But few desire instant death. Thousands have repeated the petition of the Episcopal Prayer Book, "From sudden death, good Lord deliver us." Is it a good prayer? To a christian is it more desirable to feel one's powers wasting through long years, the old ties loosening, office by office vacated, one association after another dissolved, until our life becomes a weariness to ourselves and a burden to others?

For my part I have long thought and often said that I prefer by the grace of God to live fully, in perfect play of all my powers, and busier than ever: ready to go but quite as ready to stay, and then, in a moment leap the narrow night, crashed into the train and dividing stream from the banks of this island of mortal life to the banks of the continent of the life everlasting.
