DRINKS THAT REFRESH

DELICIOUS BEVERAGES EASILY WITHIN REACH OF ALL.

Ingredients Called for Will as a Rule Have a Permanent Place in the Household, and Preparation is Easy.

By LIDA AMER WILLIS. Milk Shake.—You can easily prepare this at home and exactly to the family taste.

Lemonade, Macedonia.—Slice four lemons and two oranges over a cup of granulated sugar placed in a glass dish.

Soda Cocktail.—Fill your glasses with lemon soda, add as much raspberry berry as desired, with thin slice of pineapple on top of each glass.

Soda Lemonade.—Dissolve twelve lemons of sugar in a little water, or use three tablespoonfuls plain sugar sirup.

Watermelon Cocktail.—This isn't a beverage, properly speaking, but is so refreshing to the inner man we cannot refrain from suggesting it here.

Crab Cocktails. Boil crab meat in the usual way for salad and put it on ice until needed.

On Washing Day. A little soap shredded into the boiler on washing day makes the clothes a good color, and if you put a small amount of starch in the water, it will make the ironing easier and it imparts a lovely gloss to the clothes.

To Remove Stains From Wood. Whenever polished "lamin" becomes stained, either by hot dishes or wet flower vases, remove the marks in the following manner.

Vinegar on Roast. When you put your roast in the oven put a small dish of vinegar in also. It will not only keep your meat from burning, but will make it much more tender than it would otherwise be.

For Stained Hands. When peeling vegetables, to remove the stains from hands take a piece of lemon peeling and rub the hands well before washing them.

FAMOUS OLD SOUTHERN CAKE

Known as Lady Baltimore, Its Admiration Claims That Its Superior Cannot Be Produced.

Here is the one grand South Carolina recipe for this cake, which has been a favorite in all southern dining rooms for over a century.

For the Filling.—Cut one cup of seeded raisins, spread three halves of a melon, grate a small coconut and blanch three-fourths pound of almonds.

ICED TEA THAT IS DELICIOUS. Combinations in Proper Ratio Will Give the Beverage a Most Enjoyable Flavor.

If you want tea with a delicious flavor try the following experiment: Get half a pound of very fine tea and add to it a dozen jasmine or orange blossoms.

On Washing Day. A little soap shredded into the boiler on washing day makes the clothes a good color, and if you put a small amount of starch in the water, it will make the ironing easier and it imparts a lovely gloss to the clothes.

To Darn Table Linen. Stretch the article smooth and tight in embroidery hoops. Remove the presser foot from the sewing machine, loosen the tension, slip the hoops under the needle and without turning the hoops sew back and forth until the hole is neatly filled.

Why the Glow Worm Glows. Many animals possess the power of becoming luminous at will. Glow worms are the most striking example of this curious phenomenon.

SAN STEFANO TREATY

Witness Tells of Famous Historical Event That Occurred on Sunday, March 3, 1878—Peace or War Hung in the Balance.

I am inclined to think that I witnessed the most impressive sight of my life Sunday, March 3, 1878, the day on which the signatures were attached to the treaty of peace between Russia and Turkey at San Stefano.

There is a tremendous amount of competition for the distinction, said a minute man to a London Answers representative the other day, "but it is a distinction so hard to obtain that minute men are very scarce."

"The regiment which has more than one or two of them in its body of signallers is lucky indeed."

"As a matter of fact," he went on, "though people know so little about them, signallers are of the greatest importance to an army in times of war."

"Another man had his flag shot from his hand on two different occasions."

"When Leaves Fall. The call to the country is never so strong as in autumn. Custom and commerce and society have conspired to call men back to the city just when the best and the coloring world is most alluring in the country."

"MINUTE MEN" ARE SCARCE

Wireless Telegraphy is Practiced Very Extensively by British Flag Waggars.

How many readers of Answers knows what a "minute man" is? He is an army signaller who is so skilled at his work that with the ordinary signaling flag, he can "send" the seventy-two letters, signs and figures which the Morse code contains in sixty seconds.

"There is a tremendous amount of competition for the distinction, said a minute man to a London Answers representative the other day, "but it is a distinction so hard to obtain that minute men are very scarce."

THINKS INVIGORATION IS IN AIR

Writer's Explanation of Vital Difference Between the Londoner and the New Yorker.

"The difference between New York and London," a man once said to me, "is this: In New York, if you have a new idea, you can get it carried out at once; in London, if you have a new idea, you are up against brick wall."

"I believe this to be true, writes Maurice Baring in the Metropolitan. People in New York, and in America in general, are not afraid of new ideas, nor, indeed, of anything new. They are not afraid of the future. In England, if a man finds, for instance, that his profession is uncommensurate to him, however certain he may be of the impossibility of his making a success of it, he will none the less rarely give it up, and try his hand at something else. The future alarms him. In America a man will think nothing of throwing up his profession twenty times running, until he finds something which does suit him."

"I think the cause of this particular difference lies in the climate of America, and especially lies in the climate of New York. Just as the climate of some places fills the whole system with an invincible desire to do nothing, with an insuperable languor and sloth, in the same way the climate of New York fills the body and mind with the desire to be up and about. It is the nimble air which produces the nimble wit, the stimulating atmosphere which creates, in the denizens of New York, the love of a hurry competition and work. I am not saying this is either a good thing or a bad thing—I am merely noting and recording what struck me as being the main differences between New York and London."

WILL GET MONEY NEXT TIME

Little Likelihood That Mrs. Crabbe Will Have Opportunity to Cash Hubby's Check Again.

"Henry," said Mrs. Crabbe, "don't you never give me another check to cash. Always give me the money after this, please."

"Why, what was the matter with the check?" "Nothing was wrong with the check, but the cashier didn't want to take it, and said I had to be identified. I told him my name was Mrs. Crabbe, and asked him if he didn't see it on the long line, but he just shook his head, and said I had to find some one who knew me."

"And who did you find?" "No one. I asked him if he didn't know you."

"What did he say?" asked Mr. Crabbe, eagerly, but with modesty. "He said, 'Of course I know him.' 'And then he cashed it,' said Mr. Crabbe, his chest expanding visibly. "Not right then. He asked me to describe you."

"Of course that was sufficient!" "Yes, I told him you were a sawed-off, hammered-down, bald-headed, pigeon-toed man, with a red mustache and a mole on your nose. That you were a fifteen collar and a ten-year-old blue suit, and that you held on to a dime tighter than a letter holder's glued postage stamp. I was going into further details, but he stopped me and said, 'All right, Mrs. Crabbe, just endorse the check on this line, please.'"

As Koreans Shop. Shopping in Korea is a very grave and solemn task and occupies the major part of the housewife's part of the day. In the market here he purchases his provisions, cooking utensils, linen suits, hats, sandals, tobacco, and the native drink, a liquor obtained from fermented rice.

Four Perfect Women. The prophet Mahomet is reported to have said that "among men there have been many perfect, but not more than four of the other sex have attained perfection—to wit: Aslah, Mary, Khadijah and Fatima." Aslah was the wife of the Pharaoh of the Exodus. She forsook the faith of her fathers, on account of which her husband subjected her to many cruelties.

Evidently Ready for Him. A gentleman who had been in town only three days, but who had been paying attention to a prominent belle, wanted to propose, but was afraid he would be thought too hasty. He delicately broached the subject as follows: "If I were to speak to you of marriage, after having only made your acquaintance three days ago, what would you say to it?" "Well, I should say never put off till tomorrow that which you should have done the day before yesterday."—Life.

An Easy Guess. "What's the name of that plumber I had last week?" "Bill, I reckon.—Exchange.

MORE TROUBLE IN A GARDEN

Old Gentleman Went Too Far in His Inquiry, and Demonstration Proved His Undoing.

An elderly gentleman walking through his garden one day stopped before a fig tree which were two figs just ripening. His favorites were figs, and summer often came and went without the fruit coming to maturity.

Shortly after, he met his gardener, assuring him the figs were quite ripe, and requested he send them to the summer house, where his master was about to rest.

Picking the figs, the gardener sent his little boy of seven with the basket. On the way the little fellow stopped and, removing the leaves, gazed upon the tempting fruit.

The attraction was too great; he ate one. Covering the other with the leaves, he proceeded upon his errand. On being asked if the gardener had not sent two figs, the boy, after a moment's silence, answered: "I ate one."

"You ate one?" exclaimed the old gentleman, angrily. "How did you come to do that?" "Dropping his eyes to the basket, 'I took it like this,' said the child, taking the remaining fig, 'and I ate it like this.'"

And, sulking the action to the word, he consumed the fig, and the astonished eyes of the old gentleman.

LITERAL IN HIS THEOLOGY. Darky Preacher's Humorous Comment on Biblical Text As He Understood Its Meaning.

Of old the right of individual private interpretation of the scriptures was not accorded to the laity. Only the priests or preachers were authorized to say what was meant by the sacred text. That has all been changed, and no man will now be expelled from the most orthodox church for believing that Balaam's palace mule did not really address his fellow citizens of Judea or considering that the statement of the sun's standing still at the order of Captain Joshua was an illustrative allegory and not the record of a frozen fact.

This advance in theology is illustrated by the story of the darky preacher who delivered a sermon from the text, "These eight did Mithah bear."

"Mithahs," said he, "you is staggularly blessed by de Lawd in dis generation. If you wants some milk you done goes to youah cow, and at one milk you gets enough of de laceriferous milk for eight people. In de olden times of which de Bible speaks de fool sly folks to milk a bear, on I spects they gets mighty little milk at dat."—Los Angeles Times.

Spiders Catch and Eat Fish. Specimens of the spider known as Thalassius Spenceri are in the museum at Durban, Natal, and the curator, E. C. Chubb, has just made several announcements of the discovery of a member of this species in the act of catching fish for food.

Bagdad and Queen of Sheba. The Bagdad of the "Arabian Nights" still exists, but in a greatly diminished form. In fact the grand old palaces and mosques of its prime are nearly all in ruins, and only a small population lives where once was a city of 2,000,000 people. A new city is gradually coming into existence on the opposite (east) bank of the Tigris, the site being valuable from a commercial point of view. The inhabitants number about 200,000, and are mainly Bedouins. The famous palace of Haroun-al-Raschid has disappeared, and the foreign consulates occupy its site.

Sentence of a fortnight in prison for staring at a policeman was imposed on a business man of Bremen, Germany, a few days ago. In his defense the defendant said he believed the policeman was serving him too conspicuously. He stared back. The court in pronouncing judgment said the defendant had been guilty of the most serious insult to an official.
