Of course the Republicans are taking great heart from the result Tuesday's elections and are looking forward to capturing the nation in 1916. Strangely enough, though true, the Democratic party has had to bear the brunt of the European war, on account of the business depression due thereto.

New York has gone overwhelmabout in a measure by the fact that the Democratic Governor elected two years ago had to be

Maj. Chas. M. Stedman is re-elected by about 4,000. The "grand old man" deserves all the ho coming his way.

A feature in the House is that Old Joe Cannon, who is past 80 years of age, has been returned.

The Gleaner is two days late this week, waiting for the county. The tabulated vote is published in this issue as taken from the returns made by the Board of County Canvassers.

THE COUNTY.

INAUGURATION OF THE NEW CURRENCY SYSTEM.

On November 18th the new currency system will be put into effect all over the country. The 1st put into effect all over the country. The system contains beat and most valuable features to be found in the banking systems of the entire world, and it will be the beginning of the greatest era of prosperity ever known, and it will be an era that no painic will be an era that no painic will be about the last set of men would not spare. Under the old or present system the loan, and so business and industry would suffer accordingly, in the town or country. Under the new system the local bank would deposit the securities it received as collateral for the first loan, with the Government Regional Bank and borrow the $75,000 therefrom at about five percent. So under this system no legitimate industry can ever suffer for want of money, and financial panics will be independent.

COUNTY ELECTION.

The election passed off quietly Tuesday. It was a fine day, but the vote was not full. However, Democracy was again triumphant in Alamance:

In the tabulated vote (in this issue) only the Judge of this District is put down, as there was only slight variation in the vote. The vote on the Constitutional Amendments was light—not over half the voters voting on them.

The Progressive candidate for Congress, Mr. Douglas, received only 36 votes in the county. There were a few other scattering votes, but not enough to affect any candidate.

HELP FOR THE COTTON GROWERS.

It was previously decided to open the new banks on Nov. 30, but owing to urgent necessity (which the whole country recognizes) of helping the cotton planters the banks will obe immediately loan-ed to the cotton growers, which will at once relieve this distressing condition. Last week arrangements were made for shipping cotton to Germany and Austria which have received none since the war began, and these two countries will take 75,000 bales every two months, and in view of the fact that no planter is to put in but half a crop next year, cotton will soon be at a normal price again. Corn will pay just as well as high priced cotton if it is fed to hogs and made into good hams and bacon at 20 and 25 cents a pound. Nothing pays better. The South can raise five times as much pork and beef as it is doing, and it should turn its attention to this matter with greater earnestness.

The three Justices of the Mississippi Supreme Court sat on the bench Tuesday clad in overalls, hickory shirts and Jumpers, and with cotton handkerchiefs around their necks, and thus attired handed down decisions.

The judges wished to show that they were imbued with the spirit of "Cotton Day", and felt that by wearing overalls and jumpers made of cotton they would assist in emphasizing the importance of the great "wear cotton clothes," move in the South.

Assistant Attorney General-Geo. Hetridge, also appeared in overalls and made oral arguments before the Justices. When Justice Smith, Cook and Reed entered the court room attired in their overalls and umpers a smile went the rounds. Many attorneys in the department, however, at once realized why the Justices had donned the unusual however, at once realized why the Justices had donned the unusual raiment, and some left the court room for departement stores to buy suits of the same kind.

Christians in Turkey—Massacre

War's continued effect on American commerce—a tremednous increase in the sale of foodstuffs for foreign armies and a marked decrease in the exportation of cotton, machinery and materials for the use in manufacturing—is shown in detail by statistics compiled by the Department of Commerce.

Exports of grain and meats jumped to unprecedented quantities in September, resulting in a great improvement over August's trade, and a substantial export balance, but the decrease in the sale abroad of cotton and manufactures resulted in a loss compared with September, 1913, of $61, 902,668.

The grain for September's exports pared with September, 1913, of 381,902,868.

The gain for September's exports over those for the first month of, the war was $45,868,219. Exportations of canned beef jumped from 364,963 pounds in September, 1913, to 2,885,356 last month. The increased trade in fresh meat was larger. More than 7,037,400 pounds were shipped abroad last month.
compared with 634,523 in September, 1913.

The war growth of grain exports was as marked.

The decrease in exports of cotton during September, as compared with last year amounted to nearly $80,000,000.

With the partial restoration of shipping facilities, a remarkable provement in the exports to some of the Latin-American counnome of the Latin-American countries was shown over the first month of the war. Trade to Germany, Russia and Belgium remained at low ebb, but that to the United Kingdom was fairly well maintained.

United Kingdom was fairly well maintained.

The United States purchased from the world last month goods valued at $140, 089,611 compared with imports of $171,084,843 in September, 1913. Increase in the imports were shown from the United Kingdom, Argentina, Canada, Cuba and Holland. The greatest decreases were shown in imports from Germany. France and Belgium.

Wages and Cost of Living-Labor Conditions in the State.

The wages show some increase this year over last and that the cost of living, at the same time, shows an advance, is the statement contained in the chapter on "Trades Condition" just completed by Commissioner of Labor and Printing, M. L. Shipman, for his forthcoming annual report. He attributes cost of living principally to increased cost of doing business and the constantly increasing number of hands through which commodities must pass between producer and consumer. Also, he says, reports indicate that standards of living are raised among wage-this accounting for the increased cost of living.

The Commissioner says the condition of the employed has been very satisfactory the past year, according th the reports from all sections of the State that his Department has procured from both employe dand employers. He finds that lack of opportunity has not been responsible for any noticeable amount of idleness, with skilled labor and farm labor much in demand. He finds much complaint of the scarcity of dependable do-
