Congressional Convention Called.

The Democratic Congressional Convention of the Fifth Congressional District is hereby called to meet in the court house in Greensboro, North Carolina, May 29th, 1912, at 8 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Representative in the Congress of the United States, nominating Presidential Elector and electing delegates to the National Democratic Convention, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the said convention.

By order of the Democratic Executive Committee Fifth Congressional District.

A. WAYLAND COOKE, Chairman.

G. H. HASTINGS, Secretary.

Democratic County Convention.

All Democratic voters of Alamance county are earnestly requested to attend the Democratic Mass Convention which is hereby called to meet in the court house in Graham, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., on Saturday, May 25, 1912.

This convention will select delegates to the State, Congressional, Judicial and State Senatorial conventions.

By order of Alamance County Democratic Executive Committee.

F. L. WILLIAMSON, Chairman.

The fight between Taft and Roosevelt waxed hotter, if possible, but the Col. seems to be able to head off Taft in the way of securing delegates.

Wilson, Clark and Underwood seem to be running at about the same gait. A few more days and the friends of each can figure their respective standing with some degree of certainty.

The trial of the Allens, those who were taken, for shooting up the court at Hillsville, is in progress at Wytheville, Va., this week. It commenced last week.

On Tuesday the annual reunion of United Confederate Veterans opened at Macon, Ga. Thousands of the once proud army of the Confederacy met again to shake hands and recount the deeds of valor of as brave an army as ever marched to the strains of martial music.

Col. Ashley Horn of Clayton was stricken with paralysis before arriving at Greensboro Monday. He was on his way to Macon to attend the Reunion. He was taken off at Greensboro and his condition was considered critical for a while, but he was very much improved at last accounts.

Maj. E. J. Hale, the veteran publisher of the Fayetteville Observer, is spoken of as a delegate-at-large to the National Convention at Baltimore. He has attended many conventions as shown by the following extract of his life: "In addition to his delegateship to the Democratic National Convention of 1884, he was a delegate-at-large to the National Conventions of 1896, 1900, 1904 and 1908. At the first named, he was a member of the committee on platform, and was one of the eight who made the first draft of it. At the second, he was chairman of the delegation. At the third, he was Vice-President for North Carolina of the Convention. At the fourth, he was chosen one of the committee to notify the presidential nominee."

Hon. E. L. Daughtridge for Lieut. Governor.

The Rocky Mount Daughtridge Club is urging Hon. E. L. Daughtridge of Edgecombe for the Democratic nomination for Lieut. Governor as against Hon. Walter Daniels from the neighbor county of Halifax, candidate for the same office, and sets forth that Halifax has her sons in official positions as follows: Hon. W. W. Kitchin, Governor and candidate for U. S. Senate; Hon. Claude Kitchin in Congress; Hon. E. L. Travis, Corporation Commissioner and candidate for re-election. The supporters of Mr. Daughtridge in regard to his fitness and public services recount that while a wise and progressive farmer, he served twice in the State Legislature and was Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture, has served as President of the State Agricultural Association, was Commissioner from the State to the Jamestown Exposition, and was in large part author of the law under which the State Department of Agriculture is doing so much for the farming interests of the State. Withal the Club has made out a strong case for the distinguished son of Edgecombe.

Situation of Mississippi Flood Unabated.

A dispatch from New Orleans yesterday says that unless boats are hurried to remote sections of the flood inundated country in Pointe Coupee parish it is feared hundreds of persons will perish.

Word was received in Morgana yesterday morning that great numbers of people still are marooned in the country south of the levees in breach at Torras. Lack of boats is a distressing handicap. Stories of awful suffering among flood refugees reached here yesterday.

Unofficial estimates today place the agricultural loss from the flood in Louisiana at eight and one-half million dollars.

An estimate of the other property loss cannot be made. Eight hundred and seventy-five square miles of the State have been inundated. There has been considerable life loss.

To add to the seriousness of the situation, speculators and thieves are carrying off the cattle of those who are unable to care for their stock while the flood is on.

The matter of Damages on road leading through the Daniely place was settled satisfactorily to all parties concerned.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured. by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased part of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by a diseased condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound and impaired hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. None can cure deafness by cathartics, which is causing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure, sent for circulars free.

Income Tax Amendment Nearer the Goal.

Arizona, the youngest of the States, is the latest to ratify the proposed income tax amendment to the Federal constitution. If the Governor's veto of the legislative resolution in Arkansas is not upheld by the courts, only four more votes are needed to add a sixteenth amendment to the organic law of the nation, which has had no addition for four decades.

The States that have so far voted for the proposed amendment are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Kentucky, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Mississippi, Montana, New York, Nevada, North Carolina, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Washington, Wisconsin—thirty-two.

The States which have voted against it are Connecticut, Louisiana, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Rhode Island and West Virginia—seven. These States have not yet taken action: Delaware, Florida, Minnesota, New Mexico, Pennsylvania, Utah, Vermont, Virginia and Wyoming—nine. The Massachusetts House has approved the change, but the Senate has twice rejected it. In 1910 the House of Delegates of Virginia voted against the proposed amendment, while the Senate voted for it. At the 1912 session a resolution ratifying the amendment was reintroduced, but was not acted upon by either branch. It has passed but one house in Florida and Minnesota.

The four votes that are needed may be a long time forthcoming, but there is great likelihood that the sixteenth amendment will soon be an accomplished fact. There is greater probability than ever that it will receive the requisite number of votes, for many of the identical Legislatures assemble next year. The joint resolution has now been before the States for nearly three years, having passed Congress on July 5, 1909. It has grown in popular favor, and its final passage seems certain. Its consideration has raised a seemingly unanswerable constitutional question: Is there any time limitation upon the ratification of a constitutional amendment? Apparently there is none.

Reasons for a Variety in the Pasture.

A reader wishes to know why we advise a variety of plants for a permanent pasture. He says he notices that the best pastures are usually solidly set in some one particular grass and concludes that this one grass is all that it is necessary to put out.

The following are the reasons usually given for the use of a variety of plants in making a permanent pasture:

1. By a variety of plants pastures can be better furnished for the entire season. For instance, Bermuda grass does not furnish much grazing until warm weather, whereas bur clover, white clover, redtop, etc., grow in the early spring. Again Bermuda stands dry, hot weather better than the clovers or bluegrass, while paspalum dilatatum or Dallas grass is not killed so readily in the fall by frost as Bermuda grass.

2. No pasture is likely to be equally well drained in all parts, nor to have the same sort of soil all over the field. On the wet spots aliske clover, redtop or some of the water grasses might do best, while on the dry parts Japan clover, bur clover and Bermuda may be better. A variety of plants will come nearer occupying all the soil and therefore produce more pasture.

3. The clovers and other legumes usually have a root system which feeds on a deeper layer of soil than do the grasses. By a variety of plants, therefore, more soil is drawn from and more pasture afforded.

4. Just as grass hay does not furnish a ration as well balanced as a mixture of grass and legume hay, so does a pasture made up of one kind of grass fail to furnish a ration as well balanced as that from grasses and clovers mixed.

5. A pasture having several varieties of pasture plants will furnish satisfactory grazing for a greater variety of livestock. The pig, for instance, does better on the more nutritious legume pasture plants than on the grasses, while the cow will do well on the less nutritious but larger growth of grasses.

These are the principal reasons for a variety of pasture plants for the permanent pasture and they appear to be good.

Mr. Will E. Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Marshall, of Raleigh, died Monday a week in Birmingham, Ala., where he was employed by the Progressive Farmer. He was 28 years old.

Mr. Marshall was born in Caldwell county, N. C., September 2, 1884, graduated from Wake Forest College in 1910 and immediately accepted a position with the Progressive Farmer, where his fine work won rapid promotion.

In Columbus county Superior Court last week was heard the damage suit case of J. W. Williamson, Jr., against Dr. N. A. Thompson, proprietor of a hospital at Lumberton. Williamson sued for $20,000, alleging that Dr. Thompson was negligent in setting the plaintiff's leg. When the evidence for the plaintiff was in Judge Peebles, who presided at the trial, decided there was no evidence of negligence and didn't let the case go to the jury.

Well Known Minister Restored to Health by Vinol.

Rev. D. Schneider, who is a well known minister in Rice Lake, Wis., writes:

"I had a very severe stomach trouble last year from which I was kept in bed three months. I had engaged the services of a doctor, but to no avail. I then read of Vinol and determined to try a bottle. Before it was used I was out of bed, and four bottles made me a well man. Vinol is a splendid medicine, and I can gladly recommend it."

Prominent men from all over the country do not hesitate to endorse this wonderful tonic.

For twelve years Vinol has been sold on the "money back" plan, and every year strengthens its popularity and proves by continued tests that it will do what we claim for it. Graham Drug Co., Graham, N. C.

To Manufacture Lime and Road-Making Material.

Asheville Citizen.

The North Carolina Tale & Mining Co., F. R. Hewitt's company, has practically completed and will soon have in operation at Hewitt's, on the Murphy division, a completely equipped plant for the manufacture of lime. This product will be obtained from marble, of which there are vast quantities on the Hewitt property, adjacent to the tale deposits for which it is noted. The present capacity of the plant will be twenty tons a day, but if results are as satisfactory as expected the output will be greatly increased.

It is stated that the Champion Fiber Company uses forty tons of lime daily in its Canton pulp mill, and will experiment with the Hewitt lime, which, if satisfactory, will afford a much nearer and cheaper source of supply than at present. Some of the lime will be made from material containing magnesia and part will be produced from rock not containing this ingredient.

The company has also installed a plant for producing a road-making material or macadam, and has contracted to supply it for the Valley-town roads. This road metal will be made from a rock composed of limestone and a particular hard quartz, the limestone supplying the binder which is much desired by road builders.

While two men were being tried in Greenville Superior Court last week for breaking in a railroad station, it was discovered that one of the defendants and two of the jurors had slept in the same room at a boarding house and had drunk whiskey together. The trial was discontinued and the men put under bond to answer for contempt.

Why the Tick Must Go.

The Progressive Farmer.

A Louisiana correspondent of a Northern exchange states that the "ticks," meaning the cattle fever ticks, "like the poor, will always be with us." This may be true as regards the complete destruction of all ticks, but if it is true regarding the cattle fever ticks, their continued presence will be due to such lack of progressive intelligence as is shown by such a prediction. It would be interesting to know by what system of reasoning such men reach the conclusion that the ticks will not be eradicated. Or perhaps these statements are made without reason, which seems probable. If with limited knowledge, means and interest, 140,000 square miles can be cleared of the ticks in five or six years, as has been done, it is indeed a pessimist who can have the assurance to assert that they will not be finally eradicated. Those who make such statements have usually not taken the time to acquaint themselves with what has been done, nor are they informed as to the harm done by the ticks. This latter fact is never fully impressed on or realized by the average man until he has eradicated the ticks from his own pastures. Such statements will not stop or seriously retard the work of tick eradication, for too much has already been done and the task is too easy in comparison to the injury done by the ticks; but they may brand those who make the statements as mentally too lazy to ascertain already established facts.

There is a continued report that Sidna Allen, one of the two uncaptured Hillsville (Va.) outlaws, was seen Monday afternoon, last week, in the mountains near Fancy Gap by Dr. Thomas B. Ashby, of Mt.
