its ad. elsewhere gives simply the names of its officers. Look over the list, which alone should inspire the confidence of the public.

Mr. George W. Sutton, perhaps soldest citizen in his section of e county, died at his home near ramahaw Tuesday, aged about 81 ars. The interment was at Beth-em vesterday.

—Mrs. C. W. Rankin is with her ittile son, Master Charles, at Dr. Reeves' Sanatorium, Greensboro, where he underwent an operation the first of last week. The friends will be glad to learn that the child is improving. The Knights of Pythias of Graham will give their annual banque. tomorrow night. The Knights and their guests always have a good time at these annual gatherings, enjoying the good things to eat and the bright pithy speeches.

—Rev. J. C. Owens of Asheville, Evangelist, has been secured to conduct revival meeting at Graham Baptist church and the Hocutt Memorial Baptist church in Burfington. The meetings will begin on May 33rd.

The "Mexican" has put in opera chairs and 15 feet more have been added to the rear end of the build-ing to give more seating capacity. These improvements have been made necessary on account of the large audiences drawn to see the attractive moving pictures display-ed.

-Mr. E. W. Lasley of Burlington has been elected secretary and treasurer of Graham Loan and Trust Co. and has taken charge of the business. He is a competent and polite young business man and it is his aim and purpose to push the business

Miss Reinhardt Comes Out Fourth in Competitive Examination.

Competitive Examination.

In an examination held by the U. S. Governemnt in Greensboro, the latter part of January, Miss Edna Reinhardt, Supervisor of Rural Schools for Alamance county, took the examination, and the Bureau in Washington having the the matter in charge reports that she stood fourth among all who took the examination throughout the United States. This is quite a distinction when it is considered that she was standing against every State in the Union. The subjects upon which the examination was given were as follows: Farm Home Demonstration Work, Home Economics and Experience and Education and a Thesis, Miss Reinhardt is not looking for a position—she was solicit ed to take examination. Competent as she is, her services are always in demand. The positions to which this examination leads pay salaries ranging from $1.200 to $2.000 a year. nation leads pay salaries ranging from $1,200 to $2,000 a year.

Children's Day at M. E. Church.

Next Sunday, Feb. 21, will be ob-erved as Children's Sunday in the served as Children's Sunday in the M. E. church, South, here. Both of the sermons of the day will be for them. At the 11 o'clock hour the subject will be, "Children Singing the praise of Jesus." At the 7, "The Interest of Jesus in children." Parents, don't send your children, but come yourself and bring them. We all should get a blessing out of these services. Everybody invited.

Revival at M. E. Church, May 30, 1915.

A revival meeting will begin at the M. E. church, May 30, 1915.

A revival meeting will begin at the M. E. church Sunday morning, May 30, 1915 and continue throughout Sunday, June 13. Evangelist Morgan Lee Starke of New York has been engaged to conduct the meeting for us. We are, without doubt, expecting a great meeting, because we have an evangelist of many years experience, and one that is considered to be among the leaders in his line of work in the United States. Let us now, yes, right now, begin preparing for it-commence praying for its success.

The Daily Program For the School Room.

A daily program is a plan of procedure. It tells us who, where when and what. With it each class and grade knows what to do and when and where. It is a guide to system, and order and work. Each and every school should have a well planned and well developed the week in Baltimore.

Mr. J. Elmer Long went to Rateigh the first of the week on business.

Mrs. Nannie Berry and Mrs. C. S. Hunter spent yesterday in Greensboro.

Now, let us give some reason for the faith that is within us. The teacher should not only know who, where, when and why, but she should also know the why, and be able to give the reason.

First, the reader will observe our program as outlined starts with an opening exercise, a very important item often omitted. Nothing can be right unless it starts right. A school day's program does not start right and is not right unless it starts with an opening exercise. The discussion of the opening exercises alone is the work of a whole volume, and here we can only call attention to its place and importance. For a full discussion of its worth and make up, see Educational Bulletin XI Opening Exercises for Public Schools in N. C.

This entire program is planned with a view to one teacher, but by increasing the number of teachers, we can divide and decrease the length of time for each recitation. If more than one teacher is in a given school, then we recommend that the opening exercises beheld jointly or together about half the time, and by individual rooms about half the time. In the individual rooms we can adapt the exercises to the grade of the pupils and thus make our exercises far more instructive. But in having the exercises in this way we lose that larger spirit of brotherhood, and the uplit that comes with the unity of a larger number.

Next we notice that this program is built from the lowest to the highest grade throughout the day, This is done because the beginner can't help himself, and hence you need not wait for him to preparehence we put him first.

It is noticed at a glance at this program that we have grouped so as to associate all classes in a given subject—arithmetic, history, grammar and geography. This is done because the beginner can't help himself, and hence you need not wait for him to preparehence we put him first.

THE WOUNDED ause More Worry to Combatants That the Dead.

A French General has figured out that it cost France in 1870 $21,000 to kill a German soldier. It cost the Russians $20,400 to kill a Japanese soldier.

For every soldier killed in battly about four are wounded. Hence part of the expenses placed against the dead may fairly be subtracted and credited to the injured.

The chief aim in battle is not to kill an enemy, but to wound him. badly wounded soldier can do no more fighting than a dead one. So that as an offensive measure when one soldier shoots another through the leg he gets rid of an enemy as effectually as if he had hit him in the heart.

But he does really better for his own cause, since a wounded man at once becomes a much greater burden to his own comrades thun a dead soldier. The latter needs no more care but the former must be helped to a field hospital, doctored and nursed.

One of the most dramatic incidents of the civil war was the retreat of Lee's army after Gettysburg with its hundreds of wagom loads of wounded soldiers.

A woman who lived by the road down which this long line of ferenaming, groaning and dying men were being hauled, said recently that it was the most awe-some event. ofher life. They went by her fome during the night.

But even the wounded had to make way for the guns. When the artillery came thundering along the road the officers in command of it forced the wagons loaded with the wounded to give them the right of way, which was done.

A good many of the thousands of the Union wounded at Gettysburg were brought to Philadelphia war hospitals by railroad trains. The nearly 6,000 dead in blue and gray who lay over the sunny fields at Gettysburg, gave the opposing armies far less worry than did the hosts of wounded.
