sed Victim of Consumption Had Stanle in Lungs.

Ernest Heeren, 17-year-old son of George H. Heeren, of 64 Oak street, Corona, L. I., had been practically given up as a victim of quick consumption two weeks ago, when he was removed to St. Mary's hospital, Manhattan. The boy, once a sturdy little athlete, had been wasting away since last February.

At the hospital Dr. Matthews conceived the idea that the case was out of the ordinary. He was not convinced that it was consumption, and he decided to take an X-ray photograph. Its found that there was a foregn substance in one of the lungs.

Three operations were performed for the removal of the substance, but the surgeons could not locate it. At the third operation they were making every effort to find it, when suddenly the patient began to cough. A nurse noticed something in his mouth and quickly removed it.

Through possibly the most re markable optical operation ever performed, Dr. H. L. Chapin, the Cleveland physician and literary man who lost his eyesight during a journey across the hot, blinding sands of a Syrian desert seven years ago, can now see as well as when he was a boy.

Last Monday he saw for th first time his wife, whom he married four years ago, after a romantic courtship, and who has guided him wherever he has gone. Dr. Chapin, a man of considerable wealth, left last winter for a trip around the world in an effort to find some specialist who could aid him to see again. Nowhere in the European capitals or in India could he find a specialist who would attempt the operation.

Returning home, he consulted Dr. Arnold Knapp, one of the best known opto-thomologist in America. Dr. Knapp consented to try to cut away part of the iris which had contracted and adhered to the lens. The operation was successful, but neither Dr. Knapp nor his assistants expected any two sharp prongs. Since then the more than a partial restoration.
