Time to Act. Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness. Profit by Graham People's Experience. Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are frequent symptoms of kidney disorders. It is an error to neglect these signs. The attacks may pass off for a time but generally return with greater intensity. Don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up their use until the desired result is obtained. Good work in Graham proves the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

J. E. Hornbuckle, W. Harden St., Graham, N. C., says: "My kidneys were weak and I had inflammation of the bladder. The kidney secretions contained sediment. I was very nervous. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and a few boxes brought wonderful benefit. My kidneys soon acted properly and my back got stronger. Price 50c a box. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Hornbuckle had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Philathea Class Meeting.

The Philathea Class of Graham Christian church met last Thursday night at the home of Miss Annie Laurie Farrell. The following interesting program was carried out.

- 1. What Our Class Can Do—Essay by Mrs. Ruth Thompson. 2. Philathea Song—by Class. 3. How to Make Our Class Help the Pastor—by Miss Emma Harden. 4. Quartette, Philathea Song—by Misses Phyllis Hester, Annie Laurie Farrell, Ruth Hornaday, and Edna Longest. 5. How to get Members in Our Class—Essay by Miss Rima Hornaday. 6. How to Make Our Class Meeting interesting by members of class (one minute each).

Essays read by those on program were as follows: What Our Class Can Do. We do things, is the inspirational motto which carries the Philathea Class on to highest success. The "we" indicates the co-operative spirit—every member having a share in the work and responsibility. The "do" indicates actual accomplishments, plans discussed, approved and carried through to a successful finish. The "things" are the things which we do.

Make a list of all persons now attending Sunday School in town, enlist the service of the whole Sunday School to write into the Sunday School membership every one whose name appears on the list. Use the Smith plan to win back an absentee or secure a new member—seven members pledged to call, one each day, to invite the person to class—the seventh one calling Sunday and bringing her to class.

Have Baraca and Philathea business meetings the same nights—business separate, united social hour afterward, classes taking turns providing social program and refreshments. Take charge of the Sunday service, provide music, open and decorate with the Philathea pin at all times and all places. Give the Philathea grip to any one wearing the pin. Appoint two members for each Sunday to be prepared to act as a substitute teachers in the other departments of school—appointments to be announced the first Sunday of the month.

Agree as a class to attend in a body the church service on a stormy Sunday. Have a hint box in the classroom into which may be placed questions or suggestions regarding class improvement—a large envelope and hints discussed at regular business meetings. Send left-over Sunday School supplies, literature, etc. from school to Rev. S. D. Price, Supt. of the Department of utilizing waste material, 1418 Millers Building, Chicago, Ill., who will send it on to needy missionaries for further use. Contribute to the support of a missionary. Give supper and a Christmas tree for poor children at Christmas time. Conduct concerts at old people's homes and similar places.

How Our Class Can Help the Pastor. Of course our pastor desires a large and ever increasing membership. He does not want mere members, but he wants growing members. If the Philathea class can enhance the attendance at the regular sessions of the school it will prove a valuable ally to the pastor and also the superintendent. The Philathea class is made up of young women and appeals to their sense and business habits as well as to their intellectual, social and spiritual needs. The Philathea class aims to recruit and retain, to get and to keep, to have and to hold. The best books, especially the Bible, must be made available. But the Bible must be given a chance. It must not be shelved, but must be read. It must be in the hand, head and heart. The Bible guides in solution of life's problems and throws flashlights of heavenly brightness upon the darkest path. It has a fresh and vital message for youth as well as old age. The pastor can find in the Philathea movement a mighty factor in the Kingdom of God on earth. The Philathea class is not a school in itself, but an important and integral part of the greater whole. It does not dwell in absolute isolation within its hermetically sealed against all other departments. It is true it has its own work to do, but it is naturally an advocate of the power of contact. The Philathea spirit is the essence of loyalty to the class, to the Sunday School, the pastor, the church, the neighborhood and the Kingdom of God. The Philathea Class is a power in the church and a help to the pastor, because it brings women into the church, and the faithful ones do not have their heart set only on getting others to come, but on hearing the word of God from the pastor. Of course the pastor should not have the privilege of preaching to all of them every Sunday, but the percentage of attendance upon his ministrations is greatly enhanced among the young women by the maintenance of a successful Philathea Class in his Sunday School. The presence of young women at the meetings and evening services and often at prayer meeting is a power for good in a church and a stimulus to the pastor. The Philathea class should be heard to hear vital messages, not to see the Bible dissected, but to hear it proclaimed and applied.

How to Get More Members in Our Class. In the first place we should come, realizing that God must have a part in our meetings. We should feel deep down in our hearts that we are "true lovers of truth." We must have a yearning desire to do that which is pleasing unto God. To make our class meetings more interesting, we might adopt some new rules. One thing should be that we shall, each one of us, invite some one who does not attend our class, to come to our meetings. Another, that we shall have more special music. Each one of us should feel that we have an active part, and be not only willing, but anxious, when called upon, to perform any duty that comes before us. When we come with God at the head, we can do things. Remember our national platform: Young women at work for Young women, all studying by the Bible and the Bible school. What does this mean? This means we should do things which have been mentioned, and think our class meetings will not only be a success in this life, but we shall reap an abundant reward in the great beyond, and with the Lord forever shine.

SCHOOL NEWS.

The Orange-Line School is painting its house. The New Hope school building was recently painted, and Pleasant Hill school is preparing to paint. Song us keep the good work up until every school house in the county has been painted.

"Little beds of flowers, Little coast of paint" night. Make a pretty school house. Out of one that ain't.

The Glenwood School and the Orange-Line School have recently bought and installed new organs. Good music inspires, refines and elevates. Every school should have music.

Gradual celebrated George Washington's birthday with literary program rendered by the students. The patrons of the school were invited and a splendid half-day's exercise were rendered. On the night of the 22nd Friendship school rendered a program in memory of our first President.

Last Friday night Spring gave a concert. When brown add one onion. refreshments served and ten dollars were given to school improvement.

Cross Roads School in Patterson township gave last Friday night the play entitled, "The School Madam." This play comprises three acts and requires 20 characters, including the teacher, a janitor, the teacher herself and others. Cross Roads played it well in suitable costumes and collected door receipts to the amount of several dollars.

The next and last Teachers' Meeting of the year will be held the first Saturday in March. It is hoped that each and every teacher can attend this meeting. Many things will be discussed connected with the work we are doing.

The Pythian Banquet. One of the most pleasant occasions of this or any other season was the banquet given by Graham Lodge No. 52, Knights of Pythias, in their Castle Hall last Friday evening.

At the opening hour, 8:30 o'clock, the hall was filled to overflowing with Pythians and their guests—ladies and gentlemen. Two hundred and fifty invitations were issued and each one seemed to have drawn a guest.

The master of ceremonies, Mr. McBride Holt, called the meeting to order, and after some preliminaries the set program was taken.

Rev. Dr. T. M. McConnell, under the head of "Introductory Remarks," recited the legend of Damon and Pythias and drew a very beautiful and impressive lesson from their devoted friendship.

The next speaker was Mr. E. S. Parker, Jr., who spoke of "Knighthood, ancient and modern." Aside from defining chivalrous knighthood, he injected a good measure of humor that entertained and delighted the audience.

"By I Be same a Pythian" was the subject of the remarks of Mr. G. W. Denny of High Point, formerly of Graham. He had observed the good fellowship existing between the members of Graham Lodge and thereby he was induced to join the ranks and humor.

There were other speakers who were unable to be present. After a prayer and blessing by Rev. J. F. Morgan, the banquet commenced. Salads, sandwiches, coffee and fruits composed the delightful menu provided by the lady committee. In this they had not only excelled themselves, but their part of the programme excelled all the rest, and the universal verdict was that this was the most delightful occasion of the kind ever given by the order in Graham.

HELPS FOR HOME-MAKERS.

Edited by the Extension Department of The State Normal and Industrial College.

FOODS—Prepared by Miss Minnie L. Jamison, Director of the Domestic Science Department.

STEAMED STEAK, NO. 1.

Use an inch cut from the round of beef. Clean, trim and chop in flour, brown in hot beef fat or bacon fat, just enough to prevent burning. When brown, add one onion cooked in a tablespoon of butter, one cup of tomato juice, salt and pepper, with enough boiling water to cover, and cook for forty-five minutes to an hour in a steam tight vessel, on the back of a stove, where it cannot boil. This will serve from six to eight persons and is a very economical cut because there is practically no waste.

CAUTION.

Care must be taken in the use of these expensive cuts of meat, not to burn the fat. The browned flour is a great means of extending the flavor of tough, cheap meats, but if the fat is burned it is changed fat to fatty acids and glycerine and becomes very indigestible.

STEAMED STEAK, NO. 2.

The same as above leaving out the tomato sauce and covering the steak after it is brown with boiling water.

TRIPE.

When using the canned tripe, season with vinegar, cayenne, and a little salt. Dip in flour and fry in hot fat, reducing the heat after the first few minutes. Cover and cook slowly until brown.

THICK CREAM SAUCE.

Milk, 1 cup. Flour, 3 tablespoons. Butter, 1 tablespoon. Salt and pepper to taste.

HAMBURG STEAK WITH THICK CREAM SAUCE.

When suet cannot be used to make this kind of cheap meat, mix one cup of thick cream sauce with a pound or more of the ground lean meat, season with salt and pepper and broil.
