The State Dispatch (Rep.) o Burlington in its issue last week 'What this county needs is for all of its best citizens to come together and agree upon, and nominate a county ticket, composed of the best men in all parties." etc. That is a remarkable proposition coming from that source. A truly 'progressive" idea, that. It beats progressive stunt lately pulled off by Col. T. R. The decision completely overturns the policy of the government in these cases.

Education of Blind.

The education of the blind is subject that few of the seeing public have given any thought. It is doubtful if one in five hundred hundred knows anything about the status of the education of this unfortunate part of our population in this State or the country at large. At the meeting of the North Carolina Association for the Blind, held at Fayetteville June 4, 5 and 6, an address by Mr. W. G. Holmes, a native of Tennessee, now of New York, and editor for the Blind, relates many inter esting things about the blind. A wealthy lady, Mrs. Wm. Zingler, whose name the magazine bears, founded it. She pays the entire expense of getting it out-about $20,000 a year-and has it sent free of charge to every blind person in the United States who can read raised print. In the course of his speech Mr. Holmes stated that out of the 40 State institutions for the blind in this country North Carolina was caring for more pupils for less per capita appropriation than any other similar institution, and a fact to be proud of that about 90 per cent. of railroad, express, telegraph and of our educated blind were selfsupporting, which is better than any other institution in the world can show. As a substitute for Mr. Stead at that interesting meeting, Mr. McDonald, the editor of the Toronto Globe, was secured. Mr. McDonald had long been a great friend of Mr. Stead. They Mr. Stead was to say at the meeting on the subject of universal peace, and in his speech Mr. Mc Donald would say, 'I think if Mr. Stead were here tonight, he would say this, and would say that,' and like the voice of that great man coming from the bottom of the ocean, which made it wonderfully impressive. In closing his address on universal peace, Mr. McDonald, a man of powerful build, paid a beautiful tribute to the valor of the Southern people in our Civil War. He dwelled especially on North Carolina, telling that big audience in Carnegie Hall something that few of them knew about your great State and great people. He said: "The people of North Carolina are largely of sturdy Scotch blood, (the same blood, which I am proud to say, is in my veins), no greater people exist in the world than the people of North Carolina, and it is appalling and yet inspiring to know that in the Civil War, with a voting population of about 115,000 men, North Carolina sent to the Civil War 125,000 of its best men and boys. The wives and mothers of North Carolina alone know the great sacrifice that cost on universal peace, Mr. McDon

Among the places visited was the churchyard and the bride paused before a lavigorates and builds them up, and very elaborate tombstone that had been erected by the bridegroom. Being a little nearsighted she asked him to read the inscriptions and in reverent tones he read:

"Here lies Susan, beloved wife of John Smith, and Jane, beloved wife of John Smith, and Mary, beloved wife of John Smith."

He paused abruptly and the bride, leaning forward to see the bottom line, read to her horror: "Be Ye Also Ready."
