Lesson XI.—Fourth Quarter, For Dec. 13, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxviii, 16 20; Luke xxiv, 44-49-Memory Verses. 19, 20-Golden Text, Matt. xxviii, 20. Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M.

The correct sequence of events be His resurrection and final vis-iscension from Olivet is not more events in His sojourn in His mortal body, but the heart lessons are not difficult. The summary in Acts i, 3, is clear and full, "He shewed Himself alive after His passion by many in-failible proofs, being seen of them for-ty days and speaking of the things pertaining to the Kingdom of God." always shewed Himself John 1 14) and this is our need-to and we must live as if we really be-lieved that our great High Priest is alive-forevermore and has all power in heaven and on earth.

He always spake of the Kingdo both in His earthly life and until His ascension, and there is nothing so important as the coming of His Kingdom which if we seek first He has assured we seek first He has assured tother things that we need (Matt. vi. 83). This appearance of ou lesson in Matthew may have been to the eleven only, or it may have been the same do when He was seen by over 500 at onge (I Cor. xv. 16). From the fact that some doubted it would seem to have included the latter, for surely the eleven had ceased doubting ere this. There was another most in teresting appearance in Galliee to seven of the disciples after their night of fruitless toll on the lake, when He provided breakfast for them, apart from their labors, and also filled their net with 153 great fishes. It was then that He asked Peter the thrice repented question. "Lovest thou me?" specially commissioned him and foretold his martyrdom (John xxi, 1-24).

Before His crucifixion His justruc Before His crucifixion His instruc-tions to the disciples were to go neither to gentiles nor Samaritans, but rather to Israel, but now that Israel had de-cidedly rejected Him and in cutting Him off had also cut themselves of from all privileges as a nation till He shall come again the instructions are different. The messengers are to go to all nations and gather to Him disciples. They are to go into all the world and preach the gospel to every salem, but they were to wait at Jeru salem (these first messengers) until they should receive the necessary pow er to do this in the form of a special enduement of power by the Holy Spli it, for He would be sent to bear wit ness to a crucified, risen, rejected, as cended Christ, to gather unto Him a people for His name, who by a special training in this age would be fitted to reign with Him in the next-age. when He shall come again to set up His kingdom of righteousness (Yerse 19; Mark xvi, 15; Luke 40-49; Acts xv. 13-18; Isa.

There is nothing whatever in their commission about subduing the world or winning the world to Christ or re-forming or uplifting the race, but sim ply to do as Paul tells us he did-de ne not to know anything but Jesus Christ and Him crucified; ich the gospel that Christ died for sins according to the Scriptures that He was buried and that He ros again the third day according to the Scriptures: to so preach as by all means to save some; to be ready to preach the gospel anywhere as debtor to all and never ashamed of it; to preach the kingdom of God and teach things which concern the Lord Christ, knowing that some will believe and some believe not; to turn people from idols to God, to serve the living and true God and to wait for His son from Heaven; to speak always not as pleasing men, but God, who trieth our hearts (I Cor. II, 2; Ix, 22; xr, 3, 4; Rom. 1, 14-16; Acts xxviii, 23, 24, 31; I Thess. I. 9, 10; II, 4; II Tim. ii, 15). Our responsibility is to be faithful witnesses, believing all things written in the law of Moses and in the prophets and the Psalms concerning Him, quite sure that His Word will not return to Him void, but always accomplish all His pleasure (verse 44: Isa. lv, 11). Whether we see much or little or not any present results of our sowing.

we can leave that all to Him with whom we are fellow workers unto His whom we are reliew workers unto his kingdom, knowing that He shall not fail nor be discouraged (isa. xill, 4; I Cor. xv, 58). The devil sowed his tares and went his way quite sure that they would grow, and we must indeed be people of little faith if we cannot have as much confidence concerning the have as much confidence concerning the incorruptible seed of the Word of God as the devil had concerning his tares.

When we have delivered the Word of God lovingly in the power of the Holy Spirit we can safely say, Thank God. that will work. If some one should ask, What will it work? we can with confidence re-ply that it will work all His good pleas-are. A restless ambition to see great results does not indicate a mind in narmony with God or a Spirit filled messenger. The blessed assurance, "Lo, I am with you all the days until the end of the age" (Matt. xxviii, 20, R. V. margin, should be to us an un-

Washington, Dec. 8.—The necessity of these two years of mer for legislation to prodvide for trans portation of our commerce by sea was strongly urged by President Wilso his ressage to congress today. The president pointed out that the markets of the greater part of the world are empty and that ours is the duty to sup ply the needs not only of the coun of Europe, but also of the coun-which hitherto have looked to Europe for their supplies. The me sage in part follows:

The session upon which you are now entering will be the closing session of the Sixty-third congress, a congress, I venture to say, which will long be re the great body of thoughtful and constructive work which it has done, in loyal response to the thought and needs of the cour of peace the circumstances of the whole age have been altered by war What we have done for our own land and our own people we did with the best that was in us, whether of character or of intelligence, with sobe enthusiasm and a confidence in the principles upon which we were acting which sustained us at every step of the difficult undertaking; but it is done. It has passed from our hands. them these six months, must face them in the months to come-face them without partisan feeling, like mer common duty and the fact that we are representatives of a great people whose thought is not of us but of what mankind in such circumstances these upon which we look amazed and Europe Will Need Our Help. War has interrupted the means of trade not only but also the processes of production. In Europe it is destroy ing men and resources wholesale and upon a scale unprecedented and ap palling. There is reason to fear that the time is near, if it be not already at hand, when several of the countries of Europe will find it difficult to do for their people what they have hitherto been always easily able to do many essential and fundamental things. At any rate they will need our help and our manifold services as they have never needed them before: and ready than we have ever been.

If is of equal consequence that the nations whom Europe has usually sup manufacture and commerce can not get only a small part of what they formerly imported and eagerly look to us to supply their all but empty markets. Here are markets which must supply, and we must find the means of action. We Need Ships.

It is a very practical matter, a ma ter of ways and means. We have the resources, but are we fully ready to use them? And if we can made ready what we have, have we the means a hand to distribute it? We are not fully ready: neither have we the means o to serve and to serve greatly, gener ously; but we are not prepared as we should be. We are not ready to mo-bilize our resources at once. We are not prepared to use them immediately and at their best, without delay and To speak plainly we have grossly erred in the way in which we have stunted and hindered the development of our merchant marine. And now, when we need ships, we have not got I have come to ask you to remed and correct these mistakes and omis sions. The time and the circum stances are extraordinary, and must our efforts be also.

Use and Conservation

Fortunately, two great measures finely conceived, the one to unlock with proper safeguards, the resource of the national domain, the other to encourage the use of the navigable waters outside that domain for the generation of power, have already passed the house of representatives and are ready for immediate consideration and action by the senate. Story begins this issue. At the gance that we should fear being criti-cized for; not paying for the legiti-mate enterprises and undertakings of a great government whose people command what it should do, but adding what will benefit only a few pouring money out for what need have been undertaken at all or might have been postponed or better and and generous dealing. it is very generous. It will chide us only if we forget for whom we pay ards, but they are not very difficult of application to particular cases.

The other topic I shall take leave to mention goes deeper into the princi-ples of our national life and policy. It is the subject of national defense. answering some very searching ques are not prepared for war. What is meant by being prepared? Is it meant tice to put a nation in the field, a na-tion of men trained to arms? Of course we are not ready to do that; and we shall never be in time of peace so long as we retain our present political principles, and institutions. And that is it that it is sugested we should be prepared to do? To defend ourselves against attack? We have always found means to do that, and shall find them whenever it is necessary without calling our people.

Fear No Nation. We are at peace with all the world. No one who speaks counsel based on fact or drawn from a just and candid interpretation of realities can say that there is reason for fear that from any quarter our independent. dence or the integrity of our territory that the senate will let this great measure of constructive justice await the action of another congress. of concord. And we should be very jealous of this distinction which we have sought to earn. Just now we should be particularly jealous of it. because it is our dearest present hope that this character and reputation may presently, in God's providence, bring us an opportunity to counsel and obtain peace in the world and reconciliation and a healing settle-ment of many a matter that has cooled ment of many a matter that has cooled and interrupted the friendship of nations. This is the time above all others that we should wish and resolve to keep our strength by self-possession, our influence by preserving our ancient principles of action.

Ready for Defense.

From the first we have had a clear-and settled policy with regard to military establishments. We never have had, and while we retain our present principles and ideals we never shall have, a large standing army. If asked, are you ready to defend yourselves? We reply, most assured ly, to the utmost; and yet we shall not turn America into a military camp. We must depend in every time of national peril, in the future as in the past, not upon a standing army, nor yet upon a reserve army, but upon a citizenry trained and accustomed to arms. It will be right enough, right American policy, based upon our ac-customed principles and practices, to provide a system by which every citizen who will volunteer for the training may be made familiar with the use of m dern arms, the rudiments of drill and maneuver, and the maintenance and sanitation of camps. We should encourage such training and make it a means of discipling which our young men will learn to value. The National Guard of the states should be developed and strengthened by every means which is not inconsistent with our obligation not inconsistent with our obligations to our own people or with the established policy of our government. And this, also, no because the time or occasion specially calls for such meas ures, but because it should be our constant policy to make these provi sions for our national peace and safe
