems by Clinton Scollard, Allan Updegraff, Archibald Sullivan, Edward Wilbur Mason, Henry Graham, Aloysius Coll, Elsa Barker and Beatrix Denarest Lloyd, sustain the reputation as poets they have established.
The French story by Michel Provis is one powerful pathos in that exquisite style which has gained for him the laurels of his countrymen.
Altogether, the September Smart Set more than justifies its title.

Cared Boy Fever and Summer Cold.
A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed only to aggravate my case. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar and it quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." Graham Drug Co.
The supposed grave of Eve is visited by 40,000 pilgrims each year. It is to be seen at Jeddah, in a cemetery outside the city walls.
Passed Exam in Latin Successfully.
James Donahue, New Britain, Conn., writes: "I tried several kidney remedies, and was treated by our best physicians for diabetes, but did not improve until I took Foley's Kidney Cure. After the second bottle I showed improvement, and five bottles cured me completely. I have since passed a rigid examination for life insurance." Foley's Kidney Cure cures back-ache and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble. Graham Drug Co.

Force Increased in Shops at Spencer.
Statesville Landmark.
The biggest increase made this year in the force of employes at the Spencer shops of the Southern railway took effect Monday, when a large number of men were called back into the service after being out five months. The machine and erecting shop forces were increased about 50 per cent, while a proportionate number of additional men were called back into the boiler shop, blacksmith shop, paint shop and other departments. The corresponding increase in the number of apprentices was also made. The men will hereafter work six eight hour days per week. The car department, which formerly worked four days in the house, will hereafter work five days. The round house is working on full time. This increase in force means that business has increased on the railroads and the increase of railroad business means improved business conditions generally.
Excellent Health Advice.
Mrs. M. M. Davidson, of No. 379 Gifford Ave., San Jose, Cal., says: "The worth of Electric Bitters as a general family remedy for headache, biliousness and torpor of the liver and bowels is so pronounced that I am prompted to say a word in its favor, for the benefit of those seeking relief from such afflictions. There is more health for the digestive organs in a bottle of Electric Bitters than in any other remedy I know of." Sold under guarantee at Graham Drug Co. 50c.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?
Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.
Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.
It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.
Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.
