*MARKETING WORLD'S GREATEST PROBLEM

WE ARE LONG ON PRODUCTION, SHORT ON DISTRIBUTION,

By Peter Radford Lecturer National Farmers' Union

The economic distribution of farm jucts is today the world's greatest problem and the war, while it has brought its hardships, has clearly emphasized the importance of distribu ion as a factor in American agriculture and promises to give the farm-ers the co-operation of the govern-ment and the business men the solution of their marketing problem.

This result will, in a measure, com pensate us for our war losses, for the business interests and government have been in the main assisting alost exclusively on the production side of agriculture. While the department of agriculture has been dumping tons of literature on the farmer telling him how to produce, the farmer has een dumping tons of products in the nation's garbage can for want of a

The World Will Never Starve. At no time since Adam and Eve were driven from the Garden of Eden the inhabitants of this world suffered from lack of production, but some people have gone hungry from the day of creation to this good hour for the lack of proper distribution Slight variations in production have forced a change in diet and one locality has felt the pinch of want, while another surfeited, but the world as whole has ever been a land of plenty We now have less than one-tenth of the tillable land of the earth's surface under cultivation, and we not only have this surplus area to draw on but it is safe to estimate that in case of dire necessity one-half the earth's population could at the present time knock their living out of the tree of the forest, gather it from wild vines and draw it from streams. No one should become alarmed; the world will never starve. The consumer has always feared that the producer would not supply laries of Pennsylvania and other states, is being advocated by The Mer-chants' Association. Thomas W. Davis, 70 years old, rehim and his fright has found expres-sion on the statute books of our states and nations and the farmer has been urged to produce recklessly and with cording grand secretary of the Grand out reference to a market, and regard less of the demands of the consumer Lodge of Massachusetts Masons, died at his home in Belmont. Back to the Soil. The city people have been urging each other to move back to the farm, but very few of them have moved We welcome our city cousins back to the soil and this earth's surface con tains 16,092,160,000 idle acres of tillable land where they can make a living by tickling the earth with a forked stick, but we do not need them so far as increasing production is con cerned: we now have all the producers we can use. The city man has very erroneous ideas of agricultural conditions. The commonly accepted theor that we are short on production is al wrong. Our annual increase in pro far exceeds that of our in in population.

The World as a Farm. Taking the world as one big farm, we find two billion acres of land in cultivation. Of this amount there is approximately 750,000,000 acres on the western and 1,260,000,000 acres on the eastern hemisphere, in cultivation.
This estimate, of course, does not include grazing lands, forests, etc.. where large quantities of meat are

The world's annual crop approxi-mates fifteen billion bushels of co-reals, thirteen billion pounds of fibre and sixty-five million tons of meat.

The average annual world crop for the past five years, compared with the previous five years, is as follows: Past Half Previous Half Crops-Decade. Decade. Corn (Bu.) 3,934,174,000 3,403,655,000 Wheat(Bu.) 3,522,769,000 3,257,526,000 Wheat (Bu.) 3,522,769,000 Oats (Bu.) 4,120,017,000 3,257,526,000 3,508,315,000

17,541,200 Cotton (Bales) 19,863,800 The world shows an average increase in cereal production of 13 per cent during the past decade, compared with the previous five years, while the world's population shows an increase of only three per cent. The gain in production far exceeds that of our increase in population, and it is safe to estimate that the farmer can easily increase production 25 per cent if a remunerative market can be ound for the products. In textile fibres the world shows an increase during the past half decade in produc-tion of 15 per cent against a popula-tion increase of three per cent.

The people of this nation should themselves to the subject of improved facilities for distr

Statistics Show Less Crime in Places Where the Recreation Plan

Obtains. At a meeting of the City Club in Philadelphia recently at which the subject of municipal recreation was under discussion one of the speakers gave utterance to the switiment: "A foot of playground is worth an acre of penal institutions."

It is difficult to gauge the value of the playground, but in every city where a playground or a system of playgrounds has been established the testimony has been in its favor as a beneficent institution. Most of our American cities did not give much thought to the recreation idea in the beginning, but none of them under-took to get along without prisons. Perhaps if the playgrounds were more numerous the country might be able to dispense with a few acres of its

to dispense with a few acres of its penal establishments.

That the playground had a civilizing and elevating influence is not to be doubted. Figures compiled in various cities show that juvenile offenses are fewest in localities where recreation grounds are available. They also show that there are fewer recidents and injuries to whiteners. They also show that there are fewer accidents and injuries to children in such neighborhoods. Children who are "raised up in the streets" make trouble for themselves and for other persons. In cities where there is not a playground system it is inevitable that children will play in the streets—for it is the nature of the child to play

THE FARMERS THE CUSTODIANS OF THE NATION'S MORALITY. Co-operation of Church, School and Press Essential to Community Building.

By Peter Radford or National Farmers' Union. The church, the press and the school ery deliverer whom God raised up was form a triple alliance of progress that guides the destiny of every community, state and nation. Without them civilization would wither and die and through them life may attain its greatest blessing, power and knowledge. The farmers of this nation are greatly indebted to this social triumvirate, for their uplifting influence, and on behalf American plowmen I want to thank those engaged in these high callings for their able and efficient service, and I shall offer to the press series of articles on co-operation between these important influences and the farmers in the hope of increasing the efficiency of all by mu-tual understanding and organized effort. We will take up, first, the rural church builder the world has ever known. He is the custodian of the nation's morality; upon his shoulders he is more responsive to religious influences than any other class of cit-

built 120,000 churches at a cost of $750,000,000, and the annual contribution of the nation toward all church Institutions approximates $200,000,000 per annum. The farmers of the United States build 22 churches per day. There are 20,000,000 rural church communicants on the farm, and 54 per cent of the total membership of all churches reside in the country.

The farm is the power-house of all progress and the birthplace of all that is noble. The Garden of Eden was in the country and the man who would get close to God must first get close

The Functions of a Rural Church. If the rural churches today are going to render a service which this age demands, there must be co-operation between the religious, social and eco nomic life of the community.

The church to attain its fullest meas must enrich the lives of the people in the community it serves; it must build character; develop thought and increase the efficiency of human life. It must serve the social business and intellectual, as well If religion does not make a man more capable, more useful and more just what good is it? We want a prareligion, one we can live by and farm by, as well as die by.

Fewer and Better Churches. Blessed is that rural commu which has but one place of worship While competition is the life of trade It is death to the rural church and moral starvation to the community Petty sectarianism is a scourge that blights the life, and the church prejudice saps the vitality, of many com-munities. An over-churched commun-ity is a crime against religion, a serious handicap to society and a useless tax upon agriculture. While denominations are essential and church pride commendable, the high teaching of universal Christianity must prevail if the rural church is to fulfill its mission to agriculture We frequently have three or four churches in a community which is not able to adequately support one. Small congregations attend services once a month and all fail to perform the re-ligious functions of the community The division of religious forces and the breaking into fragments of moral efforts is ofttimes little less than a calamity and defeats the very purpose they seek to promote.

The evils of too many churches car be minimized by co-operation. The social and economic life of a rural community are respective units and cannot be successfully divided by de-nominational lines, and the churches can only occupy this important field by co-operation and co-ordination.

The efficient country church will definitely serve its community by lead-ing in all worthy efforts at community building, in uniting the people in all co-operative endeavors for the gen-eral welfare of the community and in arousing a real love for country life and loyalty to the country home and these results can only be successfully accomplished by the united effort of the press, the school, the church and organized farmers five studies in the book of Judges, showing the failure of Israel, God's intervention and man's faithlessness. Evin some sense suggestive of the great Deliverer, the Lord Jesus Christ, and each one wrought in the power of the trance of Israel into the promised land and its subjugation and division among the tribes ending with Joshua's fare well appeal to Israel to fear the Lord and serve Him in sincerity and in truth and the determination of the people so to do (Josh, xxiv, 14, 24). One of his had failed of all the good things which the Lord had spoken (Josh, xxiii, 14). See the same blessed testimony in Kings, viii, 56, and let each one lay to heart for his own special comfort.

The section assigned us for this day's The American farmer is the greatest turning away from God and of His great patience with them. David summarized the record in these words; "Many times did He deliver them, but they provoked Him with their counsel rests the "ark of the covenant" and and were brought low for their iniquity. Nevertheless He regarded their af-fliction when He heard their cry" (Ps. cvi, 43, 44; Ixxviii, 38). Paul summa-The farmers of this nation have "When He had destroyed seven nations in the land of Canaan He divided their land to them by lot. And after that He gave unto them judges about the space of 450 years until Samuel the proplet'

The first chapter of Judges tells how tribe after tribe had failed to drive out the people of the land as they had been commanded, and our lesson chapter opens with the Lord's reproof for this sin, saying: "Ye have not obeyed my voice. Why have ye done this? (Verse 2.)

Our lesson begins by telling us that while Joshua lived and also during the lifetime of the elders that outlived Joshua the people served the Lord. The Lord and even one man can lead a host of people in the right direction. Think of the worldwide testimony to the God of Daniel by the faithfuln of himself and his three friends. See 11 Chron. xvi. 9, and desire above all things a whole heart for Him.

The next lesson verses tell of the death and burial of Joshua, and these three verses (79) are identical with Josh. xxiv. 29-31. When the Spirit repeats words He thus asks special attention to them. The words that spe cially hold me are "Joshua the servant of the Lord" and "The people served the Lord" and make me wish to appropriate more fully the beautiful hear words "Whose I am and whom I serve" (Acts xxvii, 23). Joshua ends with the burial of two other bodies, those of loseph after so long a time and Eleazar, the son of Aaron Bodies are buried, but people go on living better without them (if redeemed) until the time of the resurrection bodies. How pitful to read of "a gen-eration which knew not the Lord" (verse 10), and they the descendants of people for whom the Lord wrought as He had never wrought for any other nation! They forsook the Lord God of their fathers, did evil in His sight and worshiped the idols of the natious which should have been destroyed by them, for the Lord had said. Thou shalt make no covenant with them nor shew mercy unto them,  * for thou art an holy people unto the Lord thy God, * * * a special people unto Him-self above all people that are upon the face of the earth" (Deut. vii, 2-6). Such sowing brings sad reaping according to lesson verses 14, 15; chapter iii, 5-8, 12, 13, and records in chapters tollowing. following of similar furnings away from God. A very odd thumbs and toes story of sowing and reaping is found in chapter 1, 6, 7. The principle always stands Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap" (Gal. vi, 7). Nevertheless the Lord raised up judges, who delivered them, for the Lord was with the Daily - - - $6.00 judge (verses 16, 18; chapter iii, 9, 15). We should think that the Lord would grow weary of forgiving and delivering a people whom He knew would after a time commit the same sins again, but He is the same Lord who told Peter to forgive until seventy times seven, or until the end of Daniel's seventysevens, which means the coming of the

They would not hearken unto their judges; they turned quickly out of the way; they ceased not from their own loings nor from their stubborn way (verses 17, 19). Long afterward it was written of them, "Their doings will not uffer them to turn unto their God" (Hos. v. 4. margin).

In the days of their kings they mocked the messengers of God and despised His words and misused His prophets (II Chron. xxxvi, 16), and when the Messiah came in the fullness of time they crucified Him. Yet He said: "How often would I, * * * but ye would not." O Israel, thou hast destroyed thyself. out in Me is thine belp." ly" (Matt. xxiii, 37; Hos. xiii, 9; xiv, 4).
