SELECTING AND TRAINING FOR

SHOW.

While picking the winner in a horse race is often a guess and the work of a minute, unless one has a tip, picking a winner to lift the cup in a rooster show is "a horse of another color." It begins in the breeding pen. An Indi-ana fancier spent a day mating a breeding pen for hatching winners, spent the season rearing their offspring, spent some more over the selec-tion and conditioning of these birds, then went to the St. Louis exposition, won the blue and sold his prize win-ning rooster for $1,000. After selection the birds are kept separate and are trained to show off before the judge, who is more apt to give the blue to an inferior bird that displays his good points than to a good bird that runs and hides in a corner.

SUBSCRIBE FOR A GOOD ROAD

minine Club Wakes Up to Situati First and Makes Travel Easier.

Everybody is in favor of good roads as an abstract proposition, but when it comes down to the concrete—that is to say, to sand and gravel—there are differences of opinion. Some Kentuck-ians there are who declare themselves do not know now to go about getting them.

One way to go about it has been exemplified recently by the Federated Woman's club of Brandenburg, Ky. The members of that live organization felt the need of a good road from Brandenburg to Weldon, a station on the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis railroad. Brandenburg has no railroad, and when the citizens of that town go traveling they either take a stemboat or drive over to Weldon to take the train.

stamboat or drive over to Weldon to take the train.

Meade county mud possibly is a few degrees worse than the mud anywhere else in Kentucky. The male citizens of Meade have been handling the road question in the same way that many other Kentucky counties have been handling it. Mud multiplied by mud nanaing It. and multiplea by mud produces more mid, but the male citi-zens of Meade didn't seem to know it. The women woke up to the situation first, and they determined to "pike" the road from Brandenburg to Welden. They raised more than $1,200 by private subscription, and they asked the fiscal court to do the rest. The court fiscal court to do the rest. The court came across with an appropriation of $3,000 as an evidence of good faith. The road will be completed by the end of summer. Next winter it will be possible to travel from Brandenburg to Weldon without breaking a hamestring or straining a singletree. A wagon will not be a load for a four horse team, and walking will not be an impossibility when a big thaw comes.

A TIP FOR COUNTIES.

The bend plan is the economical, equitable and intelligent method to provide permanent municipal Improvaments, and the same can be said of good roads construction. The county which is building roads by special taxes is making a mistake by doing it in a piecemeal fashion when a bond issue by the entire county will provide a lump sum for systematic road building. The plan of voting road bonds by townships is nearly equally as bad, for roads should be constructed by counties in accordance with systematic plans, taking care of all townships and making it decidedly more economical for them than for each township to maintain its own expensive road building service and equipment. This is on the side, but the opportunity is too fine for us to let it slip by without making known the truth to counties which are going to build good roads by some hook or crook. There is the slipshod way and the right way. Don't piddle—Wilmington (N. C.) Star.

* MODERN ROADMAKING.

Efforts in England to Meet Motor Trolley Car Traffic.

The following illustrates the efforts in England to meet in roadmaking the conditions imposed by motor and trolconditions imposed by motor and trolley car traffic:

A new and direct roadway is proposed between West Hartlepool and Middlesbrough, near Newcastle, in the county of Northumberland, a direct line of seven and three-fourth miles.
In designing the roadway the engineer in charge has given attention to the possible development in both heavy, slow and fast vehicular and motor traffie, each of which demands separate consideration and usuably different methods of road surface treatment.

The plan accordingly provides for a center footpath nine feet in width, on the east side of the footpath a road for motor and light, fast traffic twentyfour feet in width and on the west side of the footpath a road for heavy, slow traffic twenty-two feet in width. This gives a width for highway purposes of fifty-five feet. The plan further shows on the westernmost side of the footsetts, New York, Pennylvania. Pekin.

Q.—Whit is the more important side of the poultry industry, meat or eggs? A.—Eggs. The return from this source is two-thirfs of the whole total from the poultry industry.

Q.—What are fancy breeds? A.—These are the ornamental in poultry—like the Sultans, Silkies, bantams and particulars.

A scheme similar to this will doubtless control future roadmaking in England, and existing roads may be reconstructed on a corresponding plan.

One of the chief advantages in separating the several kinds of traffic would be in permitting different methods of surfacing the roads to be used and those best adapted to the traffic accommodated. Another advantage would be the lessening of the chances of accidents. A third advantage would bethe greater speed permissible to fast
