FOR SAVORY LOBSTER CUTLET

Delicacy That Takes Long to Lose Favor Neither Expensive Nor Hard to Prepare.

Lobster cutlets, an old standby, never prove tiresome. There is a piquancy of flavor in this connection which no other has. A tried recipe for cutlets calls for a cupful of thick white sauce, made with two tablespoonfuls of butter, two of flour and a generous three-quarters of a cupful of milk. Add to this a beaten egg, a teaspoonful of lemon juice and two cupfuls of lobster meat, cut or chopped in small pieces. Let this mixture, in a covered dish, stand until it is cold. Then shape it into cutlets half an inch thick, about three inches long and two wide. Dip them in beaten egg and fine crumbs and fry in hot fat for just a moment or so until they are a light, golden brown. Drain them on brown paper, garnish each with a small claw, and serve immediately with Hollandaise sauce, which you can make by adding two tablespoonfuls of chopped gherkins and olives to a scant cupful of good mayonnaise.

A good filling for patties is made of a cupful of cream sauce, made with four teaspoonfuls of melted butter, three of cream, and half chicken stock, three tablespoonfuls of minced lobster meat, two of sherry, pepper, salt and the beaten yolk of an egg. Add the sherry last and heat quickly.

SURE TO BE APPRECIATED

Huntington Fish Cutlets a Pleasant Change From Usual Substantial Meal of Meat.

Cook one-half tablespoonful of finely chopped onion and two tablespoonfuls of red or green pepper, finely chopped, with three tablespoonfuls of butter five minutes, stirring constantly. Add one-third cupful of flour and stir until well blended. Add one cupful of milk, stirring constantly, one-half cupful each of milk and cream. Bring to the boiling point and add one and three-fourths cupfuls of flaked cold cooked haddock or halibut. Season with three-fourths teaspoonful of salt and one-fourth teaspoonful paprika. Spread on a plate and cool. Shape, dip in crumbs, egg and crumbs, and fry in deep fat. Serve with or without the following sauce: Mix one tablespoonful of tarragon vinegar, two tablespoonfuls of grated horseradish root, one teaspoonful of English mustard, one teaspoonful of onion salt, and a few grains of cayenne; then add one-half cupful of whipped cream and three tablespoonfuls of mayonnaise dressing.—Woman's Home Companion.

Spinach Salad.

Spinach salad can be made from the leaves both cooked and uncooked. If the cooked leaves are used they should be finely chopped and then moistened well with French dressing, made from three parts of oil and one of vinegar, and seasoned with salt and pepper. Put the spinach in a colander and wash it with cold water. Another way is to cook spinach salad in a plate and cool. Shape, dip in crumbs, egg and crumbs, and fry in deep fat. Serve with or without the following sauce: Mix one tablespoonful of tarragon vinegar, two tablespoonfuls of grated horseradish root, one teaspoonful of English mustard, one teaspoonful of onion salt, and a few grains of cayenne; then add one-half cupful of whipped cream and three tablespoonfuls of mayonnaise dressing.—Woman's Home Companion.

Uncooked Spinach Salad is This:

Wash and drain a quart of the tenderest spinach leaves and put them in a salad bowl. Add some tender spring onions, finely cut, and a few mint leaves cut fine. Serve with French dressing.

Turpentine in the House.

Turpentine is a sure preventive against moths. By dropping a trifle in drawers, trunks and cupboards it will render the garments secure from injury during the summer months. It will also keep ants from closets and storerooms if a few drops are put in the corners and upon shelves. It is sure destruction to all sorts of vermin, and will drive them away from the various articles of furniture. It does not injure either furniture or clothing. One tablespoonful added to a bucket of water is excellent for cleaning painted woodwork.

DeMouco Tomatoes.

Scop out inside from six small tomatoes. Chop three small green peppers. Add one-half onion finely chopped and cook with one tablespoonful butter for five minutes. Add one tablespoonful flour and half cup boiling water, stirring all carefully to make a smooth sauce. Fill tomatoes with this pepper sauce and place a large cube of boiled sweetbread or chicken in center of each cup. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake fifteen minutes in hot oven. Instead of sweetbread, crab meat or lobster may be substituted.

Easily Made Dustless Mop.

A good dust-retaining mop for hardwood floors may be made by saturating with crude lemon oil one of the fiber mops sold for cleaning purposes. Allow the mop to soak in the oil for several hours, then partially dry, when it will answer every purpose of a dustless mop. Crude lemon oil diluted with one part of turpentine polishes one of the best furniture polishes, and at very little expense you can get a good supply.

Rubber Chair Tips.

Rubber tips for the dining-room chairs will save the hardwood floors from constant scratching. The tips cost little and save both work and the floors. The dining-room chairs are so likely to be pushed back in a way to wear the polish of the floor that these chairs in particular should be protected with tips.

ABLE TO FOLLOW DIRECTIONS

Seemingly Unappreciated Youth Traveled in Comfort While the Smart Tourist Walked.

"I suppose if I should try to ride that machine I'd break my neck," said a gawky-looking fellow as he looked at the bicycle against the lamppost. "No you wouldn't," replied the bicyclist, winking at the bystander. "It's the easiest thing in the world to do. Anybody can ride one of these machines if he only thinks so." "I want to know!" exclaimed the gawky youth. "Dye think I could stay on it if I got on?" "I know you could." "An' make 'er go?" "Of course." "You're trying to fool me." "Don't you want to try it?" "The tourist in knickerbockers winked shyly once more at the interested spectators. "How do you keep from fallin' off the thing?" "All you've to do is to climb on, start it going and keep going. Just try it. Here, get on." The gawky young man took hold of the bicycle awkwardly and trundled it out to the middle of the road. "It isn't quite so good a one as I've got at home," he said, as he mounted it and started down the road at a rattling pace, "but I can follow directions. It's only four miles to the next town. I'll be waiting you at the pump. Good-by." And the smart young tourist in his knickerbockers trudged after him on foot.

MADE HER VICTORY COMPLETE

Suffragist Not Only Conducted Meeting, but Made an Altogether Unexpected Convert.

One New Jersey suffragist recently had the honor of making a convert out of a policeman who had tried to break up the meeting she was addressing on the Atlantic City board walk. The speaker was Miss Mabel Vernon, but the name of the policeman is not given in the account, as it appears in the New York Evening Post.

VENICE SECOND ITALIAN PORT

Harbor Capable of Accommodating Many Ships, but is Unequal to Demand Made Upon it.

The fact that it is separated from the city and almost hidden is the explanation of the legend that Venice is practically "dead" as a port, whereas in reality it is the second in importance in Italy as a point of transshipment. The port consists of two piers (east and west), of the quays which surround the basin and of warehouses, etc., at the east, but is inadequate to the demands made upon it. The harbor of Venice can accommodate a larger number of ships, which may enter the lagoon by the Lido and Malamocco and anchor in the numerous canals and basins. The commercial port is, however, much more restricted, and close to the city, and consists of three parts, the basin of St. Mark's, the Giudecca canal, and the maritime station. The basin of St. Mark's, which at one time constituted the chief port of Venice, serves as a general port principally as a passenger port, and as an anchorage for smaller ships. The Giudecca canal receives ships of various kinds, but generally sailing craft, which brings firewood from Istria, likewise ships with cargoes of salt for the government saltworks and other goods. The Giudecca, or coal and other merchandise, when the maritime station is full.

Earth Eating.

Earth eating is a habit often observed in India, and is very widely distributed. It often manifests itself as a symptom of disease or perverted appetite, but among many healthy people it is a regular habit. In addition to India, the Soudan, China and the Malay archipelago are mentioned as places where the custom prevails. The habit is not so common in the United States. It is said to be common in Lapland, earth consisting of the fossilized siliceous shells of diatoms is mixed with meal to make a kind of flour. It is also said that the Ainu of Japan used to eat a paste made of a mixture of diatomaceous earth. The Indians of Guatemala eat a yellowish edible earth containing sulphur, not so much as a food, but as a prophylactic against disease. There are people in Bengal who regard the fine earth of which anthrax is built as a delicacy, and the explanation has been suggested that the factor is due to the ingestion of fluid added to the earth by the ants to make it more easily worked.

Literary Life Embraces 82 Years.

It would be hard to parallel the achievements of M. Francois Peritault, the latest chevalier of the Legion of Honor, who published his first volume in 1830, when he was seventeen, and his latest in 1912. There appear to be only two other instances of a centenarian writer, and neither of these could show a literary life extending over eighty-two years. Michel Chevreton, who died in 1889 at the age of one hundred and three, issued his earliest publication at the age of thirty-seven and his latest fifty years afterwards. Miss Caroline White, whose death occurred last September in her 101st year, came nearer than this to the record of M. Peritault. She began writing for the monthly magazines when she was twenty-two, and continued her literary labor until within a few months of her death.

These Be Sturdy Days.

At an archery meet at Le Touquet, France, an Englishman with the curious name of Ingo Simon drove an arrow from a long bow 459 yards—a little more than a quarter of a mile—breaking a record that has stood for more than a century. Can you imagine it? A quarter of a mile! Shades of Robin Hood, Friar Tuck and all the rest of the famous archers. It's a leather jerkin in a willow whistling they never did so well. These aren't such demagogic times.—Kansas City Star.

Year's Work in the Mints.

The United States mints in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1912, turned out 186,628,871 coins, a pretty good year's work. The face value of these coins was $37,495,530, but this amount was rather unevenly distributed, $36,958,388 being in gold coins, $3,447,142 in silver and $49,000 in copper and nickel. In number, however, the copper coins had even more preponderance than the gold coins in value, since there were 176,068,761 of them, against only 4,231,400 of the gold pieces.—Engineering and Mining Journal.

Saved His Foot.

H. D. Ely of Bantam, Ohio, suffered from horrible ulcer on his foot for four years. Doctor advised amputation, but he refused and reluctantly tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve as a last resort. He then wrote: "I used your salve and my foot was soon completely cured." Best remedy for burns, cuts, bruises, eczema. Get a box today for 50c. All druggists or by mail. H. E. Bucklen & Co., St. Louis or Philadelphia, Mo. adv.

Watersmelon to Eat.

Watermelon, to be fit to eat, must be ripe. No half-way ripeness will do. But if it is fully ripe and is chilled through to boot, it is so delicious served simply in wedges that no form of preparation could make it more worth while. Chill it on the ice for several hours, if possible for ten or twelve, before serving it. It is never so good served a second time. But it can be kept in fit condition to eat if the part to be served is wrapped in paper and left in this waxed paper and kept on the ice. Never serve or eat any watermelon that looks withered or that feels or tastes rubbery. It will be crisp, pink and full of juice if it is fresh.

Schoolhouse With Playground Inside.

Surrounding the lot upon which it stands, the school building in Wadsworth street, Los Angeles, is a new departure in educational structure. Instead of having the playground outside of the building, it is in a large court formed by the walls. Many advantages are claimed for the novel design. The building is easily emptied in case of fire, being only one story high and each class room having direct exit to the street. Each room receives light and air from two sides.

Nervous and Sick Headaches.

Torpid liver, constipated bowels and disordered stomach are the causes of these headaches. Take Dr. King's New Life Pill, you will be surprised how quickly you will get relief. They stimulate the different organs to do their work properly. No better regulator for liver and bowels. Take 25c and invest in a box today. At all druggists or by mail. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis, Mo. adv.

MANY IDEAS OF CONVERSATION

At All Times There Have Been Differences of Opinion as to Art of Exchanging Ideas.

A Norwegian writer has been poking fun at our methods of conversation. It is good for us occasionally to see ourselves as others see us. This critic is intensely amused at the well-bred American person who regards it as impolite to talk about anything that is interesting to himself, to refer to anything that the other person does not know, or to disagree with the expressed opinion of another. It is obvious that, with such limitations, conversation in the real sense of the word is quite impossible. The unwritten law that one must not talk of oneself is on the face of it a stupid and a protection against the arrogant egotist, the individual who proposes neither for dissent nor approval, but who maintains a steady and forcible flow of words until the listener loses consciousness of time and space, and becomes faint and giddy through sheer exhaustion. Such a person is not a conversationalist, but a lecturer, a deliverer of homilies or sermons. The interchange of ideas is the basis of all conversation meriting the name. Very different are the ideas of literary men regarding conversation. Did not Dr. Johnson say that every man has a right to speak the truth, and every other man a right to knock him down for it? Hazlitt gives a description of conversation as it was among the illuminati of his day, the men who were interested in "ideas." They squabble about the minutiae of a subject, he says, "but they pick it bare to the bone; they masticate it thoroughly."

UNCLE SAM A SULPHUR KING

Growth of Industry Has Been Phenomenal, and This Country Now Leads the World.

The United States is fast coming to the fore as one of the greatest sulphur producing countries in the world. Louisiana, Nevada and Wyoming are the largest contributors. The output for 1912 was 303,473 long tons, according to the Engineering and Mining Journal. Total production, including long tons in 1911. Louisiana was the biggest producer.

Bird That Has Four Legs.

British Guiana boasts of one of the few survivors of the many peculiar birds now known mostly as fossils, according to a writer in Our Daily Animals. This is the crowned bird, and may be found only in a young dense and unexplored forest. The hoatzin is noted chiefly for its peculiarity in possessing four well developed legs.

Did You Ever Take a Buggy Ride in the Still of the Evening?

Did you ever take a buggy ride in the still of the evening, down the winding turns of a country place, with the fair one by your side? If so, "nuff said. With a proper sense of proportion, the old-time buggy was made to hold exactly one and a half. The result was proportionately also. Bliss along the road—all too short—your drove. Moo cows moored in the distance. Anxious mothers came to the door and cried: "W-I-I-I-I!" But you were lost to bovine pliancy and maternal solitudes. Pungent odors from the dog kennel mingled with the faint perfume of the thistle's bloom. The night dew lay on the fields, starlight drenched the earth and you discovered you had a soul. The air was chill, and you fixed a shawl. Hands touched and withdrew, followed by most eloquent and ecstatic silence. The speaker, Representative Abernethy, lighted a cigar and resumed: "This sort of thing reminds me, just a little bit, of old Calhoun Clay." "Is this your first theft, Cal?" the old man's mistress asked, after she had caught him walking off with a bottle of beer. "Yar'm, I reckon dis-yer's mah first theft, mum!"

Parisian Carpets.

A law has been passed by the shah of Persia forbidding persons to weave carpets according to European design. Violation of the enactment is a criminal offense, and the imperative attitude taken will have a greater tendency than ever to raise the Persian carpet will remain in the family for generations, such careful treatment does it receive. When the owner of a valuable carpet dies his family gives instructions that it shall be cut up in pieces as heirlooms to his successors, and should a member of the family not receive a portion he would feel very greatly slighted. The designs of Persian carpets have been handed down from remote ages. Each family keeps its own design, no two carpets being alike for fear of the Evil Eye.

Unparadonably Behind.

The American chorus girl, who is now invading London with great success, is nothing if not up to date. Mr. George Arliss, whose performance in "Dorothy" are arousing so much interest, illustrates this with a story. "You are behind the times over here," said a pink and pretty American show girl. "Why, I notice that 'Twelfth Night' is playing in one of the Strand theaters and we had that 'two years ago on Broadway.'"

Couldn't Call It Stealing.

"Whether you believe or don't believe in the tariff, you'll admit that we'd have fewer multimillionaires if we'd never had high protection." The speaker, Representative Abernethy, lighted a cigar and resumed: "This sort of thing reminds me, just a little bit, of old Calhoun Clay." "Is this your first theft, Cal?" the old man's mistress asked, after she had caught him walking off with a bottle of beer. "Yar'm, I reckon dis-yer's mah first theft, mum!"

When a Boat Not a Boat?

Harbor officials are in a quandary over this question: "When is a boat not a boat?" It all comes about through the popularity of the hydro-aeroplane, and so far there is no one connected with the government service who seems to be able to answer it. The officials whose duties include the enforcement of the harbor regulations maintain that it is a boat and as such comes under the regulations governing power boats and therefore must comply with the laws by carrying the stipulated equipment of signal horn, lights, life preservers, etc. On the other hand, the officials of the Aero Club of America, as a body, maintain that it is not a boat, but an aeroplane, and for proof point to the fact that it must have Aero club sanction to participate in competitive events and that its pilots must operate under an aviator's license, just as though it had only wheels instead of a hull for water maneuvering. Even the tentative court of last resort, the American Power Boat association, confesses itself "stumped."

Washed Up by the Waves.

Along the beach at Manhattan and Brighton, as well as at the Beachways, articles aggregating $100 in value are picked up every morning, relates the New York Herald. And this amount is considered by the regulars along those shores to be a very conservative estimate. The articles found range from the gold filling of a tooth to a cork leg. And you need not think the cork leg statement is drawing it with a long bow. There was one washed ashore the last week in June. It belonged to James J. Fitzsimmons, cook on a Maine coasting schooner. Fitzsimmons had removed the cork leg after a fall in a water street tavern, so that he might indulge in a bath. The schooner lurching, so did the cork leg. Fitzsimmons, waiting in a hurry to make a Maine port at a particular hour, refused to lug and pick the leg up. So he walked ashore and his identity was revealed by a brass plate containing the owner's name and New York address. It was sent back by parcel post. Every now and then a wig is washed up. The supposition is that the owner was swimming at
